GERMANS FORCING WAY TO PARIS; DEATH BATTLE ON IN THE VOSGES; RUSSIAN WEST INVASION CONTINUES

Czar's Troops Took 7,000 German Prisoners and 122 Guns in Five Days Fighting--Red Cross Member Says Germans Lost 25,000 in One Day at Cambrai--American and Spanish Ministers at Brussels Having Trouble With Germans--Confirmation of Sinking of English Vessel by Germans is Received.

Washington, Sept. 1.—With renewed desperation, the French and Germans are engaged in a death grip in the Vosges Mountains, in Lorraine, according to a despatch to the French Embassy received here today. The fighting has been resumed on the west, while the Russian attack is progressing on the east of the German line. The despatch reads:

"In Vosges, in Lorraine, the fight has begun anew. Confirmation has been received that a German infantry regiment was almost destroyed at Sassey on the River Meuse. The German army continued its progress on the left wing. The Russian offensive continues."

Diplomats interpret the despatch to mean that the main army of Germany is forcing its way closer to Paris. No further details were received at either the British or French Embassies.

Information received by the Turkish Embassy today was to the effect that the Balkan States are not restless, and they will not enter into the European war, even if Turkey sees fit to do so. Although no direct word from Constantinople was received concerning Turkey's intentions, A. Restem Bey, the Turkish Ambassador, gave out the following:

"The rumor that the Balkan alliance is reforming is false. The best proof is that the Turco-Bulgarian Committee formed before the war to consider the means of the futhering of interests which the two countries held so largely in common, has held several meetings since the war broke out, in which both Turkey and Bulgarian members delivered addresses commenting on the community of interests of the two countries and expressing the necessity of devising a policy to be followed in common. What is even more significant is that the Bulgarian semi-official newspaper, Politka, states that the object of the committee enjoys the sympathy of all educated circles in Bulgaria and that this is only natural, since the origin of the two people is the same and acts as a further bond between them.

"This very remarkable statement of the Bulgarian newspaper, which included herself so far among the Slav people on account of her language, today disclaims connection with the Slav family and proclaims herself a sister nation of the Turk."

London, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—The French embassy gave out a statement today admitting that the British and French troops have been compelled to fall back, but asserting that at no place has a break through their lines been made.

A train loaded with German troops was blown up in southern Belgium and many soldiers are reported to have been killed and injured, according to a despatch from Ostend to a news agency.

Malines, Belgium, again is being bombarded by the Germans, according to a news agency despatch received here from Antwerp.

In the bombardment of Malines, Belgium, the first bombardment, a Reuben's masterpiece in the Church of the Notre Dame was destroyed. The painting is said to have been "The Miraculous Draft of Fishes."

According to the Daily Mail, the German military authorities have forbidden the publication of further casualty lists in the newspapers. Local papers are permitted to print casualties of local interest from the lists issued from the offices of the local administration.

A news agency message from St. Petersburg says that by an imperial order the capital of the Russian Empire will hereafter be known as Petrograd. This change eliminates the Teuton construction in the name by which the chief city of Russia has been known since it was founded by Peter the Great in 1703.

A donation of $125,000 has been made by William Waldorf Astor to the Prince of Wales Relief Fund, which is now nearing the $10,000,000 mark.

In order, if posible, to overcome the many complaints made against the British system of censorship the Government today directed the creation of a chief censorship bureau. It is thought that this will obviate the inequalities hitherto complained of.

The censorship was tightened suddenly, this afternoon. Many messages telling of operations in France and Belgium were held up. Advices from the allies battle front, this afternoon, were to the effect that the morale of the troops was excellent and that the losses had been made up all along the line. Fighting continued near LaFere.

"Further ghastly stories continue to reach me of the events in Louvain, Belgium, last Tuesday and Wednesday," wires the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily News. "A Dutch gentleman from Louvain, one of the notables of the town, who, with his wife, fled to Breda, states that at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when, with a number of other prominent citizens, he was standing, bound, at the railway station, a squad of soldiers drove a party of about three hundred men and boys to the corner of Boulevard Vantines. They poured volley after volley into the crowd till they all were dead. The sight was sickening beyond all power of description. Among those publicly shot wer the Mayor, the principal of the university and the heads of the police force."

That no mercy is to be shown Belgium is indicated in the official notification of the German quartermastership, General von Stein, on German measures in Belgium. It is as follows:

"Any fear of the Germans that concessions will be granted the Belgians is unfounded. Since Belgium declined our advances, it will have to bear itself all the consequences of its action. The operations commenced have not been delayed one moment through communications to the Belgian Government and are being carried out with ruthless energy."

Middelkerke, West Flanders, Belgium, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—The Germans lost 25,000 men killed in one day in the terrific fighting with the British troops at Cambrai, France. This is the story told here by a member of the Red Cross who has just arrived from Mons, in Belgium, near the French frontier, also the scene of a severe battle.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—The Russian war office has issued a new statement on the

RENT TEMPORARY SCHOOL QUARTERS

COST TO BE MODERATE

A. B. Leach & Co., Purchasers of School Bonds, Question Legality of Sale—Improvements Ordered—Sufficient Light to Be Provided.

After making thorough investigations with a view to relieving the congested conditions in the North Plainfield schools, the teachers' committee, of the Board of Education, submitted a plan at the regular meeting of that body last night that was accepted. Last year the conditions in the High School were especially bad and as there will be at least fifty more pupils in that department this year it was found necessary to make more room. The teachers' committee submitted a plan of renting the building at Duer street and Lincoln place, recently vacated by W. W. Dunn, the Park Grocer. The building is the property of Mr. Dunn and he has agreed to let the school authorities have it for school purposes.

The rental and the cost of improvements will be the only expenditures and these will not add greatly to the expenses. The room is large and well lighted. It is heated by coal stoves but drinking fountains and toilets will have to be installed. The store will be arranged for the use of the kindergarten department which heretofore has occupied one of the largest rooms on the first floor of the school. The High School typewriting department will be moved from the second floor to the former kindergarten room which will give more space for High School class work. One good feature about this plan is that the store can be taken care of by the school janitors without necessitating the hiring of new ones. Work will begin immediately on the remodeling of the store so as to be ready for the opening on September 14.

The reply from A. B. Leach and Company, a New York bonding house, that they would be unable to accept the $50,000 worth of school bonds which they had already purchased, was also discussed and it was finally agreed to send the bonds and hold the deposit until further developments. The New York concern claims through its attorneys that the sale of the bonds was illegal and could not be bought.

The law states that the Board of Education of a city is a municipal corporation and there are certain requirements that must be complied with before the bonds are saleable. As North Plainfield is not a city the Board is not such a corporation and is not effected by this law to the extent that the Leach officials claim. The finance committee also consulted J. Brognard Betts, assistant State commissioner of education, and have acted accordingly.

The building and grounds committee reported placing contracts for improvements in the building. Fire escapes and fire doors are being installed as well as casement windows and prism glass in the windows. The last named improvement was found necessary in order to fulfill the requirements of the law. One point for which the school has been condemned is that there has not been sufficient light in the class rooms. The prism glass overcomes this defect and plenty of light can be had.

MISS IDA APGAR IS GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER

Miss Ida Apgar, of Johnston avenue, was given a surprise "shower" at her home last night, at which time she received a large collection of useful gifts for housekeeping. A pleasant evening was spent by all, there being an informal program of vocal and instrumental music. Among the guests were the following:

MAJOR BOGART IMPROVING.

Major Joseph Bogart, of East Sixth street, who was taken sick at Utica, while on his way to Detroit last week, is now resting quietly at his home and is improving slowly.

WILL WORK FOR LARGE REGISTRY

First Ward Republicans Complete Plans For Primary Campaign.

The First Ward Republican Club held a large and enthusiastic session last evening, at which time plans for the primary campaign were completed. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., president of the club presided.

Candidates for the city and county executive committee were decided upon as follows: First district, city, Victor Lorton, county, V. W. Nash, Jr.; Second district, city and county, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.; Third district, city and county, William L. Gloak; Fourth district, city and county, Alfred A. Prudhon.

A registration committee the duties of which is to care for the registration of all Republican voters throughout the ward, was appointed as follows: First district, Albert I. Littell; Second district, Robert McCormack; Third district, Harry Hicks; Fourth district, Horace Adams. A special effort is to be made by this committee to have as many as is possible to register on the first day set expressly apart for that purpose, which falls on next Tuesday. Efforts will be made to secure a large and representative vote on primary day, when the voters are privileged to express their choice of the candidates at the ballot box. This, the organization feels, will do away with factional differences after the nominations have been made.

An informal discussion of the work of the club followed the regular meeting, which was adjourned to September 15, when the club will gather at the Republican Headquarters in the Frost building.

POLITICS WARMING UP IN THE BOROUGH

Politics in the borough is now in full sway, with petitions for all offices, from constable up, in circulation looking for signers. Democrats have awakened to the possibilities of securing representation in the Borough Council, and petitions endorsing ex-Sheriff Frank Mobus were started late last week, and are finding ready signers.

Several other North Plainfield followers of Jefferson have been mentioned on different occasions as a running mate for Mr. Mobus, with Hull Western of Sycamore avenue appearing to be a favorite. The Democrats feel that with the split which has appeared in the ranks of the Republican party, there is a strong chance of electing one, if not two, of their choice to the Council.

Henry DeMott and Alexander Milne have filed their petitions with Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver, as candidates for the Republican County Executive committee, the former from the third district, while the latter is from the first election district.

HEADS FOREIGN RELIEF COMMITTEE

H. L. DeForest Giving Valuable Aid to Refugees In Munich.

Through a friend, Robert E. DeForest, of New York, learned yesterday of the whereabouts of his son, Henry L. DeForest, of this city, who with Mrs. DeForest, Miss Margaret Leal and Miss Ina Rudd have been abroad. Young Mr. DeForest is chairman of a relief committee in Munich which is doing a great work for refugees.

Mr. DeForest was formerly overseer of the poor in this city, and has made a special study of conditions which are now confronting many people in foreign countries. He is therefore, peculiarly adapted to render valuable aid at such a time as this. It is not known when the Plainfielders will return home.

JAMES F. CUMISKY DIES IN 22D YEAR

James Francis Cumisky, aged 22 years, son of Mrs. Bridget Cumisky, of 6 Stony Brook place, the borough, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he had been under treatment for a short time. Mr. Cumisky was born and always lived in Plainfield. He was graduated from St. Mary's Parochial School and for the past five years had been in the employ of the New York Telephone Company, only recently having been promoted.

The young man was a member of St. Mary's church; also the T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps. This is the first death to occur among the membership of the corps and Mr. Cumisky's associates will attend the funeral in a body and six of the number in uniform will be pall-bearers. The deceased will be buried in his uniform. There survives a mother and two brothers, Michael and Thomas Cumisky.

The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and the burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

ARTHUR BROKAW INJURED IN LIVELY RUNAWAY

Arthur Brokaw, of Codington avenue, the borough, was badly cut and bruised this morning, as a result of a runaway, in which he played a prominent part. Brokaw had harnessed a horse, which had heretofore been in the habit of being driven double, singly to a truck. The animal started off with no appearances of being uneasy, but before going a great distance from the stables of Stonewall Jackson on Somerset street, where he was harnessed, he made a dash along Somerset street, as far as Codington avenue, through the latter thoroughfare, and in between two houses, where there were no fences to stop his flight.

Brokaw was thrown from the wagon, and was severely cut about the arms, shoulders and chest. He was, however, able to be about later in the day.

This is the second time that young Brokaw has been in such an accident, the previous one being early last spring, when he was kicked in the face by a horse, the removal of one or two small bones being made nepessary by the accident.

HERR'S SCHOOL RE-OPENS.

Regular sessions were resumed at Herr's School this morning. This date marks the beginning of the tenth year of the Plainfield Business College and School of English, under the present management. September 8 and 15 will be observed as beginning days, also, as many of the pupils do not return to school until the regular sessions are resumed at the public schools.

MAKE ENTRIES NOW.

Organizations and business men who anticipate having floats in the Labor Day parade should bear in mind that all entries should be made by Thursday evening, at which time the final meeting of the committee will be held. Charles Dahl, chairman of the float committee, will accept all entries on behalf of the committee.

M. DE COURCEY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Michael DeCourcey, who died on Saturday, at Muhlenberg Hospital, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church. Father McDonald, the curate, officiated at the service. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, members of the family acting as pall-bearers.

TOURISTS HOME FROM WAR ZONE

PRAISE U. S. CONSUL

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sandford, Miss Pauline Sandford, Miss Florence Burt and Miss Hannah Sparks Among 700 Returning Refugees.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Sandford and daughter, Miss Pauline Sandford, Miss Florence Burt, of this city, and Miss Hannah Sparks, sister of Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, who have been abroad for more than two months, succeeded in reaching home yesterday, after a series of exciting experiences in getting out of the foreign war zone. They were all members of a Honeyman party of tourists in charge of Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, formerly of this city, but now of Paterson.

The Plainfielders with 700 other American refugees arrived in Brooklyn yesterday on the San Giovanni of the Sicula-American Line, having left Naples on Saturday, August 15. This ship, which is ordinarily used to transport immigrants, underwent a number of temporary changes to provide accommodations for the returning Americans. Mr. Sandford, in speaking today of the experiences of his party and others returning home, said that the accommodations were quite comfortable. There was plenty of food, but not of the best quality, neither was it prepared in an appetizing manner. Some of the passengers found it impossible to eat the food served. The Plainfielders were fortunate in being able to get accommodations on the first deck.

Mrs. Sanford, through foresight, provided herself with a generous supply of oranges and malted tablets, which came in very handy on the trip home. Prior to sailing, Miss Sandford had been ill with jaundice and was under the care of two physicians. The trip home proved of great benefit to her and she was a good sailor, while some of the others were seasick.

The Plainfield party left here July 4 for the trip abroad. They traveled through Belgium, Holland and Switzerland and thence to Italy. They were in Florence when war was declared and found it impossible to get out of the place. They spent two weeks there, making a side trip to Rome. While passing through the other countries now at war, there was a peaceful condition and Mr. Sandford remarked that there was not even a hint of war.

Much praise was given to James White, the American consul at Naples, who, Mr. Sandford said, did all in his power for the Americans, even endorsing their checks. While in Naples the Americans held a mass meeting at which Mr. White was one of the speakers. Immediately afterward the letter cabled to this country for assistance and not long afterward Congress acted upon the appeal, making it possible for many Americans to get home.

Mr. Sandford said that while Italy apparently does not want to go to war, the Italians seemed to be very bitter against the Germans and if called to arms would undoubtedly fight with England and France. When the Plainfielders left Italy the country seemed to be on the verge of a revolution and secret preparations were being made in case of any trouble. One reason why Italy is not anxious for war is that so many people are flocking to that country on account of its neutrality, and there is some concern about a sufficient supply of provisions. The country from a financial standpoint does not seem to be in a position to engage in war was the opinion of Mr. Sandford. All were glad to reach American soil again.

CHRISTEN NEW SWIMMING POOL AT HIGH SCHOOL

The question of who should have the honor of taking the first swim in the new pool at the High School was settled abruptly Monday afternoon when the plumbing foreman who was looking into the pool then about half full of water, remarked "that water looks good, I'd like to take a swim in it."

At this point some one shoved him from behind. After the splash had cleared away a very wet plumber chased the joker into the engine room; but the plumber proved a good sport, saw the joke and laughed with the rest.

"After all" he said as he changed his clothes, "It's something to have been the first man in."

LOCAL NAVY MAN HOME ON FURLOUGH

Percy Burner, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Burner, of Jackson avenue, surprised his parents last night by dropping in upon them unexpectedly. He is mate to the chief gunner on the United States gunboat Nashville and was in southern waters during the recent troubles in San Domingo and Mexico. He has been in the navy since 1902 and is at present on a short furlough.

Mr. Burner witnessed some of the troubles in Mexico although his ship did not arrive there until the day after Vera Cruz had been occupied by the Americans. When the trouble started at that place the Nashville was in Santo Domingo and the captain was given a hurry call to go to Mexico. The crew of the Nashville did not do any fighting, but, was landed to do shore duty and help in the "cleaning up" process in Vera Cruz. The Nashville then went further south to do blockade duty and watch the Mexican gunboats reporting all their actions.

Some of the work that the Americans encountered was not so pleasant as it might have been, yet other work was more adventure for the "middies." Mr. Burner said that some of the reports sent here by those who were having their first "real" navy life, were amusing to those who were in Mexico.

MISS MILDRED BROWNLEE IS NAMED SUPERVISOR

Miss Mildred Brownlee, of Putnam avenue, has been appointed supervisor of the public recreation committee work, succeeding Miss Constance Morris, resigned, and she enters upon her new duties this evening. Miss Brownlee was assistant playground supervisor at the Franklin School, this summer, and is familiar with the work.

Miss Melvin, who was formerly recreation supervisor, will not return to her position, as was at first thought, she having decided to locate elsewhere. This was also the case with Miss Morris and the committee considers itself fortunate in being able to secure the services of Miss Brownlee.

SMITH-NICKERSON.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth R. Smyth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smyth, of Bound Brook, to Walter Nickerson, of Philadelphia, the ceremony having taken place at Philadelphia, July 7. The bride, who has been employed at the Bound Brook exchange of the New York Telephone Company, resigned her position last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will reside in Philadelphia, where the groom is employed.

DEMOCRATES TO MEET.

The meeting of the Jeffersonian Democratic Club of next week will be held Tuesday evening instead of Monday, the regular meeting night falling on Labor Day. A movement has been on foot among the members of this club to have the organization endorse F. Otto Linke as a candidate for the Assembly.

POLITICS IN THE BOROUGH.

Robert Craig, of Lincoln avenue, is one of the two candidates of the local Republican organization for councilman at the coming primary election. Whom the other candidate will be has not been decided upon as yet. The Progressive party is also drawing things rather fine in the matter of naming a ticket. All petitions endorsing candidate must be filed with the borough clerk not later than tomorrow evening. There is a rumor in circulation to the effect that the Progressive will endorse Hervey B. Walters, one of the Democratic candidates, as one of their ticket. This, it is believed, would practically insure Mr. Walters' election.

The special election of the township voters is scheduled for this evening in School No 1, when the Board will ask for an appropriation of $16,500 to cover the expense of building a new school in the "Graceland" section of the township for the colored children. Some residents are of the opinion that a school should be built in Fanwood borough to relieve the pupils from that place walking a mile to Scotch Plains. The Board is afraid that it will be hard to sell bonds for the school owing to war conditions and so are even deferring the building of an addition to School No. 1, and would not build School No. 3 if conditions did not demand it. The polls will open at 8 o'clock for one hour.

QUEEN WILHELMINA'S BIRTHDAY

The Hague, Sept. 1.—Queen Wilhelmina, whose little domain is one of the few countries of Europe not engaged in active warfare, received the congratulations of the foreign diplomats yesterday on the occasion of her thirty-fourth birthday. The anniversary was very quietly observed, for the people of Holland are naturally in a state of depression, appalled by what seems more than a possibility that their country will soon be drawn into the conflict that already has devastated her neighbor to the south.

Twenty-three years ago William III, king of the Netherlands, died, and little Wilhelmina became Holland's only hope for the continuation of the monarchy. During the eight years of Wilhelmina's minority her mother, Queen Emma, ruled as regent. On her eighteenth birthday Wilhelmina became Queen in fact as well as in name. Eight years after her marriage to Prince Henry, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and her subjects had despaired of an heir, the Princess Juliana was born. In the infant hands of Juliana rests the fate of the royal house of Orange, which was restored just a century ago.

Wilhelmina is the fourth ruler to occupy the throne of Holland since the restoration. William Frederick, who was returned in 1813, was the first to assume the title of king. After a long reign he abdicated in favor of his son, who ruled as William II, until 1849, when he was succeeded by William III, father of Wilhelmina. The King was past sixty when the present queen was born, his first wife having given him no children.

CARRANZA ORDERS CLOSING OF PORT AT VERA CRUZ

Washington, Sept. 1.—Closing of the port of Vera Cruz by the Constitutionalists may have a serious effect on the United States forces there. All shipping from other Mexican ports is forbidden to clear for Vera Cruz, papers being refused by port officers. This came to the State department today in official despatches. The orders of General Carranza will seriously impair the food supply most of which came from small coastwise vessels. No objection yet has been made by the administration, but if the situation becomes more serious, active measures, probably through representations to Carranza, will be resorted to by the State department.

STANDARD AND TIDEWATER OIL COMPANIES ON FULL TIME

Bayonne, Sept. 1.—It is expected that by the end of this week the entire Standard Oil plant in this city, the largest in the east, will be operating on full time. Since shortly after the European war broke out the 6,000 employes have been working on half time but the company is now able to send ships abroad with oil. Four vessels ladened with oil have already sailed for various parts in Europe, except in Germany, and five or six will leave this week. At the plant of the Tide Water Oil Company it was stated today that the outlook was much brighter and that within a short time full operations will be resumed. This company was obliged to lay off many workmen because of its inability to send oil abroad.

RUSSIANS STEADILY ADVANCING

Big Army Is Sent to Check Them.

DEFEAT THE AUSTRIANS

FRENCH ALSO AGGRESSIVE

London, Sept. 1.—Fresh forces of Germans have made their appearance on the Prussian front and are taking the aggressive against the Russians, according to an official dispatch. The indications are that the German general staff is withdrawing forces from their western front to re-enforce the German and Austrian armies in East Prussia and Galicia.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—The Russian troops have smashed through the Austrian left army near Samosce, in northern Galicia, and have routed it with enormous losses. Thousands of prisoners have been taken, together with many cannon, machine guns and munitions, according to an official statement issued by the war office.

The Russian Cossack division is now declared to be in full pursuit of the retreating army and to have succeeded in decimating the rear guard.

The defeated Austrians are declared in the official reports to be "panic stricken," and fresh Russian columns are being sent against them to prevent a junction with the Austrian forces now near Lemberg.

It is stated that the Russian infantry, covered by an artillery bombardment, charged the advancing Austrians and in a hand to hand conflict turned the right of the line at the point of the bayonet. The Austrians were driven back so rapidly that it was impossible for them to take their artillery with them, so they abandoned it to the oncoming Russian army.

Austrian Raid Fails.

The Austrian raid into southeast Russian Poland is said to have failed, and the Austrians, defeated with heavy loss, are now said to be in full retreat.

The Russian advance in East Prussia has penetrated to the Vistula river, according to official announcement. Army headquarters announced that the fortresses of Thorn and Graudenz, part of the Vistula river defenses, are invested. Big siege guns have been brought to bear upon the fortresses.

There was a report here that the city of Koenigsberg had been captured and the fortresses commanding the town occupied by the Russians.

According to the report the Russians, hotly pursuing the German forces, succeeded in entering the city with the fugitives and thus gained command of both town and fortress with little fighting.

Other reports say that the Russians hold only the outer defenses of the city, which the Russian cavalry occupied at the heels of the retreating German army.

The fortress of Thorn, which the Russians are now investing, is one of the strongest of the Vistula fortresses. Its capture would give the Russians a base which is little more than 200 miles from Berlin and would practically open up a path for the invading army toward the German capital. The Russians, with their heavy siege guns already in place, are apparently determined on a quick reduction of this fortress and that of Graudenz.

As an evidence of the enthusiasm of the German people, it is announced that 2,000,000 volunteers have presented themselves for service.

HEAVY FIGHTING OFF DOVER

DOLLAR DAY.

Thrifty housewives will be out in force tomorrow. Arranged by the Plainfield Business Mens' Association, the second "Dollar Day" of the year will be held, and a glance at the advertising columns of tonight's Press will readily demonstrate that thousands of dollars will be saved to the Plainfield buying public during the hours the stores are open.

No one who participated in the offerings made on the Dollar Day held late in February will need to be urged to visit the stores tomorrow with well filled purses. The latter will be empty when they depart, but the contents will have been parted with gladly in return for the merchandise offered. It was a happy thought that last February inspired the merchants to first hold one of these days, for once tried there was not a store-keeper that did not stand convinced that it was the greatest selling day the city ever had.

Then there is another point of view from which a lesson can be drawn. The Dollar Day serves to attract hundreds of shoppers from out of town, and no doubt many of these have never traded in Plainfield before. When they see the fine stock in splendid, well-lighted stores, with obliging clerks to wait upon them they will come again. Anything that will induce people to trade in Plainfield will be a mutual source of profit for everybody. When it is realized that the stocks carried here are fully as good and cheap as those to be found in the big cities, and that prices here are as low, and in many cases lower than in the larger cities, the suburban buyers, as well as hundreds of residents who now buy out of town, will be glad to trade in Plainfield.

IS THAT SO.

Until Plainfield can devise some plan for keeping the population already acquired, it is scarcely in a position to make a bid to outsiders to join forces with it. More especially people of contented villages.

The New Brunswick Homes News prints this comment in an editorial in which they take issue with an alleged desire on the part of Plainfield to enlarge its territory by "casting longing glances at South Plainfield and Dunellen, peaceful hamlets in Middlesex county which it suggests might profitably be annexed to Union county." It says that this city wants the two towns because some of the children in each of them now come to this city to school. The reference is made to the fact that "Plainfield neglects, however, to show advantages offsetting the city tax rate that Dunellen and South Plainfield folks would be called upon to pay."

Before our New Brunswick friends go any further, it might be well for them to investigate a little. In the first place Plainfield does not need to "devise some plan to keep the population already acquired." While it is true that there are many empty houses in this city, as the Home News says, a large majority of them are either old-fashioned, or have been built by land schemers, and are not fit for residential purposes, such as Plainfield people demand. They might do in New Brunswick but not here. This city will be well up with the leaders in population growth when the 1915 census is made public, as is already proven by the great demand for increased school room.

In the matter of annexing South Plainfield, we might refer to the speech of Judge Smith of that town, who told the Plainfield Board of Trade at a meeting some months ago, that his town rightly belonged to Plainfield; did all of its buying here, and was in every way identified with this place, having little or nothing in common with Middlesex county. As to the tax rate argument, we can only refer to the recent statement that our rate would probably not be a cent higher than last year, $1.87, while the Dunellen authorities have said that they probably will have to pay at a rate higher than $2.50. We have not the figures for South Plainfield, but even if the rate is lower, we'd be willing to bet a dollar against a peanut that the residents of that thriving little borough would gladly pay a little more to have the advantages of city government.

It might be well for our New Brunswick friends to do a little investigating before tackling a subject about which they are so evidently at loss for facts.

The parade of "The Women in Black" in New York, stirred the spectators as much as some of the demonstrations of European cities are arousing the people over there. The various organizations of women had a procession of fifteen hundred or more women in black, bareheaded, marching to the tap of muffled drums through the streets that gave the effort the best results. It is a pity that this demonstration cannot have some effect that will help to shorten the time of the carnival of crime in Europe. It is expecting too much to hope that it will accomplish that, but what it will do is to call attention in graphic way to one of the effects of war—The Woman in Black and her orphan brood, sacrificing their childhood to contribute to the blood lust of kings and emperors. It is a pity that the women of every city and town in the world cannot have such a parade and give a demonstration that could never be forgotten. This war will produce millions of Women in Black and little orphans.

William Sulzer has come out as a prohibitionist in New York, tearing his passions and hair in denunciation of the demon rum. Before attending the meeting at which he announced that he stood "squarely" on the Prohibition platform, he stated to reporters that he would "go into the Progressive primaries, the Democratic primaries, the American primaries and possibly others." As the waitress asked of the boarder who had ordered everything else on the list, "What's the matter with the squash pie?"—What's the matter with the Republican primaries? Anyway, we have Mr. Sulzer's word for it that he's a Prohibitionist and don't need his word for it that he s a contortionist.

POLITICAL NOTES.

September 2—Last day for filing petitions for local offices.

September 8—First registry day. Also last day for filing petitions to fill vacancies in all offices except Governor and Congress.

September 22—Primary election day and registration day for general election.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

November 3—Election Day.

The coming campaign should be a busy one for Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park. Besides being the Progressive candidate for register on the county ticket, he has a local fight for re-election to the office he now holds. Judging by events in the borough during the last two years the rest of the county will watch the Mayoralty fight there with unusual interest.

Assistant Prosecutor Joseph E. Stricker, of Middlesex county, is expected home from Europe this week, Prosecutor George S. Silzer stated today. Mr. Stricker was caught on the continent when the war started, and reports in Middlesex were that he had been impressed into service in the Austrian army. Mr. Stricker is Mr. Silzer's choice for prosecutor. The latter has been appointed a circuit judge.

Members of the county committees will be elected primary day, as the law requires that they shall be named annually by the members of the party which they help to manage. No contests have as yet developed in any district, so far as known, and most of the present members are expected to be candidates for re-election.

No Progressive candidate for Freeholder is expected to enter the fight for successor to George T. Carroll, of Elizabeth. The latter is unopposed, so far, for renomination on the Democratic ticket, while former Councilman William F. Marsh, of Elizabeth, has no opposition for the Republican nomination.

Frederic G. Thomas, of Somerville, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Senator against Azarian Beekman and William V. Steele, is making arrangements for a series of street meetings to be held in the county between now and the date of the primaries.

One week from today, Tuesday, September 8, is the first day set aside for the registry of voters. Last year, about twenty per cent. of the vote in this city took advantage of the first day of registration. Early registration has several advantages, both to the district Boards of Election and to the individual citizen.

The local district Election Boards have secured the first assignment of forms and books for primary and election purposes from the county clerk.

First voters and those voters who have changed their place of residence since last election should bear the first registry day in mind, as should those who for anyq reason, failed to exercise the right of franchise at the last general election.

The district Election Boards are supposed to organize tomorrow. All the members have been appointed now, and the perfection of preliminaries is all that is necessary before the first registry day arrives.

While General Dennis F. Collins has been in the Adirondacks for a week, the circulation of his Mayoralty petitions has not been allowed to falter. The petitions have been seen in all sections of Elizabeth and may be filed before he returns home. He may be back today, however.

Although a report has been published in a Newark paper that a list of candidates for county nominations was endorsed at the Democratic County Committee meeting last Thursday night, members of the committee who were present positively deny this. They assert that the committee never makes any endorsements.

William F. Callahan is making an active campaign for a Democratic Assembly nomination. He is well-known in labor circles and has a big following in the county. All of the Democratic candidates are hustling and the fight promises to be interesting.

The John Wanamaker Store

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.
Broadway and Ninth, New York

NOTICE

Beginning today, September 1, the Autumn schedule will go into effect, and the store will remain open until 5:30.

On next Saturday, September 5, the store will be open all day.

On Labor Day, September 7, the store will be closed entirely, as usual.

September Opens With Two Important Sales

With Austrian, German and French China Factories Practically Closed

We Hold Our September Sale of China, Glass and Artware

JUST THE SAME

Because We Have The Goods

War Makes Heroes—But What of the Heroes of Peace?—

"that woman bending over a washtub these days to make money enough to pay the rent while her husband is out of work."

The September Sale of Wanamaker Housewares is for Women who Labor

If the goods were not here you may be sure the sale for this year would be annulled. We value our patronage too much to substitute anything for what we have always offered; the best in the world, wherever it is made.

And not one cent of war tribute will be added to the prices—we sell as we buy, and for this sale's shipments we bought at the old low figures.

It is for women who know the drudgery of housework.

It is for women who know the pleasure of housework—because they have discovered the right tools.

Efficiency is Freedom

Great minds today are studying how the work in factory and mill can be made more efficient—that is, less wasteful.

We have been studying how to make the work in the home more efficient and less of a task.

This Housewares Sale is the Answer

Hardly a day passes but some new labor-saving device makes its appearance on our floor.

Hardly a day passes that we do not add a little extra quality to some household utensil—to make it more serviceable.

Hardly a day passes that we do not lower a price by "quantity buying"—our two stores furnishing the greatest outlet in the United States for housewares.

We have 1,500 French, English, German, Austrian and American dinner sets for the sale—at not one cent advance. Our full complement would have been 2,000.

But What of the Future?

There can be but one result of the war: prices must go up. Supplies from Austria and Germany have absolutely stopped. The potteries there are closed. In France and England they are greatly curtailed. Even in this country there are threats of higher prices. These are the plain facts given to us by letter and cable direct from the manufacturers. We give them to the public, to act as it sees fit.

The economies of the sale, not figuring the higher prices to come, range from 25 to 50 per cent.

Note—Our information fixes this number and assortment as five times greater than any stock at public disposal.

$50,000 worth of Cut Glass—Rich, new cuttings.

$40,000 worth of China and plates, including the finest productions of Doulton and Wedgwood in England, 151 patterns from France, and a fine assortment from Austria.

The sale is of more importance to our customers than any previous half-yearly Sale of China we have had.

But We Have Two Houseware Stores in New York

The other covers one floor, just as large, high up in the Wanamaker building—the reserve stock.

Economies of the Sale are 10 to 50 Per Cent.

We do not cut prices on trade-mark goods and use them as a lure to sell other goods at abnormally high prices to make up for loss of profit on "cut prices."

We do not use baits of any kind to bring people to the store.

But we do sell the best housewares to be had at the lowest possible prices day in and day out—and in this September Sale at figures much lower than these regular prices.

ROD AND REEL

Weak fishermen had an ideal tide yesterday, with low water coming in the middle of the morning. This provided an opportunity of getting on the grounds early, and fishing right through from low water to high water slack, and the best of the ebb tide. Some record catches were made. The best of the nearby grounds have been off Keyport Cove. The boats out at Keyport have been bringing in record catches. Most of the powerboats anchor on the flats on a line with Lorillard's Pier, Money Island, and the church steeple over on Staten Island. Good catches of weakfish have been assured all who have anchored at this spot all season. Quite a few fish have also been picked up at the monument, out from Morgan Station, while those out from the Amboys have had fairly good luck at the Gread Beds Light and at the blackstick. Fishermen who are taking advantage of the new fast trolley line along the shore, and get off at Seawaren, are enjoying the best weakfishing in years at Seawaren. Good catches are being made by men from the various points along the Jersey shore. Those who want to catch fluke, sea bass and blackfish, will have a try at the Newark boats that leave the Lincoln Highway Bridge. There are more than a score of boats.

Branch Brook is well fished these days and many an angler is finishing out his vacation fishing there. They come from a good distance and few go away dissatisfied with their catch. One man caught five bass Tuesday, among them one that weighed over three pounds.

Many anglers are trying their luck in Weequahic Park lake these days and many get excellent results. Perch, pickerel, catfish and bass are all biting fine and large ones have been taken in the last week or two.

One of the best places to catch weakfish and croakers is at Keyport Harbor. Many of the former can be landed in a short time with an occasional bluefish.

One man in Perth Amboy landed a lobster that weighed twenty-three pounds, but needed the assistance of another man to safely land it.

Large numbers of weakfish are reported being caught at Morgan Station and also in Raritan Bay.

Here is a tip that might come in handy to the wise fisherman: Fishhooks will advance in price because of the war, as most of the gut leaders are imported. A supply laid aside for such a rise will help out some. Put in a supply.

MAY ENTER PEDDIE.

Frank Lee, of Scotch Plains, formerly of Leals School, and a member of the Holy Cross football team last year, may continue his studies at Peddie Institute, Highstown. When in the local private institution he was an all around athlete and played on the eleven for two years. Last season he was on the Holy Cross squad and played a number of games. Peddie always puts out a fine football team and the local boy will have a good chance to make fullback if he should decide to go there.

EVIDENCE OF PROSPERITY.

The fact that automobiles are being purchased in the State of Indiana at the rate of 150 each day is pretty good evidence that some citizens are prosperous in this commonwealth. The Secretary of State says the biggest percentage of the machines now sold go to the farmers and residents of small towns.—Vincennes Capital.

ARTHUR VAN ZANDT MAY RETURN TO SCHOOL

Arthur VanZandt, of this city, who has been in the west for a year, has returned home and will probably enter the local High School. He has attended the school for three years and will be a senior if he returns. While in school he was captain of the football eleven for two seasons and played quarterback. In 1912 he suffered a broken shoulder while playing.

He is also a good basketball player and may prove a big help to the teams if he should decide to return.

MAY CHANGE SCORING SYSTEM OF ATHLETICS IN AMERICA

The athletic authorities of the United States will undoubtedly be asked to decide within the next few years whether or not they will substitute the metric system used at the Olympic games for he English system of weights and measures which prevails in the United States and England. This was brought out in the second convention of the International Amateur Athletic Federation just held in Lyons, France. Several of the experts even went so far as to predict that within the next five years America would have adopted the metric system.

There is some foundation for this prophetic utterance, but probably not so much as the Europeans imagine. It would be a tremeadous task to adopt the metric system for our athletics unless the United States as a Government should adopt the entire metric system and teach it in our schools. There is no doubt that it would be a profitable thing to do, for the metric system is founded on scientific principles, and is almost as much superior to the English system of weights and measures as our decimal system of money is superior to England's unscientific money system of pounds, shillings and pence.

In an effort to bring about a standardization of rules and events for the Olympic games, prompted almost entirely by England and the United States, the federation was right in pointing out that these two countries should get in line by the adoption of the metric system. The argument was apparently not lost on the American delegates, most of whom agreed concerning the superiority of the metric system. But they feat that the metric system, if used in our athletics while another system was taught in our schools, would be most confusing. And if this country is ever officially asked to substitute the metric system this will probably be the answer made, that it cannot be successfully done until the metric system is adopted by the United States. If it should be adopted, only for athletes, it would be a remarkable tribute to French influence in athletics. Baron Coubertin, a Frenchman, brought about the revival of the Olympic games; the French metric system of weights, measures and times is the only one used in the games, and the French language is the official language of the Olympic Council. And yet France, in spite of this wonderful influence in shaping Olympic legislation, has won mighty few honors on track or field.

If a suggestion made by the University of Pennsylvania track committee is ever adopted by the I. C. A. A. A. A., the metric system may come sooner than expected. When this association decided last winter to conduct a set of indoor games in New York every winter at odd distance so as not to detract from the interest in the outdoor games, the Quakers suggested that the Olympic distances be used. There is still time for this to be done, because the association has not decided the details of the meet in question.

In the Lyons convention for the standardization of rules and events the American influence was unusually strong and well received. Practically all of the suggestions made by the committee, of which the American, James E. Sullivan, was chairman, were adopted. While the rules agreed upon have not yet been published in detail they conform in all essentials to those of this country. Likewise the set of Olympic implements shown by Mr. Sullivan were approved. In agreeing upon rules and conditions for the various events the American viewpoint was nearly always accepted. One important change was in the running broad jump in which the delegates declined to show the dirt to be dug up immediately in front of the takeoff. Although it is done in this country only to reduce the possibility of injury to athletes the other delegates could not see the necessity for it.

GOLF CHAMP GIVES SOME GOOD ADVICE

"Jerry" Travers, Noted Golfer, Gives Seven Rules For Putting.

In the September American Magzine, "Jerry" Travers, present amateur golf champion of the United States and champion in 1907, 1908 and 1912, writes a highly interesting and practically helpful article on the use of the putter in golf. The title of this article is "The Winning Shot," and he tells many thrilling stories of wonderful putts that have won great matches. He regards the putter as far and away the most important club in a player's bag. In fact, he estimates the playing value of the putter as forty-five per cent. against fifty-five per cent. for all the other clubs ordinarily used—the driver, mashie, brassie, cleek, midiron and niblick. Following are Travers' rules for putting which, in the course of his article, he explains thoroughly.

2. "Keep your eye on that ball and don't move your body.

3. "Cut out the jab or the stab, learn the pendulum swing and get a follow through with the club.

4. "Cultivate, in practice as well as play, the knack of always being a trifle beyond the hole if you miss. Make a steady practice of always giving the ball a chance.

5. "Cultivate the habit of concentration.

6. "Cultivate the habit of confidence and determination, for mental faults can be improved as well as physical ones.

7. "And then practice putting wherever and whenever you get the chance."

YALE'S OFFER OF STADIUM NOT WELL RECEIVED BY ARMY

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The offer made by Yale to the Army and the Navy for the use of the new Yale Bowl for the big service football battle next November, was not well received here and it is not likely to be met with approval at Annapolis either.

The Army is set on playing at the Polo grounds in New York and will not play anywhere else. As for the Navy, if it refused to go as far north as New York, it certainly will not go to New Haven. The whole matter still hangs fire and neither academy is showing any inclination to rush a settlement of the dispute. A similar state of affairs has never before existed and it is hard to explain.

Reports from the Navy indicate that the Middies are still as insistent as ever that the game be played in Philadelphia. It is said that only the intervention of high Army officials has prevented Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, from canceling the game this season.

MC LOUGHLIN AND WILLIAMS WILL BATTLE FOR HONORS

Newport, R. I., Sept. 1.—History repeated itself on the Casino courts yesterday, when Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, and R. Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia, won their places in the finals of the all-comers tournament of the National singles lawn tennis championship. The betting last night was 4 to 1 that McLoughlin would capture the title today for the third time.

McLoughlin secured his place in the final by defeating former champion William J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. Williams came through with a similar victory over Ella Fottrell, of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2

WILL SAURERS WIN THE FOURTH GAME?

Only One More Needed to Claim the City Championship.

Present indications point to the Saurer ball club as the city baseball champions for the season of 1914, although they may lose out if they drop the game next Monday. Those who have seen all three of the Saurer-Pet games will grant that the former has the nine hardest hitters even though they have not outhit their opponents to any great extent. The last contest showed, however, that they were harder sluggers than the Pets, as will be seen by the number of extra base hits that were accounted for in the box score.

In the first two games that were played, the two aggregations were so evenly matched that a winner could not be selected and the third game was looked forward to as a test to bring out a favorite. Plainfield certainly played poor ball last Saturday, but they may take the fourth game just as they did the second and that would necessitate a fifth and deciding battle. Both McLaughlin and Townley have been pitching good ball for their respective teams with strikeouts, passes and hits about even, but Saturday the big man drew away and outpitched his opponent in every respect. George did not have anything with him and the Saurer batters hit hard in the pinches, while Warry was more effective with men on the bases than with them empty.

One must also consider the errors that are made and the Pets do like to make errors. Misplays are what make pitchers lose good games sometimes and that was the case in the first game of this series. Townley held his opponents to three hits while his teammates collected five, but six errors caused the Pets defeat. In the second game they also made several bad errors, but were lucky enough to win when the hits were even, three to each team. Last Saturday three errors were credited to one man and one to another, all of which were costly. The Saurer batters outhit their opponents by one safety, but they only had one error against them. McLaughlin has been getting fine support from this team and they deserve to win.

Plainfield's last chance will come next Monday and if they have a good day in the field a fifth game may be necessary. Townley and McLaughlin will go at it again and, as both teams will want this game for a good purpose, the best of the series is looked for.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS MAY PRACTICE SOON

Holy Cross Squad Will Probably Get Early Training in the Y. M. C. A.

The management of the Holy Cross football club is planning to start practice early this season and have hit upon a plan that may be carried through. The yare thinking of hiring the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium two nights a week and practice there until it comes time to tumble around on the field. Signal practice and trick plays could be learned in this way and when the team took the field for regular practise, the coach would not have to bother with those things and could devote his time to the more important matters.

A meeting will be held in the near future and final plans for the season will be made and a manager will also be elected. There is some talk of Doyle's not returning but if he is elected he will probably be on the job again. The team will use Cricket Field which is the best in this vicinity save Parker Field and will play all the games at home.

A large number of players have signified their intentions of trying for the team and there will be a large squad to pick from. Many of the old men will return and some new ones will try for the positions.

THESE TWO PITCHERS PASSED ONE AND LOST

After reading the account of the game between the Yankees and Detroit yesterday, it can be plainly seen that George Townley, pitcher for the Pets, pulled some big league stuff in the game last Saturday but failed to get away with it. In the sixth inning of the third Saurer-Plainfield game, Townley passed Mullin on purpose with the intention of geting Martin who followed him. But Brit was there with the clout that won the game, a homer over the left field fence.

In the game that was played at the Polo Grounds yesterday, Cy Pieh was in Townley's shoes and Mullin's and Martin's places were taken by Cobb and Crawford, respectively. With one on the bags, Pieh decided to pass Tyrus and take a chance on Sam. The latter was Brit Martin all over again and circled the bases behind two others. And that was in the thirteenth session of the first game.

SIX WEEKS MORE WILL SEE END OF SEASON

Hot Race On In National League With Four Seeking Honors.

New York, Sept. 1.—The scedules of the major leagues call for six weeks more of battling for the pennants before the seasons end. Many things can happen in baseball in six weeks. Teams that look like winners now may fall by the wayside, while other outfits that appear now to have only an outside chance for the muslin, may step out in front.

In the National League, the Giants, the Braves, the Cardinals and the Cubs are furnishing the pyrotechnical element of a hot championship race. The Giants still have the largest following of champ stickers, probably because the McGrawites have won three pennants in a row. But it doesn't follow that a team successful in three pennant battles can get away with the fourth. Several major league teams have copped the pennant three years in succession, but a four-time winner in unknown in either the National or American League.

The Bostons of 1872-3-4-5 were four-time winners, but this was prior to the formation of the National League. Also outside the pale of the two big organizations of the present day was the feat of Charley Comiskey's St. Louis Browns in winning the pennant of the old American Association for four successive years, beginning with 1885.

Until the Braves started their sensational climb a few weeks ago the chances of the Giants to annex four in a row looked fine. Now the fast work of the Braves has put an awful crimp in the ambition of the Giants, and in order to win out the New Yorkers will have to work harder than they have ever had to work in any of their former championship battles. It is not only the Braves who are out to trim the Giants. The Cardinals also are close by and going strong. These same Cards are not to be overlooked. In the series between the Cardinals and the Giants this season the Cards have shown equal strength with the McGraws in every department of the game.

Miller Huggins has a fast bunch of ball players under his command. Should the Cards be able to get anything like a fair start towards the front it is likely their climb would be as spectacular as that recently pulled by the Battling Braves.

A little farther down the line are the Cubs. Not a great deal is expected of the Cubs in the way of pennant winning. The team has performed brilliantly in spots and is generally classed as an in-and-outer. Unless they can get away with a good run of consecutive victories, such as they put over earlier in the season, there is little or no hope for the O'Day clan.

In the American League pennant battle it is merely a question of whether the Red Sox, the Tigers or the Senators can overtake the Athletics. The three teams are all playing bang-up ball, but they are fatally handicapped by the fact that the Mackmen are putting up an article just a shade better.

Boston fans figure on the Athletics cracking before the season is many days older, the said cracking to be the cue for the Red Sox to wedge in at the front. The fans in Washington and Detroit also hope that the Athletics may slow up soon and give the Senators and Tigers a chance to show what they can do in a grand scramble for the top. Outside of the three cities named the fans all along the circuit are making arrangements to go to Philadelphia to see the world's series.

The National and American Leagues are not the only organizations furnishing tight pennant races this year, as a glance at the standing of the Federal League clubs will show. In fact, the Feds have had a little something on the two older leagues, inasmuch as the Gilmore circuit has had five teams traveling along with a mark of .500 or better. Joe Tinker's Chifeds, the team picked earlier in the season as a sure winner, now has to fight to a finish with Indianapolis and Baltimore. Brooklyn and Buffalo are not very far back, while the weaker members—Kansas City, St. Louis and Pittsburgh—are still able to trip the leaders occasionally. The Federal League race is still very unsettled and before the season ends several teams will be considerably mussed up in their efforts to win the bunting.

ANOTHER FOOTBALL TEAM THIS SEASON

The Orioles, a Colored Eleven, Will Play Here This Fall.

Plainfield will be represented by a colored football team this fall which will go under the name of the Oriole A. C. The team had its first workout on Hope Common yesterday afternoon, and will practice regularly from now on until the season opens. The manager has secured the services of George Linke, a local man as coach, who has played the game himself and coached the Plainfield High School eleven through one of its most successful seasons in 1912.

The team will uphold blue and white as their colors and have been measured for their suits. The manager is trying to get Parker Field to play on when it is not in use by the High School team anw if they fail to get this they may play on Hope Common although it is a good ways out of town.

This team intends to make a bid for the city championship and will undoubtedly make things interesting for the other teams here. A good number of good men reported for the first practise and the Orioles will have a fast team on the field.

A. W. RANSOME GETS SUMMER CUP

Returns Best Average Three Net Scores at Country Club.

A. W. Ransome is the winner of the Summer cup the competition for which was concluded at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. The conditions under which the competition was conducted were that the player making the best average of at least three net scores, 18 holes, on Saturdays between July 11 and August 29, should receive the trophy. Mr. Ransome's best net scores were 65, 66 and 80, for a total of 211.

J. R. Evans finished second, his best net scores being 69, 72 and 75 for a total of 216. The trophy which Mr. Ransome will receive was offered by the club.

The weekly competition for the Golf committee cup will be resumed on Saturday. This play was suspended during the summer months while the competition for the Summer cup was in progress.

JACK MARTIN THINKS GIANTS WILL BE PENNANT WINNERS

Jack Martin dropped in town this morning and gave an opinion about the National League fight. He has no doubt that the Giants will come out of the race at the top with a good lead as there is over a month yet to play. The Philadelphia team was idle yesterday and is today but meet Boston tomorrow in a double header.

When asked what chance he had of any world's series money he said he had as much chance as the Pets have of beating Saurer the fourth game.

ANOTHER GERMAN FLIER OVER PARIS.

Paris, Sept. 1.—It is confirmed that a German aviator flew over Paris late yesterday afternoon. The aviator dropped a weighted message inviting Parisians to receive the Germans well.

The message was of much of the same tenor as the one which was dropped Sunday.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

France.

The change in the situation, according to the bulletins given out by the ministry of war, has been on the wings of the French army. In the north the Germans have advanced. In the center there has been no appreciable modification, while in Lorraine the French report certain advantages. According to the bulletin there has been no fighting in the center.

The left wing of the French center is now almost back on the La Fere-Laon barrier of forts, and its position is said to be solid. On the right flank the French are fighting to cover the withdrawal of French troops along the Meuse. The French claim successes along the line from St. Quentin and Vervine and also in the region around Ham and Perrone, but they were compelled to retreat before the German right flank. It is denied that the capital will be removed from Paris. The city, however, is being prepared for a state of siege.

Germany.

German reports say their army on the right has cut off the English forces from their base of supplies, having enveloped the allies' left. The Germans report a victory in East Prussia over the Russians. They claim they have taken 30,000 prisoners in the fighting around Ortelsberg, Hohenstein and Tannenburg. The message says that among the prisoners are many officers of high rank. The Austrians also report a victory over the Russians at a point between the River Bug and Wiegrz. They report that the western wing of the Austrian army is following up its victory at Krasnik, where it defeated the Russians on Aug. 27, and that they are pursuing the Russians in the direction of Lublin, in Russian Poland. In eastern Galicia the Austrians say that they have taken a firm stand against the hostile force, which is much superior to the Austrians.

Russia.

A report from St. Petersburg is to the effect that the Russians have won a big battle at Samosce, in eastern Galicia, and that the Austrians are in flight before them. The czar has given a six weeks' leave of absence to 500,000 reservists of the 1907 class. These reservists have recently been at the colors at different depots brushing up their military knowledge preparatory to a call to the front. It was found possible, however, to allow them to return home for a nominal term, but they are to hold themselves in readiness to respond to the next call. Russia apparently can thus in the heat of war afford to let half a million mobilized reservists go home.

Bulgaria.

The report that the German diplomatic representatives at Constantinople are endeavoring to get Turkey to take a part in the European war as an ally of Germany and Austria has created a sensation at Sofia. It is stated officially that the Bulgarian government is pledged to join with Greece, Roumania, Servia and Montenegro as allies of Russia and against Turkey should the latter decide to become an ally of Germany and Austria. The Bulgarian army is partly mobilized and is to be put into the field at once.

Paris, Sept. 1.—Declaring that the allies' left has been forced to fall back before the German advance, the French war office in a statement confirmed the belief that the kaiser's generals are making a supreme effort to clear the road to Paris. The official bulletin says:

"On our left, by a series of circumstances which turned in favor of the Germans, the Anglo-French forces have been forced to give way.

"In the center, after alternative checks and successes, a general engagement is now in progress.

"On our right, in Lorraine, we have taken the offensive and the enemy is being driven back.

"The morale of our forces is excellent, in spite of losses, which are being filled from the mobilization centers."

The war office gave no information regarding the new position of the allies' left, but it is considered certain that the Germans are now between sixty and seventy miles from Paris.

The ominous feature of the announcement is the admission that the German attack on the center has assumed the proportions of a general engagement. This is believed to indicate that the Germans have been re-enforced and that they are endeavoring now to break through the main French army, which has been weakened somewhat by the withdrawal of troops to help the allied army opposing the German right.

It is believed the kaiser has staked everything on investing Paris immediately by completely overwhelming the opposition now massed between the German lines and this city.

Paris is all ready for a siege. The fortifications encircling the city were occupied by fresh troops that came by rail from the south and west of France last night. The troops trains were arriving throughout the night and passing around the city to points within the defenses.

Exodus Swamps Railroads.

The exodus soon used up all the available accommodations, and about noon it was announced that all tickets for the day had been sold. This announcement came when long lines of prospective passengers stretched along the streets from the stations for blocks.

At noon the big Quai d'Orsay station was closed. At that time there was a crowd of more than 1,000 persons waiting. Only a few left their places when the announcement was made. The others resigned themselves to an eighteen hour wait and the hope that then they might be able to get places.

Allies Won't Enter Paris.

Paris, Sept. 1.—As the result of conferences between General Gallieni, the new military commandant of the Paris district, and the minister of war, arrangements for sending out of the city all not entitled to remain have been completed. It is not expected that the allied armies now opposing the Germans will enter Paris. Rather they will continue to retreat south if their lines are actually broken, and remain an extremely dangerous menace to the German siege operations.

In this connection the war minister said:

"The losses of the enemy are out of all proportion to those of the allies. Our lines of communication have been shortened by the fighting. Those of the enemy have been lengthened. The inevitable result must be to our advantage. The enemy is now facing our forces in stronger positions than ever before and with our ranks refilled with fresh troops, so that even though we are still compelled to remain on the defensive and take up a new position, it all will operate to our advantage.

"And in Lorraine our forces are the aggressors and have met every move of the enemy with a counter attack that has kept the advantage here always on our side. Always the enemy is losing heavier than we, while always the menace of our Russian allies becomes more real to him."

The chain of forts surrounding Paris will soon be able to sweep the countryside with their guns, for thousands of houses, shops and factories are being blown up to clear the way for the fire of the forts.

The sound of the explosions can be heard in Paris, although it is very faint, for the first operations of the soldiers are being conducted many miles distant.

At present only the buildings blocking the guns of the outside ring of forts are being blown up. In a few days the countryside will have been cleared and the guns will be looking with unobstructed view for the advancing Germans.

British Cut Off.

Berlin (via The Hague), Sept. 1.—In an official statement issued by the war office it is declared the German armies are victorious in the west and in the east. In France, it is stated, the German advance continues, and the British troops, operating in conjunction with the French, are now cut off from their base through the flanking movement of the Germans in northwestern France.

A strong German column is now declared to be interposed between the British army operating in the field and the seacoast cities where re-enforcements have been landed.

As a result the British field army must now receive its supplies and any additional men by a roundabout route, which will interfere with its effectiveness as a fighting unit.

Discussing the operations in the east the war office now declares that the combined Austrian and German armies have assumed the offensive. The Russian invasion is declared to be impotent, and it is asserted that the advancing Russian armies have been pushed back.

In Doubt About Vosges Fighting.

The German army in eastern Prussia is now moving to co-operate with the Austrians, who are in great force in northern Galicia, and it is stated that an invasion of Russian Poland is about to begin. The war office explains that wherever positions have been abandoned to the Russians in eastern Prussia it has been in accordance with a prearranged plan to concentrate the defense at well defined positions where the enormous numbers of the Russians would be of no avail in attempting flanking operations.

WAR NEWS

operations of the Czar's troops in Prussia and Austria in the course of which it says: "The German defense has stiffened and we have suffered heavily, but the enemy has had more serious losses. A regiment of fresh troops has strengthened the German lines, but they will not be able to withstand our attack."

It was admittted that the Germans are making a hard fight and also that the progress of the Russian invasion is slower than it was last week, nevertheless it is going ahead favorably in regard to Austria. The statement says: "Our successes in Galicia have not been interrupted and the Austrians who invaded Russia have recrossed the Vistula River. They suffered heavy losses. The Russian cavalry surrounded an entire regiment and forced it to surrender. In the five days of fighting from August 26 to August 30, we have taken 7,000 prisoners and 122 guns from the Germans and Austrians."

London, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—A despatch to the Times from St. Petersburg, commenting on the Russian operations against the Austrians concludes as follows: "According to the Ruso-Servo, the losses suffered by the Austrians in their desperate attempt to strike at the vitals of the Russian position in Poland aggregated tens of thousands of men, including the Sixth Austrian corps which on its retreat between the Western Bug and the Wierz Rivers, was almost annihiliated.

A despatch to the Daily News from Rome declares that news has been received there from Bucharest, Roumania, setting forth that the Russians have inflicted a crushing defeat on the Austrians in Galicia. The Austrians lost 20,000 in trying to cross the Vistula.

A despatch from the Hague to the Express says that four of the wealthiest men in Belgium have guaranteed the payment to Germany of the $40,000,000 war tax levied against Brussels.

Despatches received here today from St. Petersburg ridicule the claims of the Germans and Austrians that they overwhelminly defeated the Russians in the eastern theatre of war. As regards Austria, it is stated that fighting is still progressing on the Austrian front with the Russians uninterruptedly gaining ground against the whole forces of the dual monarchy. It is believed in the Russian capital that Austria has put 1,000,000 men in the field to oppose the Russian advance.

The Austrian attack in the direction of Lublin, Russian Poland, is characterized as an outflanking movement. In conection with it fighting in the region of Tomacheff has been of an especially severe nature. Furthermore, while succeeding in stemming the attempt to outflank their right the Czar's troops have baldly made an assault toward the Austrian center of Lemberg, which place is half surrounded by the Russians at a distance of only one march forward. With Lemberg as the center, the strategic points held by the Russians about the Galician capital lie in a radius of twenty-three miles. They extend from Kamenka due northeast of Lemberg through Gliniany and Przmyslany to Brozozdovitza, the latter place being south by east of Lemberg. It is claimed in St. Petersburg that in this region and at Tomacheff the Czar's troops captured many prisoners, guns, ammunition, cars and supply trains. The Russians, however, value above everything else a captured Austrian standard.

It is also announced that Russia continues dominant in the whole portion of Germany now occupied and is, in fact, the established master. The arrival of German reinforcements, it is asserted, will hardly change the situation, these troops being needed more to restore the morale of the beaten armies in East Prussia than anything else.

St. Petersburg looks upon the change of German troops from the western to the eastern theatre of war as indicative of the success of the allies.

Rome, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—An official despatch from St. Petersburg confirms a previous despatch from Bucharest, Roumania, regarding Russian victories over the Austrians and adds that east of Lemberg, in Galicia, the Russians made prisoners of 3,000 of the enemy. Near Podgrodzie, to the southwest of Lemberg, the Austrians lost 3,000 killed and nine of their guns fell into the hands of the Czar's troops; near Tomaker, also spelled Tomachew and Tomaszom, in the department of Lublin, Russian Poland, just north of the Galician frontier, the fifteenth Hungarian Division was surrounded and an entire regiment taken prisoners. A despatch received last night from Rome said the Austrians suffered an irreparable defeat at Zamose, in Russian Poland, 50 miles southeast of Lubin.

Turkey's army is being mobilized, according to a despatch received here from Berlin. The army will consist of a first line of 200,000 men, all Mohammedans. This is in accordance with the advice of Field Marshal von Der Goltz, the German commander and adviser to Turkey.

Tokio, Sept. 1—The Government will ask the Diet for an appropriation of 56,000,000 yen (about $28,000,000) for a war fund and 10,000,000 yen (about $5,000,000) with which to build destroyers.

Amsterdam, Sept. 1 (Central News Cable)—It is learned here that difficulties have arisen between General Jakowski, the German Governor of Brussels, and the American and Spanish ministers accredited to the Belgian Government. The trouble arises out of the demand of the Governor that the diplomats discontinue sending cablegrams in code. The two ministers also have experienced difficulty in forwarding official letters by courier. American Minister Minister Whitlock is quoted here as declaring that he will uphold the rights of the Belgians as long as he remains at his post.

A despatch from Antwerp contains an official report of the evacuation of the province of Antwerp by the German troops.

The German retirement eastward to meet the Russian menace has been augmented to a great extent and reports reaching here say the Kaiser's troops have evacuated the territory north of a line runing through Marchtem, Vilvoorde, Aerschot, Heystoplienberg and Tremeloo. In addition to the province of Antwerp a portion of the province of Limburg is entirely cleared of the enemy. Intrenchments had been constructed by the Germans at Aerschot.

Washington, Sept. 1—Great Britain has arranged to pay for all grain seized during the present war. The system under which the English will pay for the food supplies seized in American bottoms was explained to United States Ambassador Page and a cablegram of the British Government's action was forwarded today to the Department of Commerce.

From Rio de Janeiro today confirmation reached here of the sinking of the British steamer Homewood by the German cruiser Dresden off Bahia, yesterday. A portion of the crew of the steamer were saved by the Dresden.

Another appeal to Great Britain and France from the United States asking their acquiesence in the projected plan for the purchase of ships by the United States will be made before the end of the week, according to officials of the administration. Protests from both these countries have been informal and are not regarded as statements of their unalterable positions toward the question.

Carrying the German ambassador at Tokio and the German consul at Yokohoma, the steamship Minnesota sailed today from the latter Japanese port for Seattle, according to despatches received here.

New York, Sept. 1—The steamship Ryndam, of the Holland-American Line, arrived this morning from Rotterdam with 1,127 passengers, of whom 1,072 were Americans and about 150 in the steerage. All came generally from German cities from which they were transferred to Rotterdam by special trains. They spoke in the highest terms of the treatment received by them from the German authorities.

The steamship Principessa di Mafalda, of the Italian Line, arrived this morning from Genoa with 1,000 passengers. This was one of the steamers guaranteed by the United States Government for the repartriation of American tourists in Italy, add Washington

London, Sept. 1.—A despatch from Amsterdam says that the German General Von Bulow, who was wounded in the battle of Haelen has since died.

London, Sept. 1.—An instance of the bitter hatred felt for the British by many German officers was grimly told here today. During the time the British boats were rescuing German survivors of the naval fight in the Bight of Heligoland a German officer was seen swimming. A line was tossed to him and he was aided on board. In thanks for his rescue he spit in the face of the British officer in charge.

Instantly the British sailor, grasping the German officer, threw him back into the sea with curses, while another German struggling in the water was then taken into the boat in the officer's place.

London, Sept. 1—Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and her children, are in London and for the next few days will be the guests at the residence of Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, former viceroy of India. They arrived quietly in this city, last night, and were met at the railway station by the Belgian minister.

The Hague, Sept. 1—A panic over the Russian advance on the east toward the German capital is breeding a very panicky feeling in Berlin, according to Americans who have arriver here, and many persons who can obtain places on trains are leaving the city for Norway, Denmark and Switzerland. The exodus undoubtedly has been helped by the stories, allegedly purposely circulated, that the Czar's troops will lay Berlin waste.

Refugees, estimated at hundreds of thousands, are pouring into Berlin from East and West Prussia and Pomerania. They carry their possessions in blankets and towels, and as soon as entering the city cry out for food and assistance. The Berlin Red Cross is buried under a deluge and as yet has been unable to find room for the fugitives.

Ostend, Belgium, Sept. 1—The German troops, before they evacuated Aerschot, twenty-five miles northeast of Brussels, pillaged and burned up half of the town, according to refugees arriving here.

London, Sept .1—The Times has received the following despatch from Dieppe:

"I have just returned from the Amiens (France) district to send this message. A great battle has been fought at Croisilles and is probably still in progress. The French claim a success toward Guise, but north of it on all Saturday there was very heavy fighting. On the left I knew cannonading was still going on at noon Sunday, and that at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon there were no Germans in Amiens. Whether, as one declared, the lines between Amiens and Boulogne have been cut, I do not know."

REVENUE CUTTER GETS NO NEWS OF STEFANSSON

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 1.—The revenue cutter Bear was returned after spending a month in the Arctic archipelago in search of the explorer Wilhjalmur Stefansson. At Point Barrow the officers of the Bear learned that Stefanson, with nine men, left Martin Point on March 24 to cross the Beaufort Sea to Banks Land, a large island. While they were on the ice on Beaufort Sea a heavy gale broke the floes. Four men are known to have reached shore on April 23, leaving Stefanson, Ole Anderson and Storkelsen about seventy miles from land. No further word had been received from the party when the Barrow reached that vicinity, and on August 22 it started from Point Barrow, skirted the ice as far south as Icy Cape and west from Wrangel Island. It spent several days in the effort to find trace of the explorer but was forced on August 27 by severe weather and shortage of coal to return to Nome. Much apprehension is felt as to the safety of the exploring expedition.

WILL URGE WILSON TO SEND TROOPS TO MONTANA

Washington, Sept. 1.—Troops to take care of the miners' strike situation in Montana will be urged on President Wilson, when he returns tomorrow from his vacation. Senator Meyers, of Montana, called at the Executive Office today and made an appointment to see the Chief Executive on his return. The entire Congressional delegation from Montana, it was said, would join in the request for Federal aid.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 1.—The business interests of this community are in fear today the seceding miners' union will put into execution its threats to burn the city to ashes if troops are sent here. Six hundred Montana National Guardsmen are expected to arrive today from Helena and other points. The miners' organization, which is 8,500 strong, says it will not fight the soldiers but as soon as they are ordered here will seek by burning to get revenge on business men who, they assert, have lined up against them.

Regulars of the United States army are said to be awaiting orders at Vancouver Barracks to come to Butte if the militia is unable to cope with the situation.

Her identity will be changed completely. She will be named the Red Cross, painted white, with a large red band running around the hull, and huge red crosses will be painted on the stack. By authority of a special act of congress she will fly the American flag and the Red Cross flag.

Ambassador Jusserand of France and Ambassador Spring-Rice of England have notified the Red Cross that their governments would recognize the neutrality of the ship despite her German ownership.

GERMAN PRAISES FRENCH.

Soldier's Letter to Parents Sent to the United States Embassy.

Paris, Sept. 1.—The French government is turning over to the American embassy letters found on dead or dying German soldiers for transmission to the German addresses on the letters. One German wrote:

"TEACHER'S SUNDAY" AT TEMPLE BAPTIST

Final Vacation Session Comprises An Attractive Program.

The final vacation session of the Temple Baptist Bible School was held at 9:45 last Sunday morning. It was designated "Teachers' Sunday" and was designed to present some helpful and practical suggestions for the teachers. C. A. Brown, of Woodbury, was the teacher. He is the superintendent of a large Baptist Bible School in his home town, and is also financial secretary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association. He has had wide experience in Sunday-school work, and is well fitted to suggest and help the teachers and officers in their work. He gave them some helpful and practical suggestions regarding the preparation for their work and also the method of conducting it. He was listened to with much attention and his suggestions were thoroughly appreciated by those who had the privilege of hearing him.

L. W. Randolph, the superintendent of the school, who has been away on his summer vacation, received a unique welcome. Some red letters had been hung in the front of the room over the platform, but they conveyed no meaning, as they had been so arranged as to be simply a collection of letters.

Miss Esther Tygard announced that she would rearrange the letters, and then they would convey the sentiment that was shared by all present. With a few changes, the letters were arranged to read "Our Superintendent Welcome Home." She then assured Superintendent Randolph that they were all glad to have him with them once more, and wished for him, health and success. She then presented him with an attractive sofa pillow, which had embroidered on its face, the word "Welcome."

Mr. Randolph responded to the greeting and assured the school that he was glad to be with them all again and that his trip had been a pleasant one, that he had often thought of them, and felt assured that the work for the coming season would be a most helpful and successful one.

One of the features of the session was the decorations. During the past few weeks, a color scheme has been used, the first being entirely white, the next week being yellow and at this session of the school, a combination of the two colors, yellow and white, were used.

One side of the platform was banked up with golden rod and yellow decorations, while the other side of the platform was profusely covered with white flowers and white decorations, the general effect being especially striking, and not only artistic, but attractive. The opening exercises was printed on a card which also had the colors of the day, yellow and white. Arthur S. Mosher, the leader of the orchestra, gave a violin solo, and the orchestra contributed some special selections.

One of the encouraging features of the session was the secretary's report which showed a substantial gain over a year ago, and an attendance far in excess of the usual sessions of the school.

Next Sunday, Rev. E. C. Conover, the pastor, is expected to be back in his place and the teachers and officers are planning an aggresive active work for the coming season and have reason to feel that a successful work can be inaugurated and carried on.

A number of new scholars have joined the school during the special sessions and an unusual interest in both church and school has been aroused by the effort that has been put forth to make the sessions attractive. There has, perhaps, never been a period in the history of the school when the outlook seemed as bright and with greater possibilities within reach than at the present time.

One of the mottoes of the school is that "No strangers are allowed," for the reason that it is the intention to make every one who may come so welcome that they will not be strangers, having once been in attendance at any of the sessions. The Rally Day service has been announced and active preparations are being made for September 20.

INTEREST IN WISCONSIN FIGHT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.—Nation-wide interest attaches to the political fight which will be settled in the Wisconsin primaries today. In both the Republican and Democratic parties there are spirited contests for the nomination for governor and for other places on the State tickets, but these are overshadowed by the bitter fight in the Republican ranks over the United States senatorship. The fight is between Governor Francis McGovern and Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, representing the two hostile factions of the Republican party in Wisconsin. Lieutenant Governor Morris is allied with the Lafollette wing of the party, while Governor McGovern is the standard-bearer of the opposition. Senator Stephenson, whose seat is the plum for which the rival factions are contesting, has thrown his strength in favor of Morris.

PROSPERITY REPORT AT TRENTON FAIR

Demand for Larger Space and More Exhibits Indicate Good-Business.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 1.—Officers of Trenton Inter-State Fair have cause to be optimistic because of the prospects they already have of conducting the greatest exposition the New Jersey capital has ever seen. They have already received an unprecedented demand for increasing exhibition spaces on the grounds and the variety of the displays is to be more advanced. Sales of tickets, too, are being made unusually early and signs of depression are farthest from the Fair Grounds.

Encouraged by the interest being shown, the officers are preparing to make their exposition more attractive by increasing the amount of money devoted to the free amusements. The open air program in front of the grandstand will be featured by Niles, the aviator, who will thrill the crowds by flying upside down high in the air. He will make long drops through space and suddenly check himself, loop the loop and perform other feats of a startling nature.

By the addition of an extra running race for horses each afternoon, the program is to be more extended than formerly. The contest in which the jockeys will put their steeds to the test are thrilling as widely known riders are sent over the course. There will also be the usual extensive trotting and running events and Racing Secretary Murphy has booked some of the fastest horses in the east.

The Better Babies contest is to be arranged with more detail than ever and the staff of medical experts has been selected for the department. As the entries this year are to be restricted to 250 babies, many mothers have written to Manlon R. Margerum, the secretary, requesting him for the special blanks which are to be presented by those who have their infants. Try for the $350.00 in prizes.

Under an arrangement which will be inaugurated this year, the opening day, Monday, Sept. 28, will be reserved for the children. Tuesday is now to be reserved for the ladies. Special attractions will be placed on the program for both days. The co-operation of the women in particular is desired by the Fair management and to make the event unusually notable for them a special admission fee of one-half the regular price has been set for Tuesday. The children will be admitted free Monday when their teachers apply for tickets in advance for them.

More educational features are to be placed on the grounds and the State Forest Commission will have an exhibit to show how woodlots should be kept.

G. O. P. CANDIDATES ARE ON THE JOB

Wright and Stuchell Conducting Vigorous Campaign In the County.

According to Sheriff William H. Wright's program for the remaining weeks until primary election, there will be no let up in the campaign he has been conducting for the Republican county clerkship nomination. Each day after business hours will find him in some place in the county soliciting support. Rev. W. T. Stuchell, one of the Republican aspirants for the Congressional nomination, will accompany Mr. Wright on most of his trips although he plans to spend some time in Morris county.

These two candidates have been campaigning together and as a result both are widely known throughout the county, visiting every city, town, borough and hamlet. The methods employed were rather original for personal appeals were made to individuals in the homes, on the streets and at their work. Each candidate is confident of being nominated.

Both Mr. Wright and Mr. Stuchell are preaching the doctrine of strict economy with close inspection of all expense as a means of reducing the high cost of living. The former believes the public appreciates an economic administration in office and Mr. Stuchell pledges himself to a similar plan of economy if elected.

The friends of Mr. Wright claim that he has carefully guarded the outlay of public money in his office and made it a rule to personally see to it that full compensation is received by the office for all services performed. Otherwise through any oversight the expense would have to be borne by the taxpayers of the county. This has been prevented through the introduction by the sheriff of a complete system of checking which he has promised to do if elected county clerk.

FORTY-EIGHT NAMES APPEAR ON BALLOTS

Large Number of Aspirants to Be Voted For at Primaries.

The names of forty-eight county candidates will appear on the Democratic, Republican, Progressive tickets at the primary election September 22. They are divided as follows: State Senator, four; county clerk, nine; coroner, two, and Assembly, sixteen, while the number of aspirants for the shrievalty probably constitutes a record, there being twelve.

County Clerk Calvert yesterday sent to the printer the names of all candidates for county offices whose petitions were filed with him, and the names of candidates for Congressional nominations, whose petitions were filed with Secretary of State Crater, have also been certified to the county clerk.

Before Wednesday, the county clerk is required under the Geran election act to certify to the municipal clerks of the county the names of all candidates for State, Congressional and county office nominations. The certification in each case indicates the name of the candidate exactly as it will appear on the official ballot, the political affiliations of the candidate and the campaign slogan or designation, if any has been adopted.

On or before September 15, the municipal clerks must furnish to the Boards of Registry and Election a sufficient number of official sample primary ballots, envelopes, etc., and before midnight of September 16, the Election Boards must prepare and mail a sample primary ballot to each voter. The primary ballots and ballot boxes must be delivered by the municipal clerks to the Election Boards on September 21, in readiness for the primary election on the following day, Tuesday, September 22.

TO DECIDE SENATORSHIP.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 1—The Democratic State convention of Georgia assembled here today and was called to order shortly before noon. The most important work of the convention will be to choose a candidate for United States Senator to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Bacon. In the recent primary election Senator Hoke Smith was renominated for the long term, but none of the five candidates for the short-term Senatorship succeeded in polling the necessary majority. The convention is expected to make a choice from Governor John M. Slaton, Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick and Thomas S. Felder, the three candidates who stood highest in the primary.

G. A. R. VETERANS ARE MEETING AT DETROIT

Annual Gathering of Men Who Defended Nations Is Held In Middle West City.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—The occupation of the city by the Grand Army of the Republic is complete. Coming in force from all directions, pouring in on every train and every boat, the veterans have won every strategical position and command all communications.

On the program yesterday was the first day of the forty-eighth annual national encampment; in practice it was a day of wholesale greeting. Some of the affiliated organizations held reunions during the day and there were meetings of committees to complete the final details of arrangements. But for the most part the veterans spent the day in renewing acquaintances and partaking of the bountiful hospitality provided for them by the city of Detroit.

The railroads and steamboat lines have poured their heavy passenger traffic into the city with few mishaps, and these of a trivial character. The veterans and members of affiliated organizations are equalled in number by the tourists and sightseers. It is estimated that by the time the encampment gets fully under way tomorrow there will be no fewer than 25,000 visitors in the city. All will be accommodated without difficulty.

In addition to the encampment of the old soldiers there will be held the annual meetings of the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., the Daughters of Veterans, the Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, the Sons of Veterans, the Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary, the National Association of Naval Veterans and the National Association of Union Ex-prisoners of War.

Every visiting veteran is provided with a handsome badge which opens every door to its wearer and clears his path in a crowd. If he boards a street car the magic emblem makes him invisible to the collector of fares; should he travel on the river and lake boats, the talisman blinds the ticket takers.

Through the levy of a small tax on property-owners the city of Detroit has raised a fund sufficient to entertain the old soldiers in magnificent style. Virtually everything is free to the veterans. The souvenirs and badges to be distributed free among them represent an outlay of $12,000. To avoid the appearance of operating on a profit-making basis the city refused all advertising propositions—both requests for advertising space on the official program and all applications for permits to sell badges or souvenirs of any kind. It is believed to be the first time in the history of the national encampments that the G. A. R. men and other visitors have been free from the bombardment of the street hawkers.

For many days the business men of Detroit have been actively engaged in preparing for the encampment. The plan of street decorations includes large white columns, 22 feet in heighth, which line the principal streets in the heart of the city. Large oil paintings of Grant and Sherman and Sheridan and other noted leaders of the Union forces are suspended between these columns, and the whole are ornamented with flags and bunting and electric lights. Shop windows in the downtown district are filled with relics of the Civil War. Flags and bunting are flying from every building in the business district and from most of the homes in the residential section.

A dozen large excursion boats have been chartered for the boat ride to be given to the veterans and their friends tomorrow afternoon. The first big meeting of the encampment will be held tomorrow night. Commander-in-Chief Washington Gardner will call the gathering to order and addresses of welcome will be delivered by Governor Ferris, of Michigan; Mayor Marx, of Detroit, and representatives of the State organization of veterans and affiliated bodies.

The big parade, which is the spectacular feature of the encampment, will take place tomorrow. In view of the age of all the veterans and the disability of many of them the line of march will be shortened to one mile and a half. Hundreds of automobiles will be provided for the accommodation of the veterans who are unable to march. Rest tents will be established at intervals along the line, together with ambulance stations and other precautions to care for the aged who overreach their strength in trying to march again to the roll of fife and drum as they did in the memorable campaigns of half a century ago.

GREEK TRIBAL COUNCIL.

Okmulgee, Okla., Sept. 1—The Greek Indian Tribal Council assembled here today for what will probably be its last meeting. The meeting is expected to continue ten days and among the things to be considered is legislation that will finally wind up the affairs of the tribe. The Cherokee tribe went out of existence about two months ago. The five civilized tribes will soon be merged into citizenship of the nation. Their lands have been all allotted in severalty and they are without further need of tribal entity.

CHAPTER XIX.

Details of Knowles' Outdoor Colony Plan.

THERE are possibilities in the great lake region on the Michigan and Minnesota shores, and if that land is not available the whole great Canadian wilds stretch off on the other side of the lakes, a part of which might be obtained from the Canadian government to enable me to carry out my plan for an outdoor colony where responsible persons may come to live in the great open world.

This idea would in no way trespass upon that of the forward to the land movement. This colony would be something entirely different—a colony where the simplest life would be followed, where men and women would learn to use the things of nature around them and nothing else.

My idea is to have this colony a practical school of nature, where young men may go for a short time, just as they go to college to learn things scientific. There is no college of nature in the world today, and the people of our times are sadly in need of that branch of education.

In this colony nothing will be commercialized. Stockbrokers, land grabbers or timber speculators will not be allowed to live there. There will be no grafting or thieving.

Already many of the most reputable men in the country—men who have done big things—are interested in this project. The governing board of this colony will be made up of such men. As unprimitive as it may seem, it would be absolutely necessary to have some law in such a community, but the laws would be so simple that they would not interfere with the independence of man.

It will not be a colony for the immigrant, but a settlement for the rich and the poor who desire to learn about the great outdoors and the animals that live within the forest.

The killing of wild animals would only be allowed in cases of necessity. If a man needed filling for snowshoes, hides for moccasins, or food he could kill his game, but only under such conditions. No game could be sent outside of the colony.

The whole scheme would be one of progressiveness and every man would labor for himself. In time of absolute necessity humanity would play its part.

I could live among the people and tell them what I know, and there would be others who would do the same.

People who bore the proper credentials from a board of centralization could live in this colony a part of the year or the whole year.

With the proper instruction they would build their own log cabins in winter, and their lean-tos in summer.

It will be a purely scientific and educational movement.

In this college of nature the man rests while he labors. The life in the outdoors gives him new health, and every day he lives he will find new wonders. He will marvel at the companionship of the wild animal.

All the luxuries of life will be left behind.

There will be no need of the theater. The forest itself has many comedies, dramas and tragedies. There will be no demand for such amusement. Games will be played, and they will differ from whist in stuffy rooms.

I think under such conditions the bringing back of almost extinct blood in horses could be worked out. There would be great opportunity to raise the Morgan horse, which the United States and Canadian governments are trying so hard to get. This horse is known as the American Arab and is the hardiest and speediest known. In such a country they would thrive.

I am convinced that such a college of nature would result in a marked change in child literature. Through the books which would be written the child would come to love the woods rather than to fear them.

It would be my intention, while the life in this colony was progressing, to furnish the outside world with reports of the work and the methods used. Such material would play its part along educational lines. It could be used in the regular public school curriculum with powerful effect, and the something that is now lacking in our school system would be established.

It is all very well to dissect a flower in the classroom, and to demonstrate the fact that the intestines of a clam run through its heart, but such education is useless unless the student knows what the smell of the earth is like and unless he knows what it is to wade up to his knees in the cold mud and dig for clams.

Even the trade school lacks these fundamentals. The boy studying to be a carpenter would be a better carpenter if he first lived in the woods and understood just how much a tree will do for man. In the trade school the boy makes something out of what he has. He does not think back of that. He does not realize that the wood makes fire for him, that the fire can be used as tools, that the tree even produces food. He would learn a value of woods such as he could never learn in the schoolroom, and, knowing that value, he could work more economically and produce better work.

I never realized until after I came from the woods how very little the average person seems to know about the forest and the things therein. The constant deluge of most ordinary questions which I have every day makes me marvel at the ignorance that exists concerning this vital subject. I have come to believe that the average man and woman has no conception of the forest life.

Men of the woods who know do not think my accomplishment so wonderful. Yet there are hundreds who are constantly telling me what a wonderful thing it was. Together with these there are those who not understanding wood life disbelieve my stories outright.

For the benefit of this last class I propose in the near future to make a second experiment in the forest like the first. Just as I did on Aug. 4, 1913, I will enter the forest naked and without food or implements of any kind to aid me and will rehearse my experiment all over again so far as living on my own resources is concerned.

However, on this second trip I will add something. In order to convince the people who cannot understand at present I will allow a dozen representative men to accompany me and watch me live the primitive life. These men may enjoy the comforts of camp life and observe me constantly.

Of course if I am to get a deer with my hands as I did the last time these men must let me go and get it undisturbed. A dozen men couldn't lie around watching me do this. But with such freedom of hunting as would be absolutely necessary the observers would be able to keep strict tabs upon me every day of the experiment.

Such a trip will be conclusive proof. I will guarantee on this second experiment to get myself in a condition to meet any change of climate in spring, summer, fall and winter.

If the Maine game and fish commissioners refuse me a permit a second time to kill what game I need for the experiment I will demonstrate the life in Canada, where I shall have no trouble in this respect.

I made up my mind to try this second experiment even before I reached Boston on my way from the wilderness after my first one. It was at a banquet at Portland that a man came up and, shaking my hand, said:

"Mr. Knowles, I want to congratulate you on the remarkable thing you have done." It was the same thing over again, and I couldn't help inwardly smiling at the word "remarkable." "I want you to know," the man continued, "that I believe in you, but there are some at this banquet tonight who are skeptical."

"Well, that is their privilege," I answered.

This phase of it hadn't come to my mind before, and the idea of the second trip immediately occurred to me.

I decided then that I would make it in order to convince everybody, and I will.

In the meantime I have not forgotten my art. In the rush of many duties this lifework of mine is only neglected, but not forgotten. I look forward with new spirit and feeling to getting to work again in my studio.

In conclusion let me appeal to every man, woman and child to take advantage of the wonderful bounty that nature offers. Let them study the greatest textbook of all—the open book of nature. Let them find health and character and happiness among the trees of the forest and in the great outdoors. Let them understand the wild creatures who have souls like themselves. Let them abandon all things artificial and really live. Let them answer the call of the natural mother—she has blessings untold to bestow. In a word, let humanity be born again.

Wordsworth has said truly:

Nature never did betray the heart that loved her.

Good Form

Fourth of July Entertaining.

For reasons seasonable as well as patriotic Independence day is the holiday par excellence of the country house and the one to which the summer time hostess brings her very best effort.

The weather may be too warm for active sports, but plenty of charming ones of the quieter sort may be inaugurated to make the occasion all it should be, with cooling temperance beverages, flowers in abundance, and the stars and stripes everywhere in evidence.

Dinner will probably be enjoyed at a specially decorated table, and for this feast the military suggestion is well worth thinking about. The centerpiece might be a toy cannon arranged upon a bed of red, white and blue flowers, having beside it a little heap of specially prepared cannon balls which contain gifts for the diners.

Or secure a small toy drum, paint on each drumhead the date of our outbreak for liberty's cause and place the drum in the center of the table on its side, allowing the drumheads to show.

From the top rise three or four pretty silk flags. The favors are little baskets containing candy firecrackers, the handle of each basket decorated with very tiny flags. Now all along the edge of the table, whether square or round, just below the line marked by the fall of the cloth, sew a border of flags either of silk, paper or cotton, as desired, and on every alternating one of these write the name of the guest who will occupy that particular seat.

Agreeing With Everybody.

Many people have nowadays the habit of agreeing with everything one says. It doesn't matter on what you give an opinion, a book, a play, an event of current interest, they appear to agree with you in everything. Probably when somebody else gives a quite opposite opinion they affect to agree with them too.

It may be politeness on their part, but one hates to meet people who seem to have no minds of their own. And it makes sane, intelligent conversation next door to impossible.

People who frankly differ from one, who, without being bumptious or argumentative, have opinions of their own about things and are not afraid to say so, are much more interesting.

It is so much more stimulating to meet them, and one can enjoy a talk with them so much better than with people who are too ready to agree.

Managing a Surprise Party.

A young correspondent wants suggestions for a surprise party. Often surprises are far from welcome, but if some one of the family is taken into confidence the affair can generally be managed with satisfaction to all. Let each girl prepare a basket or box of luncheon for two, just as daintily as possible. On arriving pile their boxes in one place. After the surprise is over try some good games, then blindfold one boy at a time and let him select a basket or box and stand in line with his treasure unopened. After all are supplied each one is to have three guesses to determine which girl prepared the refreshment. When partners are found go to the dining room, where doubtless some willing member of the family will have arranged a pretty table.

That Girlish Hat.

Be sure that your clothes suit not only your style, but your age. Seeing a stout, florid and elderly materfamilias, quite oblivious of the fitness of things, wearing one of those girlish Watteau hats liberally decked with pink roses, a man who was engaged in mending the streets along which she was passing paused—it was doubtless one of the many pauses that go to make up the day's work—and after regarding her fixedly drew a fellow toiler's attention to the entrancing vision with the words, "Wot oh, Bill"—he really didn't mean to make a pun—"wot price is mutton dressed as lamb this spring, eh?"

Correct For the Dance.

Dancing has made a trained evening gown almost impossible. Women have got about this difficulty by wearing evening gowns that are really short. These are quite comfortable, for, although they are tight at the lower edge, they are so short that they do not interfere with the ankles in dancing. One of the new devices for the woman who likes to wear a train and likes, also, to dance, is the separate sash train, which is quite distinct from the skirt, and attached at the waist. It can be easily picked up and tucked up out of the dancer's way.

How Manner Counts.

A gracious manner, the expression of that kindly spirit which can reach out unerringly in tactful wisdom, is the quality above all others we should seek to bring out in our characters, for only by so doing can we find the best in life. And it makes the everyday happenings so much more enjoyable, for dullness is frightened away, and duty gets lost in pleasure.

Afternoon Toilet.

The appropriate costume for the hostess at an afternoon at home is a handsome high necked long sleeved dress of any rich fabric. It may be elaborately trimmed and jewels worn.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to home anxious people in this city.

Some Cookery Suggestions

AN INFORMAL LUNCHEON.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Consommé
Whole Wheat Biscuit.
Creamed Sweetbreads.
Fried Salsify.
Grapefruit With Bananas.
Tea.

THE hostess who desires a menu for a simple luncheon at which to entertain two or three friends may find the one here suggested helpful.

Cooking Mock Oysters.

Fried Salsify.—To prepare this simmer the salsify until it is very tender; then take up, drain and scrape well. Cut off the ends until the pieces left resemble croquettes in shape. Dip each piece in crumbs, then in egg and again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat as you would croquettes.

Wholesome Hot Breads.

Whole Wheat Biscuit.—Take two cupfuls of whole wheat flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one cupful of milk and water in equal proportions. Sift together the dry ingredients and work in the shortening with the fingers. Add the liquid gradually, mixing to a soft dough with a knife. Turn it on a floured board and roll it one-half inch thick; then cut with a biscuit cutter. Place the biscuit in a buttered pan and bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Chafing Dish Possibility.

Creamed Sweetbreads.—Parboil a pair of sweetbreads and pick them to pieces, rejecting all the fine membranes. Chop medium fine and add six mushrooms also chopped rather fine. Place one tablespoonful of butter in the sauce pan, allowing it to melt, but not to brown. Add one tablespoonful of flour and stir until smooth. Turn in a half pint of cream and stir until it boils. Add the mushrooms and sweetbreads and stir for about five minutes. Season to taste and serve in pattie shells or paper cases. These may be cooked in the chafing dish.

Dessert Combination.

Grapefruit and Bananas.—Take one grapefruit, two bananas and a cupful of pineapple. Separate the grapefruit into sections and scrape the fruit into a dish, discarding all peel and linings. Peel the bananas, split them lengthwise into quarters and then slice crosswise into the dish with the grapefruit. Add the pineapple and sugar to taste and mix slightly. Serve with sponge cake.

Anna Thompson.

He Is Tumbling and Rolling Around.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Baby Among the Ice Cakes.

"TEACHER said, just before school closed, that the people who lived in the temperate zone were the luckiest," said Jack. "What did she mean, daddy?"

"She meant the variety of weather you get without its extremes," replied daddy. "And all the other advantages that come from a climate where men have the best chance to do things, like learning and building fine houses and studying how to answer little boys' questions. For instance, she meant how much luckier it was for a little white baby in this town than for a a little Eskimo baby among the ice cakes.

"The Eskimo children live in snow houses up toward the north pole, which brave Admiral Peary discovered, you will remember. There are ice and snow there all the year around. The whole family have to wear furs to keep warm, the baby as well as the rest. He looks very funny, with his hair all black and shiny, like an Indian's, and his funny beady black eyes and his little flat nose and yellowish-brown cheeks. He's such a homely baby that he's pretty—you know that kind.

"There aren't any nurses or servants to wait on that baby, you may be sure. He isn't so very old before he is rolling and tumbling around the floor of the snow hut, all done up in his furs, like a little round potato, and his papa and mamma and the other children have to be careful not to step on him. But I guess they never do, for they're used to stepping over babies in the snow huts.

"After he is weaned his mamma gives him a string of blubber to suck to keep him still. Blubber is the fat, oily meat from a whale. And the little Eskimo baby enjoys that blubber just as much as you children would enjoy a stick of candy. You see he never had any candy, and he never had any circus layout or toy gun or drum or anything like that. But he is a happy and contented baby, for he is satisfied with what he has because he doesn't know of anything better. And that is not always the case with little children in America.

"When the baby's family is moving from one place to another where the hunting and fishing are good, he is slung in a little pack, like an Indian boy, and carried on the back of his mother. For the Eskimo papa is much like an Indian papa in that he lets the mamma do a great deal of the work.

"Sometimes white traders visit an Eskimo village with beads and other pretty trifles, and then the baby has a great time, for they give him one or two to play with, and I suppose he would swallow them if he were not watched, just as a white baby would do."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The long, straight tunic is one of the newest and smartest. This one can be made of flouncing and of material with equal success.

In the larger view embroidered marquisette is arranged over crepe de chine, and the upper edge of the tunic is finished with a little upstanding frill. In the smaller back view the tunic and skirt are both of chiffon taffeta, and women will be quick to see the other possibilities.

TWO PIECE SKIRT.

A flounce of lace over silk is not alone handsome, it also converts a partly worn gown into a new one. Among seasonable materials are a great many embroidered cotton crapes, and one of these used for the tunic with the underskirt of plain material would be an exceedingly smart effect, while the value of the tunic or flounce of contrasting material to be arranged over the skirt that begins to show signs of wear is apparent at a glance.

For the medium size the skirt will require three yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with two and one-quarter yards of bordered material thirty-two inches wide for the tunic.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 24 to 32 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8312, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR
Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.
Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.
While wipsy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

NEVER DESERTED GRAND OLD PARTY

But Had Strong Leanings Toward Progressiveism In 1912.

PLEA AT ASBURY PARK

Tried Hard to Prevent Disruption When the Republican Convention of 1912 Stole Nomination for Taft —Voted For Roosevelt, It Is Said.

While some of the opponents of former Congressman Charles N. Fowler, have questioned his loyalty to the Republican party, friends of the Republican candidate for Congress emphatically deny that Fowler has ever waivered in his stanch support of the principles of the Republican party, and point out that while others have gone over to the Progressives he has stuck fast to the G. O. P. In support of his contention Fowler's friends point to the fact that at the Bull Moose Convention held in Asbury Park on July 21, 1912, the former Congressman made a plea against a third party, declaring that such a movement meant defeat at that time. Newspaper reports were as follows, regarding Mr. Fowler:

"The speech made by former Congressman Charles N.Fowler, of Elizabeth, near the close of the Bull Moose convention at Asbury Park proved one of the real sensations of the day. Surrounded by such men like former Governor Fort and ex-State Senator Everett Colby, who were ardent for a third party, and confronted by an audience that was supposed to be fully in sympathy with the movement for an entirely new organization, Mr. Fowler plainly advised that certain Democratic victory would be the only result.

" 'Are you going to scuttle the Republican ship because it has been boarded by a few pirates. * * * I submit to you to go back to the trustees, the people, and ask yourself if you have the moral right to desert the Republicans of this State unless they will follow you out of the Republican party? * * *

"After the convention adjourned Mr. Fowler's speech was the prevailing topic. The amount of approval it met with was surprising, and from a delegation of 2,000 that had come with a great majority, thinking of naught, it returned with doubts and misgivings.

"On the special train from the seashore, last night, Mr. Fowler was the centre of an agitated group. From the time he stepped aboard shortly after Asbury Park was left, at 8 o'clock, delegates from Newark and Jersey City eagerly sought information on Mr. Fowler's views, and went away convinced that he had sounded the wisest note uttered in the meeting.

" * * * The name Progressive does not make a Progresssive,' he said. 'Three-fourths of the Republican party is already Progressive,' he claimed. '* * * There are 2,000 here,' he said, leaning forward tensely, 'who believe in a third party, but what of the 200,000 who are not here?'

'Are you going to split the Republican party,' he concluded, 'and give the Democracy the Legislature and elect a free-trade Congress?' "

In August a news article which referred to a meeting at Trenton, to which the Asbury Park convention adjourned read as follows:

"The failure of the Asbury Park convention to organize a third party without further delay was due to the fight former Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of this city, made to keep the Republican ship from being scuttled because it had been boarded by a few pirates.

"Mr. Fowler had the State committee given power to settle the question in hopes that the delay would give the members time to see that fighting for control of the Republican party was wiser than jumping into a third party."

In view of the foregoing Mr. Fowler's friends say: "Mr. Fowler was the one man in the whole State to stand up before a hostile audience of 2,000 people and protest against their desertion of the Republican party. In the light of these facts will any man say that Mr. Fowler has not always been a stalwart Republican? Certainly everybody knows that he has always had the courage of his convictions."

It has been understood by Mr. Fowler's friends that he voted for Theodore Roosevelt for President, in 1912, although he remained within the ranks of the Republican party.

Beauties of World's Greatest Exposition Revealed by Superb Works of Architecture—Exposition Opens Feb. 20, Closes Dec. 4, 1915.

CONJURED from the misty ages of the past, when beauty and loveliness reigned supreme and ugliness was unconceived, a walled city, heavily buttressed, with wide spreading portals, massive and stanch, has risen on the south shores of San Francisco bay, just within the Golden Gate. Nature with kindly hands has overgrown the walls with trees and clinging vines, sheltering the magic city under a romantic sheen of green foliage.

It is in this walled city within a city that San Francisco and California are preparing the setting for a world pageant in 1915, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, a pageant celebrating what is recognized as the greatest physical achievement today, the completion of the Panama canal.

Planned by Master Minds.

To the visitor who passes within the walls of this city of beauty in architecture and coloring and design it seems indeed fitting that this celebration of the greatest of all accomplishments of the science of the twentieth century should be linked with all the grandeur of the arts of the past ages when they were at the apex of their development. Such is the case, and so it was planned by the master minds that created this dream of the city of the past.

Thousands of visitors daily visit the Exposition grounds, where for several months all but one of the main palaces have been completed and ready for the reception of displays. The sightseers go in street cars, in private parties and in "rubberneck" wagons, amusement bent, and they return serious and impressed with the feeling of a near presence of greatness.

There is no festal note within this walled city; there is nothing suggestive of the carnival or tinsel show. Its dignity and nobility are discernible from the hills in the background, where one looks down upon clustered blue domed buildings shimmering in the bright sunlight along the shores of beautiful San Francisco bay.

Out Through Golden Gate.

Past the northern facade of this city of grandeur of yesterday steam the powerful transpacific liners, to disappear out through the Golden Gate, Orient bound. Laggard freighters ponderously plow through the waters in the opposite direction from the four corners of the world, travel stained by their long voyage. Crowded ferryboats waddle back and forth between the cities on both sides of the bay like squat, ungainly waterfowls.

Beyond the white crested waves rise the hills of Marin county on the farther side of the water, etched in clear, rounded lines against a cerulean sky. Towering in the background rises old Tamalpais, a landmark for many miles by land and sea.

This and more, too, spread out before the vision of the entranced visitor pausing on the summit of the hills of the outer city to the south of the Exposition. It is a sight that never fails to grip both the stranger and the frequent visitor.

Passing down the slopes one comes quickly to within the very shadows of the walled city of 1915 and enters within the magic pale. One is immediately impressed with the compactness and unity of the whole. The walled city proper consists of eight large palaces, all interrelated through the medium of courts, resplendent with shrubbery, flowers, sparkling fountains and statuary.

These great structures extend for more than half a mile in oblong form along the bay shore. Standing apart from these to the east is Machinery Palace, the largest of the Exposition buildings, extending the entire width of the walled city. To the south, just across from the beautiful South Gardens, are the Palace of Horticulture and Festival Hall. To the west is the Palace of Fine Arts, sweeping in a great arch, with a tropical lagoon in the foreground, separating this structure from the west wall of the inner city.

Back to Classic Rome.

When the old padres started on their northward wanderings through California, carrying their flickering torch of civilization, they brought to the natives among other things, their conception of the art of architecture. They builded thickly of adobe clay and roofed their structures with crude, handmade tiles.

This is one of the many themes to be found blended harmoniously in the scheme of things in this city beautiful. The walls are heavy and strong. Instead of adobe, however, the artists have harkened back to the classic days of old Rome and brought here to all intents and purposes Travertine marble such as is found in the quarries just outside of Rome and still seen in many of the old ruins in Italy. In this way has been blended the classic of the old world with the romantic of the new world.

Along the length of these miles of walls beautiful portals have been created like jewels suspended from a pendant. At first it was the intention of the artists to write upon the walls of this city the history of architecture from the beginning upward until the period of decadence. The conception was to tell this story in the portals through which millions of visitors in 1915 will pass.

This conception has been more or less adhered to in the execution, although the immense cost it entailed necessitated the curtailment of the history in some of its phases. When it is realized that more than $200,000 has been spent alone in the modeling and construction of portals it may be conceived how earnest has been the effort to make this one phase alone a monument to the art of architecture, past and present.

Its Memory Lingers Long.

Approaching the Exposition from Fillmore street, one of the first of these portals to be seen is that leading within the Palace of Varied Industries on the south side. In its modeling and the rich coloring that has been superimposed it is a piece of art to catch the eye and hold the attention. Its memory lingers long and vividly.

This portal alone cost more than $20,000. It is a modified reproduction of an entrance to the hospital at Santa Cruz, Spain. It is of the Spanish renaissance period and cathedral-like in its appearance. Blues, browns and reds of the Exposition color scheme, according to the artists familiar with the original, enhance the replica even more than the portal at Santa Cruz, which is devoid of coloring.

This entrance is also much larger than the original, and the niches are occupied with modern figures instead of saints, common to ecclesiastical architecture, especially of Spanish influence. The figures are those of a miner in various poses, striking and lifelike. The tympanum consists of a group of five figures, representing as many industries. This, together with the figures of the miner, is the work of Ralph Stackpole.

Passing down the Avenue of Progress between the high buttressed walls of the Palace of Varied Industries and Mines on the one side and the Palace of Machinery on the other, one is enveloped in an atmosphere of Roman architecture. The portals on this side of Varied Industries and Mines are the Roman expression of the Italian renaissance and are in harmony with the opposite entrance to Machinery Palace.

Barbaric Colors of Far East.

These two main entrances are identical, rather severe and suggestive of the portals to old Italian walled cities. The reds and other subdued barbaric colors of the far east inject an element of emotion to counteract the Roman severity.

Proceeding down toward the water front and the esplanade, a view of the entire northern facade is obtained. Here the Spanish renaissance is again encountered in the north portals of Mines, Transportation, Agriculture and Food Products. The entrances are very ornate and elaborate.

An element of the Gothic influence is discernible. Heroic figures of a pirate in the center and two Spanish buccaneers on either side, bowlegged and primitive, are the decorative features in the way of statuary.

Traversing the half mile of the walled city on the north, one leaves the bay and follows the walls in a southerly direction. Here again is the Roman influence, of a different period perhaps, reflected in the great half dome entrances of the Palace of Food Products and Education. They suggest the half domes of the Baths of Caracalla, where the Romans in the olden days used to bask in the cool shadows cast by those portals in the heat of midday. The sweep of these arches is approximately 135 feet, supported by heavy columns of mottled marble rich in soft colorings.

Past these portals one again enters the South Gardens, but from the western extremity. These are typically French, the motif being in harmony with the Palace of Horticulture and Festival Hall, situated in the southern part of the gardens. Opposite these buildings are the southern facades of the walled city proper, the Palace of Education, Liberal Arts and Varied Industries, the latter having already been noted.

Like Olden Time Portals.

The southern portal of Education is pure Roman, while those of Manufacture and Liberal Arts are of more or less modified Roman architecture. They are high and square, projecting beyond the face of the building, and have a suggestion of a beetling red tiled roof. These again are strikingly suggestive of the portals of the olden cities.

With this the visitor has made but a tour of the outer wall and studied only the main portals. There are countless others, almost equally interesting, opening into the different courts and into the main axis. All form a study of perhaps as high an educational value as anything that will be found in the Palace of Fine Arts.

SUPERB MEDALLION FOR GREAT TRIUMPHAL ARCH.

A. Stirling Calder, Acting Director of Sculpture, Completes Huge Frieze.

A. Stirling Calder, acting director of sculpture at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has just completed a scale model for a huge medallion to adorn the triumphal Arch of the Rising Sun in the Court of the Universe at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915. The great arch is larger than the Arc de Triomphe at Paris.

The medallion, which, when completed, will be thirteen feet in diameter, will scale so that the figure seems the size of the ordinary human being when seen from the floors of the court. The design is characteristic of Mr. Calder's best work, and the delicate lines of the figures, as well as their countenances, suggest Mr. Calder's "Sprite."

The figures are those of two women encircled by a frieze, a cornucopia representing the abundance which Nature bestows upon mankind.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The triumph of three cities, Chicago, Boston and New York, where it made record-breaking runs of 200 and 150 nights in each place, comes to Plainfield Theatre tonight, when Lew Fields' All Star "Hanky Pankey" will be seen. "Hankey Pankey" is a pot-pourri of screamingly funny nonsense, varied by song, dances and spectacle on a mammoth scale. Davy Jones and Lester Bernard in the quartet "Where the Eidlweiss is Blooming" together with Ruth Harris and Florence Cripps bring a reminder of the best of the old Weber and Fields' days. Ralph Edwards is another comedian who is a host in himself, while Jack Allman, as the genial drafter Blacki Daw, is seen to good advantage. Virginia Evans, the beautiful popular young prima donna who scored such an emphatic success in "Hanky Panky" in Chicago and New York, is still singing the principal role of Cleopatra. She will be heard in the charming numbers "Rose of Pyramid Land" and "Dixie Love." Ruth Harris, Florence Cripps and Sally Dally are still playing their original parts. Not in all their years as head liners in vaudeville did Al and Fannie Stedman ever have such opportunity for fun-making as in "Hanky Panky." No Lew Fields' show would be complete without Broadway chorus, therefore fifty stenic beauties in many changes of originally designed costumes, with properly adequate stage settings, lighting effects and all that goes with it, are assured. An unusual feature of "Hanky Panky" is the fact that there are still with it the original chorus girls, for it is more difficult to persuade chorus girls of the first grade to go on the road than it is to get stars, and in order to do this, the management of "Hanky Panky" not only pays them a higher salary than any other company in the country but supplies a special train with every possible comfort, for the company to travel in.

Mr. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, takes a keen interest in the question of minimum wage for women, and in fact in many other phases of present day economics where women are concerned. Mrs. Belmont has founded many clubs for working women, conducts a lunch-room where decent food is served cheaply for the benefit of women who work and interests herself in a thousand ways wherever she can lend a hand toward helping those of her own sex who are less fortunate than she. It was principally because of her interest in department store conditions that she recently visited the play "Within the Law" when that striking melodrama of up-to-date happenings in New York life was having its unprecedented successful run at the Eltinge Theatre. Mrs. Belmont occupied a box and watched the vicissitudes of fortune that attend "Mary Turner" the shop-girl heroine of the drama, with keenest interest. Afterward the great social leader and mother of the Duchess of Marlborough wrote of it as follows to the author: "I was among the first to see your wonderful play and ever since I have been urging all my friends to get to see it." (Signed) Alva E. Belmont. "Within the Law" will be seen Thursday night at the Plainfield Theatre.

The plot of "High Jinks," the musical jollity which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Plainfield Theatre, Friday, September 4, concerns itself with a magic perfume guaranteed to create general hilarity. This plot is thickened by the introduction of an irate Frenchman, a wandering grass-widow, and a certain doctor whose amiable disposition prevents him from resisting the emoraces of a fair female patient under the influence of the perfume. When the doctor, to appease the Frenchman whose wife he has kissed, agreed to introduce his own wife, that she in her turn may be kissed by the Frenchman, a substitute is deemed necessary. A friend who always does the wrong thing at the right time further complicates the muddle of fun by introducing a professional dancer to act as the substitute. The hilarity mounts higher and higher as the complications become more and more tangled. Throughout it all there are freely sprinkled catchy melodies, and a pretty chorus of lively and joyous girls adds to the liveliness with song and dance and laughter.

"The Greyhound" will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow, in 5 parts, by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, author of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and "The Deep Purple." Claire Fellman, wife of Louis Fellman, alias "The Greyhound," after unsuccessfully pleading with her husband, a confidence man and card sharp, to forsake his ways, determines to leave him. Associated with "The Greyhound" are Jack Fay, alias "The Pale Face Kid,' an uncouth crook; J. Crawford Alexander, alias "Whispering Alex," a suave, gentlemanly, intelligent card sharp the forger, and "Deep Sea Kitty," an adventuress. The various plans of the quartet all go wrong because of the timely intervention of the police, until finally suspicion is aroused that Clair, "The Greyhound's" wife, has had a hand in the frustrating of their plans. Claire, awakening to the fact that her final endeavorers to reform Fellman are of no avail, determines upon suicide. "The Greyhound," before leaving for Europe, entered into a death pact with his wife, who still loved him. Claire drinks the poison potion, while Fellman leads her to believe that he had taken his. However, the dose is not fatal, and merely renders her unconscious. Fellman, believing his wife dead, decides to go to Europe in quest of prey. In the meantime, McSherry, formerly a professional gambler, now reformed and in the employ of "The Eye," a former sweetheart of Claire's, arrives fwith a message from her brother—realizing her trouble, he devotes his energies to helping her. Learning of Fellman's brutal treatment of Claire, McSherry vows vengeance and follows Fellman like a Nemesis. Things go from bad to worse for them, until finally Fellman, laboring under the delusion that his wife's ghost continually pursues him, in a fit of despondency and desperation, falls overboard and is drowned. "Whispering Alex" is apprehended for forgery, Kitty resolves to reform, and Claire, happy under her brother's protection, in England, is visited by McSherry. The future of both seems in a fair way of spelling happiness.

NUMBER OF MEN IN WARFARE LINED UP IN MARCHING ORDER

The man who is always ready with facts and figures is now confining his efforts to the great European war situation. He first figures the number of men in the regular and reserve forces of the various nations, then starts them to marching in a single file and computes the length of the line, which runs into thousands of miles. Then he places them four abreast and finds that by marching in open order he has a grand array of troops reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, with the head of the line on a counter-march that just about reaches the Great Salt Lake.

While the ever-present statistician is having fun with his figures you can get all the useful information you need from the official European War Map which is now being distributed by The Daily Press. This map is printed in five colors, containing the entire situation at a glance, splendid portraits of the great European rulers, an explanation of the Triple Alliance, etc., and a strip of colored charts showing the strategic points of the conflict is given absolutely free. ASTOR THEATRE DEAL COMPLETE

$25,000 Worth of Work Contracted For to Alter Property.

H. M. COVENS THE MAN

Said to Be Identified With Big Film Company—Has Eight-Year Lease With Option to Buy—Local Union Labor to Do Work.

Having completed plans for the purchase of the Astor Theatre property, as was told exclusively in The Daily Press of August 11, Harry M. Covens, of Paterson, yesterday, signed contracts for the alteration of the building at a cost of nearly $25,000. Mr. Covens has not purchased the property as yet, but will make the alterations under the terms of an eight year lease. He does, however, retain a year's option to buy, and has paid down a substantial sum to bind the option. The property is owned by Morris Abrams and Harry Dreier, and was originally built and opened by Benjamin Nieberg, of New York, who made a failure of the business.

It is announced that while the contract for the alterations has been given to a New York firm, the work will all be done by Plainfield union labor men. It is believed that Mr. Covens will take up the purchase option, as originally he signed an agreement to buy, which was the basis for the story which appeared in the Press of August 11. This has now been changed to the lease, but the option is retained.

Preparations for extensive alterations are completed and the amusement center will open as soon as the work is completed. It is planned to give Plainfield a model motion picture house, the new owners being said to be affiliated with the Universal Film Company, one of the best known makers of motion pictures. Owing to the elaborate scheme upon which the improvements will be based it will be impossible to open the place until the first part of the year, the intervening time being given over to redecorating and remodeling.

Local contractors were acquainted with the plans for altering the structure some weeks ago and asked to submit bids for the work. About $25,000 will be expended in the work and one of the most pronounced changes will be a new entrance on the Front street side which will be made of marble. The floor of the interior will have an entirely new pitch and the present roof will be raised. Edward V. French, of North avenue, is the architect.

The attention of the new owners will be devoted exclusively to the presentation of motion pictures and some of the finest films will be shown. The Astor Theatre was finished last year and opened for the purpose of conducting motion picture shows. The performances were discontinued in the fall as a direct result of trouble that had been brewing since the place was built, with the Building Trades Council of this city. The work was done by a contractor who employed non-union helpers from out of town. The present ceiling is too low for motion pictures inasmuch as the top of the film strikes the iron girders that hold up the ceiling.

TIRED OF LIFE, TRIES SUICIDE

Mrs. Frank Weigman Makes Unsuccessful Effort to Take Her Life.

BRIDE OF TWO MONTHS

Says She Can't Live With Husband Any Longer—Couple "Make Up" and Return to This City to Live With Groom's Mother.

Tired of life after two months' experience, Mrs. Genevieve Weigman, wife of Frank Weigman, of West Front street, this city, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide in the women's toilet of the Elizabeth station of the New Jersey Central, about 11 o'clock last night, by drinking the contents of a bottle of iodine. When found by John Goldsmith, the ticket agent, she was in a critical condition.

Patrolman Mullaney and Hildenbrand were summoned and they gave "first aid" treatment after which they sent the young woman to the Elizabeth General Hospital. Their "first aid" treatment undoubtedly saved the victim's life. Mrs. Weigman recovered sufficiently to appear in court this morning.

Mr. Weigman was paroled in the custody of Desk Sergeant Kirkman to await the results of his wife's action, and both he and the latter appeared before Judge Owen P. Mahon, in Elizabeth, this morning. After giving the young bride a severe reprimand he suspended sentence. After kissing, the couple left the courtroom united, stating that they would come to this city to live wih Mr. Weigman's mother.

Following Mrs. Weigman's attempt on her life a note which she left addressed to her husband, was found in the railroad station, which Judge Mahon took charge of later. Among other things Mrs. Weigman said:

"Dear Frank, I can't live with you any longer. Now you go where you want to. * * * * * * Give my regards to Jack, Mary and Cliff. Wishing you the best of luck and happiness, Yours, Gen."

The couple was married in July, the bride being Miss Genevieve Moffett, of Westfield. It was at first alleged that Mr. Weigman had kidnapped the young woman, but several days later she gave herself up to the Elizabeth authorities and soon afterward the couple was married at Westfield. A little later they quarreled and separated, Mrs. Weigman going home to live and Mr. Weigman continuing to live at his home in this city.

WILSON BACK; WILL READ A WAR TAX MESSAGE

Washington, Sept. 2.—President Wilson has decided to read a message to Congress calling for the passage of a war revenue tax measure to make up losses in revenues incident to the European war. The president said he had not determined whether he would read the message tomorrow or Friday. He will consult with leaders of the Senate and House later today.

The President arrived at the White House a few minutes before 10 o'clock looking much refreshed from his week-end trip. He immediately went to the executive offices.

RIPARIAN COMMISSIONERS GUESTS OF N. B. SMALLEY

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of the borough, who is now a member of the State Riparian Commission, entertained his colleagues at a dinner at Pedefious', yesterday. Besides the members of the Commission there were present a few personal friends of Mr. Smalley from the city and borough.

The affair was purely informal and Mr. Smalley, as usual, proved himself a delightful host. The Commission has been very busy this year looking after riparian rights and interests. A few weeks ago the members were guests at a dinner given in Jersey City.

ARRESTED FOR "JOY RIDING."

John Lacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lacey, of Harmony street, the borough, took it upon himself to go "joy riding" last evening in an autocar which belongs to his parents, and which they had forbidden him to use. Young Lacey, however, figured that he could use the car just the same, and the parents lodged a complaint against him this morning at police headquarters, and he was placed under arrest. The case will be heard tomorrow morning.

G. Harold Firstbrook, of East Second street, is spending a few days at Ocean Grove.

DOLLAR DAY OFFERS BRING OUT THE BUYERS

Stores Hard Pressed to Care For Shoppers This Morning —Many Bargains Offered.

Dollar Day business exceeded the fondest expectations of the progressive Plainfield merchants who participated in the second event of the kind held this year. From the minute the stores opened they were crowded, and the clerks were taxed to the utmost to care for the good-natured bargain hunters. Hundreds of strangers from out of town took advantage of the splendid offerings made by local dealers, and there was not a store which participated in the plan that did not do a big business.

Almost any kind of a bargain could be found, most of them having been well advertised in the local papers last night. At the shoe stores especially the business seemed to be large, and the full force of clerks, with many extra people, were on hand.

When a Press' reporter visited some of the stores there was evidence everywhere of great activity. President A. E. Force, of the Business Men's Association, which originated the plan, was busy in his store, so busy in fact that a reporter could not reach him to find out what he thought of the day. He had his coat off and sleeves rolled up and was trying to wait on three or four women customers at once, which made it evident that there was no complaint there about the success of the day. The same was true at Tepper Brothers', where the members of the firm were all busy assisting to care for the wants of their customers; Woodhull & Martin Company, Rosenbaum's and others. At Woodhull & Martin's, J. V. E. Vanderhoef, advertising manager, said that he wished there would be a Dollar Day every three months, as it was good advertising, and also developed a big day's business.

At VanArsdale's every clerk was busy waiting on people, who were standing up waiting for a chance to get seats in order to sit down. Mr. VanArsdale said that if he had any idea that such business was to be done he would have put on an extra force of clerks, and that they were much busier than on the Dollar Day held in February. The same condition was found at Abrams', Stuart's, Force's Shoe Department, Willett's and in other shoe stores.

J. A. Fass, at The Paris, was directing a force of clerks who were trying to supply the demands of a big buying public, and Samuel Rothberg was as busy as the rest. Hyman Adelberg showed the reporter a lot of silk coats displayed in the window, which he said had been replenished three times, and which cost $5 and $6, but as they were styles which are discontinued he was selling them as fast as he displayed them at $1 each.

The success of the day's business is so much assured that it is safe to predict that they will be held frequently from now on.

JOHN H. CAPSTICK TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW

A meeting in the interests of John H. Capstick, Congressional candidate for the Republican nomination in this district, will be held tomorrow evening in the rooms of the Republican City Executive Committee in the Frost building. All voters, whether they favor Mr. Capstick or not, are invited to attend. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock, and several short addresses will be made.

Reports from various parts of the county appear to indicate that Mr. Capstick has made many friends in this section, considering the fact that he has come into it practically a stranger to many of the voters. Mr. Capstick may be remembered by many as the temporary chairman of the convention which nominated William N. Runyon for Congress in 1910.

AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGNER.

John Cose continues his aggressive campaign in behalf of his candidacy for the shrievalty nomination on the Republican ticket. It is said that there is not a nook or corner in all Union county that Mr. Cose has not visited and he is reported to have been well received. Last night he addressed the Fifth Ward Republican Club of Rahway, about sixty persons being present. Tonight he will speak at Cranford.

PUT ON PROBATION.

Winfield Scott, a fourteen-year-old colored youth who stole a pocketbook containing $8.50 from Jennie Bundy, on Sunday night, was placed under probation by Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning, after being given two days in the local jail to think over his sins. He promised to be good in the future, and the money was restored to Mrs. Bundy.

QUESTIONS LEGALITY

Quotes Law to Prove Contention—Borough Counsel Isaac P. Runyon's Opinion Says Proceedings Are Regular.

There is some doubt as to whether the special consolidation election arranged for September 24 in North Plainfield can be held legally. Councilman Alexander Milne raised the question at a meeting of about two hundred citizens in Debele Hall, last night, when he quoted sections of the laws of 1913 to prove that the necessary legal steps have not been taken for such election.

According to the law quoted by Mr. Milne it provides among other things that the Boards of Registry and Election shall sit on Tuesday four weeks next preceding such election. This has not been done, and this law cannot now be complied with if the election is to be held on September 24.

This particular laws pertains to all elections other than general elections in municipalities having a population of five thousand, and would seem to cover the special election to be held in the borough. No attempt was made at last night's meeting to dispute Mr. Milne's contention, it being decided to appoint a committee of twelve to arrange for further meetings, and in the meantime counsel will be sought to learn whether the law referred to by Mr. Milne will prevent the holding of a special election on the date named.

Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver, who has been guided by the advice of Borough Counsel Isaac P. Runyon, holds that the latter has informed him that under the provisions of a 1902 act pertaining to the consolidation election, the present procedure is legal This act, it is said, provides that Election Boards shall meet one week previous to the election to revise the registry lists.

Several members of the Borough Council have suggested that in view of Mr. Milne's contention that it would be wise to postpone the time for holding the election, until such time as an opinion can be secured from the Attorney-General of the State. It is expected that some action will be taken at the meeting of the Borough Council, Friday night.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., called the meeting to order last night, and after explaining the purpose, Dr. William L. Saunders was chosen chairman and Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver was the secretary. From the beginning it was plainly an anti-gathering, the majority apparently being opposed to the plan of consolidation chiefly for the reason that it would mean more expense to the property-owners of the borough with no commensurate return.

Dr. Saunders reviewed at length the movement for consolidation of the borough with the city covering the past twenty years, referring especially to the annexation election in 1903. He made clear that at that time it was the question of annexation and not consolidation that was defeated. Dr. Saunders then explained the difference between the two questions. He urged the voters to consider the future, the greatest good to the greatest number, and not put the question on a purely mercenary basis.

Extracts of reports of the commission appointed by former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, and former Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, were read, as well as various legal opinions given then and at other times. It was pointed out that while Plainfield had continued to grow the borough has not made any development in the past decade.

Following the remarks of Dr. Saunders there were remarks by A. C. Pleydell, Charles Lyman, Henry C. White, Henry DeMott, L. B. Woolston, William J. Conroy, John Doty, Howard Woolston, James K. Arnold and Councilman Alexander Milne. The weight of argument seemed to be against the consolidation idea. The discussion oftentimes led far away from the real subject under consideration, and some of the remarks occasioned amusement.

After the discussion, L. B. Woolston's motion that a committee of twelve be named to arrange for further meetings that the people might become more familiar with the question of consolidation and what it would mean to North Plainfield, was carried.

JEWELRY WORTH $100 WENT WHEN JONES DID

Police Seeking Man of All Work Who Suddenly Disappeared from Town Monday.

Captain John J. Flynn, acting chief of the police department, is looking for Simon R. Jones, alias Henry Jones, colored, whom the police say stole jewelry from the home of E. K. Morse, 725 Belvidere avenue, on Monday. Jones, who is a negro, and is known to the Westfield police, has been in the city since June, being employed at odd jobs about town. He has done some work for Mr. Morse and on Monday was engaged in painting the roof of a porch, when all the members of the family left the house between 11:45 and 2 o'clock. Upon their return Jones and the jewelry were missing.

The police found an empty suit case and an old suit of clothes at 404 East Fourth street, where Jones boarded, but he has not been around there since. The jewelry was valued at about $100, and the authorities think they have an idea where the man is.

BORO DEMOCRATS COMPLETE TICKET

Frank Mobus, C. L. Force and William N. Pangborn File Petitions Today.

North Plainfield Democrats completed their local ticket this afternoon, when petitions endorsing ex-sheriff Frank Mobus and Charles L. Force for councilmanic nominations on the Jeffersonian ticket were filed with Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver. W. N. Pangborn, seeking the nomination for constable from the same party, also filed his petition.

The activities on the part of the borough Democrats this year has been brought about by the apparent split in the ranks of the local Republican party over the re-nomination of the two present incumbents, whose terms expire January 1. As the Republican party has a three-cornered fight on its hands for the councilmanic nominations owing to some opposition to the present municipal administration, the Democrats feel that there is an excellen opportunity to secure a representation in the Council.

Friends of the administration are charging that a faction of the party has been opposing it since Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., was first elected to the office in 1911. This is said to be the cause of the present rupture. Since the season for "booms" opened early in the summer, it is said candidates galore have been groomed in an effort to sound the sentiment against the present membership of the governing body, with the result that there are three petitions filed for candidates to fill two expiring terms in that body. That the Democrats realized their chance to appeal to the losing faction on the side of the opposition is evident, as last year the Democrats practically endorsed the Republican candidates for mayor, tax collector, council, while the latter endorsed the Democratic candidate for Freeholder.

London, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable).—The allies are fighting hard to prevent the success of the German assault on the upper Oise, which is less than fifty miles from Paris. The British are making a stand near Compiegne to stop the Kaiser's troopers from obtaining one of the most direct routes to the French capital. The battle has been going on for two days.

Germany is making fresh efforts to bring Italy to her side and has issued a proclamation in which it is asserted that a victory for Great Britain and France will deprive Italy of all chance of dominating the Mediterranean.

The western coast of Belgium and the northwest coast of France apparently are clear of Germans.

Word from St. Petersburg is that the opinion is expressed there that war between Turkey and Greece is but a question of a few days. The despatch says that Turkish troops have been landed on the shores of Asia Minor at Smyrna, while at Chatalja and to the east of Scutari fortifications are being built under the direction of German officers.

A News agency despatch from Vienna makes known that the Austrian government regards the occupation of Lemberg, Galicia, by the Russians as inevitable. In view of this the provincial government has removed the State archives and has left instructions for the Mayor as to how he is to conduct the city after the troops of the enemy effect their occupation. The Austrians are reported to have evacuated Lemberg and to have drawn off toward the southwest.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable).—The official report issued today by the General Staff is as follows:

"Two army corps operating in eastern Prussia have been repulsed by a superior German force and have sustained severe losses. This, however, is unimportant because it has been from the very inception of the war the aim of the General Staff to crush completely the Austrian power in order that the way will be cleared for a straight march on Berlin.

"The operations against Austria are continuing with the best results. Three entire armies are engaged along a battle front that extends from the Dneiter River to Russian Poland. The Austrians are being steadily beaten back and their central army has been defeated and driven twenty miles from its advanced line.

"The Russian armies are now operating to crush the Austrian wings. The battle is stubborn and the casualties very heavy, but the enemy's losses far outnumber those of the Russians. Already many thousands of Austrian prisoners have been taken, whole regiments having been surrounded by Russian cavalry and forced to surrender. Among the prisoners are several Austrian officers of high rank.

"The operations in eastern Prussia, while subordinated to the general campaign to crush the Austrian resistance, will be continued in considerable force. The fortress of Konigsberg is now completely invested and a part of the city is held by Russians. The Germans have been heavily reinforced from eastern armies. Despite this fact, however, the march on Berlin will be begun just as soon as the Austrian army has been annihilated."

London, Sept. 2—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Abbeville, France, learns that Emperor William was in Charleroi, Belgium, last Saturday, where he viewed the battlefield, later motoring to Mons. He spent Saturday night in Brussels.

A news agency here received the following official statement given out by the Belgian authorities at Antwerp: "The Germans are again bombarding Malines. They are aiming at the steeple of the cathedral which is a prominent landmark for miles around."

Certain movements of the German troops in the direction of Assche in the province of Bravant, six miles northwest of Brussels gave rise to the belief that the Germans were contemplating a movement toward Termonde, six miles east of Ghent. However, the Belgian troops have been reinforced on account of the necessity of preserving control of Waasland.

The enemy advanced from Brussels to Assche, yesterday, but could not penetrate further north. Ninove and Alost, 16 and 15 miles respectively from Ghent in different directions, have been occupied by Germans. In the provinces of Antwerp and Limbourg the situation is unchanged.

Geneva advices received here say that the French fortress of Belfort holds out against greatly superior forces of Germans despite an artillery duel extending over three days. Two German army corps are reported in Alsace and Lorraine. These include Austrian soldiers.

A despatch from Paris says that the military governor has ordered that no private motor car be allowed to leave Paris after today.

The second 100,000 volunteers for the British army are being enrolled rapidly, the first 100,000 having been entirely enrolled and now en route to mobilization camps. In two days, it is said, 10,000 men offered their services and were enlisted.

St. Petersburg advices received here today are to the effect that the Russian general staff admits disaster to two army corps including the loss of three generals.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that it is officially announced that the Russians have buried 14,200 Austrian dead on the battlefield.

Geneva, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable)—Germany is making up her loss in Zeppelin airships. A new one left Friedrich Haven, yesterday afternoon, to replace the Zeppelin No. 8

SPIRITED COMPETITION.

There was an epidemic of Piscataway farmers in the borough yesterday with their wagons loaded down with the products of the soil. What struck one as quite a coincidence was the fact that each farmer seemed to have a different variety to dispose of. As far as the lack of competition went, conditions couldn't have been any different for the day if a powerful grange combination had at last been successful in obtaining a death-like grip on Dunellen's throat. W. P. Farrell had a load of muskmelons; Ziba P. Osman, a load of lima beans; O. B. Kitts, a load of tomatoes; Harry Van Fleet's wagon was stocked with sweet corn and others had peaches, watermelons, etc. The influx was due to the fact that the supply is greater than the demand in the Plainfield market. This year is certainly a year of abundant harvests for the American people.

Fred C. Ward, of Ocean Park, California, a former resident of this vicinity, arrived in the borough last evening for an indefinite visit.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

There will be something doing in the borough on Election Day as the local Progressive and Republican organizations have united in an attempt to defeat the Democrats in the matter of filling the vacancies on the Common Council that will be caused by the expiration of Councilmen Shively and Bolard's term on December 31st. Republican committeemen Albert N. Randolph and Henry S. Garretson filed a petition with Borough Clerk Deering last evening, naming Harold D. Williams, of Prospect avenue, and Robert Craig, of Lincoln avenue, as candidates of their party for councilmen. Their action was followed shortly by the filing of a petition by Progressive committeemen Charles Johnson and John P. Fenner, endorsing the Republican ticket. Both of the candidates are well thought of in the borough, and are successful business men. Mr. Craig is the manager of the office of the Levgar Structural Company. Mr. Williams has a high salaried position with the Standard Oil Company.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Owing to the inability of certain members of the Township Committee to be present at a meeting that was to have been held last evening the meeting was postponed until Friday evening, September 11.

The Piscataway Taxpayers Association will meet in the New Market school on Tuesday evening.

The telephone ordinance was discussed at length with representatives of the telephone company at a special meeting of the committee on Friday evening.

NO MEETING.

There was no meeting of the Board of Education last evening owing to the inability of assembling a quorum. The schools of the borough will open on Thursday, Sept. 10th instead of Wednesday, Sept. 16th as stated in last evening's Press. The hours of attendance of all grades will be from 9 in the morning until noon and from 1:30 in the afternoon until 3:30. The grades in the Whittier School will be the reception, first, second, third, sixth, seventh and eighth, and in the new Lincoln School, as stated in last evening's paper, the reception, first, second, third, fourth and fifth.

THOMAS MOHAN ILL.

Thomas Mohan, of Dunellen avenue, was nearly overcome with exhaustion while firing No. 575, a Philadelphia fast freight, as she neared Bound Brook, on their way to Elizabethport, last evening. Mr. Mohan had had a month's leave of absence, his muscles becoming somewhat softened as a result. He made the trip to Philadelphia on Monday night without any apparent ill after effects. But the return trip was too much for him. His condition was such as the train neared Bound Brook that he was obliged to leave his engine at the station there and receive medical treatment. The treatment administered by the physician enabled him to return to his home unassisted and he appeared to be himself again this morning. Sylvester Rinehart, of North avenue, took Mohan's place as fireman when the train arrived at Dunellen.

NO HOLIDAY ATTRACTIONS.

According to present indications, Labor Day will be a very quiet day in the borough. Boy Scout Day has been postponed until a later date. Up to the present time no baseball game has been arranged. In fact the only event will be the joint presentation of an American flag by the local order of Juniors and P. O. S. of A., to the Board of Education for the new Lincoln School. The exercises will take place on the school grounds at 3 o'clock. District President Grace, of the P. O. S. of A. will make the presentation speech. Mr. Grace hails from South Amboy and he has obtained quite a reputation for himself as a speaker. Past State Councilor W. B. LaRue, of the Jr. O. U. A. M., will also speak. After the exercises the new school will be open for inspection.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dusel and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dean attended a birthday party given by the Hi-du-de-bab to Stephen J. Higham, at Plainfield, last evening.

The circus scheduled to show in Scotch Plains yesterday was unable to do so their stay in town being limited to one hour. They tried to put "one over" on the town constable it is said. Marshal Ashton happened along and informed them that a license costing fifty dollars was necessary to show in town and after vainly arguing they left for Westfield. Some one must have "put them wise" to the size of the crowd that would attend as one of the owners was heard to remark that "they were not so flush with money that they could give it away."

The political campaign in the township this fall will be rather slow from present indications. Township Committeeman Samuel Hetfield has served his term and is out for re-election with no one opposing him thus far. Township Clerk Edward L. Hand has also finished his term and is a candidate for another term with no opposition. A constable will also be elected, but up to the present time no one appears anxious for the job.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will be held in the church tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of furthering plans for the annual fair to be held the last of the month. Arrangements for the supper for the members of the society, which will be held in a short time, will be made.

The township officials are starting a determined crusade against autoists who insist in going through town during the night without any lights. Officer Ashton will take all caught before Recorder Jahn, who will probably deal heavily with them.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held in the Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock.

TELLS ON THE KIDNEYS.

Plainfield People Have Found This To Be True.

The strain of overwork tells on weakened kidneys. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. Weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys; tired, worn-out backs—have proven their merit in thousands of such cases. Convincing proof of their worth in a Plainfield citizen's statement.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years and the principal symptom was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coriell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The minimum wage question and recent agitation thereupon play an important part in "Within the Law," which will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night. Heroine of Bayard Veiller's melodrama is a poor shop-girl underpaid and underfed, who after serving three years in prison for an offense that she did not commit, and trying vainly to obtain decent employment, becomes the head of a band of "crooks" and with their assistance takes her revenge upon society. As the leader of "Joe Garson" the forger, "English Eddie Griggs" a thief, "Aggie Lynch" an amusing little blackmailer and other confederates, "Mary Turner" obtains enormous sums of money, but manages always to keep "Within the Law." She even hires a lawyer to help her evade wrongdoing which is punishable. It is curious to learn, as one does in this play, that there are many forms of crime which are practically legal.

The person who makes use of a magic perfume on which depends the plot of "High Jinks," the musical jollity which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Plainfield Theatre, Friday, Sept. 4, is an American nerve specialist practising in Paris. He makes, in fact, such good use of it on one of the pretty female patients that her joy gets the better of her discretion and she winds her arms in rapture around his neck. For the magic of this perfume is such that anyone getting a whiff of it becomes instantly hilarious, no matter how far in the mire of melancholy his spirits had been sunk. The young woman's husband happens to be a witness to the caress. He is a fire-eating Frenchman, and to escape his vengeance the perfume-dispensing doctor flees to a bathing resort. The Frenchman follows, and all sorts of ludicrous complications arise. The principals and the large attractive chorus of pretty girls rush and dance and laugh through three acts of whirlwind farce adorned with a catchy musical score.

Folks who like to be entertained in a manner befitting modern style of amusements will surely find more than their quota in the latest singing and dancing comedy, "Bringing up Father," which will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre Saturday afternoon and evening. The new piece, which is in three acts, was suggested by the popular cartoons of George McManus. All the interesting features of the original pictures have been retained and other details added to help make one of the best productions of its kind fostered in many seasons. In handling the subjects the authors have not deviated from the path of human nature. One might think that the types introduced are of the exaggerated kind and drawn for the purpose of squeezing humor and employing absurd situations. On the contrary the characters are real flesh and blood creations and capable of attracting attention in any environment and in addition the development of their characters and dispositions supplies an excellent moral.

"Potash and Pulmutter," a comedy woven about the characters and incidents made famous in the Saturday Evening Post stories by Montague Glass, which comes to the Plainfield Theatre on Monday, September 7, afternoon and evening direct from its second year at the Cohan Theatre, New York, has caused more hearty, healthy laughter than any other play in the history of the stage. This simple, homely, humorous tale of the cloak trade firm whose partners quarrel violently over details but would give their lives for each other is wonderfully human. The lines scintillate with the most delicious humor and the characters are as real as they are lovable. A deep vein of romance is developed through a Russian refugee who is wanted by the police for extradition on a trumped-up charge and who is passionately defended at the risk of enormous financial sacrifice by Abe and Morris, because of their loyalty to their own race and their spirit of fair play.

MONTHLY REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH

Many Investigations Made During August and Full Statistics Are Given.

Twenty-three cases of communicable disease were reported during the month of August, according to a report submitted at the regular meeting of the Board of Health, last night. To this total there were two cases of scarlet fever that were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital from Bound Brook. The number of different kind of diseases recorded are as follows:

The analysis investigation on ice cream during the past month shows that this city is receiving a supply of fair quality and the results of the analysis on the milk and cream are also reported fairly good. The Board has decided to take action in regards to the exposure of foods to the contamination of dust and flies. All peaches must be placed on stands at least eighteen inches from the ground and must be protected from flies and other insects by mosquito netting. This regulation must be complied with or offenders will have to face the law. The Board does not wish to work a hardship on the merchants of this city but has found it necessary to make such regulations for the protection of the health of the community.

The following inspections were made during the month:

Milk supply, 32; food supply, 176; nuisances, 448; general, 99; communicable disease, 32; disinfections, 6; plumbing, 70.

There were sixteen applications made for permits as follows: Milk—James B. Guttridge (store), Charles A. Eaton; garbage—S. J. Perry, William Phillips; plumbing—G. A. POLITICAL NOTES.

September 2—Last day for filing petitions for local offices.

September 8—First registry day. Also last day for filing petitions to fill vacancies in all offices except Governor and Congress.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

November 3—Election Day.

Reports from Morris county say the candidacy of William E. Tuttle for re-election to Congress from the Fifth district is being well received. It is positively stated in authorative sources that Morris will give Tuttle a large majority. The Congressman has been conducting a quiet campaign in the county, and he says that the outlook is very favorable. Thomas J. Pierson, of Elizabeth, is a candidate for the nomination. His supporters predict that he will show unexpected strength both in Union and Morris counties.

The Republican support for the Congressional nomination is claimed by John H. Capstick, a retired business man of Montville. Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, and William T. Stuchell, of Rahway, candidates for the Republican nomination, are doing missionary work in the county.

Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, one of the Republican candidates for the Assembly, is making a plea to the entire county to elect a good geographical candidate. In a statement to the voters, he says: "There are five candidates on the Republican ticket for the Assembly nomination. Three of these candidates live in Elizabeth, and two outside of that city are Judge Runyon and myself. Only three candidates can be nominated, and it does seem that the people should see to it that the nominations are properly distributed throughout the county on geographical lines. Of course, Elizabeth is a large centre of population, and it is only reasonable to suppose that a number of men in that city would seek the nomination, but the towns outside of Elizabeth are entitled to representation and the voters of these towns should keep this fact in mind as the primary election approaches."

The Elizabeth candidates for the Republican shrievalty nomination, George J. Stewart, George C. Otto and Joseph H. Neill, have been giving considerable attention to the county outside Elizabeth during the last few days. In the earlier stages of the fight all three busied themselves with skirminshing after the local vote. Now, it is said, almost every Republican here is lined up with some one of the five candidates, and it is up to the local aspirants to look after their fences in the outside districts. This they have been doing recently with a vengeance.

John H. Capstick, of Montville, Morris county, one of the three G. O. P. aspirants for the Fifth district Congressional nomination, will invade the stronghold of his two opponents in this county on Thursday night. He will address a meeting of Plainfield Republicans in the Frost building. This will be his first appearance on the platform in this county in his campaign. "He is not relying on his oratorical ability in this race," one of his followers said yesterday, in boosting the meeting, "but is promising the people to work in their interest if they select him as their representative."

The fact that September 8, the first registry day, falls on a Jewish holiday, at first caused State-wide consternation among the politicians, because they foresaw that many Hebrew voters would not go to the voting places. Their belief prevents them doing anything not in strict observance of the day. This feeling has been dissipated now, however, by the Hebrews themselves. They explain that all of their faith who desire to register on that date for the primaries will be able to do so after sundown. The holiday begins at sundown on September 7 and ends at sundown on September 8. There will be nearly three hours after the sun sets before the registry books close and all who wish to register may do so without any infraction of the orthodox religion.

Ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler visited several points in Morris county, yesterday, in his campaign for the Republican Congressional nomination. He stopped at Chatham, Madison and several other points along the Lackawanna. Mr. Fowler's words at the Roosevelt convention in Asbury Park two years ago, when he warned the Colonel's followers not to desert the Republican party, but to reform it from within by means of primary fights, have been given circulation throughout the district. His followers declare that aspersions upon his Republicanism during the last two years are completely answered thereby, while at the same time in advocating Roosevelt's nomination he advocated that which would have been the wise policy for the G. O. P. they say.

Supporters of Representative William E. Tuttle, Jr., in his campaign for a Democratic renomination, declare that they have now reached that state of confidence that they are willing to estimate his likely vote in the primaries. "Three to one" is what they say will be his margin over Thomas J. Pierson.

The following appeared in Monday evening's issue of the Elizabeth Evening Times: "Republican leaders are working frantically today to sew up a hitch caused by lining up Assembly candidates with Congressional aspirants. It has been charged that Judge William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, is acting in the interests of John H. Capstick, candidate for the Congressional nomination against William T. Stuchell, of Rahway, and Charles N. Fowler, of this city. The line-up is being attempted by one of the Assembly candidates for the purpose of increasing his vote. The candidate has circulated the story of Judge Runyon's affiliation with Capstick by pointing out that the Plainfielder is a member of the committee conducting the Morris county man's campaign, as shown by the petition filed at the office of the Secretary of State. The leaders fear that a contest of this sort will have a bad effect after the primaries. Friends of Judge Runyon are bitterly resenting this method of campaign, and it is understood that they have gone to the leaders with the demand that the press-agenting be squelched." The question in the minds of Judge Runyon's many friends is whether the local Assembly aspirant or the Congressional candidate get the greatest number of votes because of the political affiliations with the other. Many Plainfielders are of the opinion that Mr. Capstick has the best of the bargain.

Discussing the outlook for open primaries, Charles R. Bacon writes in the Philadelphia Record: "It looks as though the forthcoming primaries in New Jersey might be the widest open of anything imaginable in these days of refreshing independence in politics. The list of petitions filed officially by and for those who feel the impulse of patriotic endeavor—more or less—gives clear indication that the boss of other days has lost his vocation and that the people will have the best chance in the history of the State to assert their rights and show their strength. Of course, in most of the counties the old political machines are assertively represented in the lists and a good many of the machine servers on both sides appear for renomination, but if the people are so minded they can wipe out every one of these men and deliver to the machine such a blow as will settle them for all time. The opportunity is presented in the candidacies of men who have sturdily and consistently fought the political gangs, fought them so hard and so courageously that they have, temporarily at least, been placed hors de combat. Now the chance arises for the voters to determine whether such men shall be given the support which means political freedom and the relegation of the gangs to oblivion, or that the creatures of the gangs shall be aided to perpetuate the system against which the people rose in revolt so recently."

MRS. O. P. CRANE'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of Mrs. O. P. Crane were held this afternoon at her late home on Westervelt avenue, a large number of relatives and friends being in attendance. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated. The bearers were Robert Eick, Manning F. Gano, Corra Ryno, Will F. Williams and Herbert Templin. The interment was made this afternoon in Fairmount cemetery, Newark.

FAMILY ROW AIRED.

Irving Greder had his uncle Daniel Terry arrested, alleging that he struck him on the face, at the corner of Front and Somerset streets on Monday night. It developed that there was some trouble over money matters, and Judge DeMeza told the men that they should not have brought a quarrel of the kind into court. Terry was let go.

A large number of friends attended the services of Mrs. Sophie D. Smalley held at 2 o'clock at her late home at 1240 Park avenue. Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city, officiated. The interment was made at Bound Brook.

IF YOU are under 12 and over 6 and happen to be a girl instead of a boy, we know exactly what you are thinking of this week:

It is school again, and what a short summer it was, and what a sight I made of all my shoes, and I haven't a dress that is big enough for me, and my mother and I must make a trip to Best's and do quite a good deal of trying-on.

We know well enough that you would not keep on coming here just because it is convenient. We know quite well that Best's prices must never be a cent higher than somewhere else—and we take good care that they never are.

Our new Fall catalogue shows 60 pages of children's apparel. Your name and address and the word "catalogue" mailed to Best & Co., New York, is sufficient. Prompt and free delivery of purchases goes without saying.

POOR OLD TABBY.

If the cats are to be licensed and stray ones eliminated, as suggested by the Audubon Society of New Jersey, another one of the joys of childhood will be curtailed. What youngster is there who has not at one time or another had a cat for a playmate, and gotten hours of joy from the comradeship? The Audubon Society, however, in a circular which they recently sent out, looks only upon the cat as the enemy of the birds, and wants them more or less exterminated, stating that it will seek a law which will provide for the most careful regulation of the habits of the tabbys. The Society says:

Any person has the same inherent right to keep a cat that he has to keep a horse or a cow. The owner of one of the latter animals is responsible if the animal roams at large and destroys property of others. If the cat roams at large and destroys chickens or canaries which are the property of others, the owner of the cat should be responsible and if the wild birds, which are the property of the whole people, are destroyed, then the cat-owner should be responsible, too. It is the vagrant cat that we would abolish, and we would place a reasonable supervision over the doings of the pet cat when at large.

E. H. Forbush, State Ornithologist of Massachusetts, estimates that the average cat destroys birds as the rate of at least fifty per year, and quotes a well know example of a well cared for pet cat that destroyed fifty-eight birds in one season. Albert H. Pratt, president of the John Burroughs Nature Club, states that cats are an active medium for the spread of contagious diseases, particularly stray cats. He says "The cat on the farm is an almost universal fact, and it is a common thing to see the cat surreptitiously helping herself from the foaming milkpail and at the same time contaminating the entire supply with tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, or with other infectious germs which she may have in her mouth."

It is on such grounds as that the Audubon Society, in its efforts to protect birds, will seek laws at the next session of the Legislature, and they are starting the campaign now apparently, so that there will be little or no ridicule of the measure when it is introduced. In past years the cat license bills have been the subject of all sorts of jests when brought up for passage, and have failed.

The Democratic Elizabeth Times says that the "rank and file" of the Progressive party object to the decision on the part of members of that party to file a petition endorsing Senator Carlton B. Pierce for re-election. It may be so, but we have yet to hear of a Progressive who does not heartily endorse the action of the leaders of the party in endorsing the candidacy of the present very efficient Senator from Union.

If the Atlantic City Review is to be believed, Louis Kuehnle, who has recently been released after serving six months in the State's Prison at Trenton, is preparing to again take the reins of government in his hands, and see to it that it again becomes a wide open town. Well, it must be a fine feeling for the decent residents to know that a jail-bird has influence enough to come back into power.

The city is certainly taking on a gala appearance in preparation for the Labor Day parade. It will be the first big demonstration that local labor people have ever made, and that it will be a success goes without saying. The leaders are to be congratulated upon the systematic way in which they have taken up the task of making arrangements for the day.

It is not clear sailing for suffrage by any means, New Jersey and Massachusetts were the only States in which bills which may eventually lead to votes for women were passed this year. Efforts to pass similar bills in Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi and Virginia resulted in failure.

There are said to be 350,000 Boy Scouts in Europe. The question now is, will they be permitted to remain soldiers of peace, or will the rulers in their desperation take these young men, taught to battle for peace, and make them shoulder arms wherever they are big enough to do so.

The Democrats seem to be having trouble finding someone willing to run for mayor. As we have said before, it would be a fine evidence of the independence of Plainfield people and the non-partisan character of our residents, were Mr. Calkins given unanimous support of all parties.

Next Monday will be Labor Day, and there will be no edition of the Daily Press. In view of the fact a pertinent and timely editorial will appear on Saturday night, contributed by one of the active local labor leaders.

The Daily Press was taken to task last Thursday for using the headline, "Germans Have a Clear Road to Paris." And yet, in the light of the developments this week, that heading was not so far out of the way at that.

Just before the war it was estimated that there were 3,000 aviators in Europe. Recent developments would lead to the belief that the number has at least been cut in half.

APPROPRIATE $16,500 FOR NEW SCHOOL

Four Room Building to Be Erected In "Graceland" Section of Fanwood.

Although there are more than three hundred male voters in Fanwood township, only twenty-five of these voted at the special school election held in No. 1 school, last night, and assented in appropriating $16,500 to cover the expense of purchasing a lot and erecting a four-room school in what is known as the "Graceland" section of the township. Thirteen women, all colored, voted, bringing the total number of votes up to thirty-eight. Of the total there were only ten white people who voted, the remainder being all colored people coming chiefly from the "Graceland" section.

The action at the school meeting is probably without precedent in the State. While there has been considerable opposition to the plan of spending $16,500 for a site and new school in the "Graceland" section, many white people refused to attend the meeting and vote against the proposition.

Because they could not agree with their colleagues, S. G. VanHoesen and A. D. Beeken, two of the three members of the Township Board of Education, have resigned. Mr. Beeken has already severed his relations with the Board, and Mr. VanHoesen is about to do so. Their views concerning the building of the new school and other matters led to their recent action. It is likely that the vacancies will be filled in the spring.

The proposed new school will have four rooms and will have accommodations for 160 pupils, the majority of whom will be colored. There are a few white families in the neighborhood, but inasmuch as nearly all of the children attending the school are colored, it is said that the white families will arrange to send their children to another school.

The School Board has called a meeting for tonight when steps will be taken to advertise for bids for the erection of the new school and for improvements in the assembly room in the Scotch Plains school.

LOCAL PETITIONS FIELD.

Today is the last day for the filing of petitions endorsing candidates for local offices who are to be voted upon at the coming primaries. As in previous years, it is probable that the City Clerk's office will be the gathering place for all the big and little political lights this evening, as the petitions may be filed up to midnight. The petition endorsing Francis J. Blatz for re-nomination as councilman for the Fourth ward has already been filed, as well as several endorsing candidates for county and city executive committees of the various parties.

SERVICE AT HOME.

The closing services of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home is to be held next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, when Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be the speaker of the occasion. The musical portion of the gathering, as usual, will be of hymns by the children's choir, which have made the services of the summer enjoyable occasions. A large number of local people, as well as a number of visitors from New York city, are expected to be in attendance.

PLAN TO IMPROVE MEADOWS.

It is likely that the two Commissions will devise ways and means to co-operate in improving the meadows. It was decided to inspect the meadows on Tuesday, September 22.

CARDINAL MAFFI AHEAD IN VOTE

Reported Strong as Successor to Late Pope.

Rome, Sept. 2.—With two ballots taken Cardinal Maffi was reported to be leading in the voting of the members of Sacred college now in conclave to elect a successor to Pope Pius X.

Cardinal Merry del Val, secretary of state under Pope Pius, received a large number of votes, many of which were purely complimentary in recognition of his services to the late pontiff. The friends of Cardinal Merry del Val are bringing all possible pressure to bear to prevent an election before Cardinal O'Connell of Boston arrives here. Cardinal O'Connell is the strongest supporter of the former secretary of state. Cardinal Pietro Maffi is archbishop of Pisa. He is fifty-six years old.

NO BREAK IN ALLIES' LINE.

But French Embassy In London Admits Loss of Ground.

London, Sept. 2—The French embassy in London gave out the following statement:

"The Anglo-French army corps have had to give ground, but nowhere have they broken through."

HAD ORDERS TO MARCH.

And as General Lee Gave Them the Imposter Obeyed.

During the last days of the Confederacy the southern troops were exhausted by insufficient rations, long marches and broken sleep, but these discomforts were of small consequence in comparison with a worse suffering—that of homesickness. Many of the soldiers were in their teens. They had left home knowing nothing of army life and the longing for home and mother grew strong as their privations increased.

One boy determined to ask for a furlough. He brushed up his uniform, made as neat an appearance as possible and managed to make his way to General Lee's headquarters. He was admitted into the tent, and his heart beat rapidly at the idea of confronting the commander in chief. He found General Lee seated at a wooden table on which was spread a large map of Virginia. His right hand traced out his lines of march, and his gray head rested wearily on his left palm.

In a few stammering words the young soldier explained that his mother was a widow and that he would like to go home for ten days to "fix up" things for the coming year. Patiently Lee listened; then, without a word, he wrote out a furlough. The next day the boy was on his homeward journey.

Now it happened that another soldier learned of the boy's good fortune and tried the same thing. He walked up to Lee's tent, got an audience and told the same story as the lad who had been there the day before. But Lee detected the man's insincerity at once. He began to question him on his knowledge of the drill. Then he put him through several of the evolutions and at last gave the order, "Forward, march!"

The man started off at a good pace. "Double quick!" ordered General Lee. The man made off at a trot, thinking that General Lee would soon order him to face about and return. But Lee did no such thing. He let the man go ahead at a double quick until the fellow saw there were to be no orders to return and went off to his own company neatly outwitted.—Youth's Companion.

Unbearable Perfumes.

The perfume of flowers can make some people shiver. A member of the London Spiritualist Alliance tells of a woman who dreads the smell of hyacinths. Once at a party the hostess, knowing her visitor's horror of the flowers, hid them behind a screen, yet although they were concealed from view the woman detected them and fainted shortly after entering the room. The Princess of Lamballe, a friend of Marie Autoinette and a victim of the French revolution, would always turn pale at the sight of a violet, and Vincent, the painter, swooned at the smell of roses.

Insanity.

There has never been a satisfactory definition of insanity, the best, that of Sir William Hamilton, that it is "the paralysis of the regulating or legislative faculties of the mind," leaving us far from being satisfied. Like sleep, like dreams, like life itself, insanity is a mystery that no man understands. Its causes lie in the "De profundis" that no science has as yet explored.—New York American.

The Candid Friend.

WARREN CHAPEL C. E. HAD CHARGE OF CAMP SERVICE

The Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel had charge of the regular Tuesday service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, last night. E. E. Parvin was the speaker of the evening, and members of the society rendered vocal duets and a cornet solo. Two of the boys of the camp also favored with a duet.

The service next Sunday afternoon will be the last of the season as the little ones will be taken back to New York next Monday or Tuesday. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

AMERICANS DESTITUTE IN MEXICO WHEN WORKS CLOSE

Washington, Sept. 2.—As a result of the renewed revolutionary activities in Mexico which led to General Carranza closing the port of Vera Cruz, about a hundred Americans are destitute in Tampico. The consul there has cabled that a number of oil campanies have shut down and that the consulate is not in a position to care for the men thus thrown out of work. The State department has been asked to advise against Americans going to Mexico. Mexico City is reported quiet but the sale of all intoxicants has been suspended.

Following a conference with Rear Admiral Fletcher, today, Secretary Daniels announced that the officer would assume the post of commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet at Vera Cruz at the end of the month. No changes in the fleet now on the Mexican coast will be made for the present.

Vera Cruz., Sept. 2.—Early peace throughout Mexico is doubtful, in the opinion of John R. Sillman, of the American Consular service, who recently has been in conference with General Carranza as a personal representative of President Wilson. He says 167 policemen were killed in the rioting following the entrance of the Constitutionalist forces into Mexico City.

Mexico City, Sept. 2.—Orders have been issued by General Carranza for the disarmament of civilization. All weapons except shotguns and gallery rifles must be delivered to the military authorities within forty-eight hours.

Another decree permits sale of imported articles on which the United States has already collected duties. It was issued to counteract the advance prices of foodstuffs and other staples, settling the controversy as to whether the importers would have to pay double duty on them since the assumption of the government by the Constitutionalist leader.

It has also been decreed that no more private properties must be confiscated without written order from Carranza or the civil authorities. Arrents in prosecution of private grudges will be punished..

New York, Sept. 2.—A rebellion against General Carranza in the vicinity of Oaxana and Puerto Mexico has been started by adherents of Brigadier General Felix Diaz, according to word received here today. Partisans of General Diaz in New York declare he already has several thousand men and that the revolt is assuming large proportions. General Diaz is now in Canada and it is said he will leave for Mexico in a few days to take command.

Efforts is being made, it is understood, to secure the aid of General Francisco Villa and other northern leaders who are met thorough sympathy with Carranza. Licenciado Bonales Sandoval, one of Diaz lieutenants, is said to have been in Vera Cruz recently in conference with Villa. His friends assert the entire State of Oaxana is ready to acknowledge him as head of a revolt against Carranza.

OIL FIELDS BURNING.

Galveston, Sept. 2—Information was received here today that the Topila oil fields near Tampico, the largest in the world, were fired by lightning Friday night. The Waters-Pierce and the Huasteca tanks are burning. The Southern Pacific and other fields are threatened and the Corona, the largest gushing well in the world, is reported on fire.

News that Millicent, Duchess of Sutherland, is on the firing line with her ambulance corps came in a dispatch from Ambassador Girard at Berlin. In answer to many anxious inquiries, he telegraphed he had learned definitely the duchess and her staff were all well and aiding the Red Cross work for the Belgians near Namur. She is the eldest daughter of the fourth Earl of Roslyn and mother of the present Duke of Sutherland. He has lent his Scottish castle for a hospital base.

which was captured by the French at Badonviller. The new aerial vessel underwent a series of short trials over Lake Constance before departing.

Paris, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable)—According to the Petit Parisien fourteen German staff officers have been taken prisoners and sent to Nimes, in the Department of Gard.

The number of wounded arriving at different points show that fighting in the north continues on a great scale. Seven hundred soldiers arrived at Cherbourg; 500 at Orleans; 300 at Briancon, and 200 at Paris. Nearly all the men had wounds in legs and arms. The number of prisoners is also considerable. One convoy of 768 has arrived at Nimes, another of 489 at Troyes, and 100 at Clermont.

Antwerp, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable—Another raid on this city by a Zeppelin dirigible carrying bomb throwers in addition was made on this Belgian city early today. The hour is given as 3:30 a. m.

The airmen attempted to destroy the wireless station. In this they were not successful. Nothing is known as yet regarding the exact direction whence the airship came, nor is it known just how many bombs were dropped.

In addition to Antwerp, bombs were also dropped on the suburbs. The airmen flew at a height of nearly 6,000 feet, but despite this altitude they were given a warm reception, many bullets being sent skyward in vain attempts to riddle the machine.

New York, Sept. 2—J. P. Morgan and Company have given out a list of subscribers to the American Hospital (in Paris) Ambulance Fund, which was organized recently for the purpose of providing at least 1,000 beds to care for wounded soldiers. The amount previously acknowledged by the committee having the matter in charge was $6,000 and the total asked for to meet the immediate requirements is placed at $250,000. All contributions are being sent to J. P. Morgan & Company, 23 Wall street, which firm to date received $11,568.

Paris, Sept. 2—The Germans were badly beaten near Crepy-et-Valois, in the department of Oise, twenty-three miles southeast of Compeigne, according to refugees arriving in Paris. (A distance of less then fifty miles separates Paris from Compeigne, indicating that the Germans have pushed steadily ahead toward the French capital.)

The German dead are reported to be lying many feet high, while a sergeant wounded near Compeigne asserts that he saw a whole German division wiped out by the French artillery.

Paris, Sept. 2.—This official statement was made public today: "A German cavalry corps marching toward the forest Compeigne on the left wing of the allies' forces engaged the English yesterday. The English captured ten guns."

Paris, Sept. 2—A great many of the inhabitants of Paris continue to leave for safer regions, but their loss to the population from a numerical standpoint is made up by the persons coming in from Belgium and Northern France and also the wounded. The frightened ones go away from the d'Orsay and des Invalides stations, while those arriving come through the north stations. At one time the crowds about the stations became so dense that the police were compelled o clear the streets.

Reports received early today show that practically the whole population of the Departments of North Olee and Seine-at-Oise have taken to their heels, terrified by the noise of artillery fire.

Washington, Sept. 2—German troops are not be withdrawn from Belgium because of the Russian advance in East Prussia, according to advices received at the German embassy here, today, from Berlin. The Berlin foreign office announced that the German Government in Brussels was exceptionally active and that military control was being maintained in all the territory acquired by the German army.

New York, Sept. 2—With every surgeon, sailor and nurse on board American born, the Red Cross relief ship Hamburg will sail from this port Monday. The postponement of the date of sailing from Saturday was announced today by Miss Mable Boardman, who ascribes a rush of detail and the necessity of giving the ship four coats of white paint at the reason for the delay.

Around the vessel's snow hull is to be a bright red band which will be a sign to all nations that she is a neutral craft bound on an errand of mercy. While the ship is German, turned over to the Red Cross by the Hamburg-American Company, Miss Boardman has assurances from all the warring countries, through their ambassadors, that the ship will be welcome in their parts.

In the expedition will be 120 nurses and thirty surgeons. The nurses will be in charge of Miss Helen Scott Hay, who supervised the erection of a hospital in Bulgaria at the request of Queen Elinora. The whole party will be in the charge of Major Robert Hugh Patterson, U. S. A. Twenty-four nurses and six surgeons will be landed at Falmouth for work in England. At Rotterdam will be landed seventy-two nurses and eighteen surgeons, to be assigned in equal units to Austria, Russia and Germany. The rest will work in France.

Among the supplies the ship will carry are 2,000 tins of chloroform, 2,000 tins of ether, 300,000 pounds of absorbent cotton, 30 gallons of iodine and 1,000 stretchers.

Honolulu, Sept. 2—With two Australian war vessels waiting outside port the German cruiser Nurnberg, which put in yesterday for coal and provisions, is expected to leave today and a furious battle is anticipated not far outside the three-mile limit.

That the Nurnberg will not surrender but will sink fighting is declared by Captain Schoenburg. The two hostile men-of-war lying in wait for the German ship and the Australasia, a battle cruiser, and the Warrego. They are accompanied by a collier, the Strathadic.

The wherabouts of the Nurnberg, which left this port thirty-five days ago, was a mystery until she put in again. Her captain says she did not touch land in that time. Request was made of the commandant of the Naval Station for 1,200 tons of coal. Rear Admiral Charles B. T. Moore refuses to say how much he has allowed to be taken aboard. The stevedores who coaled the cruiser say they put about 750 tons on her.

The only other German warship on the Pacific not bottled up in Kiao-Chau harbor is the cruiser Leipzig, which sailed from San Francisco, Aug. 15. Her whereabouts are not known.

London, Sept. 1.—Gen. Sasenoff, the Russian commander, is believed to have been killed at the front. A despatch from Petrograd, the new name of St. Petersburg, says he is "much mourned there." It is added that he commanded an army corps in the Russo-Japanese war and exerted throughout that conflict an inspiring influence similar to that of Lord Kitchener in Great Britain.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB MET.

The Plainfield Democratic Club met last night and transacted considerable routine, as well as business in connection with the primary campaign. When approached by a representative of the Daily Press this morning, several members of the club refused to divulge who were considered by the organization for the various local offices. Considering that today is the last chance to file petitions endorsing local candidates, it is probable that a number of spaces on the Democratic primary ballot will be left vacant. Should any candidates appear on the field at a latter date, their names may be written in the ballots.

OBJECTS TO BASEBALL TAX.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Charles H. Taylor, of Boston, one of the owners of the Boston National baseball team, has written a letter to the Ways and Means Committee of the House, protesting against the proposed International Revenue Tax on baseball tickets. Treasury department officials have figured that a great war income could be raised by a one cent tax on baseball tickets.

REV. MR. MAGUIRE HOME.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who has been touring the country delivering Chautauqua addresses for the past six weeks, has returned home, and will occupy his pulpit at both services on Sunday. He will also have charge of the prayer meeting tonight.

BAD STORM AT NOME.

New York, Sept. 2—A despatch from Nome reports a severe storm there. Several steamers have put to sea.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

If John McGraw isn't careful he'll wake up some morning to find that "Big Jeff" Tesreau has jumped the Giants and taken a job in the "White Hope" League. For Tesreau secretly nurses the ambition of some day wearing the crown that once decorated the dome of Jim Jeffries, the man whom it is said Tesreau resembles greatly in both physical and facial appearance and which likeness won for Tesreau the nickname "Jeff."

But fate so far has ruled against Tesreau becoming a pugilist, and it seems that fate will continue so to rule, assisted by Mrs. Tesreau, who is very much opposed to "Jeff's" pugilistic ideas.

"Jeff" yearns to bring back to the white race the crown that Jack Johnson snatched from Jeffries. And those who known of Tesreau's skill as a boxer and who knows of his terrible strength and the terrific punch that he carries in either hand, feel that if properly trained, Tesreau soon would rank as the greatest heavyweight fighter in the world.

Tesreau first connected with the pugilistic ambition when he emerged from his teens. He was as hugh and as powerful then as he is now. It is quite likely that he would have then taken a whirl at the professional fighting game if his parents hadn't dissuaded him.

There was another reason, too. Just about that time Tesreau was startling various communities by his pitching feats. It seemed certain then that a brilliant future was in store for him in baseball, whereas in pugilism his future was a question.

NEW JERSEY TENNIS ASS'N INTER-CLUB TOURNAMENT

Plans for the inter-club tournament of the North New Jersey Tennis Association, which is to start Labor Day and conclude October 12, were made last night at a meeting at Newark. While it was decided that play may be started next Monday, the exact dates for the various preliminary matches are to be left to the paired clubs, who can arrange to have them decided so as not to interfere with previously scheduled events.

One week's time has been allowed for the first set of matches, it being stipulated that the initial round must be finished by September 14. The second round must be completed by September 28 and the third round by October 5. The executive committee will decide where the final matches will be played October 11 and 12.

The trial matches will consist of two singles and a double match. Honors in the final engagement will be decided by four singles and a double. The preliminary and decisive rounds are limited to four players from each club. Notification of any substitutions must be in the hands of the executive committee the day before the date set for play.

BASEBALL NOTES

A Rankin Johnson, the former Red Sox twirler, got a fine start in his new job with the Chicago Federal League team.

Harold Janvrin has been playing great ball since he became the regular second baseman of the Boston Red Sox.

Tri-State League officials are considering a proposition to transfer the Reading franchise to Atlantic City next season.

According to averages recently compiled, the Indianapolis Hoosiers are first in batting and last in fielding in the Federal League.

Chicago gossip has it that Jimmy Callahan is to become vice-president of the White Sox, and that coach Kid Gleason will succeed Callahan as manager.

It is said that coach Manager Joe Birmingham, of the Cleveland Naps, intends to drop a number of veterans and start next season with a team of youngsters.

As the Mackmen look like sure winners there is little left in the American League race other than the battle of the Red Sox, Tigers and Senators for second place.

Catcher Wally Schang, of the Athletics, is doing double duty owing to the absense of Jack Lapp from the game. Lapp is nursing a broken finger and probably will be laid up for a month.

Evidently John McGraw still believes that Jim Thorpe will in time become a big league star. The boss of the Giants has signed the Indian to continue with the team in 1915 and 1916.

Pitcher Harty McHale, the sweet singer of the New York Yankees, and Charley Barrett, the Yanks' trainer, have made plans to appear together in a vaudeville sketch the coming winter.

In the way of a bonus the St. Louis Cardinals will get 20 percent of their salary if they finish first or second, 15 percent if they finish third or fourth, and 10 per cent. if they land fifth or sixth.

The Lowell club of the New England League has sold Pitcher James Ring to the New York Americans for $2,500. Ring signed a six months' contract for 1915 with the ten-day clause eliminated.

Seventeen players in the National League and twelve in the American League are hitting for .000 or better. Last year there were seventeen .300 hitters in the American League and twenty-six in the National.

WITH THE BOXERS

The Cincinnati Boxing Commission will not permit women to attend fights in that city

Dan McKettrick, manager of Frank Moran, is marooned in London. He writes friends on this side that he has not yet been able to get Moran's end of the purse for the Moran-Johnson battle.

ROD AND REEL

The Jamaica Bay fishermen are not doing so well now as early in the summer, although there are quite a few weakfish caught every day at the Raunt. The crabbing parties are thicker than flies, however, and they keep the boathouse keepers busy. Porgies are feeding along the piers of the Rockaway trestle and small sea bass are to be found on the cinder beds.

The State Bureau of Shell Fisheries has decided to seek legislation for the protection of crabs. This is a good decision to arrive at, as they need protection. There is a law on the statute books prohibiting the taking of crabs from the North and South Shrewsbury Rivers or tributaries between the first day of November and the first day of May that if made to apply to all waters of the State, would meet the conservation sought by the State Bureau of Shell Fisheries. Protect the crabs by all means, as thousands of people enjoy catching them, and the money spent for boat hire is a valuable asset to many localities. It has been impossible to find a member of the Legislature with nerve enough to father such a bill into becoming a law, as few of the mighty ever crab and don't think much of those who do.

The frequent showers which have fallen recently have caused the temperature of the waters in the lakes and streams to be much lower than is usual at this time of the year, and as a result black bass have been biting very lively, many fine strings of these fish being taken by fly-casters from the lakes and ponds.

The Long Branch pier is a favorite spot with the anglers these days. More than a score were out on the end of the pier yesterday, and some good catches of weakfish and croakers were made. One man got several of each variety. He says the weaks that were caught on the low water slack in the morning were exceptionally large, some of them going to five and six pounds apiece.

Weakfishing keeps up well in Raritan Bay. While there were not so many boats out Sunday as the week previous, due to the threatening weather conditions, those that did venture out all got fish.

They are fairly slaughtering the kingfish at Corson's Inlet. The channel bass are not biting very well, but those who try for small fish in the inlet are kept busy. Whole schools of the rare sheepshead have been playing around the trestle all summer, while striped bass have been feeding in the smal waterways running into the inlet.

Those who go out for weakfish in Raritan Bay are picking up some nice croakers. These fish generally average around the two-pound mark, but larger fish are caught occasionally.

One of the best individual weakfish catches of the season was made in Raritan Bay, Friday, when one man boated forty-five weaks and croakers. The angler used shedder crabs, and fished off the mouth of Keyport Cove.

TOWNLEY AND STINE WILL LEAVE SOON FOR SCHOOL

George Townley, of Grandview avenue, and Herbert Stine, of Mountain avenue, the borough, will leave soon for the Springfield Training School where they will enter as second year men this fall. Both attended this institution last year and are taking the physical course. This time next month both of the local athletes will be tumbling around on the gridiron trying for the team. There is no choice in regards to football at that place as everyone is compelled to go out and play in the preliminary practice.

Neither Townley or Stine tried for the varsity last year, being freshmen, but they both stand a good chance of making some place on the eleven this fall. Stine has the weight for a back position and George has had plenty of experience as an end. The football team of that school always has a hard schedule and plays some of the largest college teams. This year the schedule calls for a game with Harvard at Cambridge which has been off the books for a number of years. What the local boys will do on the basketball court remains to be seen, but they will surely make their regular places on the baseball team next spring. Last year they formed the main battery for the nine and played the majority of the games.

RECONSTRUCTION IN ATLANTIC LEAGUE CIRCUIT NEXT YEAR

Danbury, Conn., Sept. 2—There appears to be a general disposition toward a breakup of the Atlantic League next season. Newburg and Poughkeepsie are seeking to get into the New York State League, and Perth Amboy and Paterson want to join leagues nearer home. Asbury Park has been proved to be a dead ball town and will be out of it next season.

If the Danburys cannot get into the Eastern Association they may get into a league with Stamford and South Norwalk and three New York cities. This would make matters more interesting and help to cut down the transportation expenses. It is a safe bet that the composition of the league will be considerably changed next season.

BRUGGY HAS PASSED "FLICK" IN BATTING

He Had to Hit Some to Do It, But Is Now In Full Possession of High Honors.

After hitting the ball extra hard for the last three weeks in an attempt to land at the head of the batting list, Frank Bruggy, formerly a member of the Plainfield team, has succeeded in displacing William "Flick" Luyster, another former Pet, from first place in the swatting department of the Lawrence team, of the New England League. These two men, who were stars at Parker Field several years ago when the Central New Jersey League was alive, have been fighting for the biggest average all season and Luyster has had the best mark most of the time.

Bruggy's present average is .311 which is five points better than Luyster's. The former had been hitting the ball extra hard in the last month and two weeks ago batted over the .400 mark. Last week he went at a .348 rate which was enough for him to pass Luyster. Both men are considered wonders in the New England League and rank high among the hitters of that circuit.

Luyster still holds the team record for runs scored with a total of eighty-six while Bruggy falls three short of that number. "Flick" has recorded the most safties and two-base hits on the team. He is not a flashy batter but always hits hard and can be depended upon in the pinches. Bruggy also hits the bal hard and generally gets at least a brace of safeties in every game. Both players hail from Elizabeth.

EAGLES TO HAVE BOWLING LEAGUE

A Meeting Was Held Last Night, But Postponed Until Tomorrow Evening.

The first meeting of representatives for the proposed State Eagles' Bowling League was held last night in the local Eagles' Hall, but nothing definite could be decided as there were three representatives absent. Another meeting has been called for tomorrow night at the same place when all delegates are requested to be present so that the business can be settled. The league will consist of eight teams and will run throughout the winter months.

A city bowling tourney between the different lodges of this city, is also being advocated and a meeting for the purpose of discussing that matter will be held some time this week. There are at least six and probably eight lodges that will enter this tournament including the Eagles, Elks, Foresters and the Knights of Columbus. Several of these lodges have teams in other pinning leagues, but it is likely that they will also enter the local organization. It will be arranged so that prizes can be offered which will aid to keep up the interest in this city. Such a function should prove popular as well as interesting this winter.

The Eagles lodge boasts of some extra fine pinners and last night there were some good scores above the two hundred mark turned in. The Eagles wish to challenge any team in this city to a match on any night that can be decided upon. Manager Miller expects to have attractions here every week as soon as the season is in full swing. The Olympia alleys, on East Second street, are open to the public and anyone can have a good match on fine alleys for a nominal price.

LOCAL BALLISTS WILL SWIM.

The Plainfield A. A. baseball team will get a chance to bathe in the briny deep on Labor Day, when they play a team in Long Branch. The local nine will go to the seashore in the morrning by automobile and will play an exhibition game in the afternoon. There will be plenty of time for a swim and the locals have also been invited to attend a dance at night. A large delegation will accompany the local aggregation.

WHO WILL PLAY SAURERS?

Manager Brit Martin, of the Saurer baseball club, has next Saturday open and would like to hear from some fast team in this vicinity. This is the first week-end of the season that the Saurer team was not scheduled to play, and the manager would like to have a game before tackling the Pets in the last game on Monday. He has tried several aggregations, but entertains little hope of their accepting.

SUNDAY GAME.

The Plainfield A. A. team and the Highlanders will play a game next Sunday on the Netherwood field.

"NIBS" HAND BACK IN GAME AND MADE THREE SAFETIES

"Nibs" Hand, of Scotch Plains, who is a member of the Perth Amboy team of the Atlantic League, took part in the first game of the "Booster Day" program Monday, at Perth Amboy after a layoff of several days owing to a slight sprained ankle which he suffered in the game last Thursday. Hand caught the first game of a double header and contributed three hits out of four times at the bat as his share of the celebration.

One of the clouts landed him on second base and he also crossed the plate with two tallies. Three putouts and one assist were also recorded in his day's contribution. For some reason he did not take part in the second argument and Bein did the backstop work. "Cliff" Randolph, who was expected to pitch one of the games, was not sent in to the fray as he has a sore arm which is not ready for action.

FOUR PLAINFIELDERS HAD SUCCESSFUL FISHING TRIP

On Tuesday of last week Marcus Hoyt, Charles Woolston, Fred VanEpps and W. VanEpps, of Plainfield, motored down to Forked River, where they spent the night at Eno's Hotel, and early Wednesday morning cruised out of Barnegat Inlet to the open sea, where they trolled for bluefish and bonitos. Every man in the party hooked into the fish, and when they had enough of that kind of sport they headed for the bass grounds, where they caught a great many large fish. Their total catch numbered ninety-four bonito, bluefish and humpback sea bass. Every time Marc Hoyt hooked into a bonito Charlie Woolston had to grab him by the belt to keep him from falling overboard. The two VanEpps boys are noted mandolin and guitar players, but it will be a long time before they can pick the strings, as the big fish pulled so hard the lines cut into their fingers. Thursday morning the same crowd spent the day sailing along the picturesque Barnegat Bay, and returned home to Plainfield in the evening, where they disposed of the fish among their friends.

ALL-STARS WIN FROM THE HIGHLANDER CREW

The All-Stars, a combination composed of players of the Parker Field Middle League, defeated the Highlanders, leaders of the Senior League, in an interesting eleven-inning contest on Parker Field, yesterday. The final score was 2 to 0 and it was only after Stahl had eased up a bit in the second extra round that the Stars came out ahead. Butler, who pitched for the winners, was invincible throughout and well deserved the shutout.

The Hope Chapel baseball team will play the Monroe nine next Saturday afternoon on the Clinton avenue field. Labor Day morning the former will go to Westfield and try conclusions with the team of that place. This game will be played on the Recreation Park field. The Mt. Arrarat bunch can toss the ball around some and will give the local players a good fight for the game.

PROSPECTIVE OFFICE-SEEKERS QUESTIONED

Patriotic Societies Want to Know Their Views On Certain Matters.

Walter H. I. Cubberley, of this city, who is secretary of the Union County Federation of Patriotic Societies, on behalf of the federation, has sent a copy of the following to every prospective candidate for office in Union county:

"Dear Sir—As you are a candidate for an important elective office in this State we believe that the electors should be apprised of your views on certain questions which we feel to be of paramount importance at this time. We claim that certain sectarian organizations are attempting to obtain political control of this State and our Nation for the ultimate purpose of destroying the fundamental principles on which the republic was founded, in so far as such principles conflict with the assumptions and instructions of the heads of a certain creed or sect. We, as an absolutely non-partisan body of American citizens, viewing with increasing alarm the danger to our great institutions, the free public school, liberty of press and freedom of speech and the complete separation of State and church, call upon all candidates for public office, of which number, you sir, are one, to favor us with an answer to the questions enumerated below, so that your position relative to the real and basic principles of true Americanism shall be known to all.

"1. Do you believe in the absolute separation of church and State?

"2. Do you believe that no public funds should be used for any sectarian purpose whatever?

"3. Do you believe that the free public school is the best medium for instructing our children and assimilating the different nationalities and making intelligent and useful citizens of them?

"4. Are you in favor of allowing any organization, sectarian or otherwise, to maintain so-called reformatories or institutions where people are held in restraint, without due process of law and against their will and without inspection by public officials?

"5. Do you believe in absolute freedom of speech upon all subjects not in defiance of law and constituted authority?

CAMP ENDEAVOR CLOSES MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

After affording close to one hundred women and children from this city and Elizabeth vacations during the months of July and August, Camp Endeavor, located on the mountain in back of Scotch Plains, has closed for the summer. A new plan was tried this year of having only people from Union county received at the camp and it succeeded so well that the same plan will be tried next year. Before camp opens next summer it will be enlarged. The dormitory that was built this spring and the playground will also be made larger in order that more people can be accommodated.

France Calls Out Reservists Who Have Not Already Joined In Defense of the Colors.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

Russia.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that the German defenses in East Prussia have been strengthened. It also reports that the Russian advance has met with reverses. Reports from Berlin say that the engagement at Allenstein was one of the greatest battles of the war and that 120,000 Russians were killed and 70,000 taken prisoners. The Russians claim that their advance has not been checked and that they are occupying defenses around Koenigsberg. St. Petersburg, by an imperial edict issued by the czar, according to a correspondence, has been renamed Petrograd. The termination "burg" has been dropped off, it is assumed, because of its German origin.

Austria.

Reports from Vienna say that along the Russian, Prussian and Austrian border 3,000,000 men are engaged and that the battle line extends for 400 miles. The Austrian flanking movement toward Lublin is reported to have been a failure, entailing considerable loss and a withdrawal from Russian Poland. Lemberg is invested by the Russians, their lines half encircling the city. Austria is recalling troops from France and is also bringing back more of the soldiers who were sent to the Drina and Danube against the Servians.

France.

The left wing of the French army has again fallen back. According to the war office report, this withdrawal from position was made to avoid an unfavorable engagement which might have been decisive. The center and right, according to official reports, are holding out firmly. There is severe fighting along the line from Rheims to La Fere, and there have been a number of engagements along the Lorraine border and in the Vosges. The American committee called on the minister of war and asked for proofs that the Germans were dropping bombs on Paris. The minister exhibited the documents in the case to two members of the committee, and the American ambassador and the latter upon examining them said that he would ask his government to make a protest. The minister of war issued a call for the reservists of the French territorial army living in north and northeastern France. The step is said to be preliminary to calling out all reservists in the country who have not previously been summoned. This brings to French ranks all males between the age of twenty and forty-eight.

Turkey.

Washington was advised through London that a declaration of war by Turkey was expected and that German officers had gone to Constantinople to take charge of the sultan's forts. The Turkish ambassador in London, however, emphatically reiterates Turkey's determination not to interfere in the present European war. The Turkish government, according to a Rome dispatch, is mobilizing an army of 200,000 and that seventy-two high German officers have been incorporated in the army.

Japan.

A Japanese expeditionary force has occupied the island of Tsichien in Kiauchau bay, facing the German forts of Tsingtau, according to a Shanghai dispatch. A Japanese destroyer, which had gone aground on the Lientau island, was destroyed by the German gunboat Jaguar.

London, Sept. 2.—The allies' left has again retreated to avoid the continued German attempt to envelop the Anglo-French line from that quarter, according to advices received here from Paris. The French embassy gave out this statement:

"The Anglo-French army corps have had to give ground, but nowhere have they been broken through."

The Paris correspondent of the Evening News quotes the driver of one of the automobiles of the British general staff, who has returned to Paris from the front, as saying that the German advance has been well checked to the north of Compiegne and the Germans have asked for an armstice to bury their dead.

Compiegne is at the junction of the Oise and the Aisne rivers, twenty-eight miles southwest of La Fere, where the British were reported last week, and is only forty-five miles northwest of Paris.

In the northeast of France the French have checked the Germans in the district of Rethel, twenty miles southwest of Sedan.

Dispatches from Paris announce that the war office has issued a communique announcing that the minister of war has decided to call out reservists in France who have not already joined the colors.

French military experts, according to Paris dispatches, express the opinion that the allies are now in a better position than they have yet occupied, while the Germans, should they fail in the present battles on the northern line, would be left in a dangerous position with exhausted troops. The British force is believed to be about to engage the German extreme right and may have already done so. The British troops are rested after the severe fighting of last week and their losses have been made good with fresh troops.

Holding the line from near Rheims to La Fere, which guards the valleys of the Oise and the Aisne rivers, the combined French and British armies felt the whole weight of the German assault.

Four German armies, those of Grand Duke Albrecht and Generals von Klug, von Buelow and von Hausen, are pounding at the French left flank, which has continued to crumple ever since the frontier was crossed by the Germans.

Allies' Columns Intact.

These are the armies that have been assigned to besiege Paris, but so far they have been unable to inflict a decisive defeat on the allied columns. The latter, intact, are following out the defensive plan, and as they slowly retire from position to position carefully selected in advance are inflicting enormous damage on the enemy.

In the center the army of the German crown prince has penetrated France through Luxemburg and the "gap of Treves," and the "general battle" admitted in the official reports is taking place in the Mezieres-Recroi region and along the Meuse to Verdun.

Up to the present, it is insisted here, all attempts of the Germans to rebridge the Meuse have failed. They have now brought up heavy artillery and are shelling the entire line of French intrenchments that cover the Meuse from Sedan to the south.

French on the Offensive In Lorraine.

The French army in Lorraine continued to act on the offensive. They have shoved the Germans back from their immediate front and the war office says that the "successes here are material and important."

General Joffre has told Minister of War Millerand that he does not believe the Germans will get within fifty miles of Paris.

The general in chief believes that the force of the German assault is already beginning to show indications of being spent. The best of the German troops were concentrated on the French left flank in a desperate effort to crush completely the combined British-French armies.

This they have failed to do. While the allies have given way under the force of overwhelming numbers they have retreated very slowly and their defense has been extremely stubborn, with the result that the German losses have far outnumbered those of the allies.

The war minister told his colleagues in the cabinet that both General Joffre and Sir John French, the British commander in chief, agreed that the German assaults were neither so desperate or long continued as in other battles.

TURKEY MOBILIZING HER GREAT ARMY

Says, However, She Will Not Enter War.

London, Sept. 2.—Emphatic reiteration of Turkey's determination not to interfere in the present European war was made in a statement issued by the Turkish embassy here. It was said that the Ottoman empire's position has been made known to Great Britain.

Rome, Sept. 2.—The Turkish government is mobilizing an army of 200,000 men, according to a dispatch from Berlin. It is declared that seventy-two high German officers have been incorporated in the army.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Cables from London advised the British embassy here that a declaration of war by Turkey was expected and that German officers had gone to Constantinople to take charge of the sultan's forces.

The Turkish ambassador here issued the following statement:

"Regarding the rumor of the reformation of the Balkan alliance against Turkey it is absolutely false. As proving this, I have information that a Turko-Bulgarian committee had been formed just before the war broke out to consider means of furthering the interests which the two countries hold so largely in common. Since then several meetings have been held, in which both the Turkish and the Bulgarian members delivered earnest addresses commenting upon the community of interest between the two countries and the necessity for following a common policy.

"What is more significant is that the semiofficial Bulgarian newspaper Politica states that the object of the committee enjoys the sympathy of all official circles in Bulgaria and speaks of the common origin of the two peoples as a further bond between them."

ALLIES USE DUMDUMS?

German Sanitary Chief Complains of Their Cartridges.

"The London Times correspondent at Amiens, writing of the German onrush, says:

"'The chief of the German sanitary department has officially declared that many of the British and French troops are using cartridges which fire dumdum bullets.

"'The state of health of the German army is good. Hygienists of note and great repute accompany all the army corps.'"

DROP MORE BOMBS INTO PARIS STREETS

Americans Aroused Over Attack---Herrick Reports.

Paris, Sept. 2.—A German monoplane dropped a bomb at the Rue de Mechodiere and the Rue de Quatre Septembre, near the Credit Lyounais. A gun mounted on the bank fired four shells at the aeroplane and two English infantrymen fired their rifles repeatedly. Another bomb was dropped near the St. Lazare station. Neither bomb did any damage.

"An American committee, organized by the American ambassador and including the most conspicuous members of the American colony, asked the minister of war for proofs that bombs were dropped on Paris from a German machine. The minister of war presented proof which decided the ambassador to cable his government a report on the war methods, which are not only contrary to humanity, but in violation of the convention of The Hague signed by Germany itself.

"The committee has decided to ask the United States government, while remaining neutral, to protest energetically to the German government.

"A squadron of armored aeroplanes has been organized to give chase to the German aeroplanes which have been flying over Paris."

GERMANS MOVE EASTWARD.

Report That They Are Entraining In Northern Belgium Confirmed.

Antwerp, Sept. 2.—The news that many trains filled with German troops were going eastward last Friday, coming from the direction of Coutrai, is confirmed. The movement of German troops from northern Belgium has become strongly accentuated.

It is reported that the enemy has abandoned the district north of the line from Merchlin to Vilvorde and is evacuating many places.

DEFEAT OF RUSSIANS IS CLAIMED BY GERMANS

Czar's Troops Beaten at Allenstein.

THINK DECISIVE BATTLE ON

Washington, Sept. 2.—German victories in what was termed "the greatest battle so far" in the European war were reported to the German embassy by wireless from Berlin. In one fight three Russian army corps were completely annihilated and 70,000 Russian soldiers were taken prisoners, it was stated.

"Official reports of victory at Allenstein even greater than those before Three Russian army corps annihilated; 70,000 prisoners, including two commanding generals, 300 officers and complete artillery of Russian army.

"In the west General von Klug repulsed French flanking attempt. General von Buelow completely defeated superior French force near St. Quentin after having captured English infantry battalion. General von Hausen forced back French upon river at Rethel.

Montmedy Fortress Taken.

"The Duke of Wuertemberg has crossed the Meuse and is advancing upon Aisinie. The crown prince is advancing beyond the Meuse after capturing the entire garrison at Montmedy, which tried a sortie. The fortress was also captured.

"The crown prince of Bavaria and General von Heeringen are engaged in a continuous battle in French Lorraine.

"Sedan day was celebrated with jubilation in Berlin because of the victorious news from the east and west, which arrived last night. The Russian defeat at Ortelsburg reminds the people of Sedan because of the huge numbers of prisoners."

The Brazilian military attache in Berlin writes that the German victories are no surprise to those who have witness the maneuvers in time of peace. He declared that the effect of the Krupp heavy artillery was astonishing.

The dispatch continues:

"The chief of the German sanitary department declares he has many proofs that the English and French are using dumdum bullets. The state of health of the German army is good. Noted hygienists accompany the army."

Russians Admit Loss.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—The official account of the situation at the front as made public by the war office, says:

"The German defense has stiffened and we are sustaining severe losses, but the Germans are losing far more than are we and despite the arrival of fresh troops who have strengthened the German lines the enemy will be unable to withstand our assault.

"In Galicia our army continues victorious and the Austrians who managed to invade Russian Poland in an attempted flanking operation have been repulsed with enormous losses and have fallen back. The Russian cavalry is covering itself with glory. In the Austrian retreat it surrounded an entire Austrian regiment and forced its surrender.

"As a result of the general engagements which lasted from Aug. 26 to Aug. 30 we took 17,000 prisoners and captured 120 Austrian and German guns.

Austria Has 1,000,000 Men In Field.

"Austria now has in the field opposing the second and third Russian armies (the first is in East Prussia) not less than 1,000,000 men. The Austrian troops, however, are far from being the effective weapon that they had been expected to be. They have been unable to withstand either the charges of the Cossacks or the infantry bayonet charges of the Russian field forces.

"Lemberg is now invested and its capture is believed certain. The Russian armies now operating in Austria are numerically the superior of the Austrians and are expected completely to overwhelm them."

It is stated at the war office that the Russian cavalry is covering itself with glory, having on several occasions isolated enormous bodies of Austrians.

MAJOR ALFRED DREYFUS.

Has Been Granted a Commission to Fight For France.

Major Alfred Dreyfus, the French officer convicted in 1894 of divulging state secrets to the German war office, has been granted a commission in the French army. He probably will be made a general. At the same time his eldest son, who is serving as a surgeon in the French army and who distinguished himself before Charleroi, was promoted on the battlefield.

In addition, by the flanking raids it has threatened the Austrian lines of communication and forced the Austrians to abandon important movements almost before they have been well started.

Proof of the Russian success is seen in the continuation of the operations against Lemberg, in Galicia. The position of the Russian forces in the main battle is so favorable that the advance into Galicia is being pushed.

Dispatches from the front said that the residents of Lemberg had fled from the city at the appearance of the Russian troops. The Russians are now reported to be half encircling the city.

Austrians Resist Bravely.

The Russian staff expects that the battle at Lublin will end in a complete victory for the Russians. The czar's forces have been gaining ground steadily despite the brave resistance of the Austrians. The position of the Russian troops has been made more favorable by the defeat of the Austrian wing based on Zamose, fifty miles southeast of Lublin.

The Russians estimate that the Austrians lost fully 20,000 men in this fight alone. Austrian reenforcements are reported to have crossed the Vistula to aid their forces at Lublin.

The Russian staff asserts that by this move the Austrians have put the river between themselves and their base at Cracow in such a way that the entire Austrian army is in danger of being cut off. The desperate effort of the Austrians to reenforce the troops at Lublin is taken as another indication of the Russian gains in the fighting there.

There is no confirmation of the fall of Koenigsberg, in East Prussia. It is believed, however, that the Russians occupy some of the outer defenses of the fortress. The Russian advance in East Prussia still continued unchecked. There has been fierce fighting around Koenigsberg for some days. Detachments of Cossacks are reported to have penetrated as far as the outskirts of Danzig.

HOT FIGHTING IN VOSGES.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The allies are making another desperate effort to hold back the German forces in Lorraine and the Vosges mountains, the French embassy was advised by a cable dispatch from the Paris foreign office.

The dispatch said:

"Fighting began again yesterday in Lorraine and the Vosges mountains. At Sassey and the River Meuse a regiment of German infantry has been nearly destroyed.

250 ON BURNING SHIP SAVED

Chicago, Sept. 2.—With flames shooting high above her decks the excursion steamer City of Chicago loomed up through an early morning fog outside the harbor. Tugs and fireboats that had started out to meet her when wireless messages of the fire were received took off 194 passengers and a crew of fifty-six.

By the time she got to the lighthouse off the mouth of the Chicago river most of the passengers, badly frightened but uninjured, had been removed, and fireboats turned their powerful streams into the blazing and sinking ship. Several members of the crew were reported missing, but the Graham-Morton company, which operates the ship, denied this.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

MARCHING ON.

(By Mrs. E. F. Feickert.)

June, July and August have been months of wonderful encouragement to the suffragists of this country. Since the first of June the following organizations have endorsed suffrage for women: The International Council of Women, representing twenty-seven countries, by a unanimous vote; The General Federation of Women's Clubs at its biennial in Chicago, where nearly 2,000 delegates representing a million and a half women voted for suffrage with only about a dozen dissenting voices; The American Federation of Labor; The National Grange; the New York State Grange; the New Jersey State Grange; the New Jersey Building Trades Union; the National Women's Trade Union League; the National Educational Association and the New Jersey Federation of Labor. At a convention of New York State editors in Syracuse recently fifty-two out of sixty editors gave written guarantees that their papers would support woman suffrage, and the mayors of New York State, in their convention at Auburn a few weeks ago, unanimously passed a resolution favoring the submission of the suffrage amendment in 1915.

Before the Presidential election in 1916 New Jersey will in all probability have declared for votes for women, and it is quite likely that before that time President Wilson will have followed the example of his distinguished fellow-Democrats, Messrs. Bryan and Clark, and declared himself a suffragist. His hearty approval of the Peace Parade held by the New York suffragists last week shows that he is in accord with the suffragists to a very considerable extent. In Missouri, Speaker Clark's State, and in Nebraska, the home of Secretary of State Bryan, the question is to be decided by the voters this fall. It is quite likely that the probability of the vote being in the affirmative had something to do with the strongly favorable attitude toward the question recently taken by these gentlemen.

The Jersey Journal said in a recent editorial, "Whether we like it or not, the equal suffrage cause is making sure headway in this country, and within the next five years woman will be able to determine the result in any national election. Men politicians of all parties recognize this fact, and that is why so few of them are now outspokenly in opposition to votes for women, and why so many of them are getting aboard the equal suffrage band wagon. President Wilson may be the next conspicuous recruit to the cause. It is difficult to see how he can remain non-committal much longer if he intends to seek a renomination in 1916."

The anti-suffragist who congratulates herself upon the growth of anti-suffrage sentiment is like the proverbial ostrich, burying its head in the sand, as the suffrage map effectively proves. Sixty years ago the whole United States was anti-suffrage. Now ten States have the suffrage and the question is to be voted upon in seven more this fall. Organized anti-suffrage sentiment began about five years ago, and during the past four years six States have enfranchised their women. Does this look as if anti-suffrage was gaining

Could there be a stronger argument for the enfranchisement of women than the terrible war which is now raging in Europe? A war fought not at all for liberty but solely for conquest. We have heard a great deal during the past year of the destruction of paintings and buildings (but not of life) by the English militants, who are fighting, no matter how mistaken we may think their methods, only for political liberty. If they are "furies" what shall we call men who drop bombs in the dead of the night on buildings filled with women and children, or who raze to the ground unfortified cities, filled with the world's choicest treasures of art and literature, whose residents are absolutely unarmed? Kaiser Wilhelm is very much opposed to votes for women, or anything else progressive for that matter. He says their place is in the church, the kitchen and the nursery; but when he goes to war he is quite ready to let women go to the fields to harvest the crops and to the battlefields to tend the wounded. Women are always the greatest sufferers from war, and it is time that they had the political power to make war impossible.

The latest census shows that there are in New Jersey 239,000 self-supporting women, or more than one-fourth as many women in gainful occupations as there are men. I may add for the benefit of my friends the antis that only 44,000 of these work in our kitchen. The other 195,000 work in stores and offices, in sweatshops and factories, as nurses and school-teachers. Wages in every occupation are lower than those of men doing the same work, and the hours of work are longer. The working man knows very well that he would not have his eight-hour day and his good wages if he did not have the ballot with which to back up his labor unions. Will any fair-minded man deny to the women workers of the State the same opportunity for self-protection? The willingness with which they enroll as suffrage sympathizers whenever they have an opportunity makes us believe that they believe in a square deal for women as well as for men, and that New Jersey to her everlasting glory will give a substantial majority for votes for women at the special election in 1915.

I wish to correct a statement recently made by a Plainfield anti, who wrote the papers that the next Legislature should decline to endorse last year's suffrage resolution, because during the present hard times it would be wasteful to spend money on a special election merely to oblige the suffragists. This anti, like most of her sisters, has not bothered to inform herself as to the details of next year's election or she would know that the suffrage resolution is only one of five to be voted upon, and that the other four are all considered very important by our legislators, so that there is sure to be a special election next year whether the suffrage resolution passes the Legislature again next winter or not.

MEANING OF TRIPLE ALLIANCE; FORMED FOR CO-OPERATION

What has been known as the "balance of power" in Europe up to the time of the many declarations of war was maintained by the Triple Alliance, which comprised Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy. This combination was formed at the close of the Franko-Prussian War. Then the Triple Entente, comprising Russia, France and Great Britain, was brought together during the early years of the twentieth century. About two years ago another political force appeared, known as the Balkan League, and was composed of Servia, Bulgaria, Montenegro and Greece, which carried on a determined war with the Ottoman empire, at the conclusion of which quarrels arose amongst themselves over the division of the spoils of the campaign.

Since the present great conflict is changing the map of Europe nobody will know who can claim the "balance of power" until the outcome. The Daily Press is distributing a war map by the use of which the daily story of the war printed in the newspapers can be easily followed. This map is printed in five colors and was originally prepared by the greatest European map makers. It is folded and encased in strong covers, being easy to carry in the pocket. For a short time this useful map will be presented to readers for one coupon and the bare expense of distribution. Get yours today.

VETERANS MARCH IN DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2—With flags flying, bands playing and crowds cheering, veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, marched through the streets of an encampment city today. The parade was the spectacular feature of the forty-eighth annual national encampment of the organization. The marchers were few in number and more burdened with the weight of years than at former encampments, but the same martial spirit was in evidence as the old campaigners of Grant and Sherman moved through the streets to the blare of bands and the pipe and the roll of fire and drum. The line of march led through a mile and a half of lavishly decorated streets. Sidewalks and windows all along the route were filled with cheering spectators. At the official reviewing stand, where stood Governor Ferris, Mayor Marx and many other notables, the colors were dipped and each department commander joined Commander-in-Chief Gardner in the stand. The departments of the various States marched in the order of seniority, the veterans of Illinois leading the column.

SHAFT TO WHITTIER'S HEROINE.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 2—The monument erected to the memory of Barbara Frietchie, Whittier's heroine, by the Barbara Frietchie Memorial Association, will be unveiled with interesting ceremonies one week from today. Alfred S. Roe, of Massachusetts, a member of the Sixth New York Regiment, and who fought at the battle of the Monocacy, will deliver the oration of the day. The monument is a plain but handsome shaft, with a bronze base, costing about $12,000. It will mark the last resting place of Barbara Frietchie and her husband, whose remains were recently moved from the old Reformed graveyard to Mount Olivet cemetery.

NEWFOUNDLAND LEGISLATURE.

St. John's, N. F., Sept. 2—The Newfoundland Legislature assembled in special session today to deal with matters relative to the war. Measures will be passed legalizing the expenditures in connection with the equipping and despatching of the naval reserves and 500 men for land defence. It is expected that only a few days will be required to dispose of the business at hand. The opposition party has formally agreed to support the Government's proposals for organizing the sea forces and other emergency measures occasioned by the crisis.

DELAWARE REPUBLICANS MEET.

Dover, Del., Sept. 2—The Republican State convention met here today to nominate a candidate for Congress and other officers. All indications point to the nomination of Thomas W. Miller, the present Secretary of State, for the Congressional seat now occupied by Franklin Brockson, Democrat. In addition to the Congressional nomination the convention will name candidates for State treasurer and State auditor.

GARWOOD COUNCIL TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Garwood Council No. 309, Jr. O. U. A. M., will celebrate the second anniversary of its institution on Monday evening, September 14th, at the lodge rooms in the Jefferson School. The uniformed rank has just received twenty-four new uniforms and will take part in the flag raising at Linden on September 7th (Labor Day) and at Cranford on September 12th.

State Vice Councilor Rene P. Von Minden, of New Market, will speak at the celebration on September 14th as will the Rev. Dr. Compton, of Cranford. There will be good music and singing and refreshments. The uniformed rank will conduct a picnic at Brits' Grove, on Saturday, September 26th, when Juniors from all parts of the country will be present.

Mme. Olga Petrova will engage in a road tour in "Panthea" during the early part of the season. About holiday time she will appear in New York in a new play.

The cast of "The Trap," a play by Richard Harding Davis and Jules Eckert Goodman, will include Janet Beecher, Tully Marshall, Charles Richman, Orrin Johnson, Harry Harwood and Elaine Hammerstein.

Eugene Walter has quarreled with Klaw & Erlanger because of their belief that Miss Charlotte Walker (Mrs. Walter) should not head the cast of his play, "A Plain Woman," and is assuming the managerial function with regard to that drama.

A new musical comedy entitled "Lady Luxury" is to be produced by F. C. Whitney for the first time in Toronto on September 14. The book was written by Mrs. Rida Johnson Young, and the music by William Schroeder. In November, Mr. Whitney plans to produce the new Straus opera, "Mein Jonger Herr."

The European war means that the American stage is not likely to be overburdened for some time to come with English, German or French plays and actors. This should afford an unprecedented opportunity for American dramatists who can produce fresh, inspired creations to the taste of American playgoers.

RECREATION NOTES

The Folk Dance Club will meet tonight at 8:15 in the Bryant School. This will be a good time for new members to join the class as the new social dances are to be taught. There will also be an important business meeting, so all members are urged to be present.

The Italian Social and Educational Club will meet tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Lincoln School. A sewing class has been started for the girls under the supervision of Miss Meyer. Dramatics and music are other features of the evening. Come and have a good time. Any new members will be heartily welcomed into the club.

A SIMPLE MEAL.

DINNER MENU.
Spinach Puree.
Cucumber Salad.
Scalloped Tomatoes.
Veal Goulash.
Apple Custard.
Coffee.

A Novel Soup.

Spinach Puree.—Wash and boil until tender one pound of fresh spinach. Drain, chop fine and simmer in a saucepan in which one tablespoonful of butter has been melted. Take from stove, add one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of nutmeg and one tablespoonful of grated cheese. Heat one cupful each of milk and water. When boiling add the spinach and two beaten eggs, simmer for four minutes, then place, uncovered, on the top shelf of a very hot oven for five minutes. Serve with croutons.

Scalloped Tomatoes.—Season about a pint of sliced tomatoes with a teaspoonful of salt, a scant teaspoonful of pepper and onion juice. Add a cupful of finely minced celery. Butter a baking dish. First put in half of the tomatoes, then a layer of crackers. Sprinkle with two heaping tablespoonfuls of grated cheese; then add the tomatoes, sprinkle the top with cracker crumbs and bits of butter and bake twenty minutes.

A French Method.

Veal Goulash.—Take about one and one-half pounds of lean fillet or leg of veal. Remove skin and sinews and cut into fairly thick slices or cubes of even size. Peel and slice thinly a fairly large onion and fry in a pan with an ounce of lard to a pale color. Now put in the meat, season with salt, pepper and paprika and allow to cook. Next dredge the meat with about a tablespoonful of flour, mix well and moisten with one-half a pint of good stock and a small glass of claret, cover the pan and allow to cook slowly for about an hour. Have ready two or three potatoes, washed, peeled and cut into cubes; add these when the meat is half done. About ten minutes before serving mix a little sour cream with the stew. Serve hot.

Apple Custard.—Take a half dozen apples, pare and grate these with the rind of one lemon. Add the yolks of three eggs, sweeten to taste and bake ten to fifteen minutes in a quick oven. When done spread over the top a meringue made by beating the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar and a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Put the custard in the oven to brown.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Fresh Air Children In Africa.

"I TOLD you about the little Eskimo children up in the frozen north the other night," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "and this evening I think I shall have to tell you about little Sambo and Phoebe Snow, who live in the jungles of Africa, that country where every day is hotter than the Fourth of July—oh, very much hotter—and that has lots of lions and tigers and rhinoceroses and hippopotamuses to be chased and shot.

"The jungles of Africa are full of all these animals and many others, including snakes of all lengths. Don't shiver, Evelyn. The snakes are a long way off. Also these jungles are full of natives, some as black as my Sunday hat and some just a sort of brownish black. But all of them, the papas and mammas, have plenty of fresh air children."

"What do you mean by fresh air children, daddy?" asked Jack.

"I mean that they don't wear any clothes," answered daddy, with a smile. "You see, the wearing of clothing or not wearing it is a habit that is influenced by the climate of a country. The white children of the temperate zones wear clothing because the climate requires it, and the fresh air children of Africa roll and tumble around in the sand and under the trees without much of anything on because the climate requires that too.

"Little Sambo and Phoebe Snow were twins. Their parents lived in a hut made of woven grasses under some big trees in a green jungle. Sambo and Phoebe were the only children, and this was a small family, for in most of the other families of that village there were many brothers and sisters. Their father was a great big black man about six feet and a half tall, and their mother was a wee little black woman with a ring in her nose. Little Sambo's father used to paint his face wonderful colors, and Sambo got the paints one day and tried to paint his face the same way and got a sound spanking for doing this without permission. And Phoebe used to cry because she hadn't a ring in her nose like her mamma had, but mamma said she might have one some day.

"The children passed their time pleasantly in play, and they ran and raced just like the children in this country. They had their little games, some of them very curious. And when they were hungry they could eat bananas and cocoanuts and other fruits right off the trees. And they were good children and played around home like their mothers told them to, so the bad lions and tigers wouldn't get them. And their papas hunted and fished, so there was always enough to eat, and Sambo and Phoebe were contented children.

"Some evening I will tell you about the brown children, and there are yellow and red children also to tell you about."

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The negligee is always a garment dear to the woman's heart. This one is quite new, giving the flared ripple effect in the peplum, and can be worn over any simple pretty skirt or made with skirt to match and from almost any simple material.

sort, the pretty oriental silks are much liked, and cotton voiles and cotton crepes make up most attractively in such ways, while among them are to be found the prettiest and most attractive possible color effects.

The sleeves are separate, but are joined to the garment at the long shoulder line, so giving the Japanese effect. In the illustration flowered challie is trimmed with valenciennes lace banding and ribbon frills.

For the medium size the negligee will require three and a half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with ten yards of banding and five and a half yards of ruffling.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8358, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

Will Be Known As Benedict XV, First of That Name Since 1758.

IS SIXTY YEARS OLD

New Pontiff Said to Be Diplomat of High Order With Wide Experience In Church Matters—Was Ordained a Priest in 1878.

Rome, Sept. 3. (Central News Cable.)—Cardinal Della Chiesa has been chosen Pope to succeed the late Pope Pius X. The new Pontiff was archbishop of Bologna, Italy.

The new Pope has taken the name of Benedict XV, after Pope Benedict XIV, who was born at Bologna on March 31 1675, and died on May 3, 1758.

New York, Sept. 3.—Giacoma Della Chiesa, the new Pope was born at Pegli, Italy on Nov. 21, 1854. He is a man of great learning and Holiness; has had wide experience in church matters and is a diplomat of high order. He was created a cardinal by Pope Pius X on May 25 last.

After studying at Capranican College and the Academy of Nobles at Rome he was ordained a priest on December 21, 1878. He was secretary to Cardinal Rampolla in 1883 at the Papal Nuncio at Madrid, and was appointed a monsignor on May 28, 1883. When Cardinal Rampolla returned to Rome and was made secretary of State by Pope Leo XIII, Monsignor Chiesa was made an official in his office.

WILL ASK STATE TO TAKE BONDS

There is a possibility that the Board of Education, of Fanwood township may not be able to build the proposed $16,500 four-room school in the "Graceland" section of the township, owing to the fact that there may be some difficulty in selling the bonds. The board met, last night, and discussed the matter, after which it was decided to offer the bonds to the State with interest at 4½ per cent. If the State refuses to take the bonds it is likely that the proposition will be held up for the present. The bonds are of $500 denomination and it is planned to retire one each year for thirty-three years.

The building committee reported that it has been in communication with the State school inspector regarding improvements in the assembly room of School No. 1 and it hoped to secure his approval of the plans. On the strength of the report S. Dana Townsend, supervisor of schools, was instructed to contract for forty desks and other furniture.

S. G. Van Hoesen's resignation as a member of the board, came before that body and it was voted unanimously to lay it on the table with the hope that he may be persuaded to continue as a member of the board.

FUNERAL OF J. F. CUMISKY IS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of James F. Cumisky was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including many associates of the young man; also members of St. Mary's T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps in charge of Major Frank Donnelly.

Father B. M. Bogan was in charge of the services, assisted by Fathers McDonald a nd Vincent Sciolla. Father Bogan delivered an impressive sermon. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including three pillows bearing the inscriptions, "Dear Son," "Tabs," and "Our Member." The fife and drum corps escorted the remains from the house to the church and cemetery.

The pall-bearers were William Mahoney, Joseph Beabout, William Skinner, Thomas Monsell, Thomas O'Keeffe and Joseph McCue, members of the fife and drum corps, who appeared in uniform. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

NO TECHNICAL ERROR, HE SAYS

Judge Isaac P. Runyon Answers Alex. Milne Regarding Special Boro Election.

QUOTES LAWS OF 1902

In the Opinion of the Borough Counsel the Provisions of the General Election Act Does Not Apply to Present Case.

Judge Isaac P. Runyon, who is counsel for North Plainfield, takes exception to the point raised by Councilman Alexander Milne as to the legality of the special consolidation election announced fo: September 24, claiming that the provisions of the general election law do not apply in this case. Judge Runyon's answer to Mr. Milne is as follows:

"Respecting the point raised by Councilman Milne at the meeting of the Consolidation Committee Tuesday evening to the effect that there was a technical error in the legal proceedings for the special election to be held September 24th in the borough, I desire to state that it is my opinion that the provisions of the general election law do not apply to this section in any case where the special act under which the borough is proceeding has an express provision covering any step in the proceeding. The Consolidation Act on Page 778 of the Laws of 1902, Section 3, is as follows:

'It shall not be necessary for the boards of registry and elections in said city and borough to make a new register of voters for such special election but only to revise and cor-

SHE DRANK IODINE TO SCARE MOTHER

Mrs. Frank Weigman, Who Attempted Suicide, Claims It Was a Joke.

Apparently none the worse after drinking iodine in an attempt to take her life in the Elizabeth station of the New Jeresey Central, Tuesday night, Mrs. Frank Weigman, formerly of Westfield, but now of this city, has recovered with no ill effects from her little adventure. Only for the prompt action of the police and hospital authorities in Elizabeth, the dose of poison might have proved fatal.

Mrs. Weigman stated today that she and her husband were not at odds, but she added, while visiting her mother early in the week, they had an argument with the result that her mother ordered her out of the house. Being in a revengeful mood, Mrs. Weigman says she decided to give her mother a scare and chose the iodine method, not giving a second thought as to the consequences, she says. Mr. and Mrs. Weigman are now living in this city.

SEVERE STORM OCCURRED NINE YEARS AGO TODAY

Nine years ago today, September 3, 1905, this city was visited by one of the worst wind and rain storms in its history. All the afternoon the rain fell in torrents and the wind blew at a terrific gale, doing considerable damage in this vicinity. The city was flooded with water in a short time and the lightning also aided in damaging property. Streets were completey covered with water causing the trolley cars and all traffic to stop.

North Plainfield, north of Mountain avenue, suffered greatly from the stream because of the breaking of Herman's dam, which is just above Johnson's Drive. The lake overflowed and the dam could not stand the pressure and gave way. The water rushed down Somerset street several feet deep, flooding the first floors of houses in that section of the borough. Much property was damaged by the water and one house was completely moved from its foundations.

MOVEMENT IS A PROGRESSIVE ONE

QUESTION OF GROWTH

Former Mayor Says Opponents of Plan Comprise Those Who Do Not Want North Plainfield to Expand.

"The consolidation meeting held in Debele Hall, Tuesday night, is everywhere spoken of as a great success," said Dr. William L. Saunders, today, when interviewed as to his opinion concerning the movement. "A large number of people attended notwithstanding the fact that the night was hot and that summer is still upon us. That opposition should have developed is only to be expected, for no progress is ever made in any line without stirring up opposition.

"This movement is purely progressive, it is in the interest of the borough as a whole, and it seeks to legalize a condition which everybody knows exists today; that is Plainfield and North Plainfield are not two communities, but one in every respect except law.

"It is always easy to confuse and antagonize a civic movement by general talk and by making figures which nobody understands and which are at best based upon assumptions. One speaker the other evening said that the only argument that he had heard for consolidation was that North Plainfield people have to pay to use the Plainfield Public Library and then he went on to say that he was ready to contribute toward the establishment of a North Plainfield library.

"Well, this is an old story to those in the borough who have lived there for almost a lifetime. They have tried to establish banks, but it was soon found that in order to make them pay they must cross the line into the city. They have tried to develop a business district along Somerset street and elsewhere, but Mayor Clark gave striking and convincing figures when he called attention to the fact that the total assessed valuation of all the property on Somerset street was but a little above one hundred and fifty thousand dollars while that on Front street was about two and one-half millions.

"Here we have the key-note of the whole situation. The city is not yet four times as large as the borough. It is, we believe, more nearly three times than four times, yet Front street property is now seventeen times as valuable. Since the annexation election twelve years ago the borough has had but little growth. Real estate has not increased in value, and in the face of this it does seem that there is but one and only one argument against this movement and that is that brought forward by those who do not want the borough to grow.

"Leaving selfish interest, sentiment, ignorance and all such consideration aside, there is overwhelming evidence plainly before the people of the borough that their future welfare and prosperity lie in union with a community which is so closely linked with their every-day affairs."

ARTHUR MARTIN SUCCUMBS TO A LINGERING ILLNESS

Arthur Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Duer street, the borough, died yesterday afternoon, after an illness of about two years. His death is said to be the direct result of an accident which occurred during a game of baseball in which he played while employed at the Sarnia, Ontario, branch of the Imperial Oil Company, of New York. He was hit in the chest by a thrown ball during the game, and symptoms of lung trouble developed.

Mr. Martin was one of the best known young men of the city, and was a graduate of the North Plainfield Borough High School. For some time he was the leading soloist of the Grace Episcopal church choir, although he was a member of the Church of the Holy Cross. He is survived by his parents, one brother, Charles, and two sisters, the Misses Dorothy and Marjorie Martin.

The funeral services are to be held tomorrow evening at the home of the parents, 87 Duer street, at eight o'clock. Interment will be made Saturday morning at Hillside cemetery.

SEWAGE MEETING ADJOURNED.

The joint sewage commission, which was scheduled to hold a meeting last night, was compelled to adjourn the session until Wednesday night, September 9, owing to the lack of a quorum. It is expected that by that time the plans and specifications for the proposed sewage plant will be ready for action. The title to the Darling farm in Piscataway township will be passed next week.

RUSSIAN VICTORY AT TOMACHEFF; POINCAIRE GOES TO BORDEAUX; ALLIES ARE AGAIN SUCCESSFUL

Amiens Captured by Germans and Boulogne Abandoned--Russians Continue to Progress in East Prussia--Servians Plan to Invade Austria--Japanese Take Seven Islands and Remove Russian Mines --Declaration of War by Turkey is Expected--Durazzo Bombarded by Insurgents.

GERMAN LOOKOUTS.

Seeking to Locate the Position of the Enemy.

Petrograd, Sept. 3 (Central News Cable).—An official statement says: "Our right wing was victorious near Tomacheff, where the fifteenth Austrian division was shattered and its general staff killed. Five thousand prisoners were taken, of which one hundred were officers. Our troops also took a flag and twenty cannons."

It is officially announced that the Russian troops continue to make progress in the north regions of East Prussia. In the south the Germans have been reinforced by men taken from the French frontier. Powerful artillery also has been brought up. The Russian troops, it is stated, have been reinforced on the Vistuala and Dniester Rivers and a fierce battle continues.

Paris, Sept. 3.—President Poincare and his Cabinet have left for Bordeaux, the new French seat of Government, where they are expected to arrive tomorrow. Many persons are leaving Paris.

Martial law was proclaimed here today and the city was declared to be in a state of siege. All suburbs of the city have been evacuated. Fresh troops are arriving by every train. All gates of the city have been closed except two.

It is estimated that 3,000,000 French troops will take part in the fighting against the Germans for possession of Paris.

Washington, Sept. 3 (Central News Despatch).—Tales of British and French victories along the battle line in France were contained in a despatch to the British embassy today from the London Foreign Office. The despatch read:

"In France continuous fighting has been in progress along almost the whole fighting line of battle. British cavalry engaged the enemy's cavalry and pursued them back, capturing ten guns. The French army has continued its offensive and gained ground in the Lorraine region. The Russians are investing Koenigburg."

The actual declaration of war by Turkey has not reached the State Department, but the department has been approached to ascertain the willingness of the United States to take over Turkish missions in belligerent countries. Great Britain has also asked the United States to take charge of its embassy in Constantinople.

London, Sept. 3 (Central News Cable).—Latest advices indicate that the battle between the allies and the Kaiser's troops on the road to Paris is still in progress, but nothing is known as to results. Preparations for a siege are proceeding rapidly in Paris. German forces are said to have abandoned the western section of Belgium to strengthen the lines on the road to Paris. Just how far the allies have fallen back toward the southwest has not been indicated.

Paris, Sept. 3 (Central News Cable)—Official announcement is made that the French fleet in the Adriatic bombarded the Austrian port of Cattaro, Tuesday. The shells struck the forts with great effect and demolished a number of buildings.

Rome, Sept. 2 (Central News Cable)—Advices from Nish, Servia, say the Austrians have failed to confron the Servians for days. Consequently the latter intend to invade Austria.

Another bombardment of the Austrian port of Cattaro in Dalmatia is reported by the Giornale d' Italia. It says a squadron of British and French warships shelled the entrance to the port, evidently endeavoring to destroy the wireless station and semaphore signals.

It is reported here that British and French destroyers pursued and sank another Austrian cruiser off Corfu. It is also reported from Athens that Turkey in addition to massing troops in Caucas is threatening Bulgaria for the passage of Turkish troops over Bulgarian territory, these troops to be used against Greece.

Wellington, New Zealand, Sept. 3—Word has reached the Governor of New Zealand that the Governor of German Samoa surrendered and was despatched to Fiji with other prisoners, also that the British flag was raised in Samoa five days ago.

Washington, Sept. 3—Ambassador Herrick today cabled the State Department of another Zeppelin attack on Paris. Bombs were dropped from the machine, the cable stated, and the extent of the damage is unknown. In spite of a fusillade of shots the airman escaped without injury to himself or to his dirigible.

Notice was served through the Swiss legation here today, to Swiss reservists to avoid Bordeaux and Havre in returning to their colors. The Swiss in the United States were directed to enter Switzerland through Marseilles and Genoa, the train service in other directions having been suspended.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff called at the State Department today, where he said that he had not and would not protest against the reported shipment of arms and ammunition by the New York firms into Canada.

Chi Fu, China, Sept. 3 (Central News Cable.)—About 4,500 additional men have been landed at Lung Kow by Japan. London, Sept. 3—A message from Rome says that a despatch from Nish reports that in a battle at Jadar between 200,000 Austrians and 180,000 Servians, the latter put 140,000 Austrians "hors de combat."

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

France.

The allies were engaged along a line which extended from Montdidier into the forest of Compiegne. The heaviest fighting is reported around Montdidier. German cavalry corps encountered a British force near the forest of Compiegne and in the resulting engagement lost ten guns. Another German cavalry body reached the little town of Anizy-le-Chateau. These points are about forty miles from the Paris fortifications. The French are reported to be holding the Germans in check at Rethel and also on the Meuse. They are said to be making some advance against the Germans in Lorraine, extending their line along the Sanon river.

It is reported that the Germans in making their advance toward Paris have lost enormously in the last five days. Another aeroplane passed over Paris, but there is no report of more bomb dropping. Both Ambassadors Herrick and Sharp say that they will remain in Paris even if the capital is removed elsewhere.

Belgium.

The Germans are reported to be strongly fortifying Brussels, evidently fearing an uprising of the people. They have issued an order that in case of any effort to resist the German authorities they will train their guns upon the city. Antwerp is being prepared for a stage of siege and the military governor has ordered all people who have not been domiciled there a month to leave. A dispatch received from Rotterdam from Berlin says that the siege of Antwerp will begin immediately. It is believed that this is an effort to drag Holland into the war, as the English will be compelled to take part in the defense of this city.

Russia.

The Russians report another sweeping victory over the Austrians on the Russian Poland frontier. According to this report, the Austrian army was completely crushed and that they left 15,000 dead on one battlefield, which the Russians buried. Lemberg has been evacuated by the Austrians. The Russians believe that with the victory on the Russian Poland line and the evacuation of Lemberg they will have comparatively little trouble in advancing into the heart of Austria. It is believed that the Austrian army will approach Breslau from this direction, and from there advance to Berlin. The Russians claim that their loss at Allenstein has not seriously interfered with their plan of advance into Germany. They have now two armies operating in east Prussia, but the advance toward Berlin from that direction will be checked until they have driven back the Austrians.

Turkey.

Reports from London indicate that Turkey is preparing for war on Greece. Troops are lined up on both sides of the Bosporus and the mobilization is

"The English captured ten guns."

An official statement issued by the war office this morning admits that the retiring movement of the French left before the superior numbers of the German right wing continues.

The communique states that the French are slowly advancing in Lorraine in the vicinity of the Vosges and that a general engagement is now in progress in the vicinity of the Meuse.

The official statement says:

"We are slowly advancing in the region of the Vosges in Lorraine, where a regular siege of the intrenched German positions is in progress. For two days we have been slowly driving the Germans back.

"We suffered partial checks in the Neufchateau-Paliseul district, which obliged us to withdraw to the lines near the Meuse, where a general engagement began and now continues.

"The British-French wing has been attacked by a greatly superior force in the Cateau-Cambrai district, and in consequence it retired to the southward to prevent being overwhelmed or cut off.

"Our forces drove the Prussian guard and the Tenth German army corps back at Oise with heavy losses, but because of the progress of the German right we were unable to follow up this advantage and were compelled to retire.

Allied Lines Hold Fast.

"The allied lines hold fast everywhere. At no point have the Germans been able to break through and our general movements continue along the lines exactly as planned."

A large force of German skirmishers, forming the advance guard of the movement toward Paris, has been partly surrounded in the forest of Compiegne and is being subjected to a fierce bombardment by the French artillery.

It developed that General Paul Pau, who retrieved the situation in Lorraine, is now in command of the French left wing, co-operating with the British commander in chief, Sir John French.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Arthur E. Warner, of Elizabeth, candidate for the Assembly nomination upon the Republican ticket, said today: "I believe that whoever receives the Republican Assembly nomination upon the Republican ticket, this year will be chosen at the polls in November. Although five of us are contesting for the three nominations I have very reason to believe that those who are defeated will make every effort to secure the election of their more successful friends. There is the best of feeling among the candidates and all will seek to maintain the harmony that is necessary for success of the party at the election.

That former Assemblyman Charles N. Nutting will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in 1916, is claimed by his friends. Mr. Nutting, who was elected to the Assembly last year from Essex county, was later appointed a riparian commissioner by Governor Fielder. His candidacy is not likely to be taken seriously, not at present, anyhow, for Mr. Nutting is known as quite a practical joker.

The primary campaign in Union county is expected to be waged in earnest during the two weeks immediately preceding primary day. The candidates have been laying the groundwork of their campaigns for some time, but owing to the great interest in the war, the voters so far have appeared apathetic. The different candidates will endeavor to stir them up later in the month.

Congressman Dow H. Drukker, of Passaic, will campaign extensively in the interests of other Republican Congressional candidates in the State. As Mr. Drukker is the one representative whose re-election is assured, he will have much time to devote to the interests of the party in the State-at-large.

John A. Hartpence, of Trenton, has been appointed as assistant to United States District Attorney J. Warren Davis, of Jersey City. Mr. Hartpence succeeds Walter H. Bacon, of Bridgeton, a Republican. Mr. Hartpence was in the Supreme Court clerk's office for several years, and is a member of the law firm of Vredenburg, Wall and Carey, of Jersey City.

LEMBERG IS BY TROOPS

Austrian Stronghold Falls After Battle.

BIG ARMY DEFEATED

Francis Joseph's Forces Meet With Enormous Losses.

REPULSED IN EAST PRUSSIA

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—Another sweeping victory over the Austrians was reported, supplementing the Russian triumphs at Lemberg and near the Russian Poland frontier. The war office announces that the Russian left wing, operating from its position on the Dneister, captured a supposedly impregnable Austrian position that was heavily garrisoned.

The official announcement states that the Russians charged the Austrian position at the point of the bayonet and swept over the intrenchments, completely routing the Austrian troops. Five thousand Austrians were left dead on the field.

The Russians captured thirty-two big guns and more than 1,000 prisoners, including the Austrian general in command. As a result of this success the Russian left is now co-operating with the center, and the retreat of the Austrians is seriously menaced.

The Austrian army seems to have been completely crushed. All the news from the front, where a general battle has been in progress for eight days, is most favorable to Russia.

Russians Occupy Lemberg.

Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Galicia, is now held by the Russians. The Austrian center has been penetrated by a superior Russian force and the wings are now being crumpled back upon their outer lines.

Official dispatches from the Grand Duke Nicholas tell of a sweeping victory in the bloodiest battle of modern times. The Russian losses have been very large, it is admitted. But it is stated that they are far less than those sustained by Austria. Entire brigades of Austrians have been completely annihilated. Among their dead are some of their highest rank officers.

It is stated that, while the fighting continues and will probably continue for several more days, the situation is most favorable to the Russian arms. With Lemberg held by the Russians and the Austrian center penetrated, the Austrians will have great difficulty withdrawing to new positions and their ranks are so badly demoralized that it will be very difficult to reform them into an effective fighting force.

Campaign In Prussia Halted.

The Russian offensive has been centered on the Austrian lines and enormous re-enforcements have been hurried to fill the gaps in the first offense line. Because of this there has been a temporary halt to the proceedings in eastern Prussia. Positive denial is made, however, that any of the territory already gained has been abandoned.

Two distinct Russian armies are operating in Prussia. The first moved from Kovno against Koenigsberg and Allenstein. The second is operating from Poland toward Thorn and Graudenz. While the German lines have stiffened and the force opposing the Russians has been greatly increased, it is still insisted in the reports from the front that it will be impossible to check the Russian advance when the orders are given to proceed. But until the Austrian resistance is completely crushed there will be no general assault on the intrenched German positions.

Repulsed In East Prussia.

The general staff admitted that two army corps, operating in eastern Prussia, have been defeated by the Germans there. In the official report it is set forth as follows:

"Two army corps, operating in eastern Prussia, have been repulsed by a superior German force and have sustained severe losses. This, however, is unimportant, because it has been from the very inception of this war the aim of the general staff to crush completely the Austrian power in order that the way will be cleared for a straight march on Berlin.

"The operations against Austria are continuing with the best results. Three entire armies are engaged along a battle front that extends from the Dniester river to Russian Poland. The Austrians are being steadily beaten back and their central army has been defeated and driven back twenty miles from its advanced line.

"The Russian armies are now co-operating to crush the Austrian wings. The battle is stubborn and the casualties are very heavy, but the enemy's losses far outnumber those of the Russians.

"Already many thousands of Austrian prisoners have been taken. Whole regiments have been surrounded by Russian cavalry and forced to surrender. Among the prisoners are several Austrian officers of high rank.

"The operations in eastern Prussia, while subordinated to the general campaign, will be continued in considerable force. The fortress of Koenigsberg is now completely invested and a part of the city is held by the Russians. The Germans have been very heavily re-enforced from the western armies and are now in great strength all along the lines of their first fortifications. Despite this fact, however, the march on Berlin will be begun just as soon as the Austrian army has been annihilated."

Austria Admits Reverses.

Vienna, via Rome, Sept. 3.—Lemberg has fallen. The Austrian army which has been fighting in front of the Galician capital has been withdrawn. It did not enter the city as the general staff desired to avoid any general bombardment and the defending force was withdrawn to the south.

The eighth day of the great battle, which now extends from the Dniester to the Prussian frontier, finds the Austrian army outnumbered and hard pressed. It is very plain that Russia has abandoned every offensive movement against the Prussians in order to endeavor to crush the entire Austrian army at one blow.

There are no less than 2,000,000 Russians facing the 1,000,000 Austrian troops in this great battle. As a result the Austrian lines have been compelled to give way at certain points.

The most serious reverse, however, is at Lemberg, because the abandonment of the positions there has enabled the Russians to isolate the Austrian forces in Russian Poland and they are now greatly outnumbered.

TURKISH ARMY READY FOR WAR

Conflict With Greece Is Expected Soon.

Paris, Sept. 3.—An official dispatch from Constantinople says that the fifth Turkish army corps is now assembled on the Asiatic bank of the Bosporus, while the first corps is on the European side just opposite. The sixth corps is going north to the gulf of Ismid district.

London, Sept. 3.—Reuter's St. Petersburg correspondent says it is semi-officially announced at the Russian capital that war between Turkey and Greece is a matter of only two or three days. The correspondent says that Turkish troops in considerable numbers have been landed at Smyrna, in Asia Minor, and that Turkish troops under the command of German officers are throwing up intrenchments near Chataija and to the east of Scutari.

Enver Pasha is to be the Turkish commander in chief, the correspondent says, while General Leman von Sanders will command the second Turkish army.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Diplomatic Washington is expecting an announcement any moment that Turkey has decided to cast her lot with the Germans and Austrians against the allies. The German government, it is understood, is expecting Turkey to participate very actively in the struggle.

BOMBS DESTROYED BRIDGE.

German Aeroplane Destroyed After Work at Cambrai.

London, Sept. 3.—A dispatch from The Hague stated that a German aeroplane, after dropping bombs which destroyed the bridge at Cambrai, was brought down by two shots from a French gun.

The occupants of the aeroplanes were made prisoners. The fighting at Cambrai took place at the end of last week. The dispatch indicates the use of aeroplanes as well as Zeppelins as bomb throwers.

REGISTER NEXT TUESDAY.

As the time for the annual election approaches, citizens should be sure that they are properly registered. Those who voted at the election last November do not have to register for the primaries, which will be held on Tuesday, November 22, at which time they will also be registered for the general election. But anyone who did not vote last November, and wishes to vote in the primaries this year, must appear before the election boards Tuesday and see that their names are properly placed on the poll books. No registration is carried over from last year, and those who by chance fail to vote at the primaries this year will be given another chance in October to get their names on the list for the November balloting.

Under the Geran law, which has proven to be the most successful election law the State has known, the Boards of Registry and Election are called upon to ask a lot of questions, some of which may appear ridiculous to the voter. The questions are clearly defined by law, however, and there is no option for the boards, as every answer must be placed on the books in writing. When the Geran law was first passed many of the voters protested against giving their pedigrees, and some went so far as to refuse to answer the queries, thus losing their franchise.

Next Tuesday the Boards of Registry and Election will sit at the various polling places, a list of which will appear in The Daily Press before that time, from 1 to 9 p. m., which gives opportunity for all classes of people to appear before them at some period. Every voter who did not vote at the general election last year should see that his name goes on the list next Tuesday.

On Monday, August 24, The Daily Press printed a long letter from former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, written from apan for this paper. Last night the same communication appeared in another local paper with the information that "it has been received from Mr. Ackerman." Usually the articles are copied the next night—but ten days!

It is not a question of whether you are interest in the success of your party, but whether you are interested in the welfare of your city, county, State and nation to the extent that you desire honest and upright men elected to office. Moral: REGISTER NEXT TUESDAY . Hours 1 to 9 p. m.

"It may be that suggestions made by the State Gazette brought about the settlement of the strike of the Trenton machinists," says that Trenton paper. Then again perhaps Governor Fielder's determination to call out troops might have had something to do with it.

—With vaudeville at Proctor's, plenty of good plays at the Plainfield theatre and a new moving picture theatre costing tens of thousands of dollars to complete, local people can hardly complain for lack of amusements this winter.

Talk about the high cost of living. Over in Perth Amboy peaches are selling for 90 cents and a dollar a basket. Here in Plainfield the best fruit was sold at three baskets for a dollar yesterday. They must have a farmer's trust near the Middlesex county town.

The Business Men's Association is to be congratulated upon the great success of the second Dollar Day of the year. Even the hot weather did not interfere with thousands of shoppers visiting the local stores.

According to official statements New Jersey crabs (the water variety) are becoming scarcer with each year. Would that it were equally true of the two-legged variety!

Recent developments in Mexico confirm the statement that in Mexico "it is just one revolution after another." The country would produce a fine plot for a comic opera.

If the pictures of some of the candidates for office are good likenesses, it is evident that a lot of them should be candidates for Morris Plains, instead of public office.

"Public Kept In Ignorance of Operations of Allied Armies," says a headline. Perhaps "confusion about" would be better than "ignorance of."

It may be true, but the statement in the Camden Post Telegram that winter is not far off, seems somewhat out of place today.

By the way, has the army worm left us, or is it merely a case of the armies abroad overshadowing those at home.

What was the best bargain you had for a dollar?

THE MONTESSORI METHOD AND THE KINDERGARTEN.

A concise statement of the essential points of similarity and dissimilarity between the educational methods of Madame Montessori and those of the kindergarten is not amiss in these days. Such a comparison, prepared by Miss Elizabeth Harrison of the National Kindergarten College, Chicago, Ill., we print below. Miss Harrison was a member of one of the classes which were held under the direct instruction of Madame Montessori in Rome last year. Her statement is furnished by the United States Bureau of Education:

Physically.—Dr. Montessori has organized definite gymnastics for the muscular development of the child, basing the same on their relationship to the nervous system, but so far has introduced no dramatic play.

Froebel would have all bodily exercise done under the stimulus of play, leaving the definite muscular development to the body's response to the demand of the dramatic instinct of the child. The two methods can easily be united to the betterment of the child.

Psychologically. — Although Dr. Montessori claims that the unfolding of the child's inner life should be the chief aim of education, she frankly confesses that she knows no other way to deal with this spiritual life than definitely to train the senses. She says, "The contents of our mind is made up of what we take materially from our surroundings by means of sensation." Therefore she emphasizes sense-impressions but ignores the processes of apperception, memory and imagination by means of which the mind, itself, makes use of these sense-impressions for its own development. She leaves these important activities of the Ego undirected and uncorrected by the teacher, although often directed and interfered with by the other children.

Froebel, in all his writings, insists also upon the importance of clear sense-impression, but he then shows how each new sense-impression should be correlated by the mind, with the knowledge already acquired, else the growth of the mind will be confused and hampered by unorganized impressions. He thus emphasizes the energies of the mind as inborn, acting upon the material brought in by means of the senses rather than as something built up from the outside world through sense-impressions.

Although his play-gifts are also geometric and the child's attention is sometimes called to the mathematical qualities of his material, Froebel's materials are created more for the purpose of satisfying the child's instinctive desire to take to pieces and put together all materials that come into his hands; in other words, to learn of dimension, form, weight, etc., more through creative play than by direct dictation.

Socially.—Dr. Montessori would have the child learn his social relations through the actual experiences in the classroom and on the playground.

Froebel would have these experiences strengthened by dramatic play, stories and songs which portray the social life of mankind and its interdependence.

Spiritually.—Dr. Montessori is very devout in her attitude toward the spiritual life of the child; she says, "In comparison to this realm all the rest is as nothing." Yet she acknowledges that it is a subject so complex and so deep that she scarcely dares touch upon it, and admits that it is to her as yet a vague, unsolved problem.

Froebel believed that there is a spiritual law of development as definite as the physical law of development, and that each child comes into the world with an inborn spiritual self which the senses do not reveal to us but which nevertheless is self-evident and must be recognized and developed according to this law. Although he urged the study of the individual temperament, disposition and talents of each child he believed that all should come under this spiritual law of unification; because by means of it each human being learns to submit to the laws of nature, to harmonize his relations with his fellowman and to rationalize his conception of the Divine. Froebel created his play-material and selected and rearranged his play-circle out of the mass of objects and activities which the world offers, in order that the child might see in his play-tools the geometric forms that united all forms, and feel in his dramatic games the social relationships which unite all mankind and learn by means of his stories, songs and morning talks with his teacher that "this unity is God" and that "all things come from God and have their origin in the Divine Unity, in God alone."

Many kindergarteners seem to have forgotten to keep in mind these two needs of the child, the individual and the universal, hence Dr. Montessori's appeal for the first came like a clarion call to many parents.

MISS BLACKFORD WEDS PLAINFIELDER

Miss Mary E. Blackford, of South Hanson, Mass., and Charles Hazell, of 657 East Sixth street, this city, were quietly married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's son, Charles R. Hazell, 900 Grove street, Elizabeth. Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which Mr. Hazell is a member, performed the ceremony. There were no attendants and only the members of the immediate families were present.

An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which the couple returned to Plainfield, where they will make their home. The bride received a number of gifts.

A fact of unusual interest in connection with the wedding is that the bridegroom is a great-grandfather. There are four generations of his family, three of whom were present at the wedding. The fourth is in England. Mr. Hazell is seventy-one years old, while his bride is sixty years of age. The latter's parents are dead. Mr. Hazell has lived in retirement for several years. He is the owner of a large farm at Oak-Tree.

PROSECUTE MEN WHO USED OTHERS BOTTLES

Milk Firm Starts Crusade Against Those Who Purloin Their Goods.

Determined to break up the practice of stealing milk bottles, and of some dealers using bottles belonging to others, the Welsh Farm Dairy was the complainant in police court, this morning, against four other milkmen in whose possession bottles had been found bearing their label. After hearing evidence in the cases, Judge DeMeza fined two of the accused, and let the others go on suspended sentence.

The Welsh Farms Company have been losing about $90 worth of bottles a month, and will continue to make examples of those who retain their bottles which may come to them in the regular course of business. Samuel Goldfarb, of 957 West Fourth street, was the first defendant. He has once been convicted of stealing milk from houses, having been fined $50. After hearing evidence which showed that he had over three dozen bottles belonging to the Welsh firm, which Patrolman Neylon and Elijah Dufford found yesterday when they got a search warrant to examine his place, the court roundly scored the man. "This court hasn't much use for you, Goldfarb," said Judge DeMeza. "You have been convicted before of using property that belonged to other people, and you are nothing more than a common thief, having put the police to a lot of trouble. If you did not have a wife and family I would give you the limit, and I want you to understand that if you come here again you will get six months without the alternative of a fine. I fine you $25 for this offense." Goldfarb paid the fine.

Charles Shonts, of 308 East Front street, was fined $10. It was shown by witnesses that he had refused to give up bottles without trouble several times, when he knew that they did not belong to him.

Charles Feuer, of North Plainfield, and Charles W. Squiers, of Stirling, both said that they had had bottles belonging to the complainants in their possession, but had always returned them, not having retained any deliberately. Mr. Dufford, who represented the Welsh company, said that this was true, and they were let go on suspended sentences.

Dufford and Patrolman Neylon spent a good part of their time, yesterday, getting the evidence in the cases, and as a result there were a hundred or more bottles, some of them filled with milk, in the police station this morning.

RATS BELIEVED TO HAVE STARTED LIVELY BLAZE

The fire department was called out last night in response to an alarm sent in at 8:40 o'clock from Box No. 41, to extinguish a lively blaze at the home of John Welsh at 307 Madison avenue. The rear part of the second floor was practically gutted, the total loss being estimated at about $500.

The origin of the blaze, which started in the kitchen, is not known, although it is believed to be the work of rats. The chemical engine did the most effective work in putting out the blaze, while one stream from a hydrant proved a valuable aid. Several hundred dollars in cash and valuable articles thought to havee been destroyed in the blaze were found later.

MUST SUPPORT WIFE.

Overseer-of-the-Poor Dunham was the complainant in the city court, this morning, against Frank Jaeger, accused of non-support. Jaeger said that he had been out of work for three months, and that if he could get a job he would gladly take care of his wife and daughter, the former being a daughter of James Carty, a butcher. Jaeger said that he would try to get a position, and would go back living with his wife whom he left a few days ago. His father-in-law offered to help him in every way he could.

BROKEN SHAFT CAUSE OF LIVELY RUNAWAY

An exciting runaway occurred on Somerset street, the borough, last night, when a broken shaft frightened a horse, which was driven by N. E. Smith, of Westfield avenue, Elizabeth, who was accompanied by Miss Redam, of Jersey City. Both occupants of the runabout were thrown out, sustaining bruises and cuts.

Miss Redam was taken to the home of Mrs. Enoch Haulenbeck, where she received "first aid" treatment. Later she and Mr. Smith were able to continue their trip. Mr. Haulenbeck and Ray Smith of the borough fire department caught the runaway horse.

rect the register made for the last general election, and for that purpose the said boards shall meet at such places in their respective election districts as shall be designated by the clerks of said city and borough, respectively, one week next preceding the election in each of said municipalities, respectively, said meetings to continue until nine o'clock in the evening of that day for the purpose of revising and correcting the register and of adding thereto the names of all persons entitled to vote in the respective election districts at said special election, etc. etc.'

"This law is in effect unless it can be shown that it has been amended or repealed by express legislation or by necessary implication. Repeals by implication are not favored and will not be indulged unless it is manifest that the legislature so intended. The Court of Errors and Appeals of this State have decided that the provision of the general election law requiring special elections to be held on Tuesday does not apply when there is an express provision in a special act that the day for the holding of such election may be fixed by a Judge of the Circuit Court and in said case the other steps in the proceeding in the special act expressly adopted the provisions of the general election act. The Consolidation Act consolidates the city and borough upon the happening of a certain event, viz., that after submission to the voters of each municipality the question whether the statute framed by the legislature shall be operative or incorperative which is a proper delegation of legislative power.

"It is my opinion that this statute by its terms becomes operative or inoperative only when all of its provisions have been complied with, as is necessary in all special statutory proceedings. The general election act was given due consideration at the time these proceedings were commenced and I advised the Borough Clerk in writing at the threshold of these proceedings on this point to the effect that the provisions of the Consolidation Act should be complied with as to registration of voters.

"If it is necessary to seek the intention of the legislature to ascertain whether or not it was the intention to repeal by implication a provision of former special acts respecting the manner of registering voters in cases of the referendum, we find that there are numerous acts passed since the Consolidation act and since the general election act which adopts the same mode of procedure.

"In the session of 1913 the Borough of Middlesex was formed with a referendum to the voters with the same provision respecting the registration of voters as we have in the Consolidation Act. So far as I can learn, this seems to be the simple method of registration directed by the legislature in all cases where there is a referendum to the voters.

"It may seem strange to some persons that a Councilman would raise such a question at a public meeting which was called for the purpose of discussing the question whether or not consolidation would be beneficial to the Borough of North Plainfield. I do not believe that a technical legal question will have the effect of side-tracking the question on the merits of consolidation.

"It might be well in concluding to state that the Consolidation Act was passed in 1902 and the general election act in 1898 and the amendment to the general election act on this point was passed in 1901, which is dispositive of the question raised."

PLANNING TO GET DAVIS CUP AGAIN

Maurice E. McLoughlin Will Again Lead the Americans In Effort to Get Trophy.

New York, Sept. 3—American lawn tennis players and officials are already planning for the recapture of the Davis Cup, won by the Australasian team at Forest Hills, L. I., through the efforts of Norman E. Brookes and Anthony F. Wilding. With Maurice E. McLoughlin as a nucleus a new team will be organized and a challenge issued in 1915, provided the European war clouds have dispersed and the international situation warrants such action.

With Brookes and Wilding unlikely to defend the trophy again and a score of young American players rapidly rising to the heights already attained by McLoughlin, the prospects of regaining the next cup in the next try is considered bright. McLoughlin's victories in the recent tournament stamps him as the greatest single player in the world. Because of his youth he is conceded to have at least a five years championship tenure. What is needed to give the United States a really representative team is another player of almost equal singles ability and a strong, well balanced doubles team.

In addition to McLoughlin and R. Norris Williams 2nd, William M. Johnston, John R. Strachan, R. Lindley Murray, Clarence Griffin, G. C. Caner and Elva Fottrell, form a squad of young players who are rapidly mounting to the highest ranks and these players together with several others of more mature experience give a wide field from which to select. From this same combination a formidable doubles pair might be formed, although pairs already accustomed to the necessary team work, like Dean Mathey and George M. Church, who surprised the Davis Cup gallery by defeating Doust and Dunlop, the Australasian reservists, are available and need but a little polish to make them of cup calibre.

Unless the other tennis playing nations of the world keep pace in the development of young players it is doubtful therefore if the next contest for this cup will witness the close and thrilling play that developed in the 1914 struggle. An analysis of the Davis Cup records for the tournament shows that the representatives of the seven nations which participated played six rounds consisting of thirty matches; ninety-five sets and one hundred games. With the exception of the British Isles-Australasian and the United States-Australasian matches all the rounds were one sided. Brookes and Wilding after defaulting two matches to the British Isle team won seventy games to forty-four and defeated the United States one hundred and two games to ninty-six. In the challenge round the point tables show that McLoughlin defeated Brookes 176 to 146 and Wilding 121 to 95. Brookes defeated Williams 136 to 102 and Wilding won 112 to 89. In the doubles Brookes and Wilding defeated McLoughlin and Bundy 148 to 130. But nineteen points separated the two nations at the end of the play the final score for five matches being Australasia 637; United States 618.

ALL STARS HAND HIGHLANDERS DEFEAT IN ELEVENTH ROUND

After fighting for ten long innings without a score, the Ali Stars, a team composed of players in the Parker Field Middle League, defeated the Highlanders, one of the contestants for high honors in the Senior League, by rapping two tallies across the plate in the eleventh. The final score was 2 to 0 and the battle was a pitchers' duel between Stahl, the borough twirler, and Denny, formerly Plainfield High School's mainstay in the box. Both pitchers were working to perfection until the second extra round when Stahl weakened and the opposing batters took advantage of this and won the game.

Several times during the course of the regular nine innings both teams had chances to score but poor base running and batting were partly responsible for the ten scoreless innings. The other part was due to the great pitching of the two moundsmen. Another game will be arranged between these two teams in the near future. The score:

THERE WILL BE MANY BLOWS EXCHANGED ON LABOR DAY

New York, Sept. 3.—After a summer of comparative quiet the pugilistic game will be resumed next Monday with a carnival of fisticuffs that will cover the entire country. Although there will be no championship mills on the Labor Day program there will be numerous bouts that will bring together fighters of ability and reputation. Most promising of the lot are the 20-round go between Joe Rivers and Willie Beecher, at Los Angeles, and a ten-round affair between Leach Cross and Johnny Tillman, at Hudson, Wis. "Kid" Williams, the featherweight champion, is to take on Young Solzberg in a 10-round contest in New York.

Included among the many minor bouts scheduled to be pulled off on Labor Day are the following: Jack Dillon and Jim Flynn, at Terre Haute; George Brown and Howard Morrow, at Benton Harbor, Mich.; Jack Blackburn and Johnny Howard, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Joe Thiel and Leo Benz, at Salt Lake City; Leo Houck and Tommy Gavigan, at Youngstown; Gene Delmont and Ohil Virgets, at New Orleans, and Gilbert Gallant and Chick West, at Middletown, Conn.

JENNINGS SAYS BOSTON PITCHERS CAN'T LAST

Hughey Jennings, manager of the Detroit Americans, and close friend of John McGraw, says he thinks New York will win the pennant in the National league, this summer. He asserts that it is not merely friendship for McGraw which causes him to arrive at this conclusion. "The three pitchers who are being worked by the Braves cannot stand the strain," says the Scranton lawyer. "Besides the Giants have been in a slump, but are bound to come out of it and beat out Stallings, for the Giants have the better ball club," adds Jennings

Jimmy Callahan, who was one of the game's best pitchers, does not agree with Jennings as regards the "breaking" of the pitchers. He says: "I want to congratulate Manager Stallings upon his nerve in pulling away from the modern belief that a pitcher is so frail that he can only work once a week. In the old days a pitcher often worked every second day and did it just as well as the pitchers who are now throwing one game a week. When I broke in the old Chicago club carried four pitchers and before long Clark Griffith, new manager of Washington, and myself, were working every second day. Before my time pitchers like Radbourne, Bond, Corcoran, Goldsmith and McCormick used to pitch day after day. But fashion changed until Stallings recalled the old-time stunt."

WEST POINT OFFICIALS YIELD TO NAVY FOR PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Sept. 2—The Army-Navy football game will be played in this city this fall, according to an announcement made yesterday by E. J. Berlet, chairman of the business men's committee, who has been endeavoring to secure the return of the game to Philadelphia. Mr. Berlet states that he has been notified that "the West Point football authorities have agreed to the ultimatum from Annapolis that the contest must be staged here."

GEORGE ORTLIEB WORKING FOR HIGHLAND BALLISTS

George "Germany" Ortlieb, a Westfield hurler, who has pitched many times in this city, has signed to pitch for the Atlantic Highlands nine, which is considered one of the fastest semi-pro collections in that part of the State. Saturday he worked in good style for the Highlanders, and shut out the Red Bank aggregation by the score of 4 to 0, allowing his opponents only four safe whacks.

ROD AND REEL

Boats are in big demand at Morgan Station now, as there are a large number of fishermen who stop there to try their luck. Weakfish, fluke and croakers are caught in large quantities.

The way bass and other fish are biting at Lake Hopatcong is a joy to the anglers who fish there. The fish are not so very large, but there are plenty of them.

Weequahic Park Lake and Branch Brook Park Lake, Newark, are very popular with those who do not wish to take long trips to go fishing. There are several kinds in these waters and the time never drags for want of bites.

Fresh water fishing in Weequahic Park is getting better as the season draws to a close. One man landed a two-pound bass and two perch.

Some wonderful catches of sea bass, blackfish, sea porgies and fluke are being made by the outside boats. Many boats are making the grounds off Seabright their objective point. The largest catch, a five-and-a-quarter-pound blackfish, was not big enough to win the pool. Fishing along the Jersey coast was never better than at present.

All of the boats out from Morgan Station, yesterday, did well. One angler and two friends, caught fifty-five fish.

Wall-eyed pike and pickerel, especially, are taking the hook at Greenwood Lake. One visitor got a pike on Saturday last that scaled four and three-quarter pounds. He had a few bass, but the heaviest did not run over two pounds.

The water was very rough on Barnegat Bay, yesterday, and there was very little doing in the fishing line, according to reports from there.

FORMER LOCAL MAN FINISHES SECOND

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 3.—Long range work was in order in yesterday's matches which included the four-stage Sea Girt championship, the Libbey and Wimbledon matches.

Major William B. Martin, formerly of this city but now of Elizabeth, finished second in the Libbey shooting match at Sea Girt yesterday with a total of 90. First place went to Captain W. H. Richard, of Connecticut with 92.

The Sea Girt championship was won by Corporal F. Coppedge, United States Marine Corps, with a total score on the four ranges of 188, Lieutenant A. W. Lee of the Navy was second, with a 188 that was not as good, and Sergeant James Loughlin of Massachusetts was third with 187.

A. W. Lee, of the Navy, shot his way to victory in the Wimbledon match with a score of 96. Captain Richard was second with 95, and Corporal Copper of the Army shot a 95 for third place.

ELIZABETH TEAM WILL HAVE STRONGER LINEUP

"Rube" Bond's Elizabeth ball tossers will be the attraction on Parker Field Saturday afternoon and that Betsytown manager will have a much stronger lineup than he brought here four weeks ago and lost an eleven inning game. Bond has signed up at least three new men in his lineup who have been playing in minor leagues this year.

Leibs, leading batter on the Asbury Park, Atlantic League team, will hold down left field and Mason, formerly of the Danbury club of the same league, will adorn the right garden. Both men are deadly with the willow. Pomery, a Southern League player will be seen around the difficult corner and Richter, the pitcher who was beaten last time, will again be on the firing line. Townley will be on hand again but Manager Dorflinger may have some new men to try out for Monday.

MANY ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR CALEDONIAN GAMES

The Fifty-Eighth Annual Scottish Games of the New York Caledonian Club at Juniper Park, Juniper avenue, Maspeth, L. I., on Labor Day, will undoubtedly be a banner gathering. A large number of prominent athletes have signified their intention to be present and get their share of the valuable cash prizes put up for the various field and track events. The leading Highland dancers and pipers will compete in the events for their specialties. The club and its guests will assemble at the Club House, Seventh Avenue near Fifty-fourth Street, at 8:30 a. m. sharp.

LOCAL ENTRANTS IN MEET SHOULD LAND SOME PRIZES

Local athletes who have entered the Milltown athletic meet which will be held Labor Day are putting on the finishing touches this week and expect to make some good snowing at that place. Ralph Runyon will have no cinch in the pole vault event although he should win it. He has been doing twelve feet lately and with his new pole, can do more. However, there are several other twelvefoot men entered who may make the event interesting for the spectators as well as hot for the local athlete.

Fiore Commune, the East End runner who captured a cup in the Fourth of July meet on Parker Field, expects to come back with something in the form of a trophy. Herman Rosenson, a local sprinter, also expected to try for prizes in the running events but has been injured and will not be able to compete.

COPS VS. FIREMEN.

The Elizabeth police and firemen will play the second baseball game of the season next Tuesday afternoon on the T. A. B. S. lot. The fire laddies lost the first argument but are confident of winning the second so another game will be necessary. Brennan, the cops' regular twirler, will be on the firing line to fan the fire fighters.

JOHN G. IS WORRIED.

The sale of Herb Moran to the Braves is said to have worried McGraw. John J. probably is more concerned over his two uncertainties—Marquard and Dahnaree.

GREAT INTEREST IN MAINE ELECTION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—The only election of any significance to occur before the general election throughout the country on Nov. 3, will be that in Maine, where the voters will elect a State ticket and representatives in Congress one week from next Monday. On the same day an election for governor and congressmen will take place in Arkansas, and on October 7 in Georgia. A victory for the Democratic tickets in Arkansas and Georgia is a foregone conclusion, so that only in Maine will the result of the election have any general significance.

For many years it has been a popular idea among the politicians that the September election in Maine was pretty certain to indicate what would happen in November, though the theory has not always held good in practise. Regardless of that, however, the Maine election, particularly midway of a presidential term, is always looked forward to with country-wide interest. That fact is given unusual emphasis this year.

Two years ago at the September election there was no real division of the Republican vote, such as occurred in the succeeding November, when between the Taft and Roosevelt votes Wilson secured the electors by a plurality of 2,620, although in a minority on the total vote of 43,925. The present Republican Governor Haines was elected in September by a plurality of 3,300, and three of the four congressmen elected at the same time were Republican.

Governor Haines has been renominated by the Republicans, and the leaders of his party believe that his re-election is assured by a majority that will have a significant influence on the elections in other States to take place seven weeks later. The Republicans also appear hopeful that the one Democratic congressional district in the State will be reclaimed. On the other hand, the Democrats have a strong State ticket, headed by Mayor Oakley C. Curtis, of Portland, and they are being aided in the campaign by the full strength of the Democratic national organization.

WILL ELECT A NEW "BLACK POPE"

New General of the Jesuit Order to Be Chosen In Rome Soon.

Rome, Sept. 3.—Some time within the next few months, it is expected, sombre-garbed monks from the four quarters of the world will gather in Rome to elect a new general of the Jesuit order, to succeed the late Father Wernz, who for eight years directed the forces of the Jesuit army. Second in interest and importance only to the papal conclave is this conclave of Jesuit fathers. Secrecy guards the balloting of the cardinals when they elect a pontiff, but even more guarded, if possible, are the proceedings of the Jesuit fathers on like occasions.

The meeting place of the congregation is not even made public, but it is generally believed that the next conclave will be held in or near Rome. Sometimes the meeting place is not made public until after the election has taken place.

On the eve of the election the delegates will spend three days and nights in solitude, thinking over the situation. On the fourth day after the assembling of the delegates the balloting begins. Into a large room they are led, and there they stay until a choice is reached. Sometimes impending starvation forces an issue, sometimes days go by with no food entering their mouths. Without food or water they labor, praying always for direction and guidance, and seeking agreement. When the voting comes to no issue, and after a reasonable length of time has passed, election is reached in another way. The vicar distributes papers to each delegate and instead of a general discussion, followed by oral voting, there is a secret ballot cast, which is collected by the vicar and his assistants and counted. There are about one hundred delegates, and two-thirds are necessary to a choice. Should this method fail, the delegates choose five members from among their assembly to act as electors, and these five then choose a general.

The headquarters of the famous order have been for years at Fiesole, near Florence, which is the official residence of the "Black Pope." The late general, however, spent much of his time in Rome, where the order also maintains large quarters for its members. There are more than 7,500 Jesuit fathers in the world today, covering every country on the face of the globe. Hence the importance attached to the election of a man to shape their policies and programmes.

BICYCLIST INJURED.

Joseph Pellinger, of Scotch Plains, is slowly recovering from severe injuries, the result of an accident, while riding his wheel down the Valley road. As Pellinger was nearing the bottom of a long, steep hill, he lost control of his wheel and crashing into a fence he fell a distance of twenty-five feet into a ravine. He managed to reach Dr. F. W. Westcott's office, where it was found necessary to take ten stitches to close a wound in the scalp.

NEGRO GETS THE LIMIT.

Max Chambers, a negro barber living in the "Graceland" section of Fanwood township, was given a sixty days' sentence when arraigned before Recorder Phillip Jahn, yesterday afternoon, on a charge of assault preferred by his wife. Mrs. Chambers, who appeared in court against her husband, exhibited a battered and bruised face with a broken nose and jaw, the result of the husband's attack.

RAN INTO AUTOMOBILE.

Maurice Richards, aged 4 years, son of Alexander Richards, of this borough, while playing with a number of children on Somerset street yesterday afternoon, ran directly in front of an automobile owned and driven by former Councilman Fred Endress. The lad fell under the machine, but Mr. Endress had the car under such control that he was able to stop without running over the boy. Mr. Endress was exonerated from all blame.

A Message To Men

Reprinted from "The Metal Worker," August 28

These are days when men are men. The craven hearted are skulking and falling back—they are finding excuses for going to the rear—they have no stomach for a fight—they are licked.

The real men of America are going about their affairs—they have given up their vacations, they are on the firing line of big business, and their courage and patriotism are in evidence every hour of the day.

They are not lying down—they are standing up and they will maintain and improve our place in the sun of commerce and industry.

The way to locate the real men of business these days is to listen to their talk and to see how they act.

The real men of business have not pulled down the flag—they have not quit advertising,—they have not called in their salesmen—they have not locked the factory door.

Yes, they have in many instances "pulled their belt straps a little tighter." They have perhaps curtailed a bit here and there as they mobilized their working forces and reserves—and gained greater efficiency thereby.

But haul down the flag and lie down.

Never.

Let us look about.

A nation of a hundred million people with an untrammeled working organization and the smallest per capita burden of military expense in the civilized world.

The nation with the greatest internal trade and self contained in having practically every essential of life within its domain.

The nation that has length, breadth and thickness in its resources, with its own coal, its own iron, its own grain, its own forests, its own cotton, and with absolute freedom of internal commerce.

We need three things only—ships, confidence and credit—to carry on a tremendous commerce.

We have a flexible fiscal system that has made financial panic impossible.

The ingenuity of the American always best displayed in a time of stress will find a substitute for every needed article that enters into our daily life and which we formerly secured from Europe.

We will continue to buy from England, France and Germany all the things that we need which they can send to us.

We will sell to the world all the things that we grow and make which the rest of the world can buy from us.

The Government has acted wisely and intelligently.

We have real men in Washington.

There are some men whose middle name is "Cancellation."

They have run to cover after phoning, wiring and writing the people they deal with to "Stop Everything."

The quitter who stops his business campaign recklessly is the man who trades recklessly—he is the anti-conservative—he lacks poise and balance, and he will be the first to go under when pressure comes.

The trade routes of the world are being redrawn. The great Continent to the south of us beckons and says "We want you to take our hides, our cattle, our coffee, our rubber, and we will buy your textiles, your machinery, your shoes, your hardware, your oil and all other things that you make that we need.

The machinery of distribution is the requirement of the moment—and we are making rapid progress.

The west coast of South America is at our doors.

The wheat of Californa, the lumber of Oregon have a new pathway to the Atlantic.

The greatest blessing that civilization has known in a decade comes to us in the year that brings to Europe its saddest blow.

The genius of Goethals and his men is the triumph of the Arts of peace and we are masters of the newest trade channel in the world—The Panama Canal.

We deplore the war—the greatest cataclysm created by man that the world has known. For this is a man-made war—and as men started it, so men will end it.

Where do we stand?

We have goods to sell—and competition largely eliminated—The gods of war have given us a large monopoly of the surplus of the needed things of life.

Shall we ask the hungry women and children of the warring countries exorbitant prices for the food which they must have?—No.

Shall we demand the pound of flesh from our own people to enrich the speculator in food and commodities who commits a worse crime when he hoards food than the man who hoards his coin?—No.

Shall we mark up prices so that trade and commerce will halt and stagnate and the free interchange of commodities break down in our own great land?—No.

Then what shall we do?

We will buy ships—we will open up new channels of trade—we will send virile, aggressive, honest salesmen into new lands.

We will pioneer into new markets and sell our new customers American-made wares of honest quality at fair prices. We will buy as we sell because commerce is the interchange of commodities.

We will put idle men to work in vocations where there will be a new demand for what we can make that peaceful nations want.

We will advertise to the world that American men are going to prove in this year of years that the American type of civilization is triumphant.

The American nation now has the opportunity to prove its position as the world power—not the power of armed might, but the Power of Peace.

The problems of our friends across the sea pass all human understanding. We have seen the beginning, no man knows the end.

The interwoven fabric of the world's commerce is being severely strained, but again we will see the rise and dominance of the "Minute Man," only this year (the 138th of the Independence of the United States) the designation will have a new significance.

The "Minute Man" today is the chap who is organizing and re-organizing to do business at home and abroad and who says to himself—"This is the time when I become a world merchant."

This type of man is as far removed from the other as the North Pole from the South. He will win because he deserves to win.

Deserters never win.

This publication is ready to aid every real merchant and manufacturer who nails his flag to the mast of progress and patriotism.

The advertisers in this and every issue of this publication are flying their flags.

The advertisement of a business is the outward, visible sign that it is alive.

It is worth while showing your advertising flag now—There is more than ordinary value in letting people know that you are here and will stay here,—an aggressive merchant or a manufacturer of today—tomorrow—and next year.

When the advertising flag disappears, he who hauls it down admits that he was a merchant of yesterday. We are dealing with men of today and tomorrow.

Yesterday is history.

The American men of today who see the true trend of things are mobolizing for a greater forward movement. A movement that is fraught with great opportunities and great victories, and our victory will be just as great as we deserve to have it for the nations of the world are all our friends and even though Europe fights with the right hand, we will grasp the left and prove our position as the friend of all and the enemy of none.

Join with us in this new conquest of the world, that we may be acclaimed the real victors when this war is over. Victors through the Arts of peace.

This is the time for Commercial Courage and not for Commercial Cowardice.

WELL-KNOWN WRITER TO AID SUFFRAGISTS

Miss Reina A. Lawrence, of This City, Chosen State Press Chairman.

Trenton, Sept. 3—The New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage is preparing to devote more attention to the publicity end of its campaign against the cause of suffrage, and with this purpose in view has announced the appointment of Miss Reina A. Lawrence, of Plainfield, as State press chairman. Miss Lawrence is a cousin of the well-known writer, Dorothea L. Dix (Dorothy Dix), and has had considerable newspaper experience herself. She has been writing for New York and New Jersey publications for some years, and the "antis" feel that with her preparation and knowledge along these lines, together with her opposition to the votes for woman cause, Miss Lawrence will be able to render them valuable assistance in the fight to prevent New Jersey becoming an equal suffrage State.

The new press representative of the Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage is the author of some of the best literature that has been written on the subject. "Anti Suffrage in a Nutshell," "The Anti-Suffrage Point of View" and "A Friendly Word to Working Women" are the titles of some of the articles that have emanated from her pen. Some of Miss Lawrence's contributions on the subject of equal suffrage have been translated and published in French and Swedish papers.

WILL OPEN BRANCH OF LIBRARY IN EAST END

A branch of the Public Library is to be opened Saturday afternoon, at the Netherwood Reformed church, at which time the free distribution will be started to the residents in that neighborhood. Miss Ruth Ralston, daughter of Rev. Edward Ralston, pastor of the church, who has had considerable experience in library work, will be in charge of the branch. Lists of the books available at the branch may be had by application, free.

JUDGE GILHOOLEY ENDORSES WRIGHT

Hopes For His Success In Securing County Clerkship Nomination.

Former Judge Patrick H. Gilhooly, of the Elizabeth District Court, and widely-known as a Democrat, has added his personal endorsement to the candidacy of Sheriff W. H.

Sheriff William H. Wright.

Wright for the Republican county clerkship nomination, it being a voluntary act on his part, although not being a Republican he is prevented from supporting Mr. Wright at the primary election on September 22. Judge Gilhooley's endorsement is as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., Aug. 24, 1914.

My Dear Sheriff:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to extend to you my best wishes for your success in the present canvass you are conducting for the Republican County Clerkship nomination. At the same time I cannot but express my regret I feel over the loss of your efficient service in the Sheriff's office at the expiration of your term. The office, while you have been running it, has ever been properly and capably managed, and has been established on a firm business footing so that there is no loss of time or extra effort required to obtain information or transact business. This is not always found in public offices and where found should be encouraged. If successful in your present endeavor, I am sure the same methods will be used in conducting the office, thereby ensuring continued satisfactory public service.

Again wishing you success, I am,

Sincerely yours,

P. H. GILHOOLEY.

Notise is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfeld, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, will on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said city, expose for sale and sell the several tracts or parcels of land hereinafter specified, or any part or parts thereof severally sufficient for the purpose, on which taxes for the year nineteen hundred and thirteen remain in arrears, to such person or persons as will purchase the same for the shortest term and pay the tax lien thereon, including interest and costs of sale, or in fee where no one will bid for a shorter term.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS OF USING POTATOES.

THE homely potato may be disguised in various appetizing ways. If you are looking for novel ways of serving potatoes consider these recipes:

Potato Custard.—Take six large white potatoes, boil and mash them and add two well beaten eggs, butter, pepper, salt and a cupful of hot milk. Beat until smooth and light, add a little sugar and a dash of nutmeg. Lightly fill greased custard cups and bake.

Foreign Recipes.

Potato Flanders.—Take four large potatoes, boil and slice them and add a tablespoonful of chopped onion, as much parsley, pepper and salt to taste and half a cupful of rich milk. Stir and pour into a baking dish, cover with the yolk of an egg mixed with half a cupful of breadcrumbs. Bake until brown.

Hollandaise Potatoes.—Cut boiled potatoes in quarters. If potatoes are large cut into eighths. Pour melted butter flavored with lemon juice over them. Season with salt and paprika and cook about ten minutes in the oven. Then sprinkle with parsley. Use one and a half cupfuls of potatoes to two tablespoonfuls of butter and half a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

A Tempting Salad.

Potato and Olive Salad.—Take four good sized boiled potatoes and cut into dice. Add fifteen stoned and chopped olives cut into good sized pieces and two hard boiled eggs, also cut up. Sprinkle with salt, olive oil and vinegar and fold together. Set on ice for an hour. Add half a cupful of stiff mayonnaise. Put rings of olives on top.

Curried Potatoes.—Take two large potatoes cut into cubes about an inch square, place in saucepan with a tablespoonful of melted butter. Season to taste with salt, cayenne pepper and a teaspoonful of curry powder. Stir thoroughly and then add a pint of hot water. Let cook till potatoes are well done, but not mushy. Leave enough liquid to form a gravy when they are served. If you like a milk sauce put an eighth of a cupful of milk in a bowl, add half a cupful of cold water and blend in two tablespoonfuls of flour. Pour this over the potatoes and cook till liquid is reduced one-half.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Baby Who Was a Rubber Ball.

And Dance the Little Boy Around by His Feet.

"MRS. PERKINS, next door, is awfully careful of her baby, daddy," said Evelyn, after losing by a full foot in her race to daddy's knee, while Jack shouted in triumph. "I was holding him today, and she made me put him down because she was afraid I would drop him. Why, I never even dropped one of my dolls!"

"Goodness!" exclaimed daddy. "I wonder what Mrs. Perkins would do if anybody tried to use her baby for a rubber ball!"

"What do you mean, daddy?" asked Jack.

"I'll tell you the story of a baby, and I am sure you will agree that he was a rubber ball, at least part of the time.

"It was over in Japan. This baby's papa and mamma were acrobats and skillful.

"Well, this baby was brought to them a boy, just what they had prayed their gods to send them. He was a very strong, healthy baby, and they were glad of this, too, for there was much hard work for him to do in the future.

"At an age when most babies are just sucking their thumbs and can hardly creep this little Jap baby was already in training to be an acrobat. His papa and mamma would stand across from each other and toss him from one to the other like a ball. This was to make him hard and strong, and they would roll him along the floor, and his papa would hold him out on his arms, on the back of his little neck and just under his little round heels and would tell him to arch his little back and stick his tummy up into the air, and he would come up just like a bow. This was to make his back strong.

"Then they taught him to turn somersaults and handsprings, and he just loved the work because it made him strong and healthy and gave him a great big appetite for his rice. He always tried to do his work well, for if he didn't he would get a smart spanking.

"When the baby grew to be a small boy he was quite skilled, and he came to America with his parents, and they traveled with a big circus, and the little boy would curl himself all up into a tiny round ball, and his daddy would lay on his back on a plush cushion with his feet in the air and dance the little boy around on his feet as if he were a rubber ball, and then the little boy would turn handsprings like everything and do all sorts of wonderful things. His parents got all the money, of course, but he didn't mind, for he had everything he wanted, which wasn't very much, and when he grew up he could earn a heap of money for himself. Good night, kiddies, and pleasant dreams."

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Clara Joel, a talented and beautiful young actress of undisputed charm, heads the excellent cast the Selwyn Company has engaged for "Within the Law," the stirring new drama of modern metropolitan life which will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre tonight, portrays the role of a girl who, after spending three years in prison for a crime of which she is innocent, attempts to re-establish herself among reputable people but is persecuted by the police, hounded out of honest employment and forced into a life of crime. From a timid, shrinking girl she develops into a brilliant, daring woman of cleverness and ingenuity, becoming the leader of a band of crooks who prey upon society at will and damage to avoid the clutches of the police by remaining always "within the law," although they employ the artificialities and technicalities of the law to safeguard their illegitimate pursuits. She also avenges herself upon the man who unjustly sent her to prison, almost breaking his heart, through his son and heir. Eventually she falls in love with the young man, and is restored to her rightful position in society. Critics in New York and Chicago, in both of which cities this play is the current theatrical triumph, unanimously declared "Within the Law" the most thrilling drama given to the American stage in the past decade.

The dance craze that is sweeping America has put everybody eagerly on the lookout for a novelty that will have in it the tonic qualities of the tango or the hisitation waltz. Just such a novelty is promiseid in "High Jinks," the musical comedy which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night. "High Jinks" depends for its hilarity on a magic perfume which sets everybody in a frenzy of delight. In the first act when the scent begins to operate there is produced a marvelous dance tune, which one reviewer of the piece at the Casino, New York, described as a "Hesitation Schottische." He added that it "has this advantage for tea-dance amateurs that it is so taking it almost dances itself." What is described as the most amazing dance number on the contemporary stage is the "High Jinks Wiggle Wraggle," which occurs at the close of the second act. The entire company, including the large and gayly-dressed chorus, participate.

The very best rule for the occasional theatregoer to make is to go to a theatre every time a Gus Hill show comes to town then there will be no disappointment. The work of a successful producer will always be worthy of your patronage. You've found it so in all lines of business. Mr. Hill's latest, and we may say greatest effort in cartoon musical comedy production, is founded on George McManus's cartoon series "Bringing up Father," which comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, afternoon and evening. It's a big vaudeville review, with real comedy enough to make two more plays. Don't miss it.

Before sending out the various "Potash and Perlmutter" companies that will interpret the famous play throughout the entire country this season, Manager A. H. Woods arranged that every principal in every company should play a long engagement at the Cohan Theatre, New York city. This unique plan would be impossible of execution were it not for the fact that "Potash and Perlmutter" ran for nearly two years at that theatre. Not a single one of these actors was finally signed for tour, until he had demonstrated his or her ability to please a discriminating audience and when the companies finally left for the road, Manager Woods had satisfied himself that every organization was "100 per cent. good." "Potash and Perlmutter" comes to the Plainfield Theatre, on Monday afternoon and evening with just such a company of splendid artists, all of whom have played at the Cohan Theatre to capacity audiences. In the cast will be: Lew Welch, Jules Jordan, Robert Scott, Edwin Rogers, David Leonard, Robert Newmann, J. Woodford Ray, W. H. Leydon, J. Irving Southard, Robert Barber, Jane Fearnley, Katherine DeBarry, Jean King, Mildred Gates, Ethel Brice, Olga Britton and Mabel Vanette.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

WILL PAY SMALL BOARD MEMBERS

After Much Delay Freeholders Finally Approve Salary List.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Owing to Stringency of Money Market It Is Decided to Withhold Payment Until October—Bond Issue For Bridge Work Adopted.

Elizabeth, Sept. 4.—After several months delay and more or less acrimonious discussion between the members of the ousted small board of Freeholders and the present board the latter body yesterday, by resolution, decided to pay the salaries due the five living members of the old board, and to the estate of the late J. Logan Fay, the latter's salary. The money due Dr. Thomas E. Dolan, the small board's county physician and William A. Bourdon, its clerk, was also ordered paid. Dennis F. Hennessy, who was a member of the small board and Mr. Bourdon, who is a member of the present board, did not vote on the question. John P. Owens, county attorney, for the small board has already been paid.

When the report favoring the payment and citing the decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals in the case of Lyons vs. Morris county was read, Freeholder Hennessy made a speech seeking compensation for the officers of the smal board, the county sealer, the county engineer and custodian. He claimed that they, too, had rendered services. Charles A. Smith, of Westfield, chairman of the committee, said that there was nothing before the board to show that these appointees had rendered services.

The report also carried a recommendation for the payment of $523 to John K. English and William R. Wilson, counsel who represented Thomas Pierson of the small board in his action to sustain the small board.

The following are the persons to receive salaries: Thomas J. Hughes, $345.60; James J. McCann, $303; J. Logan Fay (deceased), $325; Dennis F. Hennessy $363.60; Joseph F. Greer, $365.40; Dr. Thomas E. Dolan, $166.29; William A. Bourdon, $275.

When resolutions calling for various bridge repairs and for rebuilding of culverts were read Director Cady announced that because of stringency in the money market the board had been unable to borrow money from the banks to any great extent and what was borrowed entailed a high rate of interest. Collector Leavitt supplemented this statement by saying that the bridge account was exhausted and that he could secure only within $30,000 of a sum asked for to pay interest on the bonded debt, etc. This later led Freeholder McMane to suggest that the small freeholder board salaries be not paid until October, as the account for the salaries is included in the new budget which does not go into effect until then. The suggestion was adopted. Action was also postponed on several of the smaller improvements proposed. An ordinance providing for a bond issue of $35,000 to erect new bridges over the Rahway river at Rahway and Cranford was passed.

VAUDEVILLE SEASON OPENS LABOR DAY

Attractive Feature Acts Announced For Proctor's Theatre.

Amusement lovers will welcome the announcement of the grand opening of the vaudeville season at Proctor's Theatre, on Monday, which will hereafter be a big feature at this popular playhouse. The management plans to present an unusually attractive program of the best acts in vaudeville and motion pictures with a change of bill on Mondays and Thursdays. Preparatory to the resumption of vaudeville, extensive improvements and changes have been made at the theatre, which includes all new scenery of special design and it will be the aim of the management to offer the best bills obtainable. There will be five special acts and six photo-plays daily, there being one performance in the afternoon and two in the evening.

The grand opening bill of vaudeville for next week comprises all well-known people in vaudeville, one one of the big feature acts being presented on Thursday by Elita Proctor Otis & Company of four in a comedy, "The Store Manager."

The bill for the first three days of the week is as follows:

"Ye Olden Days and Present Ways," by Louise and Grete Brunelle, assisted by Harry Stephens, in a neat and pretty act; Tom and Edith Almond, scenic vaudeville act with skating; Three Tumbling Toms, comedy acrobats; Rose & Gates, character comedians, "Mail Order Business;" Barlow & Weston, "The Man, the Woman and the Piano."

The bill for the last three days of the week will be as follows:

Elita Proctor Otis & Company of four, in a comedy, "The Store Manager;" Kenneth & Lacey, musical evolution—1860-1920, songs, dances and changes; Phasma, the Goddess of Light, and electrical surprise extraordinary; Smiletta Sisters, wire and contortion feature; Leonardi, instrumental virtuoso.

ANDERSON THINKS UP SOME MORE CAMPAIGN ARGUMENTS

William De Laroche Anderson, Republican candidate for Congress in this district made the statement in speaking last night, at Princeton on the issues of the campaign that there were only two important questions which could be taken up and handled intelligently just at this time, namely the adoption of a battleship program such as will ensure continued peace of this country and the standardization of merchant marine laws so as to allow this nation to take advantage of the marvelous opportunity of controlling the markets of the world. Mr. Anderson claimed that organized labor was patriotic enough not to object and far sighted enough to see that some concessions for the time being in this matter would be returned a thousand fold a little later.

MISS ELSIE PERINE WEDS H. S. FULLERTON

The wedding of Miss Elsie Perine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward TenBroeck Perine, of New York, to Henry Suydam Fullerton, Jr., of this city took place last night in the Hamilton Grange Reformed church in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fred B. Newman, of Tunkhannock, Pa., but formerly of this city, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Paul Seibert Leinbach, of the Hamilton Grange Reformed church.

Miss Rita Perine was her sister's only attendant and Donald B. Fullerton was his brother's best man. The ushers were Alfred J. Grimm, Edward W. Sage, John L. Thompson and Thomas H. Leggett, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton will live in this city.

MARTIN LIKELY TO HAVE OPPOSITION

Democrats Said to be Searching For Another Prospective Candidate.

The announcement that Councilman Theodore A. Martin will seek the Democratic nomination for Mayor evidently is not pleasing to the majority of the members of that party in this city. This became known today when there was a rumor about the city that he is to be opposed by some other member of his party. As the time for filing petitions is passed, such action would necessitate the writing of the name on the ballot at the primary. Just why Mr. Martin should have opposition from members of his party is not made clear, for it is known that until he decided to enter the race it was impossible to get any one to seek the nomination.

This is not the only trouble confronting the Democrats. They are now trying to secure prospective candidates for Common Council in the First and Third wards. Seymour Perkins from the Second ward and David L. Coleman from the Fourth ward are Democratic candidates for councilmanic nominations and the party is anxious to complete the ticket.

It is now learned that the political situation in the borough is to be further complicated by Republicans. There was a rumor today that members of the party who are not in harmony with the present administration are planning to place candidates in the field to oppose the re-nomination of Edmund Rushmore and Julius J. Stahl for Council, notwithstanding that Howard Woolston has filed his petition.

DETAILS FOR PARADE ABOUT COMPLETE

Allied Trades' Committee Discuss Plans For Big Demonstration.

There was a meeting of the Labor Day Parade Committee of the Allied Trades of this city, last evening, at which time the details for the labor demonstration on Monday were completed. The committee expressed its pleasure over the decorations being made by local business houses in recognition of the day. It was stated that at least 2,000 men will be in line.

A number of the local unions will entertain out of town guests on Labor Day, who will take part in the parade, which were announced as follows: Painter's Union will entertain delegations from Local, No. 59, of Elizabeth, Local No. 590, of Cranford, Local No. 20, of Westfield, and representatives of the Bound Brook; Lather's Union will receive guests from Somerville; machinists will be visited by delegates from Trenton, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Elizabeth, Newark, and Paterson; while the Carpenters and Joiners' Union will receive guests from Bound Brook and Somerville.

The final meeting of the committee has been called for Sunday afternoon, at which time the badges will be distributed to the representatives of the various locals, who, in turn, will give them to those who are to participate in the parade on Monday morning prior to the formation of the line of march on West Front street, West of Plainfield avenue.

The aides to Chief Marshall William H. Lunger have been announced as follows: R. D. Scott, D. A. Rhodes, R. N. Anderson, James Anderson, Charles Dahl, E. V. D. Peterson, Joseph Neuman, Russel Hahn, H. H. Corey, and Paul Kelm.

The parade is to start promptly at 10 o'clock Monday morning on Front street, west of Plainfield avenue, moving east. The reviewing stand for the occasion is to be located at the city park on West Eighth street. The officials of the city and the borough will head the parade, and will drop out of line upon reaching the grandstand.

A picnic is to be held during the afternoon and evening, with speakers in the afternoon. The picnic as arranged will be especially for the members of the unions and their families. The general public, however, is invited to hear the speakers at Vails' Grove, West Fourth street and Monroe avenue. Several bands, together with fife and drum corps, have been engaged for the morning portion of the program

JOHN H. CAPSTICK SPEAKS IN THIS CITY

John H. Capstick, of Morris county, who is seeking the Republican Congressional nomination, addressed a gathering of Republicans in the Frost building, last night, in which he made a strong plea in support of his candidacy. While the attendance was not as large as hoped for, there was considerable enthusiasm and there seemed to be a strong feeling that the Republican ticket would be successful this fall. V. W. Nash, Jr., representing the First Ward Republican Club, called the meeting, after which former Mayor James F. Buckle was chosen chairman. He introduced Mr. Capstick.

Mr. Capstick spoke briefly and to the point on the issues of the day, referring especially to the tariff. In his opinion the low, or revenue only tariff, affected the lines of business with which he was conversant. Mr. Capstick was for over thirty years engaged in the cotton dyeing business and he told how the Wilson low tariff bill affected that industry. Mr. Capstick has since retired from business and he told those present last night that he is in a position to devote his whole time to such matters as might come in Congress should he be elected to office. He branded as false the statements that he had been unfair to labor and related many instances to prove the contrary.

During the evening there were interesting remarks by former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, former Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough and William Newcorn in which the political situation was reviewed. Each speaker expressed a confidence that the Republican ticket would be successful at the November election.

FESTIVAL HELPS INCREASE WAR FUND

The members of the German Lutheran church, of the borough, have raised about five hundred dollars for the German Red Cross Society. This sum was raised by a subscription campaign and a festival which was held in the church and on the surrounding grounds last night. Three weeks ago a meeting was held to discuss plans for raising money to help the Germans in the war. Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, was elected treasurer and he has made arrangements with the German consule-general in New York to have the money transferred to the other side where it is needed.

At that first meeting there was over one hundred dollars donated to the fund and it has been increasing rapidly ever since. The affair last night was a huge success and the proceeds greatly increased the fund. There were several tables which were decorated and all of the salables were "red cross" goods. The committees in charge of the festival were chosen from the Ladies' Aid Society, Young People's Society and the board of trustees.

The members of this church are very much in earnest in their work and have expressed a sentiment that they hope the subjects of other warring countries will follow their lead and try to help their native lands.

The committee wishes to thank the merchants of this city who contributed articles to be sold and also thank the public for the interest shown. The executive committee was composed of J. Bawer, chairman, William Muldankee, treasurer, Miss Cott, Mrs. Guttenberger, Miss Ekart and Edel Moldenkee.

RETURNS FROM GERMANY.

A. P. Anderson, of Chicago, Ill., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Martin N. Hansen, of East Seventh street for a few days before returning to his home in the west. Mr. Anderson has been in Germany visiting his mother and arrived in New York last Tuesday on the Ryndam. He started for Europe in July and on his way to New York, stopped here to see his sister. It was the first time they had met in about thirty-three years. Mr. Anderson will leave shortly for Chicago.

DEATH OF AN INFANT.

Mary A. Debbie, eleven-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Debbie, of Scotch Plains, died this morning at her parent's home. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the house and interment will be made in the Stony Hill cemetery.

MRS. SANDFORD ON THE WAY HOME

Sailed From Liverpool September 1 For Boston.

Mrs. Frederick S. Sandford, of this city, who is a member of the Honeyman party of tourists which has been marooned abroad owing to war conditions, was on August 24 last stopping at the C. R. Princes Street Station Hotel, Edinburgh, Scotland, according to a postal received today by Mr. and Mrs. Corra Ryno, of Codington avenue. Mrs. Sandford and the other members of the party expected to sail from Liverpool on the Laconia, on Tuesday last, for home, if their plans were not upset.

Mrs. Sandford writes as follows:

"War has driven us around in a circle. Have been to Berlin and Copenhagen twice. Broke circle by crossing North Sea and coming here. At one time it looked hopeless about getting home. Have secured rooms on two boats but now think of sailing September 1 by Laconia from Liverpool to Boston. If so may get home on time. My trunk is in Vienna with all my good clothes and we may never get it. My room is on the other side of this large hotel, castle and grounds are directly opposite. Saw over 1,000 Highlanders march past here on Sunday."

—Daily Press want advs. pay.

Petrograd, Sept. 4 (Central News Cable).—Lemberg has fallen to Russian troops. In addition, Grand Duke Nicholas said the town of Halicz, in Galicia, also had fallen to the Russians. Halicz is on the River Lipa and is southeast of Lemberg. The fighting at the second Austrian attack has been repulsed triumphantly..

"With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under Gen. Ruzcky captured Lemberg at 11 o'clock this morning, while the army of Gen. Brussiloff have taken Halicz.

"I beg of your majesty to confer on Gen. Ruzcky the fourth class of the order of St. George and for the capture of Lemberg the third class of the same order and on Gen. Brussiloff the fourth class of the same order."

The Government has issued this official statement concerning the operations of the army: "Official reports say that the enemy is retreating after desperate fighting near Halicz, leaving 4,500 dead on the field. The Russians took 32 cannon and railway material.

"On the south in front of Warsaw, the Austrian attack was repulsed and the offensive taken by the Russians."

"It is also officially announced that the Russian troops continue to make progress in the north region of East Prussia. In the south the Germans have been re-inforced by troops from the French frontier and powerful artillery has been brought up. The Russian troops, it is stated, have been re-inforced on the Vistula and Dneister Rivers and a fierce battle continues.

London, Sept. 4 (Central News Cable).—Under the date of yesterday, the correspondent of The Times, at Dieppe, sends a message indicating that the German troops are less than 25 miles from Paris. The correspondent says that all day yesterday the head of the wedge that now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Criel. Windows were broken in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris, by the cannonading. Germans are also near Siossens.

It is said that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans so as to avoid the destruction of property from the enemy's artillery fire, according to a despatch from the Rouen, France, correspondent of the Chronicle.

At 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning, says a despatch to The Times from Beauvais, 40 miles from Paris to the northwest, the Germans entered the town of Clermont. This place is 35 miles from Paris.. German cavalry was also operating about Beauvais.

There is an unconfirmed report that an ultimatum has been sent to Holland by Germany. Nothing is known in regard to the character of the ultimatum or when it expires.

Another grave allegation of barbarism is made against the German troops. A Central News despatch from Petrograd says that an examination of the graves of soldiers after the retirement of the Germans from the southwest frontier disclosed that a number of the Russians who had been buried had been only wounded in the arms and legs. This leads to the belief in Russia that the Germans buried the Russians alive when the latter were suffering only from slight wounds and could have been successfully treated by surgeons.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Turkey is not contemplating a declaration of war, according to the Turkish ambassador, A. Rustem Bey, who received despatches from his government. The despatch follows:

"By reason of the neutrality adopted by the Turkish government, the government has sent out orders to all military authorities to insure the perfect safety of merchant vessels of the belligerent nations taking refuge in Turkish ports."

"This," said Ambassador Rustem, "was an emphatic indirect denial of the reports that the Turkish mobilization was preliminary to a sudden attack on Russia and England."

Japan stands ready to aid great Britain in case of trouble in India. This was the declaration made at the Japanese embassy today, with the added declaration that of course the request of assistance would have to come from the British government. It was apparent that the matter had been discussed between the Embassy and Tokio, for the announcement was made with entire finality.

The Japanese embassy declined to comment on the possibility of her troops being needed in India, or the rumored disaffection of the native Indian troops.. The State Department has been requested by the Japanese embassy to look after the safety of fifty Japanese students who are still in Germany un-

HIGHEST SALARY FOR THIS CHORUS GIRL

IRENE MEDORA in "LITTLE BOY BLUE".

Think of receiving $75.00 a week for work as a chorus girl!

This is the earning capacity of the beautiful Irene Medora, star chorus girl of "The Little Boy Blue" company, which will soon be seen here. Perhaps there are a few exceptional qualities which combine to make Miss Medora of so much value to the management of the famous Viennese musical comedy, but the figure itself, exceeding by many dollars the average salary of the minor principal, estimates the future of any girl with stage aspirations, and proves practically the demand by New York theatrical managers for superior young women for chorus work.

The general requirements for chorus work are: Beauty, dancing ability, shapeliness, grace, and intelligence. A whole lot of things, one might conclude; but then the important ones are beauty, intelligence, shapeliness, and grace. Dancing may be acquired, and singing is subordinate. In most of the choruses half the girls do not know how to sing. They simply move their lips in unison, and the vocal work is done by girls of the Irene Medora type.

Miss Medora is what one might call a chorus leader. She has trained in Paris, and has an excellent soprano voice—so good that she is now ready for an operatic career. She has joined the "Little Boy Blue" company for a season's experience. As is the case with all Viennese compositions, the music is difficult in places. This forces the management to engage a number of trained voices.

But what enhances Miss Medora's value is her dancing ability. You may call them the tango, Maxixe, Hesitation, Innovation, Fox Trot, Lame Duck, anything you like; but the truth is that they all came to this country by way of the Parisian cafés. The modern society dance had its origin in the great French metropolis. Miss Medora learned to dance while training her voice. She is rated one of the best society dancers on the stage.

The immense Parisian Tabarin Cafe scene of the first act of "Little Boy Blue" will be a carnival of modern society dancing. In it couples will show the ultra steps of the new dances. The engagement of this company here promises to be one of the greatest musical and dancing treats of the season.

Former Mayor Charles E. Richards and sons, Maxwell and Jack, enjoyed a canoe trip on the Raritan Canal yesterday. They first dipped their paddles in the water at Bound Brook at 8:50 o'clock. It was their intention then, to paddle to Carnegie Lake Princeton. But a half after high noon found them only as far as Griggstown, six long miles from their planned destination, so they decided to lunch and start on their home trip. They arrived back in Bound Brook at 5:30, having covered 25 miles at the rate of a fraction over three miles an hour, which is considered very good time. It was Mr. Richard's first experience in a canoe and he said that he felt rather ticklish at first. But he said that he was soon satisfied that one was perfectly safe in the flimsy craft as long as one remained quiet and after that he enjoyed the trip immensely. He is of the opinion that the mild exercise of paddling in the open air would be a fine prescription for the broken down business man. "No stomach bitters or any other patent appetizer could have ever given me the appetite that that canoe trip gave me," the former mayor said. The gist of Mr. Richard's enthusiastic conversation was that he and a canoe are going to be close friends from now on. Another attempt will be made to paddle to Carnegie Lake, but an earlier start will be made next time.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Patrick Lawrence, of Fairview avenue, had a narrow escape from instant death when he was caught between two trains on the Prospect avenue crossing of the Central railroad on Wednesday evening. The gates were down and Michael Moynihan's local, due at Dunellen at 6:37, was approaching from Bound Brook and a west bound train was standing at the station letting passengers off when Lawrence ventured to cross the tracks. He had these trains guaged to a nicety but he did not see the Washington flier, that passes through the borough about this time every evening at a rate of a mile a minute, rapidly approaching until the train was about on top of him. With rare presence of mind he quickly stepped back off of the track. His backward progress was however checked by the nearness of Moynihan's train and all that he could do was to grasp the end of the fence that separates the eastward and westward tracks and breathe a prayer. His hat was blown off by the wind made by the flier. Engineer Moynihan seeing the hat fly in front of his engine and thinking that the man was surely struck applied the brakes so abruptly that some of the passengers in the coaches of his train were thrown out of their seats. Lawrence when interviewed last evening said that the incident was a lesson to him and should be to those who make a practise of crossing the railroad while the gates are down.

BOROUGH LADS DISAPPEAR.

Two lads, Gustav Brodack, whose parents reside on the Sanford property, and Joseph Fleece, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleece, of Grove street, shook the dust of the borough off of their feet yesterday afternoon. The last seen of the two was at 3 o'clock. Whether they are bound to re-enforce the allies in front of Paris or to shoot Indians in the wild and woolly west no one knows. As far as is known they only had $4.00 in their pockets when they departed. This is known because Joseph Fleece, the father, claims that he is minus that amount. Young Fleece is eleven years old and young Brodack is nine. Mr. Fleece says that his Joe is a good boy and must have been induced to take the step by Gustav, who has proven a mischievious lad in the past, being up to all sort of pranks. Gustav was arraigned before Recorder David S. Campbell last January for breaking windows in the Hall Printing Press Works. When apprised that his son had run away Brodack Senior, said, "Me no care."

CRUSADE ON DOGS.

The date for securing dog licenses has passed and the number of licenses that have been issued do not even correspond with the number of dogs that are seen running loose without taking into account the number of animals that are kept tied up. All dogs for which 1915 licenses have not been obtained are now at the mercy of the authorities. If you care anything at all about your faithful animal it will pay you to take out a new license at once rather than to pay the extra charges amounting to between $1.25 and $1.50, that you will have to pay if your dog is impounded.

The ordinance committee of the Borough Council is working on an ordinance to be brought up at the October meeting, that will impose a license on all junk dealers doing business in the borough. It is thought that these dealers also known something about how goods that have been taken from borough residences in recent burglaries have been disposed of. The ordinance will also give any member of the Council power to search any junk dealer's property of he suspects him of possessing stolen goods.

And now Abraham Lincoln rose from his seat, stretched his long, bony limbs upward as if to get them into working order, and stood like some solitary pine on a lonely summit, very tall, very dark, very gaunt and very rugged, his swarthy features stamped with a sad serenity, and the instant he began to speak the ungainly mouth lost its heaviness, the half listless eyes attained wondrous power, and the people stood bewildered and breathless under the natural magic of the strangest, most original personality known to the English speaking world since Robert Burns.

There were other very tall and dark men in the heterogeneous assembly, but not one who resembled the speaker. Every movement of his long, muscular frame denoted inflexible earnestness, and a something issued forth, elemental and mystical, that told what the man had been, what he was and what he would do in the future.—From "The Valley of Shadows," by Francis Grierson.

Measuring Light Speed.

Even in this speed mad age we can never hope to equal the speed of light, which the scientists tell us is 186,000 miles a second. If light could not actually be measured no one would believe it.

There is a delicate instrument used in measuring light which throws a beam of light upon a revolving disk. There was some doubt about the figures obtained in this way until it was found that when the earth was in the part of its orbit nearest to Jupiter eclipses took place sixteen minutes earlier than when it was in the farthermost part, whereas by all rules of astronomy they should have taken place at the same minute each time. It is deduced from this that the light was not instantaneous and consequently took sixteen minutes to traverse the diameter of the earth's orbit, a distance of about 200,000,000 miles, thus giving to light a velocity of 186,000 miles a second, which was accurately shown later by other experiments.—Exchange.

The Taste For Salt.

Concerning the African craving for salt, Livingstone gives interesting testimony. Only the rich among Bakwanis could afford to buy it, and the poor suffered from indigestion for lack of it. Native doctors accordingly made salt a usual ingredient of their medicine, and Livingstone successfully gave sufferers teaspoonfuls of neat salt. But now comes a notable point. "Either milk or meat had the same effect though not so rapidly, as salt. Long afterward, when I was myself deprived of salt for four months at two distinct periods, I felt no desire for that condiment, but I was plagued by very great longing for the above articles of food. This continued as long as I was confined to an exclusively vegetable diet, and when I procured a meal of flesh, though boiled in perfectly fresh rain water, it tasted as pleasantly saltish as if slightly impregnated with the condiment."—London Standard.

Scar of Art Theft.

There is a picture at Hampton court which bears witness to a theft that may be termed patriotic. This is Holbein's "Field of the Cloth of Gold," which after the downfall of Charles I. Cromwell proposed to sell. But when the would be purchaser came to inspect it he discovered that the head of Henry VIII. had been cut from the canvas. He refused to buy the picture, and it was preserved to the nation. At the restoration a nobleman confessed to having committed the crime for "love of art and country." He returned the missing head, which now occupies its original position, the circle made by the knife in the canvas being still plainly visible. — London Chronicle.

Amsterdam, Sept. 4 (Central News Cable)—A special war correspondent of the Central News who has just returned from a visit to Belgium, telegraphs from the frontier that he visited Antwerp, yesterday.

"Despite the danger of attack from the Germans, the town, he says, is calm. The Avenue de Keyser for the first time is not trodden by foreigners. They have all left, but the number of the fugitives who have come in is enormous. In order to deal with the situation, General Du-Four, the commander of Antwerp, has ordered everyone to leave Antwerp before midnight if they cannot prove that they were established in the city previous to August 1. He issued this order because foodstuffs will be scarce and desires to take care of the inhabitants of the city in preference to outsiders.

"Later, I spoke to a prominent personality of Antwerp who cannot be named. He declared that on the neutral States rested the moral duty to intervene when a beligerent was committing illegalities in connection with the war activities. The neutral powers, he added, should put a check to the strategic consequences growing out of these illegalities and keep the war balance even."

10:10 a. m. A despatch from Berlin says that all statements concerning the war contributions demanded from the Belgian cities of Brussels and Lige are premature. As yet, it is added, the amounts have not been definitely settled.

Reports from Antwerp, last night, say that a Zeppelin dirigible again appeared over the city during the night and dropped bombs. No particular damage was done. All the English newspapermen have left Antwerp for Holland. The Germans have fired several villages near Malines and Assche.

It is recognized on all sides that the war will radically change and improve the position of the Jews in the Czar's domains. Their bravery and exploits at the front are attracting considerable attention. A Jewish medical student coming from Vilna named Ornas has received the order of the cross of Saint George. He was invalided and sent to a hospital, having been severely wounded in saving the colors of his regiment in the last extremity in the terrible fighting in the eastern part of Prussia. Mexico, a Land of Strange Contrasts, High Lights and Deep Shadows

"PERHAPS nowhere else in the world is there a country so full of contrasts as Mexico," writes William Joseph Showalter to the National Geographic society, at Washington. "With a university established before John Harvard, Elihu Yale and William and Mary were born, the masses of its people are hopelessly ignorant. With a hospital founded before Jamestown was even dreamed of, it is one of the most backward regions of the earth in a medical way. With natural riches greater than those of a thousand Midases, its masses are just as poor as the proverbial church mouse. With a constitution as perfect as any organic law in the civilized world, it is a nation whose rulers always have been a law unto themselves.

"Here you will see a Mexican half breed, barefooted, wearing a dollar pair of trousers, a fifty cent shirt and a ten dollar sombrero. There, at a single glance and within the length of a single city block, you may see an Indian cargador, a donkey, an oxcart, a carriage, a railroad train, a street car and an automobile—almost every type of locomotion since Adam. Everywhere you turn are contrast, high lights and deep shadows.

"Mexico probably has a greater range of remarkable vegetation than any other country in the world. The parrot fruit tree produces an odd shaped fruit, bearing a close resemblance to green parrakeets. Another remarkable tree is the arbol de dinamite (dynamite tree), whose fruit if kept in a warm place bursts with a great deal of force and a loud report, scattering its flat seeds to a surprising distance. One of the most interesting fruits in Mexico is known as the melon zapote, or papaya. It contains considerable pepsin, which reacts against both acid and alkaline conditions of the stomach, and it is said that a diet which includes papaya precludes dyspepsia. Both the fruit and the leaves possess the singular property of rendering tough meat tender. When the pulp of the fruit is rubbed over a piece of tough meat the juice attacks the fiber and softens it.

"No other country south of the Rio Grande is so well supplied with railroads. Prior to the Madero revolution it had 20,000 miles of up to date American railroads, which carried 11,000,000 passengers annually and handled about 11,000,000 tons of freight. Their total revenues amounted to about $40,000,000. The government owns a controlling interest in the major portion of the mileage of the railroads.

THE TOWN OF ORIZABA.

"Mexico produces one-third of the world's silver, a considerable percentage of its gold, one-ninth of its lead and one-twentieth of its copper. The country's mineral production, exclusive of iron, coal and petroleum, amounted to $158,000,000 in 1910. The famous iron mountain at Durango is estimated to contain 600,000,000 tons of iron ore, which is worth seven times the value of all the gold and silver mined in Mexico in two centuries. The Santa Maria graphite mines are the largest and most important in the western world. The region around the gulf of Mexico is very rich in petroleum. One company at Potero del Llano struck a gusher which flowed 100,000 barrels of oil a day.

"The drawnwork of the Mexican Indian is justly famed throughout the world and deserves to rank with the finest of Spanish and Italian laces. The Indians make all sorts of small objects to attract the centavos of the tourist. The little dolls of Cuernavaca, half an inch tall and dressed in finely embroidered raiment, are the admiration of every one who sees them.

"The Indians of Mexico eat many curious foods. One of the most remarkable of these is made of the eggs of a species of marsh fly. This fly deposits its eggs in incredible quantities upon flags and rushes. The eggs are gathered and made into cakes, which are sold in the markets. The Indians call the eggs water wheat. They resemble fine fish roe and when mixed with cornmeal and fowl eggs form a staple article of diet, particularly during Lent. The insects themselves, which are about the size of the housefly, are captured, pounded into a paste, boiled in cornhusks in much the same fashion as tamales and in this form are eaten."

FORMER FEDERALS ARE FIGHTING CARRANZA

More Trouble Started In Mexico By Constitutionalists' Opponents.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 4—Members of the former Federal army have cut off a force of 12,000 Constitutionalists under Jesus Carranza on the Isthmus of Tehuantepee, near Tierra Blanca.

At Tehuacan, General Higinio Aguilar has issued a proclamation calling all ex-Federals to join him to overthrow Carranza. His proclamation states Americans placed Carranza in power and that they are now responsible for the attitude which he has adopted toward army and church. That General Carranza, provisional President, will not remain in power long is the opinion expressed by an agent of General Zapata, who came here for a conference with General Villa.

Mexico City, Sept. 4—On a charge not made public, General Adolfo Jimenez Castro of the ex-Federal army has been arrested and locked up in the penitentiary by Carranza. General Castro, fighting in behalf of President Madero, took part in the capture of Vera Cruz when that city was seized by Felix Diaz.

Plans for a conference of army chiefs from all parts of the Mexican Republic to decide the manner and date for the calling of a general election was discussed at a meeting of President Carranza and his various departmental heads in Chapultepec Castle, which ended late last night. The apparent intention is to substitute a civil regime for the military at the earliest date possible.

THE RETURN OF WALLINGFORD

George Randolph Chester, like Conan Doyle, is so fond of certain of his characters that he will not willingly let them die in one book. Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford is as popular in his way as Sherlock Holmes, and he has been revived in "The Return of Wallingford," which has just been issued. The lovers of Wallingford will rejoice in this return and also in that of Blackie Daw, two crafty heroes of left handed business. The way that these now famous craftsmen pass gold bricks upon an unsuspecting world is made all the more entertaining in this reincarnation.

Best known as the author of "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford," which, when dramatized, enjoyed a long run on the stage, Mr. Chester is one of the foremost examples of the close connection that journalism today has with literature. Born in Ohio in 1869, he left home at an early age, and after trying his prentice hand at various occupations he began newspaper work on the Detroit News and later joined the Cincinnati Enquirer, where for a time he was Sunday editor. At this time he began contributing to a newspaper syndicate, and ere long he broke into the magazines. His stories soon began to attract wide attention, and his short story "The Strike Breaker," published in McClure's Magazine, was republished in the Literary Digest as the best short story of the month. Among his well known novels besides those mentioned are "The Cash Intrigue," "Making of Bobby Burnit," "The Jingo" and "A Tale of Red Roses." One of his very latest novels, "Cordelia Blossom," deals with the social career of a clever woman, who manages with skill and success her doting old Kentucky colonel of a husband and his political opponent, the state boss. By skillful wire-pulling she makes her husband a senator and herself the president of the National Federation of Iris Clubs.

Plainfield, N. J., Sept 4, 1914.

A BIG TASK.

Having been elected Pope, Benedict XV, as he has chosen to be called, faces a problem, which, if he can solve it, will send him down to history as the greatest man that ever occupied the chair. If he can bring about peace in the terrible struggle abroad, he will perform a service not only to his own people, but to the civilized world.

No doubt such an attempt will be made by the new leader of the Roman Catholic Church, so many of whose subjects are being slaughtered for no apparent cause. In fact it would be surprising if he did not make the attempt, for Pope Pius X is reported to have died of a broken heart because his influence did not avail when he sought to stop the conflict.

It is said that the new pontiff is a great statesman, and that is the type of man that is needed. He has had experience in diplomatic work outside of Italy, his home country, and no doubt he is one who will command the respect of the crowned heads of Europe who are involved in this deadly struggle. Perhaps the task will not be a hopeless one, especially in view of the fact that the German ambassador to the United States has frankly said that his country would be pleased to take advantage of any opening which might lead to peace.

We are heartily in accord with the Camden Post Telegram when it says: "If the new Pope should happily become the instrument for bringing the warring rulers and nations of Europe to realization of the blind folly of this dreadful conflict Protestant and Catholic alike would have reason to acclaim him as the benefactor of mankind."

ANOTHER FOOL LAW.

If Daily Press readers find strange carrier boys delivering their papers to them within a few days, blame the change on an entirely unnecessary law which was added to the hundred of others in the same class now on the statute books. In a change in the child labor and compulsory school laws which went into effect on July fourth, through someone's oversight, provision was made which prevents all boys under fourteen from carrying papers when employed by the newspapers direct. They can become merchants and sell all the papers they want to but cannot be employed.

The act will work a direct hardship upon several very worthy youngsters here in Plainfield, not only the Press list being affected, but every other news distributing organization in town. The boys under fourteen who are carrying papers are doing so because they are able to help their parents bear the burden of the increased cost of living, which is mounting higher every day. None of them are kept from school, and certainly an outdoor occupation of this kind for an hour or two each day is not harmful to the health of a boy much younger than fourteen.

An Assembly candidate on the Republican ticket in this county has made the principal plank in his platform one providing for less laws. That man has the right idea and it is to be hoped that every successful aspirant for legislative honors will be imbued with the same spirit. It's time a lot of the fool legislation was repealed, and the interference with personal rights, such as the newsboy regulation, should be stopped.

The Newark Sunday Call says: "That the newspapers are making lots of money on account of the European war is one of the erroneous ideas that is prevalent almost everywhere. The public jumps at the conclusion that the circulation of all of the newspapers have gone up into big figures and therefore there must be a corresponding increase in profits. That the cost of obtaining the latest news daily of the war, even though it may not be authentic, has entailed a burden upon every newspaper that gets out a daily and even a weekly edition that more than doubly offsets any profits that might be made from increased circulation, is lost sight of entirely, and by many men whose experience in business should cause them to know better. Hundreds and thousands of dollars extra are paid out daily by some of the newspapers in their efforts to give their readers the best obtainable news from the scene of the titanic contest that is involving all Europe, and as a result the publishers of the greater number of newspapers would welcome the ending of the war in the near future if for only mercenary motives."

There is a jocular saying that Pittsburgh's greatest industry is the raising of millionaires. It seems as if that much maligned city produces more wealthy men to the square mile than any other place in the union. Now they are benefitting by the war, and the reports from that center indicate anything but hard times. Yesterday the news reports told us that iron and steel orders have come to the Smoky City from South America, India, South Africa, Japan, Italy, Australia and Scandinavian countries, and that the district consequently looks for a big boom in the export trade. The demand for pottery products has grown, and contracts are pending for thousands of tons of steel rails. Certainly it looks as if with such a condition as this the present falling off in business is only temporary.

In view of the great Labor Day parade, which has been planned and the demonstration which is to be made by union labor men in this city on Monday, it is timely for The Daily Press to publish a contributed editorial written by a local union man. Tomorrow night, therefore, the editorial will be supplied by William H. Harding, one of the leaders in the Building Trades Council, where he represents the Carpenters Union, and he will have something to say about "Unionism."

Somerville certainly plans to be heard from on Labor Day. An auto polo game, which is a rare enough sport to be termed a real novelty, will be played. They have a live automobile club at the Somerset county seat.

THE FORUM

The following appeal is made by Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage:

Editor of Plainfield Daily Press:—

These are sobering days. The world war checks all our habits of thought and action. A survey and possibly a revision of our standard of values is demanded. What are the new duties taught by this incredible occasion The most obvious duty is that of strictest economy in energy and in money expenditures. The Federal government is appealed to "to cut to the bone all appropriation bills wherever that is possible." One of Mayor Mitchell's first acts in these days of stress was to urge upon the heads of city departments the postponement of all undertakings, however good in themselves, which might await a more favorable time for development. The Mayor's Committee on Food Supply makes its appeal to the individual housewife to conserve her interests by looking well to the ways of her household. It is time to grapple with conditions, not a time to demonstrate a theory. The souls of American women and of American men protest against war, but American women, even though their imagination sicken with the burden of the war, must face its consequences. It is not a time to organize peace parades, to seek this outlet which shall satisfy one's desire for emotional expression for spectacular demonstration against a great calamity. Woman needs all her energy, all her money to devise means of weathering this storm and of succoring those who may be engulfed.

The Women's Peace Parade Committee appeals to those who desire to help to "raise money" for the expenses. Is this a time for expenditure on street parades? It surely is a time for woman to show her skill in household management and her tender mercy toward those who are afflicted or distressed. A dollar given to the Red Cross will do more good—shall I say to donor as well as to recipient?—than ten times that amount spent in publicity for an ill-timed parade.

I appeal to all women of all creeds, of all shades of political faith, to give to the merciful work of alleviation, of suffering undertaken by the American Red Cross. I appeal to these women to expend neither time nor money in unrewarding ways. This day I am sending to all Anti-Suffrage organizations throughout the country an appeal to cut down their political activities and expenditures to the lowest possible amount and to collect funds for the American Red Cross work.

It is the time for a demonstration by the women of America that they are loyal to the traditions of self-sacrifice and devoted service, however obscure the ways of that service may be. Parades may have their place, but now is not their hour.

Contributions of any amount to the Red Cross work in Europe to be forwarded through the association opposed to Woman Suffrage may be sent to Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, Weataque, Conn., or to the local representative.

LINE OF MARCH WAS TOO LONG

Allied Trades Make Several Changes In Labor Day Parade.

Owing to the fact that a majority of the members of the Labor Parade General Committee were of the opinion that the line of march as announced earlier in the week for the parade was too long, Marshal William H. Lunger has announced a revised line of march as noted below. The parade will form on Front street, west of Plainfield avenue, and, proceed as follows: West Front street, to Park avenue, to North avenue, to Watchung avenue, to East Front street, to Somerset street, to Jackson avenue, to Watchung avenue, to Grandview avenue, to Somerset street, to Linden avenue, to Grove street, to Central avenue, to West Seventh street, to Plainfield avenue, to West Eighth street, passing reviewing stand at city park, to Crescent avenue, to Seventh street, and Watchung avenue, passing around Crescent Park, forming a counter march along Crescent avenue, to West Eighth street, passing the reviewing stand the second time, to Madison avenue, to West Fourth street, to Monroe avenue, to West Fifth street, to Vail's Grove, where the parade will disband.

The various organizations, together with the bands and floats will fall into line from the various side thoroughfares along West Front street as called for in the announcements to be made in this paper tomorrow. The positions will also be announced at that time. All who are in line are requested not to fall out until the parade has been completed.

ICE CREAM FESTIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The ice cream festival, held under the auspices of the Consistory of the Trinity Reformed church, last night, was a great success. The illumination of the field on the corner of Front and Church streets attracted many people and all of the booths, which were loaded with candy, cake, ice cream and other sweets in the beginning were completely sold out before the evening was over.

The Dutch Arms Band played throughout the evening and rendered a fine program. About one hundred dollars was realized, which will go for the installation of a new furnace in the church.

PRESIDENT APPEALS FOR MORE REVENUES

Washington, Sept. 4—President Wilson today, asked Congress to provide for $100,000,000 additional revenue to be raised through internal taxes. The President said in part:

"During the month of August there was compared with the corresponding month of last year a falling off of $10,629,538 in the revenues collected from customs. A continuation of this decrease in the same proportion throughout the current fiscal year would probably mean a loss of customs revenues of from sixty to one hundred millions. I need not tell you to what this falling off is due. It is not due in chief part to the reductions recently made in the customs duties, but to the great decrease in importations and that is due to the extraordinary extent of the industrial area affected by the present war in Europe.

"Conditions have arisen which no man foresaw. They affect the whole world of commerce and economic production and they must be faced and dealt with."

NOT OPPOSED TO JAMES C. CALVERT

Former Judge P. H. Gilhooly Explains Letter to Sheriff Wright.

Former Judge P. H. Gilhooley, of Elizabeth, in a letter written to County Clerk James C. Calvert, announced today, says that his attention has been called to the fact that the letter written by him under date of Aug. 24 to Sheriff William H. Wright, might be construed by some as opposing Mr. Calvert's continuance in office, and he hastens to assure him that such was not his intention. Mr. Gilhooley's letter, which explains itself, is as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 4, 1914.

Hon. James C. Calvert,
County Clerk,
Elizabeth, N. J.

My dear Mr. Calvert:

My attention has been called to the fact that the letter written by me under date of August 24 last to William H. Wright, Sheriff, might be construed by some as my being opposed to your continuance in office as the County Clerk of the County of Union, as a reflection upon the manner in which the office has been conducted by you.

I hasten to assure you that this was not my intention ,as in all the years of my practice of law in the County of Union, which has been continuous for the past forty years, there has never been a County Clerk who has conducted his office more efficiently than yourself. My practice has caused me to have a great many dealings with you and I have always received the utmost courtesy and prompt and satisfactory treatment.

I can only add that the above facts coupled with my personal acquaintance with you of many years leads me to say, without hesitation, that if a Republican is to be continued in that office, I know of no one in that party who could more honorably and ably fill it than yourself.

Wishing you success in the coming primary, I beg to remain,

Very trly yours,
P. H. GILHOOLEY.

RODE WITHOUT LIGHT.

Samuel Eagan, a youth employed at the Red Cross Drug Store, was penitent in court this morning when Patrolman Thomas Flatley charged him with riding his bicycle at night without a light. He had been warned by the officer three times, and on the fourth occasion guilelessly asked if the light from his cigarette would not do. That was too much for the officer, and he took him in. Judge DeMeza gave him a scolding and let him go.

The Congressional candidates in the Fifth district, in common with candidates for Congress throughout the State, have been asked by the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, to express their stand upon the bill to "forever prohibit" the sale, manufacture and importance of all intoxicating beverages. The candidates for sheriff in Union, too, are on the league's mailing list, together with the aspirants for State Senator and the Assembly. The Shrievalty possibilities are asked to give a full statement upon their views as to the enforcement of the excise laws, while the candidates for the Legislature are requested to tell if they would vote for local option.

An interesting promise has been made by Assemblyman Carroll in his candidacy for a renomination in Hudson county. "It is foolhardy to suppose that a member of the House can give personal scrutiny to more than 1,000 bills in a single session," Mr. Carroll said. He then declared he would advocate a resolution that no member should introduce more than five bills during a single session, making the total possible, 405. Mr. Carroll expects support in this from Senator Egan and others.

William F. Callahan, one of the Democratic candidates for an Assembly nomination, is conducting an aggressive campaign. Mr. Callahan has done considerable missionary work in his own behalf throughout the county, and will continue actively on the job during the next three weeks.

RUSSIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM?

72,000 Troops Said to Have Passed Through England.

NEW COUP AGAINST AUSTRIA

Plan of Invasion by Way of the Danube Believed to Be In Preparation. Report Says That Austria Has Lost 240,000 Men—Servians Claim a Big Victory at Jadar.

New York, Sept. 4.—A Russian army of 72,000 men, transported from Archangel, the most northern part of Russia, was landed at Aberdeen, on the east coast of Scotland, on the night of Aug. 27, according to officers and passengers of the Cunard liner Mauretania, which reached this city yesterday.

From Aberdeen the troops, it is said, were conveyed on special trains to Harwich, Grimsby and Dover, where transports were waiting to convey them to Ostend.

Every precaution was taken by the military authorities to keep the transportation of the Russian soldiers through England from becoming known, and the service on the east coast railway lines was supended during the seventeen hours the troop trains were on the journey.

It was believed that the Russians would be joined at Ostend by 2,000 British marines, who were waiting there to receive them and that these combined forces would co-operate with the Belgian army at Antwerp.

Rome, Sept. 4.—A telegram from Nish, Servia, says that in a battle at Jadar between 200,000 Austrians and 180,000 Servians, the latter put 140,000 Austrians hors de combat.

The first official report of the Serbians regarding Jedar declared 40,000 Austrians were rendered hors de combat. The first report said that of the 200,000 engaged the Austrians left on the field 10,000 dead and 2,500 wounded. Continuing this report said: "We have sent into the interior 4,000 men whom we took prisoners and have captured sixty guns, much ammunition and the material for the construction of a bridge 600 meters long, together with a train. The battle was of great importance, because it was decisive. The enemy retreated to Santzek." It is therefore supposed that the pursuing Servians overtook the routed Austrians and compelled the surrender of a vast majority of their beaten army.

Russian Report of Campaign.

Petrogard (St. Petersburg), Sept. 4.—It is now estimated by the czar's general staff that in their defeats east of Lemberg, Galicia, the Austrians suffered a loss of 43,000 men. Fighting, it is added, continues to progress in the immediate vicinity of Lemberg.

A message reached the Russian ambassador in Rome declaring the official reports in St. Petersburg had changed the Austrian loss in the eight days' fighting before Lemberg from 43,000, as first given out, to 100,000.

A sortie was attempted by the German garrison (Aveste) by the Russians at Koenigsberg, east Prussia, but failed. The Germans suffered immense loss.

It is officially announced that the Russian troops continue to make progress in the north region of east Prussia. In the south the Germans have been reenforced by men taken from the French frontier. Powerful artillery also has been brought up.

The Russian troops, it is stated, have been reenforced on the Vistula and Dniester rivers, and a fierce battle continues.

Marching on Lemberg.

Rome, Sept. 4.—The Russian embassy here has received an official report from Petrograd (St. Petersburg) setting forth that Russia troops are triumphantly marching on Lemberg, repulsing the Austrians all along the line. The fighting has been on a gigantic scale, 800,000 Russians being engaged against 600,000 Austrians.

If all indications do not fail, the report from the Russian capital continues, the Russians will be definitely victorious, and as a result the roads to Vienna and Berlin will be opened to the Russian armies.

AUSTRIAN CRUISER SUNK?

Rome Hears of Victory by British and French Destroyers.

Rome, Sept. 4.—It is reported here that British and French destroyers pursued and sank another Austrian cruiser off Corfu.

It is also reported from Athens that Turkey, in addition to massing troops in Caucasia is negotiating with Bulgaria for the passage of Turkish troops to be used against Greece.

Germans Deny Loss of Airships.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The government has issued an official denial of all reports that Zeppelins or other German dirigibles have been brought down by gunfire or otherwise lost in the war.

Sweden Remains Neutral.

Stockholm, Sept. 4.—The Swedish government reiterated its neutrality in an official statement denying rumors that it would join in the war.

AMIENS AND LA FERE ARE TAKEN BY GERMANS

Invaders Forty Miles From Paris.

ALLIES SLOWLY RETREAT

Huge Force of Kaiser Moves Down the Oise Valley.

PARIS READY FOR SIEGE.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

FRANCE.—Amiens, the capital of the department of the Somme, has been captured by the Germans, and the Somme valley has been lost to the allies. Le Fere, one of the weaker fortifications north of Paris, has also been taken. The heavy fighting was in the neighborhood of Montdidier and Noyan. They are both strongly guarded and defended by barricades.

TURKEY.—A message received in Washington from Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople says that conditions are disquieting. An announcement that Turkey has declared war against Greece or Russia is expected.

RUSSIA.—An official St. Petersburg statement says the Austrians in the engagements in Galicia and in Russian Poland have lost 100,000 men and fifty-seven guns. The Russians say they have captured all the defenses around Lemberg and that the occupation of the city itself is imminent. They assert that they will thus open the way to Vienna and Berlin.

SPAIN.—Senor Lerroux, leader of the Spanish Radicals, declares that Spain will send her army to help France if asked to do so. This move on the part of Spain is for the protection of her interests in Africa.

JAPAN.—Japanese forces have occupied seven islands near Kiauchau, the landing being made without resistance. Mine sweepers are now engaged in clearing the passages in Kiauchau waters.

London, Sept. 4.—Revelations of recent losses of positions by the left wing of the allied forces in northern France are contained in belated dispatches reaching here. These show the critical state of the campaign, with some of the invaders within forty miles of Paris.

Amiens, an important city to the northwest of La Fere, was abandoned without a fight on Sunday.

Germans were expected to occupy Compiegne, far to the south, as early as Tuesday.

The invaders are now reported to be moving in force upon Laon and Rheims, which are the last interior fortified positions held by the allies outside of the Paris defenses.

An undated dispatch from France to the Times says:

"The valley of the Somme has been abandoned. La Fere has been taken after a bloody combat. We were obliged to retire Saturday evening.

"The right wing of the Germans," says the correspondent, "is too far advanced, and there is a chance that it will be cut and caught between two fires if the British should be found in force.

Allies Destroy Railroad.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Before evacuating Amiens the allied troops are reported to have blown up the railway tunnel and to have destroyed a large space along the highway to the south with dynamite. The allies then withdrew in order from their positions just to the westward of the town.

The uhlans who had been leading the attack on the city then rode in. Before they took possession the mayor notified them that the city was unfortified and claimed the protection of that condition under the rules of international warfare. The mayor then issued a proclamation notifying the inhabitants that the city had been surrendered to the Germans and warning them to keep the peace.

The main forces of the Germans did not enter the city, but passed around it, continuing their movement toward Paris.

The city was proclaimed in a state of siege. All the suburbs have been evacuated.

Fresh troops are arriving by every train. All the gates of the city except two have been closed.

Paris waits for the Germans. There is little doubt in any one's mind that the invading forces will strike at the northern forts. But no complete investment of Paris is possible, in the opinion of the military experts.

They insist that to isolate the capital would be too great a task even for the wonderful fighting machine that has hacked its way to within forty miles of Paris. But there is scarcely a doubt that the allied lines will be forced back until the Germans can engage the outer line of forts to the north.

French Lines Holding.

The only word from the war office today was a declaration by General Gallieni, supreme commander of the defense of Paris, that the French lines still hold. He said:

"Every attempt of the enemy to break through at any point in the north has been blocked. The German center has thrown its entire weight against our lines and has been unable to make the slightest impression. Their right has pressed our left back slowly and in complete order, and we have inflicted enormous damage on their forces.

"The German right is engaged in a most hazardous undertaking. Every mile it is extended its line of communication moves forward that far, and with their center held it may be possible that we will yet surprise them."

In a proclamation to the inhabitants of Paris General Gallieni said:

"The members of the government of the republic have left Paris in order to give a new impetus to the defense of the nation. I have been ordered to defend Paris against the invader. This order I will fulfill to the end."

BRITISH CASUALTIES NOW TOTAL 10,399

Latest Report Adds Eighty Men to List of Dead.

London, Sept. 4.—The official press bureau has issued a further statement of British casualties as follows:

Killed, 18 officers and 62 other ranks.

Wounded, 78 officers and 312 other ranks.

Missing, 86 officers and 4,672 other ranks.

The official bureau explains that the missing mentioned in the list of casualties are men not accounted for and include unwounded prisoners and stragglers as well as men killed and wounded.

As regards the "other ranks" it is announced that 2,682 men are returned as having been sent back to their base as unfit, and that a large proportion of these should be included in the number shown as missing in this and the previous return from general headquarters.

In this report of casualties the names of the officers were given. Only their next of kin have been informed and the names will be published as soon as possible. No names of men in the other ranks have yet been received, but several wounded already have been brought home.

With the list reported already, this makes the total British casualties 10,399, divided as follows:

Killed, 98 officers and 189 men.
Wounded, 135 officers and 941 men.
Missing, 181 officers and 8,855 men.

RUBE BOND COMING HERE FOR REVENGE

Will Bring With Him a Strong Aggregation from Elizabeth to Lick the Pets.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, headlight of the Plainfield Pets, has given his team a severe shakeup for the game tomorrow and will probably use the same men next Monday afternoon when the Pets fight for the fourth game of the city series. Tomorrow afternoon ,on Parker Field, the strong Elizabeth aggregation will appear here with "Rube" Bond at the head. The baseball magnate from Elizabeth came here once before this season and went home defeated after eleven innings had been played, the final score being 3 to 2.

When he takes the field tomorrow he will have a stronger team than before and expects to get even for the result of the first game. He has signed several players from the Atlantic League and one from the Southern circuit, all of who are noted for their slugging ability. Rickart will again be on the mound to toss them up and Bergen will be on the receiving end of the battery.

Only five Pets who played last Saturday will be seen tomorrow, the other four being laid off and new material, which the manager thinks will work better together with the old men, signed. Seiftes, an Elizabeth player, who made good last week, will play third base and will also lead off in the batting department. One great help to the home team will be the addition of a wonder in the shortstop position. After trying for some time, Dorflinger managed to get one Morganroph to come here and he will probably be on hand Labor Day. Norman Harney, who has been a bench warmer for the Pets, but who has made a good record in the Delaware League this year, will be given a chance in center field with Jimmie Montross in right. Harney is a pitcher and also a fine outfielder with a little ability to crack out hits when necessary. An unknown by the name of Brown will cover the keystone sack. Next to last in the lineup comes Walter Nelson and after him is Townley, who will again be on the firing line.

Those who witnessed the first encounter between these combinations saw one of the best games of the season and this one will probably be as good. The teams will lineup as follows:

PLAINFIELD	ELIZABETH
Seiftes, 3b	Leids, lf
Alberts, lf	Seery, 1b
Dixon, 1b	Mason, rf
Morganroph, ss	Lanahan, 2b
Marney or Dorgan, cf	Bond, cf
Montross, rf	Toniny, 3b
Brown, 2b	Dunn, ss
Nelson, c	Bergen, c

SAURER TEAM WILL PLAY TWO GAMES LABOR DAY

The Saurer baseball team will have two busy sessions on Labor Day as Manager Martin has scheduled the boys to go to Rahway in the morning and play a hard game. The Rahway bunch are fine ballists and will make the locals go some to win.

In the afternoon the Saurers will journey to Parker Field and meet the Pets. It is doubtful whether Warry McLaughlin will pitch for the Mackmen and if he does not Martin will use one of his regular slabmen. The Pets will rest Monday morning and will go in the game in the afternoon to even matters up.

PLACE FOR ARMY-NAVY GAME IS NOT YET SETTLED UPON

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 4—It was stated at the Naval Academy, yesterday, that it is incorrect that Philadelphia has been definitely chosen as the place of the next Army-Navy football game.

The choice, it was stated, has not been made and there has been no official announcement to that effect. Members of the conference committee decline to give out any statement of the negotiations pending the final arrangements.

It is believed here, however, that the game will be played in Philadelphia this year, as it is the Navy's choice, while New York was agreed upon at the instance of the Army contingent last year.

LOCAL BATTERY IN ACTION.

"Nibs" Hand, of Scotch Plains, and Warry McLaughlin, of this city, will be the battery for the strong Trentons when they tackle the crack suburban nine in New York Sunday afternoon. Ernie Lindermann, formerly a local twirler, will oppose Warry on the firing line and a good game is expected.

SCHOTT WILL PITCH TWO GAMES OVER WEEK-END

The Hope Chapel and Monroe avenue baseball teams will meet on the Clinton avenue field tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Both nines are anticipating a victory and a good exhibition should be given as they have been playing good ball this year. Hope lead a local league but was hard pressed by the Monroe team for honors. Schott and Brick will oppose each other and with both in their best form there will be some excitement.

On Labor Day the Fourth street aggregation will travel to Westfield and play the representative nine of that place at Recreation Park in the morning. Westfielders will make the local combination go the limit. They are heavy sluggers as one of the local teams already knows. Pearsall will twirl for the home team and Dick Schott will probably be on the firing line for Hope.

PETS MUST WIN FOURTH TO HAVE ANY CHANCE

The Pets and Saurer will meet again Monday afternoon on Parker Field in the fourth game of the city series. The Saurer aggregation has one game on their opponents and only need this one to win the series. Both teams are primed for the great battle and some big league work is expected. Townley and McLaughlin will face each other for the fourth time this season, and if both sets of players perform well in the field behind them, they should have a good duel between them.

Mullin and Nelson will also be on hand to do the backstop work.

HAND IS RATED AS BEST BACKSTOP IN HIS LEAGUE

In a review of the season of the Perth Amboy team, of the Atlantic League, the following article appeared concerning Frank "Nibs" Hand.

Catcher Frank Hand comes from Scotch Plains, near Plainfield, and was recommended by Cliff Randolph. Hand didn't look very good in his first games, his throwing being wild. Constant work behind the bat has developed him into the best catcher in the Atlantic League.—Perth Amboy News.

R. NORRIS WILLIAMS IS VISITING HERE

R. Norris Williams, 2nd, of Philadelphia, American tennis champion and a member of this year's Davis Cup team, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Merribew, of 1016 South avenue. He arrived here yesterday enroute to Pittsburg. In the afternoon he visited the Country Club but did no playing as he is taking it easy before he meets Maurice E. McLoughlin, the former champion and tennis sensation, in Pittsburg tomorrow afternoon for the State championship of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Williams leaves tonight for the smoky city and from there he will go to his home in Philadelphia. He is a Harvard student and just a few days ago he surprised tennis society by defeating McLoughlin in the all-comers' tournament for the United States title.

HOLY CROSS CLUB WILL HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The first meeting of the Holy Cross Football Club will be held tonight in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. at eight o'clock. The meeting is for old members only and all who have played on the team in past years are urged to be present. Those who are thinking of trying for the team this year will not be admitted to the meeting tonight but there will be another one called some time next week for all candidates.

The meeting tonight was called for the purpose of talking over plans for the coming season and also to elect a captain and manager.

The manager will start on a schedule immediately and before many weeks have passed there will be a call for practise. The question of a coach will also be considered tonight.

THREE LOCAL ENTRANTS LOOK LIKE SURE WINNERS

Ralph Runyon, John R. Fritts, representing the Pastime A. C. of New York, and Fiore Commune, unattached, will be the Plainfield entries in the Michelin Athletic meet at Milltown next Monday. Fritts has entered in three events, Runyon, in two and the East End runner in one. The Pastime athletes will both try for the pole vault prize. Runyon being a slight favorite over his clubmate. Fritts will start in the 300 yards' handicap and the one mile run, handicap.

Runyon will be in the running high jump handicap event. Commune will run the same distance he did in the local meet at Parker Field in which he came in fifth. All of the local entrants have a good show to win some fine prizes.

STINE WILL PLAY THREE GAMES AT HIGH BRIDGE

"Hub" Stine, right fielder for the Plainfielder team, will not be in his regular position in the local games this weekend as he will go to High Bridge and catch for that team, one game tomorrow and two games on Labor Day. There is a big celebration at that place next Monday and, learning that Dorflinger had a few surplus backstops, the High Bridge manager wrote for one.

Stine will go and will work in all three games with George Ortleib, of Westfield, who is well-known here as a pitcher. The High Bridge manager will not regret getting Stine as he is one of the best catchers in this city. While in the borough High School he was the best city interscholastic receiver and, with a good pitcher like Ortleib he will make good at High Bridge. The local player also has some ability with the stick and may prove some trouble to the opposing pitchers.

BOB FITZSIMMONS WOULD BE A TENOR

Ex-Heavyweight Champion Has Ambitions to Be a Great Singer Now.

We all want what we don't possess. That's human nature. That's ambition. Ambition is just a desire to get something that is a little out of reach. I've known a lot of fighting men whose private and personal ambitions were little known to the general public.

There was Bob Fitzsimmons, for instance. Bob had the skinniest legs in captivity, with one exception, Jim Corbett's were skinnier, although that was a great point for discussion between them.

Besides the legs, Bob had another distinguished trait—one by which you could have detected his presence in the dark. Bob was pleased to describe it as a tenor voice. Once Bob got me to ride through the Red Mill in Coney Island with him, and when we were away down in a tunnel he uncorked that tenor voice and sang things. I couldn't get out. Bob Fitzsimmons was the greatest living fighter. Thousands of men would have given half their lives to possess a quarter of his ability and his fame. But Bob didn't care much about fighting, as a fame getter. He wanted to be known as "that beautiful tenor, Mr. Fitzsimmons." Bob's one other ambition was to have nice thick legs. He used to look critically at Jeff's underpinning and sniff, and say that Jeff's legs were too heavy. But he didn't really think so. Down deep in his heart he admired thost post-like limbs. A few months ago he told me boastfully that his son Bob's thighs were thicker than Jeff's.

Kid Broad's name hasn't been seen in print for many years. But he was a famous fighter in his time, a rushing, tearing human bulldog. When he fought he twisted his face into an expression as fierce as that of a Japanese war mask. But do you know what his great ambition was? The Kid wanted to be a funny circus clown and make every one laugh uproariously at his jokes. He never went in a circus, but he still practices the jokes.

EAGLES FORM EIGHT TEAM STATE LEAGUE

Representatives from six lodges of Eagles of the State met in the Olympia bowling rooms on East Second street, last night, and discussed plans for the organization of a State bowling league. The cities that were represented are Rahway, Somerville, Elizabeth, Newark, New Brunswick and Plainfield. All were in favor of the proposition and the pinning will start about the middle of next month.

This morning two more applications for entrance into the league came from Kearny and Jersey City and it is likely that they will be voted in. This will make an eight-club circuit which is about large enough to make it interesting. The Perth Amboy lodge is also thinking of entering, but nothing definite has been decided about it. If they should enter another team would have to be found to make an even number.

To make the league as interesting as possible, the Elizabeth Eagles have offered a ninety dollar trophy to the winner of the league. It will be a three-year cup, which means that the same team must win it three years in succession before it becomes the permanent property of any club. The Rahway birds have also offered a money prize and it is probable that some of the others will follow the lead. There is another meeting scheduled for next Thursday night in this city when all delegates will be present and a schedule will be drawn up and all plans made. The local representatives last night were Horrace Adams, George Miller and James Mahoney.

Nothing definite has been decided about the city league that was proposed but the general sentiment is for such an organization. The Foresters have already agreed to enter and the matter will be decided at a meeting to be held soon.

SAID DOGS ANNOYED HIM.

John Snyder, of Clinton avenue had Neaf Apgar, his next door neighbor, summoned to court this morning, to explain why a half dozen dogs in Apgar's yard barked at unseemly hours. After hearing both sides of the case Judge DeMeza told Apgar to see that the noise was stopped.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

A magic perfume turns things upside down, proves its value as a means to happiness and, in the end, straightens out a tangle resulting from a series of mistaken identities almost inseparable from farce. Such is the course of the plot in "High Jinks," the musical jollity, which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Plainfield Theatre tonight. "High Jinks is the joint production of two men whose names are already eminent in the field of stage entertainment, and who are credited with reaching their respective climaxes in the new musical comedy, which ran for a whole season at the Casino in New York. Otto Hauerbach, responsible for "Three Twins" and "Madame Sherry," furnished the book and lyrics, and Rudolph Friml, composer of the "Firefly," supplied the musical score. Among the musical numbers that have become highly popular with the orchestras and in the dance halls are, "Something Seems Tingle-Ingle-Ing," "Jim," "Love's Own Kiss," "I'm Through With Roaming Romeos," "Chi Chi," "Not Now, But Later," "Come Hither Eyes," "I Known Your Husband Well" and "Dixiana Rose." A chorus of pretty and richly gowned girls, rounds out a company which includes some of the best known entertainers on the American stage.

George McManus conceived the idea of the now famous cartoon series "Bringing up Father" from a newspaper man's standpoint, he hit it right. To put the same characters on the stage is another matter and a difficult one. McManus believes that there's a specialist in every line of business, therefore when he "got stage struck" he consulted Gus Hill, whose experience in making millions out of cartoon plays, extends back for many years. Mr. Hill's newest production, "Bringing up Father," after a half a year of preparation, is now ready for the people and I'm quite sure that the people are ready for it. "Bringing up Father" is going to give you something to laugh about until something elst just, or half as good, comes along. It's a big production built on vaudeville lines and contains the best elements of clean and wholesome comedy, with any amount of whistleable music and the sort of girls you'd like to have with you forever. There are funny comedians and pleasing dancers, with gorgeous scenery and magnificent costumes. The mere title of "Bringing up Father" and what you know of it through the columns of the daily newspapers is in itself enough to suggest hilarious comedy situations. In the hands of this veteran producer, whose life's work has been to please the public, you can accept it for granted that no opportunity is lost, in fact the production of "Bringing up Father" is to be the crowning effort of Mr. Hill's long career. It will be at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow, afternoon and night.

"I've got it a heart, Mr. Steuerman, and my daughter has got it a heart," pleads Abe Potash to Henry Steuerman, the philanthropist, in the second act of "Potash and Perlmutter."

"And me," breaks in his partner, Morris Perlmutter, "ain't I got it a heart?"

"I understand," says Steuerman, soothingly, and the audience too understands, for, after all, Hearts are Trumps in this dramatic game of love and law, pinochle and politics that has been laughed and wept over for two seasons in New York city and which Manager A. H. Woods will present at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, afternoon and evening. "Potash and Perlmutter" will be presented with a company of splendid artists, all of whom have been seen in New York.

THE COMMANDER OF THE RUSSIAN FORCES

London, Sept. 4—Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaeivitch, who is giving such a good account of himself as commander-in-chief of the Russiam armies in the war with Germany and Austria, is a second cousin of the Emperor of Russia. He was born in St. Petersburg fifty-eight years ago and since his youth has been conspicuous in affairs relating to the Russian army. He has been president of the Council of National Defense and inspector general of cavalry, besides holding several other military offices. For a number of years he was commander of the military district of St. Petersburg. At one time he was mentioned as likely to be appointed dictator in case of the retirement of Emperor Nicholas from the throne.

Grand Duke Nicholas presents a striking contrast in every respect to his father, who was a notorious profligate. The present Grand Duke is universally respected. In 1907 he was married to Princess Anastasia of Montenegro.

The Grand Duke has often been employed on special missions by Emperor Nicholas, who has always reposed the utmost confidence in him. In this connection it is recalled that on one occasion Grand Duke Nicholas managed by a display of sound sense and diplomacy to avert what would have been a most unpleasant predicament for Russia. It was at the time of the consecration of a memorial to the Russian soldiers who had perished in Bulgaria in the war that had won the latter's freedom from Turkey. The Emperor sent the Grand Duke with a large delegation of Russian officers, to attend the ceremonies in Bulgaria.

A conspiracy, organized for the most part by leading regimental officers of the Bulgarian army, had been organized, which had for its object the kidnapping or murder of Prince Ferdinand during the sham battle that was to follow the dedication service, and the proclamation on the spot of Bulgaria as a protectorate of Russia, with a request to Grand Duke Nicholas to assume charge of the Government of Bulgaria until the Emperor had definitely appointed one of the members of his family as vassal ruler of the country.

By a turn of fortune, Grand Duke Nicholas heard of the matter in time, and by causing Prince Ferdinand to countermand the sham battle, by indicating to him the identity of the conspirators, by lavishing upon him every demonstration of regard and even effection, and then suddenly taking his departure, not only saved Ferdinand and his throne, but likewise extricated himself and his Emperor from an exceedingly embarrassing situation.

As in the case of nearly every prominent member of the Russian imperial family the Grand Duke has been the victim of several attempts at assassination. In 1905 an attempt was made upon his life while he was reviewing the imperial guards in the camp at Krasnoye-Selo. The troops were engaged in blank firing practice, when the Grand Duke was startled by the hiss of bullets about his head. The firing was stopped, and an investigation showed that ball cartridges had been used by ninety-six men of the sharpshooters of the guard. The impatience of the conspirators had led them to open fire at too great a distance, and the Grand Duke escaped.

Scarcely six months later another attempt on the Grand Duke's life was made, when a bomb was found on the railroad track between Tsarkoe-Selo and St. Petersburg over which he was to have traveled, and a few weeks later the train on which he was traveling over the same road was shot at.

For a number of years Grand Duke Nicholas has been recognized as the foremost cavalry leader of Russia, if not of Europe. He is very tall, and a superb horseman. On several occasions during the war between Russia and Japan the Emperor was urge to appoint him to the supreme command of the Russian troops in Manchuria, in the place of General Kuropatkin, and the military authorities in Berlin, London and other European capitals have more than once expressed the opinion that the Russian army would have made a far better showing if the Emperor had listened to this advice.

The Grand Duke is the eldest son of the Grand Duke Nicholas who commanded the Russian forces in the Balkans in the last war with Turkey. Dismissed and banished from court because of his dishonesty and profligacy the old Grand Duke wandered over Europe and finally died in obscurity and neglect.

TEACHERS' TRAINING COURSE ANNOUNCED

Several Prominent Educators Secured to Give Series of Lectures.

The National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, of this city, announces a nine months' training course (October-June) for teachers wishing to prepare themselves for special work with exceptional children. The association has long felt that this important branch of education requires better trained teachers.

The ordinary public and private schools, it is claimed, do not make sufficient allowance in their organization and courses of study to meet the needs of many of their pupils. They lack proper adjustment to individual capacities, temperaments, talents, mental types and vocational aptitudes. Children who do not conform to the usual standards of school progress, while otherwise perfectly normal, are inclined to become dissatisfied and unresponsive.

The present course will be conducted at Herbart Hall, a special school for exceptional children managed under the auspices of the association. It is the first long course undertaken by the association.

There will be a program of lectures, research work and practical teaching and supervision of a selected group of children. The following are some of the lectures and the topics they will present: Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann, general principles of method, rational courses of study, grading and diagnosing exceptional children, methods of testing, etc.; Dr. Philander P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, topics to be announced later; Dr. William F. Blake Burke, medical aspects of conditions affecting the mental life of the child; Dr. Tom A. Williams, morbid phychology; Dr. Siegfried Block, practice effect and fatigue, neroses, mental types, forms of insanity, etc.; Mrs. Mary S.E. Groszmann, children's occupations, systematized observations of individual pupils; model lessons and class instruction, etc.; County Superintendent H. C. Krebs, the defective child in the public school; W. H. Groszmann, manual training, physical training, gymnastics, games and sports, etc. The names of a number of other lecturers and their topics will be announced later. Successful completion of the course will entitle the student to the association's certificate.

Training and living expenses are free. Enrollment is limited. Both men and women are eligible provided they have the necessary requisites. A normal training course or a college degrees (is based largely upon education and psychological courses) and special personal fitness (to be determined by oral examination) are necessary for entrance. Each student will be expected to assume certain practical educational duties and studies in return for the association's expense for training and board.

In order to extend some of the benefits of the course to such as cannot become regular students, arrangements can be made to attend certain of the lectures as auditors. Anyone wishing to become an enrolled student or auditor may obtain full details about the course, places of meeting, entrance requirements, etc., upon application to the secretary of the association.

THE DINNER ECONOMICAL.

Cream of Carrot Soup.
Pot Roast with Brown Potatoes.
Creamed Carrots.
Combination Salad.
Apple Fritters.
Drop Cakes.

POT ROAST may be made with one of the cheaper cuts of meat and allows the housewife to economize now that meat is so high.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Take two cupfuls cut carrots, three cupfuls milk, one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful finely cut onion, one tablespoonful flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-fourth teaspoonful white pepper and one tablespoonful chopped parsley. Wash, scrape and cut the carrots, cover with boiling water, add one-half teaspoonful salt and boil thirty or forty minutes, or until tender. Drain and mash. Put two cupfuls milk and one cupful stock (in which the carrots were cooked) on in top of double boiler. As soon as it boils add the carrots. Put the butter and onion in frying pan, cook one minute, then add the flour and one cupful milk slowly. Stir until smooth and creamy, then add to the milk. Add the salt and pepper; strain and add the chopped parsley.

Made With Chuck.

Pot Roast Beef With Brown Potatoes.—Take a one and one-half pound chuck roast and wipe with wet cloth, put into iron boiler or Dutch oven and sear on both sides. If you do not have an iron boiler or Dutch oven sear in frying pan. When seared put into boiler and add one onion, cut small; one tablespoonful salt, one-fourth teaspoonful white pepper and two cupfuls boiling water. Boil one and one-half hours; then add one quart potatoes, which have been washed and pared. Boil twenty minutes, or until the potatoes are done, adding water as it is needed. You must have two cupfuls of gravy by the time it is done. Mix one tablespoonful flour with cold water and add to the gravy; then add one tablespoonful caramel.

Apples Are Cheap.

Apple Fritters.—Take one cupful flour, one teaspoonful baking powder, a little salt and yolks of two eggs, beaten light, with cupful of milk. Grate in three medium sized apples, beat well and fold in stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and fry until nicely browned. Drain on brown paper and serve with maple sirup.

Drop Cakes.—Take one egg, beat the white separately, add one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of butter or lard, two cupfuls of flour and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream. Bake in small pans.

Tried to Shake Off the Cowboy Rider.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the First Bucking Broncho Started Bucking.

THE children were laughing over the antics of the bucking bronchos in a Wild West show, to which their daddy had taken them the day before.

"It was the funniest thing!" cried Jack. "Those bronchos would roll their eyes till the cowboys got on their backs, and then they would start jumping all over the grass, away up in the air and with their backs sticking straight up like our cat's when she is mad at a dog, and"—

"And they couldn't shake those cowboy riders off, no matter how hard they tried," cut in Evelyn, very much excited. "Isn't it wonderful, daddy?"

"Very wonderful," agreed daddy. "Do you know how the first bucking broncho started to buck?"

"No, daddy," answered Jack wonderingly. "Do you?"

"No, Jack," admitted daddy; "I don't know for sure, but I think it must have come from his watching the little lambs. Remember, I don't say this is so, but it might be. Horses are just as different as people. Some are gentle and some are not, and when the first cowboys began riding over the plains, chasing cattle and taking care of them, they had trouble in riding some of the horses. The horses would rear and run like everything, but after awhile the men would conquer them.

"But one wise pony had just made up his little mind that he would not be ridden, and he thought hard to think up a way so that a man couldn't ride him. Nobody had ever tried to ride him yet, for he was very wild. But he knew the day would come, and he thought hard.

"One day this pony was eating grass on his range when he saw in the distance many sheep and lambs, and he saw the little lambs, because they were so glad to be alive, jump in the air with all four feet at once, with their little backs humped like a mad cat. And right away he had an idea.

"The very next day some men came and lassoed him and put a saddle and bridle on him. Then the best rider among them mounted him. He stood still till the man was on him, and then he commenced jumping up in the air with all four feet at once and humping his back as he had seen the lambs do, and he threw the rider off, and he threw him off again and again.

"But by and by the man managed to figure a way to ride him even when he was bucking, for men love to conquer hard things to do. But other horses had heard of the pony's trick, and they keep on trying to keep men from riding them until this day. But, as you saw in the Wild West show, the men ride them just the same."

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The house jacket made with a peplum is always a satisfactory one, and in this case there is just the becoming ripple or flare over the hips that makes the very latest fashion.

The sleeves, too, are slightly full at the shoulders. Altogether the jacket is one of the most comfortable possible as well as exceedingly pretty.

Flowered dimity is the material illustrated with collar of linen, but all the simple washable materials are appropriate for immediate wear, while the jacket would be quite as satisfactory made from challies or cashmere for cool days.

HOUSE JACKET.

Tub silks, too, are being much used, and the washable silks of Japanese make that are quite inexpensive form satisfactory jackets both from the standpoint of comfort and of durability.

For the medium size the jacket will require three and three-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three-eighths yard twenty-seven inches wide for the collar.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8255, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

NEW POPE DEPLORES GREAT WAR

"Faithful Are Armed Against Faithful."

CORONATION AWAITED.

Expected to Take Place In Vatican on Sunday.

JUNIOR CARDINAL IS CHOSEN

Cardinal della Chiesa Elected on Ninth Ballot — Rules as Benedict XV.

Rome, Sept. 4.—In all the history of the Catholic church the election of a pope has never come at a more crucial time. With all Europe involved in a devastating war, the election of Pope Benedict XV. is of vital importance to all the world.

The next great event will be the solemn coronation of the new pope. This generally takes place within a week after the election. It has often occurred on the following Sunday. It would not be surprising if Benedict XV. should be formally inducted into office on next Sunday. The period of mourning for the late pope, of course, has terminated automatically with the election of his successor.

Immediately after his election the pontiff said he could not imagine how his frail being was capable of enduring the weight of enormous responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity were also inflicted on the church and when countless victims of the war were being cut down.

The war, he said, had armed faithful against faithful, priest against priest, while the bishops of each country offered prayers for the success of the armies of their own nations. But victory for one side meant slaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

Election of Benedict XV.

Cardinal Giacomo della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, Italy, was elected supreme pontiff of the Catholic hierarchy in succession to the late Pope Pius X., who died Aug. 20. He will rule under the name of Benedict XV. The conclave of the Sacred college, whose duty it is to elect the pope, went into session the evening of Monday, Aug. 31.

Prince Chigi-Albani, one of the assistants to the throne in the pope's household, was notified that Cardinal della Chiesa had been elected pope. Five minutes later Mgr. Misciatelli, subprefect of the sacred palaces and governor of the conclave, received a communication from the new pope asking that the gratings of the basilica of St. Peter be opened because he purposed in a short time to issue his proclamation.

The master of ceremonies then appeared on the central balcony of St. Peter's and spread out the red carpet.

New Pope Appears, Blesses People.

Cardinal della Volpe appeared on the balcony with Mgr. Capostosti, bearing the pope's cross on his right, and pronounced the ritual announcing the election of Cardinal della Chiesa. To this he added that the pope had chosen the name of Benedict XV. Again the crowd of several thousand persons cheered and at once began to make their way into basilica to hear the benediction of the new pontiff.

The new pope appeared on an inner balcony of St. Peter's clad in his pontifical robes. The balcony was hung with red velour and a heavy golden fringe decorated the railing. The pontiff pronounced the apostolic benediction to the kneeling crowd below and immediately afterward withdrew and entered his apartments.

When the scrutiny of votes showed the election of Cardinal della Chiesa the secretary of the conclave, masters of ceremonies and the sacristan of the Vatican were at once admitted to the Sistine chapel. In accordance with the old traditions the cardinal deacon, accompanied by the heads of the other orders of the cardinals, presented themselves and asked whether the election was accepted. With the reply in the affirmative, the canopies over the thrones of all other cardinals dropped to the floor, that of the newly elected pontiff alone remaining in place.

—You may have an immediate task for a want ad—and yet not act wisely in failing to read them day by day.

Berlin, Seept. 4.—The Vossische Zeitung, in an editorial under the caption of "God's Judgment," says:

"The mind is almost unable to conceive what the German people learn about their victories east and west. It is, as it were, the judgment of God which condemns our antagonists as the criminal originators of this fearful war."

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-know authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER — NOBODY HOME — BY "HOP"

BIG ATTRACTIONS AT ALLENTOWN FAIR

Banner Event of the East Will Be Held September 22-25.

The flags will fly, bands play, stock and chickens swell the chorus of the thousand and one joy notes which go to make the Allentown Fair the biggest and most popular Fair East of the Mississippi.

From September 2 to 25 inclusive, Allentown will occupy the whole joy map. Under the new management this year the Fair will break all records. Music, attractions, exhibits, entrees, premiums and purses are larger than they have ever been.

To any one who has visited the Fair in recent years the prospect of a bigger and better Allentown Fair seems impossible.

Agricultural reports show that the Allentown Fair is the largest in the East, and with but one exception the largest in the United States. It pays its stockholders no dividends, however; the profits each year are spent on improvements and on new and greater attractions. This is why the Fair grows bigger and better from year to year.

This year more than $30,000 will be awarded in premiums and purses among the 40,000 exhibitors and contestants. New and unique exhibits will tax every building to its utmost.

The cattle show in particular shows remarkable growth. The poultry show, which already is the largest anywhere will alone be worth going to see.

But the horse racing at Allentown Fair is the big bet. This is because the Allentown Fair track is the fastest half mile track in the world and because of the big purses and the square treatment given owners and drivers.

The list of entries this year is very large and includes some of the stars from the big circuit.

For their special accommodation the management has erected a $20,000 cooling out shed. This will make the racing more attractive than ever.

Every day opposite the grandstand an exhibition of sensational and death defying acts will be given by some of the most famous performing troupes in the world.

Among these attractions will be Poth's Original Auto Polo, a real thriller in the world of sport; and by special arrangement a squad of boys from the Chester Military Academy will give an exhibition of fancy riding seldom seen under ordinary auspices.

In addition to this the world famous Allentown Band will give a daily concert in the grove.

For the benefit of its guests the Allentown Fair management always endeavors to secure efficient transportation arrangements.

This year everything has been done as heretofore to secure safety and comfort and speed. The Reading, Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central will run special trips at reduced rates, as will the Lehigh Valley Transit Company, which will run limited trains from 69th street and Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, direct to the grounds without change.

But as a matter of fact we are showing many new styles in wearables that you would search long to find elsewhere in this city.

NEW DIRECTOR FOR Y. M. C. A.

WORK BEGINS SEPT. 14

Fall Term Will Begin Earlier This Year Than Before With a Shorter Recess For Repairs—Several New Features Added to Schedule.

The fall and winter schedule of classes at the Young Men's Christian Association will begin on Monday, September 14th. A complete program has been prepared which provides for carefully adapted physical, mental, social and religious training for both boys and men.

All gymnasium classes will be in charge of Robert L. Meermans the Association's newly appointed physical director. Mr. Meermans has had several years of successful experience in physical work in the Cleveland and Pittsburg Associations as a playground supervisor and as a director of physical activities in the great Epworth Memorial church in Cleveland. He is thoroughly familiar with the best in physical department methods and has exceptional personal qualifications for his work.

The program in the boy's department will give a large place to healthy sports and gymnasium work. There will be marching, calisthenics, apparatus work, athletics, games, swimming. Every boy will have opportunity to test his own strength in individual competition and it will be possible for him to learn the rules of all the games played as well as the games themselves. Team games for boys will be emphasized. Here standing shoulder to shoulder with other boys in team competition, boys learn team play. The boys will be divided into groups according to their individual development. This will put every boy into the group where he will feel most at home and where all that he does will be on an equal basis. The schedule is based on the experience of the past five years in the local Association and is in harmony with the very best material available on work with boys.

Besides the physical program, Bible Classes are planned for each group to which all boys are eligible who care to join. The popular Saturday morning for boys will soon be resumed with a most interesting program.

Parents who expect to enter their boys in the Association are urged to do so during the coming week so that physical examinations may be given and locker assignments made. Boys who have passed their eleventh birthday may join.

The gymnasium and baths will be closed from Saturday of this week until Tuesday of next week for necessary repairs.

Young men, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 8 to 10; business and professional men, Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, 5:40 to 6:30.

Younger boys age 12 to 14, Mondays and Wednesdays at 3 o'clock, Saturday mornings at 9:30. Older Junior boys, age 14 to 16, Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 3 o'clock, Saturdays at 10:30. High School class, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock. Leal's School class, Monday and Wednesdays at 4 o'clock, Fridays at 3 o'clock. Unemployed boys, Monday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock. Boys' club, beginning in October, Friday evenings at 7 o'clock. Suburban boys, Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock. Boxing and wrestling classes will be formed to meet at 7 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

NO PAPER MONDAY.

Following its invariable custom, the Daily Press will not be published on Monday, Labor Day. The office will be closed all day.

ROUTINE BUSINESS AT BORO COUNCIL

Nothing but routine business occupied the attention of the Borough Council at its September session, last night, at which all the members were present with the exception of Councilmen Edmund Rushmore and Alexander Milne. The former is enjoying an automobile trip in New York State. There was nothing of any special importance to come before the Council.

The Lenox Manufacturing Company, which bought the publishing rights of the North Plainfield Review, formerly issued by the late David J. Carney, informed the Council that the publication had been made a monthly and for that reason the notice relative to the special consolidation election which were to have been published September 3 and 19 were discontinued. The notice was published in The Review in July. There was no action that the Council could take last night and the communication was received and filed.

A petition from the property-owners on Wilson avenue asking that walks be laid on the northwest side of that thoroughfare was referred to the committee on streets. Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker was granted an advance of $150 for the poor fund in accordance with a resolution by Mr. Copperthwaite.

On behalf of the street committee, Councilman Julius Stahl introduced a resolution which was adopted, providing for the advertising for bids for the continuance of the Greenbrook road viaduct according to the plans and specifications in the office of the borough engineer. Another resolution by the same member and adopted called for the advertising for bids for a new boiler and plates at fire headquarters.

Mr. Cowperthwaite reported that during July twenty-two street lights were found not burning and during August seven lights were reported out. The usual allowance will be made by the company.

Recorder Fred Hand reported that fifty-six arrests were made during July and August and $122 in fines collected. Committees reported the following expenditures for the month: Street, $643; police, $566; fire and water, $287. The total expenditures for all purposes amounted to $2 369.27. In accordance with a resolution by Mr. Cowperthwaite $500 was borrowed to meet current expenses.

Owing to the absence of two of the members, Mr. Stahl decided to hold over a number of applications for building permits, it being desired that all members be present when action is taken.

WILL PEDAL TO TRENTON.

Russell, Carlton and Theodore Vail, of this city, left this noon on their bicycles for Philadelphia, where they will spend the week-end and Labor Day. The distance is about sixty-seven miles, but the riders only expect to pedal to Trenton. From there they will take life easy and ride on the boat. The boat is due to leave the capital at 4 o'clock, so the local boys will have plenty of time to take the ride slowly. They will visit relatives at Philadelphia and return home Monday afternoon.

REV. MAGUIRE'S FAREWELL.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will occupy the pulpit of that church for the last time as pastor at the services tomorrow. Rev. Maguire will preach at both the morning and evening services. Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, of this city, will act as permanent supply of the church until such time as another pastor is called to take the place of the retiring pastor, who goes next week to Boston.

WILL CHASE THE HOUNDS.

Weather permitting the members of the Watchung Hunt Club will meet the hounds every Thursday at 6 o'clock at the kennels for a weekly run. The first run will go on Thursday evening, September 10. Farmers are invited to take part. Rufus C. Finch is master of the hounds.

RAID FRUIT TREES.

Chauncey B. Burt, of 911 West Seventh street, complained to the police, this morning, that small boys had been making raids on his fruit trees and selling the fruit to local grocers. Efforts will be made to stop the practice.

CHILD IS FOUND DEAD IN CESSPOOL

Esther Milliken, Aged Two Years, Drowns In Eighteen Inches of Water.

Esther K. Milliken, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milliken, of 1810 West Front street Plainfield, was drowned in a new overflow cesspool in the rear of the Milliken home, yesterday afternoon. The cesspool was covered temporarily with boards and the father thinks that the child must have first moved the boards and then fallen in. A stone covering had been ordered two weeks ago, but for some reason or other it had not been delivered. The mother was engaged nearby at the time, but she heard nothing to attract her attention. She had several times previously, however, cautioned the child about playing around the cesspool. Little Esther was missed about 2 o'clock. The mother made a thorough search of the premises, but never thought of the cesspool. After a vain search she concluded that Esther must have gone to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Debele, of Rock avenue, as she had done before. The mother went to the poorhouse at the corner of Rock avenue and Front street and phoned to her mother's home. When apprised that her child was not there she frantically returned home and enlisted the aid of her husband, who was working in his shop. Mr. Milliken was led as if by intuition to the cesspool. The parted boards made him fear the worst before he peered in. The child was lying in eighteen inches of water and had been there too long to respond to treatment administered by Dr. Bernard Levinson.

The funeral services will be held at the parents' home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. Dr. David C. Ramsey of the Methodist Episcopal church, Dunellen, and Rev. John Y. Brock, of the Trinity Reformed church, will officiate.

ARGUMENT OVER GIRL LEADS TO AN ARREST

William Terry, aged 19 years, of South avenue, this city, and Robert Green, aged 20, of Grandview avenue, the borough, were arrested in the borough last night, by Marshal Keller, while endeavoring to settle an argument concerning a certain young woman, whose name was not divulged. The argument which was a lively one, resulted in a fist fight and it was at this point that Marshal Keller appeared.

Arraigned before Recorder Fred Hand in the borough court, this morning, the young men were given a severe reprimand and with a suspension of sentence, the recorder advised the cambatants to allow the young women in question to settle the question.

EAST END LIBRARY WILL OPEN THIS AFTERNOON

The East End branch of the Plainfield Public Library opens this afternoon in the Netherwood Reformed church at 3:30 o'clock. A well selected library of 250 volumes has been placed in the building, and is open for the use of everybody in that section of the city. For the present the library will be in charge of Miss Ruth Ralston.

Negotiations are pending between the Board of Education and the Consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church for the use of the church building for public school purposes during the coming school year. If the necessary arrangements can be made a kindergarten will probably be established in the building. This will relieve to some extent, temporarily, the need of the East End for improved school facilities. Meanwhile, plans should be at once begun for a new school building in that section of the city.

AFFECTS ATTENDANCE.

The sudden change in the weather affected the attendance at the weekly band concert given last night at West Fifth street and Monroe avenue, under the auspices of the West End Civic Association. The Dutch Arms Band presented an attractive program of ten selections, including a tenor solo by Harold Leadbitter entitled "While the Stars in the Heavens Shine On." The band, comprising thirty pieces, was in charge of Edmund D. Young, leader.

HUGH REILLY HERE MONDAY.

Hugh Reilly, business agent of the International Machinist of this district, who is well known in the city among the union labor men, will be unable to be in this city Monday morning to witness the parade, but will be present and speak at the picnic grounds in the afternoon.

EVENTS GALORE FOR LABOR DAY

TRADES TO CELEBRATE

Union Labor Will Give Big Demonstration, Followed By a Picnic—Baseball, Tennis, Concerts and Theatrical Performances.

Blue skies and sunshine are all that are necessary for the success of the elaborate Labor Day program that has been scheduled for Monday. Events of all kinds will be held during the day and pleasure-seekers will find plenty to occupy their time. Concerts, athletic events, a parade and theatrical performances will comprise the amusements of the day, while the various clubs will hold special events according to holiday custom.

All business will shut down on that day and, with the city and borough decorated in attractive style, the allied trades' parade will start the festivities in the morning. There are an exceptionally large number of floats to be exhibited. The parade will pass through the main streets of the city and borough so that everyone may have a chance to see it. This is the first parade of the kind that has been held here. The allied trades will continue their merry-making in the afternoon and evening, when they will hold a picnic at Vail's Grove.

Athletic supporters will have a rare treat at Parker Field in the afternoon, when the Pets and Saurers come together for the fourth time this year. This city will be without an athletic meet on this day as it had a monster show on the Fourth of July last, but there are several local athletes who are going elsewhere to try their luck.

The theatrical attractions are regular holiday bills and these will undoubtedly attract many people. The management of the Plainfield Theatre has booked one of the best plays, while Proctor's will resume vaudeville bills.

One of the features of the day that rain cannot interfere with is the band concert that will be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium in the evening under the auspices of the Plainfield Italian Band. It is in charge of Prof. Antonio Lambiase and will present a very pleasing program.

The entire library building will be closed on the morning of Labor Day. The adult circulating department and reading-room will be open in the afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock. Holiday rules will be observed at the postoffice with one morning delivery, while the banks will close all day.

For the accommodation of the people who live in the outskirts of the city, the Plainfield Transit Company will run their buses according to the regular week days' schedule instead of the holiday schedule. Many of the residents of Sterling and that vicinity may want to see the parade which will take place in the morning. A special run will be made from Sterling at 8:15 a. m., which will enable all who wish to take in the festivities of the day, to get here on time for the parade which will start at 10 o'clock.

Proctor's vaudeville will begin Monday and for the benefit of those who are going to take in any of the theatrical performances in the evening a late bus will be run.

MRS. GERTRUDE RINK IS ALLOWED $6.20 PER WEEK

Elizabeth, Sept. 5—Mrs. Gertrude F. Rink, of Plainfield, widow of Isaac Rink, who was killed by a train at the Netherwood station of the Central Railroad while painting there May 13 last, was awarded compensation under the Employers' Liability Act in Common Pleas Court, yesterday.

Judge James C. Connolly fixed the payments at the rate of $6.20 per week for 300 weeks, the Central Company being agreeable to this proposition. The company changed its original plan to pay the commutation in a lump sum of $1,636.17. James P. Kelly was counsel for Mrs. Rink.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR FRESH AIR HOME SERVICE

The closing exercises at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45. A special program of unusual interest has been prepared. The service will be in charge of George A. Chapman, and the principal speaker will be Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Others are expected to be present, among them Rev. Dr. John R. Henry, of the Second Avenue Methodist church, New York, who for many years has been interested in the work as conducted by Miss Curry in New York. The special music will include solo numbers by Miss Kinnaman, contralto soloist of the First Methodist church, and the children will have their part in the program.

This has been a most successful year, the playground has been under the direction of Miss Marion Wean, and has been very well taken care of. The religious part has been under the direction of a committee, and many local and out-of-town speakers have made the meetings very interesting and helpful. James Parker has conducted a Bible class on Wednesday evenings, which has been largely attended, and altogether the committee feel confident that much good has been done for the little people and their mothers. Many sick and suffering children have been tenderly nursed back to full vigor and health under the careful and always tender care of Miss Curry, the one above all others who gives of her time, energy and love for others. It is hoped that a very large number will be in attendance on Sunday afternoon to bid a good-bye to Miss Curry and her large family of little ones. The public is invited to this service.

SOME FINE PEACHES.

This has been known as an unusual peach year, and as a result the market has been overstocked with an exceptionally fine line of fruit. Adam and Peter Neuman had on exhibition this morning, a number of baskets of Elberta peaches from the farm of E. E. Pope, at Mt. Horeb, that many declared to be the finest fruit they had ever seen. Mr. Pope has made a specialty of raising peaches for many years, but has never been able to place on the market anything finer than those which he has been disposing of to the Neuman firm this week. The peaches are large and firm, with delicious white meat.

Paris, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—More warlike preparations on the part of Italy may be expected, says the Rome correspondent of the Mida. General Rava, he announces, has assumed command of the Italian troops. An order for general mobilization is imminent.

Copenhagen, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—Six hundred Japanese students who left the German universities in the north previous to the sending of the ultimatum to Germany by Japan, have been captured on the Dutch frontier and clapped into prison by the Germans.

Racial lines are being drawn hard and fast as the result of the European war. Following the boycott of everything German by Great Britain and Russia, the German Authors' National Union pledges never in the future to translate the literary products of the hostile countries.

Amsterdam, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—A rumor reaches here from Ghent, Belgium, that the town of Dendermonde, Termonde, northwest of Brussels, has been partly invested by the Germans. There is no railway communication with the town and it is presumed that fighting occurred there.

A Munster newspaper says that the Germans changed the time of all the Belgium clocks an hour in order to have them synchronize with German time. When the Belgian citizens protested against the action, General Von Der Goltz replied: "In Germany there should be only one time."

It is announced in the Antwerp newspapers that the German general staff has been transferred from Brussels to Mons, also in Belgium, and the scene of one of the vigorous fights between the Germans and Britishers.

A copy of the Berlin Tageblatt received here contains an article by its correspondent at Namur, Belgium, who pictures the terrible havoc wrought there. He says many squares have been devastated while Grande Place, with the splendid town hall, no longer exists. The hotels opposite the railway stations have geen transformed into military camps.

The town itself is without bread as all that is baked goes to the Germans and to insure the delivery German sentries are posted at all bakeries. In the big hotels there is nothing to eat.

"The German troops," the correspondent says, "are living on the preserved supplies taken from the captured fortresses. Great want also has gripped Gembloux, a few miles to the northwest of Namur."

Shanghai, China, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—It is announced that the Japanese have completely invested Tsing Tao, the fortified seaport of the German Chinese possession of Kiao Chao.

The Chinese government has sent a notification to the legations of various governments informing the diplomats that China has extended the Japan-German war area over the whole of the eastern portion of Shantung Province. Furthermore Chinese troops have been ordered not to interfere with the belligerents.

Tokio, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—Baron Kato, minister of foreign affairs, reviewed at length the events leading up to the war with Germany at the opening of the Diet today. He said that early in August, England asked Japan's assistance and Japan necessarily complied. After a full and frank exchange of views, Japan advised the Germans of the Japanese ultimatum, which was answered and war was declared.

Baron Kato closed his speech with a tribute to the United States government, "For the courtesy which it has been good enough to extend to Japan in connection with the present trouble, and for the protection of Japan's subjects and interests in Germany and Austria, I desire to express the sincere appreciation of the Imperial Government."

Rome, Sept. 5 (Central News Cable).—A despatch from Vienna says it is officially admitted in the Austrian capital that the Russian troops have captured both Lemberg and Halicz, Galicia.

WAR TAX TO MEET TREASURY DEFICIT

Wilson's Suggestions to Be Carried Out at Once.

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Wilson's recommendation that congress raise additional revenue to the amount of $100,000,000 in order that the treasury may be spared possible embarrassments on account of the war will probably be speedily and favorably acted on.

Those who have charge of the bill are now at work divising means to raise the additional revenue to take the place of the defect caused by decreased import duty. Everybody in the country will be affected and it is obvious that the task of choosing the articles to be taxed is a difficult one.

A memorandum prepared by Chairman Underwood after a conference with treasury officials formed the basis for future plans. Included in this memorandum was a suggestion that a tax of 5 or 10 per cent should be levied on railroad tickets. It was also proposed that taxes should be levied on all tickets of amusements, soft drinks of all kinds, beer, gasoline, certain forms of tobacco manufacturers and proprietary articles.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills,
For Plainfield kidney sufferers,
Have made their local reputation.
Proof lies in the testimony of Plainfield people.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says, "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such trouble and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

STYLISH RELIABLE

"CAPITAL—"
WHAT IS IT?
WHO IS IT?
WHY IS IT?

The hand that robbed "The Titanic" of sufficient life-boats — that's capital!!

The hand that has the neck of every miner in the coal regions in its greedy grasp—that's capital!!

The hand that by one stroke of the pen sends the price of foodstuffs soaring, and the hopes of the workingmen vanishing—that's capital!!

It's a composite, fat, white - vested snugly-groomed, grouchy, grumpy individual, whose only God is the letter S with a line drawn down the centre.

He's here—because here. Because man's worst enemy is man. Because it is human for the strong to strangle the weak. Because the greed for gold is the motive that propels every two-legged animal.

VICTORY OPENS ROAD TO BERLIN

Austrian Defeat Complete and Overwhelming.

THOUSANDS DEAD ON FIELD

Czar's Commander In Chief Gives Official Report of Victory—Hope That Victory Is Beginning of End of Fighting In That Section — Austrians Abandon Their Wounded.

Petrograd (St. Petersburg), Sept. 5.—The Russian headquarters staff reports that the struggle has been resumed along the whole line. Prisoners state that the Austrians defending the environs of Lemberg were seized with indescribable panic. In the suburbs of the city the Russians captured twenty more cannon.

The Russians are still advancing.

The information of the headquarters staff raises the hope that the victory at Lemberg is the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eighty army corps, in conjunction with the rout of the army which was to serve as a screen for their retreat, already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming.

The fall of Lemberg, which is at the junction of eight important railway lines, renders the Russians absolute masters of the whole of eastern Galicia.

Of the magnitude of the Russian victory before Lemberg there can be no question. By it Russia has put out of action a quarter of the total Austrian first line troops and captured nearly a quarter of the Austrian artillery, besides commanding all roads leading from Galicia into Hungary.

The Galicians warmly welcomed the Russian troops, according to the prisoners, who also spoke of the terrible execution of the Russian artillery.

The Russian general staff issued an account of the fighting which led to the capture of Lemberg, capital of Galicia, saying:

"In the offensive against Lublin-Kholm front the main Austrian forces deployed on the Zavichost, Tanoff, Bielgoray, Tomachoff and Belz line. The second Austrian army, composed of the Third, Eleventh and Twelfth corps and five divisions of cavalry, gathered in the region east of Lemberg in order to cover this operation.

"When the Russian troops were taking the offensive the Austrian concentration had not been completed and topographical considerations compelled the enemy to re-enforce this army still more with the troops of the Seventh, Thirteenth and Fourteenth corps, thus making a total of twelve divisions and several brigades of the Landsturm.

"In the period between Aug. 17 and Sept. 3 the Russian left wing advanced 220 versts (about 147 miles), fighting all the time. The bulk of the hostile forces, intrenched in powerful positions at Kamanka and Gatlitch, offered battle and were thoroughly defeated in a desperate conflict.

The bogey for all play will be 34 for nine holes and 68 for eighteen holes. To the above bogey of 68 each player will add his handicap, and when he has played the last stroke he will plant his "Tombstone" and the one finishing nearest the 18th hole will be the winner. Lincoln A. Riffert was last year's champion.

OSCAR S. STRAUS.

A report that 72,000 Russian troops had secretly passed through England and landed in Ostend and that 500,000 others were on their way to Belgium was partially substantiated by cable messages from Amsterdam. First word of the Russian re-enforcements for the allied army in France was brought here by officers and passengers of the Cunard liner Mauretania. If this report is true it may mean that the allies are planning a flank attack on the German forces now engaged with the British-French troops near Paris. "To the best of my knowledge and belief the story that Russian troops from Archangel, on the Arctic coast of Russia, have landed at Ostend, Belgium, is true," Oscar S. Straus, former United States minister to Turkey, said Mr. Straus, who was active on the American relief committee in London, arrived on the Mauretania. "It was common talk in England before we sailed that a large body of troops from northern Russia had disembarked in Great Britain and was being rushed to the assistance of the Anglo-French army."

PLAN TO OPEN CITY MARKET HERE

Farmers of Mt. Bethel Will Meet to Discuss the Proposition.

The Farmers' Grange, No. 201, of Mt. Bethel, will hold an open meeting at the Mountain House, Mt. Bethel, on Friday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock. All of the farmers in Somerset county are urged to be present as there will be an important discussion concerning the opening of a city market in this city, where the farmers can market their produce directly to the consumer instead of having it handled through middlemen.

If this should be the sentiment of the farmers they will probably take it before the Common Council for action. The members of the grange think that the farmers should fix prices when selling instead of doing business through middlemen. It is hoped that there wil lbe a large turnout at this meeting to get the sentiment of the farmers in this county.

INFORMATION REGARDING FIRST DAY OF REGISTRY

Tuesday next will be the first day for the registry of voters, at which time the various district registry boards will set from one o'clock in the afternoon until nine o'clock in the evening. First voters should note that if they desire to vote at the primaries, they should register on Tuesday. Those who did not exercise the right of franchise at the last general election should also make it a point to personally register on that day.

Those who voted last November but have moved from the district in which they voted, should make it their business to visit their new polling place on Tuesday and register. In all cases, registration, must, according to the law, be made in person. The above points apply to both Plainfield and North Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1914.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own viewss. The contributing editor for today is William H. Harding, delegate of the Carpenters Union to the local Building Trades Council. It is particularly timely because of the great demonstration to be made in this city on Monday by organized labor men.

UNIONISM.

Labor is the primary condition of honorable, human life. God Himself originally issued the decree: "In the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat thy bread until thou return to the earth out of which thus wast made."

Man in his own weakness, and through the dictates of his conscience, joins his fellow-men, and through this arises civil society, and within the pale of civil society other associations are formed. Why, then, is it any more than natural that men band themselves together in trade unions, not alone against those of capital, but for the interests of their trades.

We often change our dwelling places, but rarely do we change our occupations, for our trade and our business is a very intimate part of our lives, and we therefore unite, being exposed to the same dangers.

One of the most remarkable phenomena of modern times is the development among men of the spirit of solidarity, especially of those engaged as laborers in a trade. And the future will see the spread of such organizations among professional men.

If there be strong organizations of capital and the same of trade unions, our present industrial system could be much improved, for they would be powerful to the effect that they would have respect for each other, giving and taking, settling each other's differences in harmony, throwing light on each other's interests and each working for the advantage of both.

Measured by the work already done for the improvement of conditions and easing the fetter of poverty for working people, the vast possibilities for unionism's noble achievements for the good of humanity could scarcely be estimated. Among the wisest and the great men it has found friends. Its principles teach the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of mankind and advocate an administration of the divine idea of a righteous government.

Unionism in plain and comprehensive administration has proven to be the wisest and most practicable adjustment of industrial differences. It has had a long, hard struggle with opposition, but labor's cause is a righteous, just and a humane one, and in the unequal conflict it has not only survived the attacks of calumny, but has won the respect and confidence of the public. And let us not forget the words herewith of Abraham Lincoln, who loved labor and who achieved the highest position of trust in this, our beloved country, when he said:

"Inasmuch as most good things are produced by labor, it follows that all such things of right belong to those whose labor has produced them. But it has so happened, in all ages of the world, that some have labored and others have without labor enjoyed a large proportion of the fruits. This is wrong, and should not continue. To secure to each laborer the whole product of his labor, or as nearly as possible, is a worthy subject of any good government."

TURKEY STILL NEUTRAL.

Informs Ambassador Here She Has Not Declared War.

Washington, Sept. 5.—That Turkey has not declared war against any country and that she will further insist upon her neutrality was the construction placed upon a cablegram from Constantinople to the Turkish ambassador.

The cablegram follows:

"I hereby inform you that by reason of the neutrality she has adopted Turkey is insuring by every possible means the perfect safety of merchant vessels of belligerents and of neutral states taking refuge in her ports."

Ambassador A. Rustem Bey said he interpreted this as direct information from his government that Turkey had not declared war and that she will insist upon her neutrality. He said this cablegram contradicts all rumors of war by Turkey.

ALLIES WIN VICTORY; GERMANS DRIVEN BACK

THREE BATTLES ARE ON

PLAN A NEW MOVEMENT

Berlin, However, Denies French Victories and Feels Confident of Ultimate Success.

SCENE OF BATTLE.

Map Showing German Line Between Forces of the Allies.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

FRANCE.—War office announces position of allies is well maintained as Germans menace Paris. Indications that a German movement is developing in an eastward and southward direction are reported. Movements of opposing armies outside of French capital continue without any attempt of the kaiser's troops to close in on the forts. Germans reported checked in district of Verdun. Allies win partial successes in Lorraine and the Vosges, war office says.

GERMANY.—Wireless dispatches from Berlin report the German capital is jubilant and that the general feeling there is that nothing can stay the victorious advance of the German army in France. The Berlin papers express confidence that the armies of Prince Albrecht and the crown prince will soon reach Chaton and Verdun, adding that these forts have lost their strategical importance. German ambassador to the United States, Count von Bernstorff, complains to Secretary of State Bryan that the wireless neutrality has been violated in that dispatches have been exchanged between the British cruisers Suffolk and Essex and agents in New York regarding supply of coal and provisions for the British ships.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Official information bureau issues a statement to effect that seven German destroyers and torpedo boats have reached Kiel in a damaged condition and reports others sunk near the Kiel canal. Prime Minister Asquith calls on every ablebodied man of military age to join "the colors" in a protracted war.

RUSSIA.—Austrians defeated at Halicz, southeast of Lublin, leaving 4,500 dead on field. Beaten Lemberg defenders intrench themselves along the river San, where the Russian artillery is already engaging them. Russia moving troops toward Hungary.

SERVIA.—Secret societies planning simultaneous revolts throughout Bosnia, Herzgovina, Bohemia and Hungary. Slav troops in the Austrian army reported ready to mutiny.

JAPAN.—The Japanese ambassador in Washington announces in case of a Mahometan uprising against Great Britain, Japan will feel morally obliged to assist her ally and will land an army in India to help quell the revolt.

London, Sept. 5.—A dispatch from Antwerp, via Ostend, says:

"It is learned on good authority that the advance movement of the German right wing has been checked for the last two days under pressure from the left wing of the allies. The enemy has been compelled to retire to St. Quetin.

"A big force of German cavalry that was advancing on Compeigne was vigorously repulsed and forced to abandon several pieces of artillery. It appears that the attempt to envelop the allies' left wing was frustrated."

"The situation in the French theater of war has not undergone substantial change. The position of the allies is well maintained.

"There are indications that a German movement is developing in an eastward and southward direction."

The war office has received the following official communication, issued by the military government of Paris:

"The movements of the opposing armies near Paris are being continued without any attempt having been made by the enemy against our various positions.

"In the district of Verdun the German force has sustained some checks. In Lorraine and the Vosges our troops won fresh partial successes. The general situation is little changed."

A dispatch from Bordeaux says La Petite Gironde states that when a German Taube aeroplane tried to approach Paris it was attacked near Vincennes by two French airmen. The French aviators sent a charge of grapeshot into the wings of the Taube, smashing it to pieces.

In a dispatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire, in case the outer lines of the defenses of Paris are passed by the invaders.

British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to other cities, the correspondent adds, and the great exodus of the populace of the French capital to the south continues.

Telegraphing from Copenhagen, a correspondent says that Berlin newspapers received there describe the battle which was proceeding Wednesday between Rheims and Verdun as the greatest victory in history. Three-quarters of a million men were declared to be participating in the engagement.

German Destroyers Damaged.

London, Sept. 5.—The official information bureau has issued a statement saying: "According to information derived from a trustworthy source seven German destroyers and torpedo boats have arrived at Kiel in a damaged condition, and it is understood that others have been sunk in the vicinity of the Kiel canal.

Paris May Surrender.

London, Sept. 5.—In a dispatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire.

This will only be done, the correspondent declares, in case the outer line of the defenses of Paris is passed by the invaders. The rumors find little credence.

British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to other cities, and the great exodus of the populace of the French capital to the south continues.

The correspondent of the Times at Dieppe, under Thursday's date, indicates that the Germans are less than twenty-five miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-en-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only seventeen miles north of Paris. The Germans are also near Soissons."

Another dispatch to the Times from Beauvais, forty miles northwest of Paris, says that the Germans entered Clermont, thirty-five miles from Paris, at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. At the same hour their cavalry was operating around Beauvais.

Paris Awaits News.

Paris, Sept. 5.—Paris waited for news that the expected great battle before the city's outlying forts had begun.

An earlier statement by the war office gave no details of the fighting to the north of Paris. It was said that the conflict continued, but that as yet there had been no decisive action.

The statement also said that in Lorraine the French army reported partial successes, while in the region of Verdun the fighting continued with alternate successes and reverses to the French arms.

General Gallieni maintained his confidence that Paris can hold out for an indefinite period and he has his troops at their positions awaiting the German attack.

Fresh troops from the south are being rushed through the city to the points of contact. Soldiers marched through the streets all through the night. It is asserted that every possible avenue of approach to the capital has been occupied.

AUSTRIAN FREIGHTER SUNK.

London, Sept. 5.—A British cruiser sank the Austrian freight steamship Bathori, of 1,383 tons burden, which plied between Fiume and French ports, in the bay of Biscay.

TWO NEW TWIRLERS FOR FOURTH GAME

After fighting for three games in the city championship series on Parker Field, George Townley and Warry McLaughlin will not face each other in the fourth contest on Monday, as both managers have new men to toss the balls over. The game is the fourth of the series and if the Saurer team wins they will have the majority, having won two before. The Pets took the second game of the series and are going after this one to get it and tie the standing up, making necessary the fifth game.

Manager Martin was unable to secure Warry and will use one of his three reserves, Conshay, Miller or Dixon. One of the first two named will probably be sent in to start and then Martin will act accordingly. Conshay has been pitching fine ball this season, although he has had no chance to stack up against the Pets. MacLaughlin has pitched all of the games and he will be greatly missed. The regular men will be played provided they get back from the morning game in time. That will also be a handicap that the Pets may take advantage of for this important game. Saurer goes to Rahway in the morning and will undoubtedly be pushed to the limit by the team of that place. When they start the game in the afternoon they will not be fresh as their opponents who will take a rest in the morning.

Manager Dorflinger has signed up Jennings, a pitcher who has created a wonderful record as a pitcher at Rutgers College and who has been on the Parker Field mound several times. He is truly a wonder and will be a great addition to the Plainfield team as he has a fine batting eye. Walter Nelson will be on the receiving end and this battery will make the Saurer heavy stickers work some. "Chick" Boyd will play in the right garden in place of Stine, who has been sent by the local manager to do backstop work at High Bridge over this week-end. Boyd is an old ex-Pet and was one of the best fielders on the team in his day. Dorflinger evidently thinks he has something left and will try him. The game will start at 3:30 sharp.

The teams will lineup as follows:

PLAINFIELD.	SAURER.

LUYSTER PITCHES WELL AND WINS OWN GAME

Billy 'Flick' Luyster, a former Pet proved his worth with the Lawrence team Wednesday afternoon, when he blanked the Haverhill team in the first game of a twin bill by the score of 4 to 0.

Luyster pitched fine ball, allowing only four hits. In the first inning with one on third, he fanned the next two batters. Only two clean hits were made off him. In five innings he made Haverhill go out in order. He held the visitors safe at all stages of the game. Luyster won his own game by coming through with a triple in the fifth inning, which scored a teammate. Bruggy followed with a hit and scored Luyster.

Frank Bruggy played only in the first game and managed to contribute a hit out of three attempts with the willow.

CARDS MIGHT AS WELL GIVE GAMES TO BOSTON

In their last eight games with the Braves, in which they made the unenviable showing of one victory and seven defeats, the Cardinals have scored all of ten runs. They were shut out four times, being calcimined twice by Tyler and once by James and Rudolph.

Starting on July 31, in Boston, they were beaten 2 to 1 by Tyler. Griner worked for the Cards. The next day Rudolph beat Purdue 2 to 9, while James then subdued Perritt 4 to 3 in ten innings. The final game of the series was Griner's one-hit defeat at the hands of Tyler, 1 to 0, in the series in St. Louis, Perdue and Griner beat Rudolph 3 to 2, while James trimmed Perritt and Griner 4 to 0. A raft of pitchers worked the third game and the Braves won at Sal's expense, 6 to 4, while Tyler came through Sunday over Perdue, 2 to 0.

SAURERS WILL PLAY 3 GAMES IN TWO DAYS

Two of These Contests Are Out of Town and Third Is For the City Title.

Three games in two days is the proposition that the Saurer baseball players will face today and Monday. One today and two on Monday will keep them busy and give them enough baseball for some time. This afternoon Manager Martin will take his charges to Bound Brook and play the second of a series with the St. Josephs aggregation of that place. Last Sunday at Woodland Park the Saurer boys took the game in the ninth inning and the Brookers are looking for another chance at the truck makers. Conshay will probably do the pitching and the regular team will be used.

Monday morning the city title aspirants will pack up and go to Rahway for a fray of nine innings and possibly more. All of Martin's men will work then with Miller or Dixon on the mound. After the game the locals will make a hurried getaway in order to fulfil their engagement at Parker Field with the Pets. This afternoon the Saurer team will lineup as follows: Harriman 3b, Jaeger ss, Mullin c, Martin 2b, Conshay or Dixon p, Garretson 1b, H. Alberts rf, Miller cf, Wilson lf.

HIGHLANDERS LOSE TO STRONG IRONSIDE NINE

The Highlanders and Ironsides met in a loosely played game on Parker Field yesterday afternoon. The score was 9 to 5. This was the fourth of a five-game series and the winning of the game by the Ironsides puts them on even terms for the league championship. The fifth and deciding game will be played next Tuesday afternoon.

Kyle pitched a good game allowing only three scattered hits. Brennan weakened in the fifth and the Ironsides knocked the ball all over the lot. When the inning ended the Ironsides had four runs more to add to the four made earlier in the game. The next inning found Barnes, the colored speed artist, twirling for the Highlanders. He pitched good ball striking out 7 men out of the nine to face him in the three innings he pitched.

Harry Moulton's three hits and Barnes long two-bagger were the features of the game.

RECEIPTS OF ALL BIG GAMES FOR RED CROSS FUND

Philadelphia, Sept. 4—Yesterday was designated by President John Tener, of the National League, as "Red Cross Day" in the senior baseball organization. The presidents of the eight clubs in the National League donated one-quarter of the gate receipts for the war fund of the American Red Cross. This is the first time in the history of the National League that a day has been set aside for the purpose of aiding a project of charity.

MANAGERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Fircone Club, of Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, will be on the gridiron again this season with their usual fast team and are anxious to book a few games in or about Jersey. Any managers of teams made up of lads 18 to 21 years who are desirous of booking a good attraction, address E. C. Baum, care of Fircone Club, 7823 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn. Would like to hear from any Y. M. C. A. team.

WHERE WILL THE ARMY-NAVY GAME BE PLAYED THIS YEAR?

In an effort to get the Army-Navy football game for the Polo Grounds, the Merchants' Association of New York, yesterday, sent a letter to both Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, and Josephus Danieis, Secretary of the Navy.

In the letter are enumerated all the advantages of New York over Philadelphia, which seems to be in a fair way of getting the big fixture However, it is doubtful if the appeal will do any good, in view of the fact that neither of the Government officials has anything to say as to where the game should be played.

MACK PICKS BOSTON BRAVES TO ANNEX 1914 BANNER

Boston, Sept. 4—Connie Mack, who came to town yesterday with his Athletics to play the Red Sox, said the Braves would win the pennant.

"Nothing to it," said Mack. "The Braves will win all right. Any team that can do what they have done in the last six or seven weeks will grab the National League pennant. Yes, sir, we will be back here in Boston for the World's series. By the way, how many people will Fenway Park seat?"

He was told that 32,000 spectators could be taken care of in that ball yard.

"Well, they may need extra seats," he observed.

"No chance for the Braves cracking at this stage of the game," affirmed the leader of the Athletics. "They started their present climb on their second trip to the West, didn't they? And then they cleaned up on the home grounds. And then they went West again and kept on winning, didn't they? Nothing to it, I say. The Braves will win the pennant, sure.

"Just now they are winning three out of four regularly, aren't they? And the other teams win one and then lose one."

WESTFIELD AT FLEMINGTON.

After fighting with the Hope chapel baseball team of this city in the morning, the Westfield ballists will journey to Flemington after lunch and play the Country Club nine of that place.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Gus Hill, the daddy of all successful cartoon plays, has clinched another "money foundry" in George McManus' cartoon series "Bringing up Father." That this irrepressible wizard of stagecraft picked 'Bringing up Father" as a winner, is enough to make the entire theatrical world wager that it will be a success. In summing up Mr. Hill's successes, don't overlook the fact that all the cartoon plays produced in the last 30 years have been under his management. The McManus pictures made a play that has, in the hands of Mr. Hill, proven the most remarkable play in the history of the musical comedy stage. It has simply cleaned up all previous records and established new ones that never will be broken, therefore you may rest assured that "Bringing up Father" was designed for and will be the peer of all cartoon plays. The play will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and evening.

"Potash and Perlmutter," the famous comedy-drama which Manager A. H. Woods will present at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday afternoon and evening, is aptly described as "an up-to-date garment in three pieces, made by our special designer from material in the stories in the Saturday Evening Post, by Montague Glass," and, the announcement adds most truthfully that it is "trimmed with a thousand laughs." New York audiences laughed at the quaint humor of "Abe" and "Mawruss" for two seasons, and Manager Woods sends it direct to us from the Cohan Theatre, where it could have run another year were it not for contracts made long ago. There are no more lovable characters in modern literature than the two partners who were immortalized in Mr. Glass' famous stories and later in the three-act play that we are soon to see and it will be a treat to meet them in flesh and blood.

"Little Boy Blue," the most famous of the Vienese musical comedies, one of that cycle of productions which has done so much to improve the lighter American stage, will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre, Wednesday night, September 9. It was found so pleasing by New York theatregoers that it remained the leading attraction of Broadway for an entire season. It is probably the most pretentious of the Hungarian productions. The Bal Tabarin scene of the first act alone is on a scale of surpassing magnificence. The foundation of the story is laid in the gay life of gayest Paris. The music is Viennesse in character, and has all the charm and dash of its music masters, the author Henry Berany, taking rank with Lehar and Richard Strauss as a waltz genius. The engagement of this splendid company here will undoubtedly be the event of the season.

Evere since the premiere of "The Better Way," at the Garrick theatre, in Philadelphia, word has gone widespread that it is the biggest thing Eugene Walter has ever done, and the success already reaped was predicted for it at the premiere. In the way of production it is a most stupendous undertaking, requiring a cast of more than thirty speaking parts and more than 60 people for the ensembles. Not only is the production a large one, but it is an elaborate and extravagant affair. Six scenes are shown, the first being a wonderful scene of the steel mill region in the vicinity of Pittsburgh with the lighted mills in the distant. It is said to be a wonderfully realistic scene, surpassing any other attempt of its kind ever seen on the American stage. Two other elaborate scenes are the cabaret show in one of New York's Tenderloin restaurants for which a full cabaret show with a colored orchestra is carried, and also the courtroom scene where the divorce trial is contested. Miss Charlotte Walker lends that same beauty of effort that carried her June in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," to national success in her new role which is vastly different from anything she ever offered before. Not as the dreaming mountain girl does she come before the public this season, but nevertheless equally as lovable in her role of the unswerving wife, the sort of wife that the author shows makes better Americans of us all. Miss Walker is supported by an unusually strong array of talent which comprises L. Byron Beasley, George Stewart Christie, David Burton, Veda McEvers, Frederick Backus, Virginia Pearson, Frank J. Woods, Arthur Brams, T. E. Jones, Virginia Allen, Alan Foster, John T. Ward and others.

AUGUST A BUSY ONE FOR TRADES

Building Conditions Generally Are More Encouraging To Craftsmen.

1913-14 COMPARISONS

Reports For Past Month Show a Total of $32,505 Expended In New Buildings and $20,900 For Alterations.

The month of August, which came to a close during the past week, was a busy one for the local building craftsmen, when the cost of the buildings for which permits have been granted by Inspector T. O. Doane are compared with those issued during the course of the same month of 1913. The cost of the new buildings, as well as alterations, exceed the cost of those made during August of last year.

Local conditions in the building world, while somewhat slow in some quarters, are most encouraging, considering the state of things in other localities from which reports have been received. In fact, all Union county has held up wonderfully well. The outlook for Plainfield building trades still continues to appear bright, and a fall of activity is anticipated on all sides. Below are figures showing a comparison of August 1913 and the same month of 1914.

1st Wd.	$13,500	———	$13,500
2d Wd.	7,850	20,225	28,075
3rd Wd.	5,235	———	5,235
4th Wd.	5,620	675	6,295
Totals	$32,505	$20,900	$53,405

August, 1913.

2d Wd.	9,350	250	9,600

THIRTEEN CONTRACTS FILED WITH COUNTY CLERK

Calamity howlers throughout this section somehow keep clear of the figures on the building contracts as filed at the county clerk's office in Elizabeth. During the week which ended last Saturday, thirteen building contracts were filed at that place, calling for the expenditure of $34,105, which does not represent the entire constructure activities of the county by far.

APPROVE NINE PLANS.

The New Jersey Tenement House Supervision Board has had another busy week, when they passed on nine plans for new buildings which are to be erected in various parts of the State, the aggregate cost of which will be in the vicinity of $99,000, an average of $11,000 for each new building. Three plans for improvements were approved, calling for the expenditure of $1,700.

BIDS FOR BORO HALL.

Linden, Sept. 5—Several bids for the proposed improvements to the borough hall were opened at the meeting of the Borough Council, Wednesday evening. The figures in each bid were approximately $4,000 or more, and some of the members of the Council intimated that the figures were all too high. The bids were left in the hands of the building committee.

REALTY CHANGES MADE.

The Mary E. Dagnall estate has sold to Daniel F. Dugan the property located at the southeasterly corner of Richmond and East Sixth streets. It is the intention of Mr. Dugan to improve the property within the course of the near future.

ANOTHER REALTY OFFICE.

Louis Moledezky has entered the local ranks of real estate dealers, and has opened an office on North avenue. Evidently local realty has its attractions, for they continue to come our way.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR BUILDING

Five Permits Issued This Week For Six New Structures.

ALTERATIONS PLANNED

Building operations throughout the city gained momentum during the course of the past week. Five permits have been granted for the construction of six new buildings and two which call, for alterations, while one has been granted to demolish an addition to a building. The cost of the new buildings is placed at $13,180, while the alterations will cost $825, making a total of $14,505.

They will be two stories high, with apartments to accommodate four families in each of the buildings on the second floors. Stores will occupy the first floors. These buildings will occupy the last of the vacant lots found on West Fourth street east of Grant avenue. The same company has at present another two-story building in the course of construction on the next lot, at the corner of Plainfield avenue in which there will be stores on the first floor and apartments on the second. The new buildings will have a frontage of twenty-two feet and a depth of sixty-three feet. Henry Snidleton, of Elizabeth, is the architect. DUNELLEN HAS A BUILDING BOOM

CRAFTSMEN ARE BUSY

Many New Buildings Are Now In Course of Construction While Others Are Soon to Be Started.

While Plainfield has been somewhat below last year in building activities thus far this season, the Dunellen building boom has been moving along at an even pace. One of the most interesting features of the buildings in the hustling suburb, has been the faith and the spirit which has prompted a number of the contractors of that place to build dwellings of a modern type for investment purposes, when the times were dark, thus keeping the craftsmen in their employ together and employed. As the building season advanced, and one after another of the houses were completed, it became self-evident that the faith in the home town had not been misplaced, and the structures found a ready market, and were sold, on the one hand, or were found by tenants on the other. The list below shows buildings which are in the course of constructions, have just been completed, or about to be started:

New store to be erected by Kuldoshes Brothers on North avenue.

New House for Walter Titus being built by him on the same thoroughfare.

New house being erected by Contractor Herman B. Eckert on his land on Third street.

Stylish semi-bungalow on Front street completed for Councilman William A. Castner.

New house to be erected at early date on First street on land of Frank Mohan, for residential purposes.

New house on Second street in Equator Park being built for Wilhelm and Augusta Lockenvitz for a home.

New house on Columbia street being erected by Samuel M. Titus for Charles W. Smith, who builds for a home.

Lincoln School entirely rebuilt at a total cost when furnished of about twenty-six thousand dollars.

Two new houses to be built by Contractor Alberne H. Burdick, the New Market contractor, in this borough.

New house being erected by Contractor Henry Wrage in Equator Park (Dunellen avenue) for Stefan Dannik.

House of Stephen Briskey, on Columbia street, completed last spring and now occupied by the owner and family.

Complete alterations of the house of John J. Hague on Jackson avenue, which practically makes a new house of it.

New house erected on Main street, New Market, just over the local line by Contractor Samuel M. Titus for George Harris.

Garage completed for E. F. Sepfield, on Washington avenue on land bought from August F. Samson. Plans out for a palatial new residence to be erected at that point.

New house for Norman Voght to be built on lot recently purchased from the Dunellen Home and Investment Company on Culhane place.

New house is in course of construction for Dr. Thomas H. Platt, Jr., on Dunellen avenue, into which he will move as soon as completed.

New houses in Equator Park being built by the Equator building and Development Company, on First street and being built for speculation.

New concrete house, stucco finish, on Prospect avenue, finished by Contractor Alberne H. Burdick, of New Market, this spring and quickly sold.

Four family brick house under construction on the Bound Brook road by Contractor Walter G. Clawson for Frank and Frances Jaruszewski, of New York, into which they will move as soon as completed.

Two story brick dwelling on Dunellen avenue in Equator Park now under construction by Contractor Clawson for Vincent and Stanislawa Jablonski, of New York, in which they will reside upon completion.

Another real estate deal was consumated last week through the John Fedderman agency, when that hustling operator sold the house on Washington avenue south of the track recently built by Contractor J. Newton Apgar for investment, to Charles Fedderman, who will move out here and take possession, October 1st.

The house on Front street, west of Madison avenue, owned by Contractor Samuel M. Titus, formerly the Charles Smith house, was sold on Monday through the agency of Charles E. Tinsman to James Tarpey, who will take possession about September 15th.

Minor improvements in the carpentering line are being made at the residence of J. Calvin Gardner.

Contractor J. Newton Apgar is planning to erect two new houses in the borough for speculative purposes. One of these houses will be erected on Lincoln avenue adjoining the premises of the new C. T. Voorhees house, and the other on Washington avenue south of the tracks.

Raymond Whitford has contracted with President Schwartz, of the Equator Land Company, to erect three houses in Equator Park. Mr. Whitford has also purchased a lot in the fast developing section.

The Dunellen Home and Investment Company has sold two lots on Washington avenue south of the railroad tracks, through the John Fedderman agency, to Walter Fowler, of New York city. It is Mr. Fowler's intention to erect a home on these lots.

JUST NOTES

Elizabeth is to have another school, contracts for which have already been awarded. The estimated cost has been placed at $45,928.

One of the largest real estate transfers in Hudson county in many years was made yesterday when David F. Edwards, of Jersey City, a special master, sold at public auction at the courthouse eleven tracts of meadow lands located in the Township of Kearney, and containing 3,493 acres, to Harry M. Durming, of New York city, for $1,000,000. The property sold consists of all the meadow lands lying on the west shore of the Hackensack River, extending from the line of the Newark and New York Railroad northerly to Saw Mills Creek, the boundary line between Hudson and Bergen counties.

The enlarging of the Schwed Brothers clothing store on Broad street, Elizabeth, is practically finished and the store is being re-decorated. Some new fixtures will be installed to make room for the added stock.

Only fourteen votes, all favorable, were cast at the school election held in School No. 1, last night, at Linden, on the appropriation of $4,000 for alterations and improvements to the heating and ventilating system in that building. Bids for the work will be received at the meeting next Wednesday night.

Contracts have been filed in the county clerk's office for a two-story and attic dwelling to be built for Arthur Taylor, in St. Paul street, Westfield. The contractors are Goltra & Company. The contract price is $3,500.

THE DAILY PRESS IN LINCOLN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by E. Purvis, newsdealer.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer. Aaron, newsdealer.

CLERK'S RULINGS ARE SUSTAINED

James C. Calvert's Decisions As to Validity of Petitions Have Been Upheld.

FAMILIAR WITH LAW

The Countless Duties of County Official Have Been Marked By Extreme Carefulness—Now Seeks a Renomination For Office.

No appeals have been taken from the decisions given by County Clerk James C. Calvert as to the validity of the petitions filed in his office last week, and it is improbable that any will be taken now. In the past when he has been called upon to pass judgment on them, his rulings have been appealed from in several instances to Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen, but in each his judgment was sustained. Among the petitions filed was one for Mr. Calvert himself. He is now a candidate on the Republican ticket for re-nomination.

The filing of the petitions is the press of the button which sets in motion all of the election machinery in his office. They also mark the only departure he makes from secretarial and clerical work in connection with the primaries and general election. It devolves upon Mr. Calvert to examine the petitions as to the number of signatures, correct names, addresses, office being sought, and designations. In this connection his position becomes judicial, and only his familiarity with the law prevents many unintentional errors on the part of candidates and their friends.

With the question of the petitions out of the way, the real work of preparing the other numerous details of the elections is undertaken. The magnitude of this task, which is now engaging Mr. Calvert's attention and keeping a force of clerks busy under his supervision, may be imagined when it is remembered that it extends into each one of the 108 election districts in the county and his labors greatly relieves of responsibility the twenty-one municipal clerks, in addition to giving them a pattern to follow in discharging their duties.

This has to do with properly getting the names of the forty-nine candidates on all ballots. Thirty-six petitions were filed, those of the Progressives and Socialist candidates being on what are known as blanket petitions. Four notices concerning these candidates are sent within three weeks to municipal clerks. This is to prevent any errors which might invalidate the election. The designation of the candidates for the office which they are seeking and their personal designation are given special attention.

Under the Geran election law, the work put upon Mr. Calvert was greatly increased in relation to handling the election work, especially the manner in which the vote must be canvassed after it has been cast. This vote must be canvassed for each one of the 108 election districts for each of the forty-nine county candidates in addition to the Congressional candidates. This means that 5,608 numbers are to be copied, canvassed, added and compared on the county ticket alone. When this is completed the municipal tickets come in for the same treatment and the municipal clerks are apprised of the result. There is less than thirty days to complete this task and prepare the ballots for the general election. The figures must be compiled in ample time to declare the results and allow for a recount should any candidate order one. There have been several instances in the past where the nominee was not known until after Mr. Calvert had announced the victor. The English-Knapp, Teller-Doane and McAdams-Coddington contests of recent years are examples of the doubt which existed.

Like all the appeals taken from Mr. Calvert's decisions on petitions, his figures announcing the candidates nominated, have always stood the test applied, and have been found free from errors in the ultimate and final examination.

While all these things are being attended to, Mr Calvert is ready at all times to supply municipal clerks with election necessities and information and must prepare for the transfer of voters in the Court of Common Pleas on primary and election day without any confusion or loss of time to the residents of court, and is also subject to call as the executive secretary of the Union County Board of Elections which holds frequent sessions to have all district election boards properly organized with the required number of officers.

WELLS FORESAW EVENTS OF WAR

Novelist Described Them In "The World Set Free."

HE OUTDOES JULES VERNE.

Imaginings of Frenchman Surpassed by Scientific Novels of Brilliant English Writer—Has Solid Foundation of Knowledge For His Scanning of the Future and His Prophecies of the Workings of Social Forces and Inventive Genius—Life In All Its Phases Interests Him Enormously, He Writes In Sketch of Himself.

HERBERT GEORGE WELLS, the British novelist-prophet, foresaw with wonderful exactness some of the events of the great European war and described them in his book, "The World Set Free," published before the outbreak of the war. It is trite and not quite exact to call him "the English Jules Verne," for he goes beyond the French romancer in the exact quality of his scientific imaginings. Verne foretold some of the present day inventions, such as the submarine and the aeroplane. Wells performs a more difficult feat. He predicts with amazing accuracy the play of social forces as well as the progress of invention and does it all with such literary skill and air of verisimilitude that the reader is carried along as by the recital of actual events.

Herbert George Wells is one of the most modest, retiring writers of the day, which quite likely accounts for the fact that his name publicly has never got beyond that shrunken H. G. Wells. Indeed, Wells frequently does not sign his name at all to business letters, letting the stamped address on his stationery suffice.

Wells owes his career to a hemorrhage of the lungs, without which he would now probably be a professor of biology. He was born about forty-seven years ago at Bromley, Kent, in the south of England, and at an early age showed a desire for scientific study. He studied at the Royal College of Science, took the degree of B. Sc. at the University of London and for several years taught biology at the University Tutorial college in Red Lion square. He wrote a textbook on biology which attracted so much attention that it was even translated into Chinese.

Made a Writer by Illness.

It seemed that his life work was mapped out along definite lines when suddenly came a severe hemorrhage. He recognized its warning and knew that he must give up, at least for a time, his educational work and seek something entirely sedentary. He began writing articles for various London newspapers, and his work attracted the attention of H. B. Marriott Watson. Through Mr. Watson he made the acquaintance of W. E. Henley, who was glad to advise and help him toward a literary future. Soon he began to write books, achieving success in more varying directions than perhaps any other English writer. The reading public has not yet recovered from amazement at the latitude of his themes and methods and his complete mastery over each.

He is not, however, a creature of moods and shifting personalities. He is made up of many separate characters within himself, and it is the development of each of these that has combined to make the great Wells of today a master exponent of liberalism in its broadest sense. His zest is to study and analyze all the tendencies of the time, and he reveals all of them illuminatingly, crisply and tolerantly. His present personality compactly displays all those varying, individual personalities which he first, when developing and assembling his strength, displayed one by one.

Nearly twenty years ago, in his "Select Conversations With an Uncle," he displayed an inventive talent, but the discursive little sketches were limited and affected.

His "Scientific" Stories.

This inventive talent was shown in much more perfected degree and form in his following "scientific" stories: "The First Men In the Moon," "The Time Machine," "Dr. Moreau's Island." But there was nothing as yet creative, inspirational or imaginative in them. Wells was just a clever workman, manufacturing his stories piecemeal out of the storehouse of his special and acquired knowledge. He was undeniably clever at his job, much cleverer than Jules Verne had been before him, but he as yet evinced no sign of the "divine spark," the real creative gift which is based on imagination.

The first suggestion of this quality came with his "The Wonderful Visit," and later developing with his "The Good of the Gods." Then in "Kipps" he showed that he could create a real, living, throbbing segment of life, genuine and significant and at the same time gentle as though viewed by a tolerant, understanding deity.

"Tono-Bungay" and "The New Machiavelli" showed a powerful mentality in complete control of itself and of its creation, pushing forward every sort of problem, event, tangle and illusion that the age has produced. Wells with his wide knowledge, with his developed intellect, with his tolerant understanding, had climbed to a high place and looked understandingly down upon a frail world. While "The New Machiavelli" is most strikingly a political consideration of present day England and while "Tono-Bungay" prominently sends shafts of light on the methods of modern business, both of these books are great and significant and will live because of the absolute sincerity and truth with which they reveal every phase of the life they portray.

Wells' New Books.

His two new books are "The World Set Free," a novel embodying all his characteristic assets, and "Social Forces In Europe and America," a volume which is exactly what its title implies.

A writer for the Book News Monthly who has recently had the privilege of visiting Wells in his home describes his personal appearance and his home. He says:

Wells is a little man. He is thin, and so is his hair. His eyes are unimpressive, and his mustache is straggly. No one failing to know him would guess the presence of England's greatest writer. * * * His eyes are brown and kindly and set deeply beneath a forehead across which unruly strands of reddish brown hair persist in straying.

In its white gables and awnings in strong contrast to the century old ivy stands the rectory, a low, rambling house built in the days when George I. was king. And there, too, lying at full length upon the grass in the midst of a very chaos of toy engines, forts and leaden soldiers, was Mr. Wells, no whit less interested than were his two sons, boys of some ten and eleven years, who played beside him.

Leaving the boys to their game, Mr. Wells took me to the house and together we entered the low, cool room that is his study. Here by the open window stood his desk, and the breeze fluttered the leaves of a manuscript upon which he had been working earlier in the day. Around the walls were well stocked bookcases, with here and there a simply framed picture.

During a short walk he showed me the various things of interest about the place. A herd of gentle deer, quietly grazing beyond a boundary fence, looked up in sudden alarm at our approach. Just back of the rectory, but sheltered from view by a screen of elms, is the pond upon which Mr. Wells and his sons venture throughout long summer afternoons, their argosy a venerable punt.

His Favorite Book a Failure.

Later Mr. Wells discussed his literary work. He said that "Mr. Polly" was one of his favorites, though in England it had never been successful enough to soar beyond a two shilling edition.

He partially assented that much of his work is autobiographical:

"Every novel is to some degree autobiographical, inasmuch as the author consciously or unconsciously puts into it more or less of himself. In regard to my own work, much of the early portions of 'Tono-Bungay' and of 'The New Machiavelli' may be said to be the result of my own experience. I am not a university man, nor for the work in which I have engaged do I feel it to be a disadvantage. Oxford and Cambridge are institutions of the past. We need more of the spirit of today."

America Mr. Wells feels to be the true expression of the new phase. Not perhaps the America of today, but the America of the future. "I must revisit the United States," he said between puffs at his briar. "Even since my last trip conditions have change beyond belief. New forces are at work. You have space and you are still young. You have hope."

He is an outdoors man, fond of motoring and cricket and keenly interested in aviation, as is shown in his books. "The War In the Air," "The First Men In the Moon" and "The Sleeper Awakes" all center about the conquest of the air, while aviation is included in "The New Machievelli," "Tono-Bungay" and "Marriage."

Writes of His Own Life.

Writing of his own life a few years ago, Mr. Wells said:

"The literary life is one of the modern forms of adventure. Success with a book, even a commercially modest success, as mine has been, means in the English speaking world not merely a moderate financial independence, but the utmost freedom of movement and intercourse.

"A poor man is lifted out of his narrow circumstances into familiar and unrestrained intercourse with a great variety of people. He sees the world. If his work excites interest he meets philosophers, scientific men, soldiers, artists, professional men, politicians of all sorts, the rich, the great, and he may make such use of them as he can.

"He finds himself no longer reading in books and papers, but hearing and touching at first hand the big discussions that sway men, the initiatives that shape human affairs. And London is more than the capital of a kingdom; it is the center of a world empire and of worldwide enterprises.

Intensely Interested In Life.

"To be a literary artist is to want to give one's impressions of the things about one. Life has interested me enormously and filled me with ideas and associations I want to present again. I have liked life and like it more and more.

"The days in the shop and the servants' hall, the straitened struggles of my early manhood, have stored me with vivid memories that illuminate and help me to appreciate all the wider vistas of my later social experiences. I have friends and intimates now at almost every social level, from that of a peer to that of a pauper, and I find my sympathies and curiosities stretching like a thin spider's web from top to bottom of the social tangle."

Mr. Wells' story will be published as a serial in the Daily Press, beginning Tuesday.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Inconsistency of Woman Is Exer Perplexing—She Battles For Suffrage, Then Won't Register.

Since the stone age woman has ever been "the eternal feminine," and reams and reams of manuscript have been expended in trying to explain her vagaries, and sundry humorists have manufactured thousands of jokes about the time-honored prerogative of changing her mind.

Mere man in Portland today is holding his head in anguished perplexity at the most recent exhibition of unfathomable female inconsistency, to wit: After struggling so hard and so vigorously to get the right of franchise and after making a valiant fight and winning it, why, in the name of misty mystery, doesn't she show more enthusiasm for the ballot? To be real frank, why does she show such an apathy toward registration?

The registration lists opened January 5 and male voters have outnumbered the women three to one in registering during the month just past. Registration is absolutely necessary at the forthcoming elections; it is a statutory and preliminary step upon which the right to cast a ballot in this State hinges, yet the cold statistics show that the women voter as a class—a class, it is pointed out, which should approach the subject of franchise with all the enthusiasm of a child getting a new toy—is lethargic to an extreme.

Up to and including Saturday, 10,814 men of Portland had registered, as against 3,100 women. The population of this city in 1910, according to the census, was 207,214—divided into 118,868 males and 88,346 females. This would indicate that 42.5 per cent. of Portland's population is female. Registration figures to date, however, indicate that only about 26 per cent. of those registered thus far are women, showing a discrepancy in what should be a constantly flowing stream of registrants of about 16 per cent.

Political prognosticators predict that the women of the State will play but a small part in the forthcoming election unless they evince a greater interest in the right for which they clamored so strenuously a short time back.

It was expected that the women of the State, and especially of Portland, would be afire with eagerness to participate in their first gubernatorial election and would make all due haste to insure their right to vote by an early registration. Such, however, as the figures show, is apparently not the case, and the present apathy is considered well nigh inexplicable. —From the Oregon Journal, Feb. 2, 1914.

Mr. Roosevelt was indorsed by Miss Jane Addams at the Repubican convention in 1912, thereby being placed in the debt of the Suffragists, a burden he never appears to have found it irksome to carry.

When Mr. Hinman was interviewed by the Suffragists he—to say the least of it—gave them to understand that he neither approved of Equal Suffrage nor was he courting their favor.

Mr. Roosevelt—if reports are to be believed—gave them no encouragement in their complaints of Mr. Hinman, or threats regarding the success of his possible candidacy.

But! Mr. Hinman is no longer in the running.

Who has replaced him?

Is Theodore Roosevelt going to forget that there is to be "put up to the Boys" a much hoped-for alliance between Tammany Hall and Woman Suffrage?

Hardly, that would be too much to expect of him, but is it possible that he believes that Mrs. Blatch or any other Suffragist, who threatens politicians with destruction of their political careers, should they oppose "Votes for Women," could really cast the ballot of all women as one?

Would they so surely sway the 90 per cent. of Antis to vote for the men who had helped to force the ballot upon them?

Miss Eva Ward pointed out but a short time ago, the absurdity of even pretending to pledge all Suffragists to stand for prohibition, declaring that "every one must know such promises would not be worth a puff of smoke."

What of the promises to "Purify Politics," abolish all forms of coercion, bribery and corruption, as the first results to automatically follow the acquisition of the franchise by women?

Are they not being proved to be "not worth a puff of smoke" by the women who are "black-listing" Congressmen and Representatives, and threatening men for having the courage of their convictions?

Everett Colby once declared that "no man who was a Suffragist could be corrupt."

Are not the women who thus attempt to force them by threats, etc., to conceal or deny their honest convictions, endeavoring to corrupt them? Or is it not corrupt in the opinion of Suffragists to deny or conceal one's honest convictions when political expediency demands?

It is a little hard to understand the meaning of some words to the Suffrage mind.

We recall that just previous to his arrest—followed by conviction and sentence to Sing Sing—for attempted bribery, there was exhibited in the window of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's headquarters, a large portrait of Senator Stillwell, draped and touchingly inscribed "Our Friend."

Are not the women who are in the fight for the ballot proving by their methods what may be looked for should they acquire it.

Is it purity and uplift in politics? tics?

The past week afforded us striking contrasts in the work and spirit of the women of the country. In Newport one section was earnestly, unselfishly working to raise funds for the Red Cross.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and her followers were raising funds for the furtherance of their plans in this country, aided by one of Mrs. Belmont's Militant friends from Great Britain, Miss Annie Kenny.

We are told that $6,000 in money was contributed for the specific purpose of defeating the Democratic nominees, and more money was pledged this evening" (dated Sunday).

Apart from the $6,000 cash, we are told $10,000 was pledged at the day's sessions.

Women in Chicago were preparing their "black-lists," and planning their campaign of abuse, scandal and blackmail against the men who dare to oppose them and their propaganda.

Incidentally, these men are standing for the huge majority of the women of their country, who are opposed with them to the clamor for politics and publicity of which the women make such negligible use, as the following criticism from the Oregon Journal, February 2, 1914, amply demonstrates, and it is but a repetition of the experience of other Suffrage sections.

In the picture plain colored cotton is combined with striped ratine, and in these days it is as easy to copy color effects in cotton as in wool.

Later gabardine or lightweight serge would be pretty made in this way. The blouse is just a plain one with set-in sleeves, and the skirt is cut in two pieces, the tunic in three.

There is an opening at the center front of the skirt, and it and the tunic are both joined to the blouse, and the closing of the entire dress is made at the front.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS OF PUTTING UP PEACHES.

PEACH marmalade may be made with small fruit, but only large, handsome fruit should be chosen for canning or preserving.

Fruit Must Be Stoned.

Peach Marmalade.—Peel and stone some peaches. The smaller kinds will do for this. Weigh the pared and pitted fruit, allowing to every pound of it three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Cook the fruit by itself for three-quarters of an hour, stirring it constantly At the end of this time turn in the sugar and cook for ten minutes, taking off the scum. You may either put it up at this stage or you may add to it the chopped kernels of a dozen or so of peach stones and the juice of a lemon for every three pounds of fruit.

There should be a good deal of extra juice, and if this is dipped out after the addition of the sugar and of any flavoring and sealed in bottles it makes a fine sauce for baked or boiled puddings.

Natural Looking Fruit.

Canning Peaches.—This recipe saves many hours' standing over a hot stove. Try to have as many jars ready as will be needed before beginning with the peaches. Peel and cut in halves and drop in jars as fast as you peel them so they will retain their original color. Let the outside of the peach come next to the jar and they will look like whole peaches. Now have ready a hot sirup made with two cupfuls of sugar to one-half of water. Use only one cupful of water if you like them quite sweet. Have covers heated, and after pouring hot sirup over the fruit and filling them to the brim adjust covers and rubbers and screw as tight as possible. Now place in a boiler of boiling hot water, cover closely and let remain until cool enough to handle, then screw lids down tight. When the jars are cold tighten again.

Preserved Peaches.—Fill a dishpan half full of peaches, then cover them with boiling water, let them stand three or four minutes, then drain off the water and the peaches will peel very easily. When you have a kettleful peeled make a sirup of one cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of water for every quart jar. When it boils put in your peaches and cook until a straw will run through them easily, then can as usual. If the peaches are very large cut them in halves after they are peeled, leaving the stone in one half. If they are small ones put them up whole. In either case leave the stones in, as it helps to give them a nice flavor.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

He Could Shoot Straighter Than the Other Boys.

"IT was many years ago," said daddy.

"What was so many years ago, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"It was many years ago," continued daddy, "that the red child learned the first steps of how to become a great chief later, for this story happened in America in the days before the white men came to the land. It was before Columbus sailed over here and discovered how foolish the people were who had told him that if he dared to go sailing too far away on the wide water that he would come to a high waterfall and tumble off into—well, into just nothing, for that is what they used to think.

"In those days the country was just all woods and lakes and streams. Paths that were called trails used to run through the woods, and they had been worn deep by the feet of many of the Indians. The greatest fighters and wisest men of the Indians attracted the most admiring numbers of their tribes, and this little Indian boy when he was quite young determined that he would become very brave and very wise, too, and that when he became a man he would be made a chief.

"He had a toy spear and a little bow and arrow to play with, and he used to work with them very hard, and soon he was able to throw a spear and a tomahawk farther and truer and shoot an arrow far straighter than the other boys, and they used to have wrestling matches and running races and many feats of strength with each other, and, sure enough, it was not long before this little Indian boy, whom we will call Young Man Not Afraid of Anything, could wrestle better and run farther and do other things far better than any of the other boys with whom he played.

"When he was eighteen years old they chose him for a great test as one of the relay runners in carrying a message to the chieftain of another tribe hundreds of miles away. Each one of these picked men had to run a hundred miles in a day, for there were no horses in America until the white men came later and brought them, so the Indian had to make horses of his legs, and they were truly wonderful horses.

"This Indian boy did his hundred miles faster than any of the others. Awhile afterward there was a war against another tribe, and this young man did so wonderfully against his enemies that the old men of the tribe said that never before was there so great a fighter. So they made him a chief, and he lived for many years and was a great chief in battle and in council, all because when he was a little boy he knew what he wanted and studied and worked to get it."

ALLIED TRADES MAKE FINE SHOWING IN LABOR DAY PARADE

Every Branch of Union Labor is Represented in Big Holiday Demonstration—Parade Followed by a Picnic at Which Interesting Addresses Are Made.

Union labor covered itself with glory yesterday, when the first big demonstration under the auspices of the Allied Trades of Plainfield was held in this city. Ideal weather combined to make the affair a great success. The entire business section of the city, as well as many of the residences along the line of march, were elaborately decorated for the celebration, the merchants making special efforts to co-operate in the affair to this extent. Thousands of people thronged the various thoroughfares through which the parade passed and in all respects the entire affair was one big success from the beginning to end.

Practically every labor organization of the city was represented in the parade, with the machinists and carpenters leading in point of numbers, the former craft having 340 men in line by actual count, while the carpenters showed up with 300 men marching beneath their banner. It is estimated that there were nearly 2,000 men in line, ranging from the recently organized building trade laborers up to the most skilled mechanics.

The paperhangers and painters, together with the tinners, were given rounds of applause along the entire line of march, which covered all points of the West End, as well as North Plainfield. The appearance of the Plainfield and North Plainfield police was the occasion for much favorable comment, as was also the fire departments of both city and borough represented by apparatus.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart and members of the City Council and Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and members of the Borough Council, who rode in automobiles, were the recipients of applause. About six miles were covered by the march, starting at West Front street and Plainfield avenue and proceeding through the business section, through North Plainfield and then the south end of the city past the reviewing stand on West Eighth street, where the officials of both the city and borough reviewed the line; thence to Vail's Grove at West Fourth street and Monroe avenue, where the picnic was held.

The members of the Painters' Union were dressed entirely in white, presenting an attractive appearance. The Tinners' Union also won favorable comment because of its display, wearing overalls and jumpers and carrying tin canes and umbrellas. Several merchants and business houses entered attractive floats, all of which showed clever handiwork and genius.

The Business Men's Association, an active civic body, entered a large truck appropriately decorated and bearing streamers with the inscription, "Labor is the Backbone of Progress." McDonough Brothers' floats was one of the most attractive in the line. It comprised three minature wagons attached to teams of ponies, which were carried on a large flat wagon. The small carts carried coal, ice and wood.

T. E. Higgins, the grader and contractor, presented a fac-simile of a tennis court, with attractive rustic work at either end. The J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company presented one of the most elaborate floats in the parade, representing 1814 and 1914, with the old-fashioned log cabin and the modern up-to-date dwelling, showing the difference in architecture.

The other floats included one by the Carpenters' Union, which carried four of the charter members of the organization; L. Z. Weiss, the borough druggist; Richard B. VanArsdale, the tile-man, and various other floats.

The local Typographical Union was represented by a large delegation, making a good showing in the line. Several bands of music and drum corps enlivened the parade; also the picnic which was held in the afternoon and evening.

The parade, which had been witnessed by thousands of spectators, disbanded at Vail's Grove on West Fourth street, where the members of the various organizations represented spent the afternoon with their families and enjoyed a picnic which had been provided for by the committee of arrangements. Large numbers of people visited the grounds throughout the day. Quoit games, music by the bands, dancing, ball games and speech-making occupied the afternoon. Among the speakers of the afternoon was Hugh Reilly, business agent for the International Machinists of this district, who referred to the betterment of labor conditions in a general way. He spoke of the great desire of organized labor to have the co-operation and support of those who have not as yet become affiliated with craft unions, and those crafts among whom unions, as yet, had not been organized, but received the benefits of the workings of organized labor. He also urged his hearers to earnestly pray and seek for the restoration of peace in Europe, where thousands of their fellows were being slaughtered by other of their fellows between whom no enmity or hatred exists. The other speakers of the afternoon were Councilman John H. Cose, who complimented the leaders of the demonstration on the great results of the past few months, and the fine way in which the details of the program were carried out, and Charles E. Dooley, of the Electrical Workers' Union, of Elizabeth. The evening was spent in dancing.

The demonstration as was held yesterday was the result of hard work for the past three months on the part of a committee of forty from the various trade unions of the city. All worked in perfect harmony up to the last. The business men of the city joined hands with the laborers in making the day a great success, not only by entering floats in the parade itself, but went to great expense in decorating their places of business. The parade was among the best of its kind ever given in this city.

MAKING READY FOR OPENING OF SCHOOLS

New Addition to the High School is Nearing Completion.

School matters will be active this week in all departments of the work. With the return of Superintendent Maxson and Principal Best, both of whom arrived in the city last Saturday, preparations began in earnest for the opening of the schools of the city on Tuesday.

Some of the teachers are already in town and the rest will return during this week. Many applications have already been received for the admission of new pupils, especially from applicants entering the High School whose timely and successful completion under the direction of Contractor Dahl is a matter of congratulation from all quarters. While as is always the case, some small finishing touches remain to be made before the building is ready for the final inspection of Architect White, the school is practically finished and the furniture already installed in the classrooms.

This winter the Stillman School will find quarters in the new building, and a total of over one thousand pupils will be cared for in the new High School building.

A new feature of the High School administration this year will be the lunch counter, which will be run by a committee of the Mothers' Association of Plainfield, which has arranged to provide first-class lunches for a reduced price in spite of the increased cost of living which the wars have caused.

The Board of Education will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at which a number of important matters will claim attention. Chief among these is the question of renting the Netherwood Reformed church building for school purposes this winter. It has been offered to the school by the Consistory as a temporary substitute for the new school building which the Netherwood people are working for, and can accommodate about forty pupils of the kindergarten and primary grades. It is thought that the Board will accept the offer of the Consistory and run double sessions in the building this winter, thus taking care of eighty children.

Word was received Saturday from Trenton, that the plans for the new school on Evergreen avenue have been approved by the State Board of Education, and as they have also had the approval of the local building department, it is probable that the Board of Education will order the advertisement for bids for the construction of this school to be made immediately.

As previously stated in these columns it is expected that the contracts for this school will approximate the sum of $80,0000.

TO ABOLISH CALL SYSTEM AND WHISTLE

City Council Decides to Establish Full Paid Fire Department.

It is now practically settled that Plainfield is to have a full paid fire department and that the call system is to be abolished. This decision has been hastened by the fact that the Spicer Manufacturing Company has served notice that it will no longer be able to furnish the steam for blowing the fire alarm. The whistle is still being sounded at that place, but the company wants to discontinue the service as soon as possible, having removed its plant to South Plainfield.

The councilmanic fire committee in investigating the matter finds that to continue such a service with any other concern here it would cost $900 a year and it would be necessary to make a five years' contract. That is the best arrangement that could be made. This expense together with an additional $1,000 to support the present call system would bring the total up to nearly $2,000 a year and the committee believes that it would be a matter of economy to abolish the call system and the whistle and employ an additional number of regular men, thereby increasing the efficiency of the fire department. With the arrival of the new automobile engine for the Netherwood district additional men will be required.

Taking these things into consideration the committee has decided to follow the course as outlined. A few days ago the committee met a number of aspirants for appointment, all of whom had passed the required examination, and it is the intention to recommend the appointment of five new men at the Council meeting tonight. A little later additional appointments will be recommended.

It is said that about twenty men have passed the examination, making them eligible for appointment, thus the committee will have little difficulty in selecting the number of additional men required for service in the department. As soon as the extra men are put on it is the purpose to abolish the call system and fire alarm whistle.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Homer Phillips Shot Himself in the Head in a Barn in Somerville.

While in a state of mental despondency, Homer Phillips, twenty-two years old, son of Edward E. Phillips, 1304 West Front street, went to a barn on Hillcrest avenue, in Somerville, yesterday, and shot himself through the brain with a rifle. According to Coroner Long, of Somerset county, the young man had been mentally unbalanced for several years and he probably committed the rash act while in this state.

Phillips went to Somerville yesterday for the purpose of overhauling a motorcycle which he had stored there, according to his father, and when he left home he appeared to be in a cheerful way. The parent stated this morning that the young man's condition had been the cause of considerable anxiety to his relatives for sometime past and he only recently returned from the shore, where he was taken to regain his health.

The barn where the suicidal act was committed is on one of Somerville's lonely roads and Phillips' presence about the place was not noticed until the report of the rifle was heard. Farm hands working nearby rushed to the scene, but the man was dead when they arrived. He had placed the barrel of the loaded rifle against his temple and pulled the trigger.

JUST DID IT TO SCARE HIM.

George Randolph, colored, of Cottage place, told Tony Santa that if he did not leave his fruit alone, he, Randolph, was going to shoot Santa full of holes, exhibiting a revolver with which he said he would do the trick. Santa had Randolph before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning, and Randolph said it was only done in fun, as he did not even know for sure that Santa had been stealing his produce. After giving him a severe lecture, the court let Randolph was arrested by Patrolman Nolan, who found him marching up and down with a shot-gun.

SAYS FAREWELL TO CONGREGATION

KIND WORDS FOR ALL

Recalls Past Four and a Half Years' of Service Here As Best In His Ministry—Becomes Pastor of Large Church In Boston.

Two sermons that will long be remembered by the Park Avenue Baptist church because of their power, were delivered on Sunday by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire in his farewell messages as pastor of that church. The auditorium was thronged both morning and evening with members and friends who for the past four years and a half have been comforted during the ministry of Mr. Maguire, and in the evening the audience overflowed into the Bible class room.

Mr. Maguire chose for his morning text, Numbers 6: 24-26: "The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace." "This is a golden chain of blessing," the speaker said, "the links of which are beautiful and glorious, welded together by the Master Mechanic with such love that they will never pull apart. Note the six links of this chain: First, The Lord bless thee. It is sweet to be blessed by anyone, and especially so by those who love; how infinitely more precious is the blessing bestowed by our Heavenly Father. Second, the Lord keep thee. It is said that during the month of May in certain fields of France the deer that inhabit that part of the country are perfectly safe from the hunter and his dogs because of the over-powering fragrance of the lily of the valley; the scent of the deer is completely lost in the greater fragrance of the flowers. The same thing is true of every faithful soul that enters into the blessing of God; he delights in the fragrance of Divine Love, and the hounds of evil lose all scent. Third, the Lord make His face to shine upon thee. We all do our best in the face of those we love. We read in history how the tired ,worn out soldiers were falling because their old king was wounded and they thought him dead; but when he heard of their losses he managed to raise himself upon his elbow and in feeble voice said, 'tell my men I'm not dead, but am watching them from the hillside;' and the poor, tired soldiers took heart and came out victorious. Fourth, and be gracious unto thee—a link of grace. If we are saved it will be only by the Grace of God, and this we cannot buy. The greatest things in life are beyond purchase. No man makes a more grevious mistake than when he thinks his money can buy love, hope, faith, courage, peace, contentment; these are not to be found where money is of value. Fifth, the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee, which is the supreme joy in the Christian life. Sixth, and give thee peace. The entire chain of God's blessing leads to peace; under the shadow of the Cross he leaves us this legacy. The assurance of the peace of God is the only abiding reality in the universe.

Mr. Maguire's farewell message to his people was delivered in the evening, from the text found in Acts 28:15, "He thanked God and took courage." In part the speaker said: "As I stand before you for the last time as your pastor, I feel two sentiments flooding my soul—gratitude and hopefulness. I thank God for the four and a half years spent in the Park Avenue church; these have been among the happiest years of my life. There are grand old saints in this church; every time the doors have been opened, you have been here. You have treated me like a prince; your kindness and sympathy have continually warmed my heart. I thank God for the beautiful spirit of Christian sociability that exists among you. When I accepted the call to become your pastor I found this to be a veritable church home where every one knows each other by name. I thank God for the privilege of preaching a very practical religion; it would have been useless for me to have dealt in abstractions. You have encouraged me to hold up God before you, and to preach the balm of Gilead, the God of Comfort. During my ministry among you I have tried in my humble way to bring you the comfort that alone that reach the soul. Death is a bitter, crusing, tre-

600,000 Germans Reported to Be Marching to Reenforce Austrians--250,000 Russian Troops Said to Be in France--Germans Repulsed by Belgians Southeast of Antwerp--Turkey Has Assembled 80,000 Troops--Reported That German Ministers Have Tendered Resignations to Kaiser.

Paris, Sept. 8, (Central News Cable)—The armies of the Allies, taking a vigorous offensive movement, have driven back the German right wing and its supports ten miles. Fighting there continues.

An official statement says: "On our left wing the Allied armies have made progress without meeting vigorous opposition from the enemy. Along the centre in the region of Verdun our armies have alternately advanced and retired and the general situation is unchanged. In the defense of Paris our armies have met the German advance guard and there has been vigorous fighting in the neighborhood of Ourco with results favorable to us. The War Minister has addressed a despatch to the commandant at Maubeuge praising his heroic defense."

Heavy reserves have been rushed from the south to reinforce the Army of General D'Amade who co-operating with a force of British is bearing the brunt of the aggressive movement against the German right flank, which has resulted in its being forced back. The Allies in this instance outnumber the Germans. The army under Gen Von Buelow is being rushed up, however, to support the Germans.

Bordeaux, Sept. 8.—The War Office at noon today gave out the following statement: "The advance of the French and British troops continues. The battle is in progress all along the line, but there is frequently a lull as opposing forces shift their positions. General Joffre reports that all is going well."

That the Minister of War, M. Milerand, is directing the campaign, at least of the British forces, is indicated by the fact that the Alles took the offensive immediately after he had paid a secret visit to Paris.

Rome, Sept. 8, (Central News Cable)—There are in France about 250,000 Russian troops according to the Tribuna. The presence of the German Emperor at Metz is declared to be due to the concentration of the Russians in France.

Petrograd, Sept. 8, via London (Central News Cable)—It has been officially reported that the Russians have captured the strongly fortified town of Mikelaion, twenty-five miles south of Lemberg, with forty guns and large quantites of ammunition. The Austrian army which has been operating in the direction of Kholm is retiring before the Russian advance. The Russians have captured many prisoners and taken many guns.

The Russian forces operating against the Austrian centre between the Dniester and Boog Rivers have captured 1,200 additional prisoners, bringing the total taken there to 82,000.

Advices received here are to the effect that a reinforced German army of 600,000 men is advancing to meet the conquering Russians in Galicia.

London, Sept. 8, (Central News Cable)—A despatch from Petrograd to the Times says that the Russians are being received with great welcome by the people of most of the cities in East Prussia and Galicia.

Washington, Sept. 8.—French troops are pushing back the Germans who have evacuted two Belgian strongholds, according to despatches to the French Embassy from Bordeaux today.

Confirmation of the fearful slaughter inflicted by the Russians in the ranks of the Austrians in the taking of Lemberg also was contained in the despatch, which follows: "The German right wing of the first army on the River Ourco and Grande Morin has been attacked with advantage by our troops. On the line at Meaux, Vitry, Le Francois the battle became general.

Limbourg and Campaine in Belgium have been evacuated by the Germans up to the line of Biest Hasselt. Transportation of German troops from west to east has been continuing it has been learned from numerous advices.

London, Sept. 8.—A telegram from Vienna to a news agency says that General Russeky, who, following the capture of Lemberg executed a flank attack northward against the Austrians under General Auffenberg, the Austrian minister, is today engaged in an attempt to annihilate Auffenberg's army. The battle has already continued three days, and is likely to continue several more. A despatch to the Star from Petrograd announces that many German aeroplanes are appearing on the Russian frontier, heralding the arrival of reinforcements. The Germans seem to possess a powerful force in the Posen district, the correspondent says.

A despatch from Cairo says that practically all the Moslems of Egypt have offered their services under the English flag.

A despatch from Ostend says that it is reported that Hellmuth Hertz, the German aviator, was shot in Berlin on Saturday. It was alleged that he had communicated with Roland Garros, the French aviator.

Berlin, via Amsterdam, Sept. 8 (Central News Cable).—Statements reaching members of the Reichstag on the subject of naval expansion apparently point to the building of 20 torpedo boats divisions, six airships divisions and a number of mine layers.

Other craft now under rapid construction are three large warships

PRESIDENT FIXES PEACE PRAYER DAY

Asks All People of Nation to Petition for Divine Interference.

Washington, Sept. 8—President Wilson today issued a proclamation calling on the United States nation, irespective of creed, to join in a day of prayer for the restoration of the world's peace on Sunday, October 4.

All the Christian people of the United States are called upon to join in petitioning divine interference in the European holocaust to the end that the battling nations may lay down their arms.

HOOD INJUNCTION MAY BE REMOVED

Vice Chancellor Stevens Reserves Decision in Application of Counsel.

Following a lengthy hearing before Vice Chancellor Stevens in Newark, this morning, the court reserved decision in the application of Chauncey G. Parker, counsel for Richard Haden Hood, for the dissolution of the injunction restraining his client from removing personal property from his premises at 541 Stelle avenue. The injunction was levied against Hood when his wife brought proceedings against him for an absolute decree of divorce and alimony.

On August 3 last, Vice Chancellor Stevens made an order allowing Mrs. Hood $1,800 a year temporary alimony and ordered the payment of this amount since the instant the application was made by Mrs. Hood. In making application Mr. Parker stated that in selling the property on Stelle avenue Mr. Hood could raise sufficient funds to pay the back alimony and costs of court, which now amount to about $7,000.

The application was opposed by McCarter & English, counsel for Mrs. Hood on the ground that the $10,000 security bond suggested by Mr. Hood's counsel was not sufficient to bind him to the agreement. At the present time there is $3,600 due on alimony, $1,700 counsel fees, $1,100 taxes, $300 suit money and $100 as a special allowance to Clark McKay Whittemore, who made the appraisal of the estate. Mrs. Hood's counsel suggested that the bond be raised to $25,000, the amount which the property was appraised at by Mr. Whittemore. Vice Chancelor Stevens over-ruled this suggestion, however, inasmuch as property values had decreased since the war in Europe broke out and he stated that he could not make the bond more than the property would bring at the present time. In reserving decision Vice Chancellor Stevens said that he would refer the matter to a special master in chancery.

A meeting of the borough Board of Health was scheduled for last night, but owing to the holiday was postponed one week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitneck have returned to their home in the township, after visiting friends in New York State for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Banks have returned to their home in Jersey City, after visiting Mrs. Bank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Z. Hatfield, of Scotch Plains, for several days.

Charles Laderick has returned to his home in Peekskill., N. Y., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Van Hoesen, of the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eberle, of Martine avenue, entertained relatives from Brooklyn over the week-end.

The first meeting of the Epworth League, to be in charge of the newly elected president, Clarence Slocum, was held in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Miss Caroline Doty, who has been marooned in Europe since the outbreak of the war, has secured passage on a steamer and is expected to arrive in New York today.

Mrs. F. E. Howe has returned to her home at Seagate, after visiting Mrs. F. W. Wescott, of the borough.

The township schools opened for the fall term this morning, with what seems to be the largest enrollment of any previous year. The crowded condition in School No. 1 will still continue until the assembly room can be turned into class-rooms. If the bonds can be sold School No. 3 will probably be ready by spring. All of those pupils who graduated from the local school last June have notified the Board of Education that they are willing to go to the Westfield High School instead of Plainfield. There will be about ten freshmen from this place at that school this fall, while twenty who have already gone one or more years to Plainfield will finish High School at that place. The question of transportation for the pupils is bound to be brought up soon, as many parents are raising objections to the paying of the carfare.

The mid-week prayer meeting in the Baptist church tomorrow evening will be conducted by the Rev. J. Madison Hare.

BELIEVES WAR WILL BE FOUGHT TO A FINISH

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, returned home yesterday from Europe on the steamer Minnetonk, after experiencing a somewhat unpleasant time on the trip across the big pond. While abroad Dr. Strong visited England and Scotland and while under the unusual nervous strain because of war conditions, he says that he thoroughly enjoyed his brief sojourn in foreign lands. He had planned to go on the continent, but the war prevented.

In commenting on the war this morning, Dr. Strong declared that in his opinion it would now be fought to a finish and would prove disastrously for Germany. He greatly deplored the awful conflict. Dr. Strong will be in charge of the prayer service at the First Baptist church tomorrow night.

ROAD CLOSED.

Arthur E. Smith, the contractor, has asked that notice be given the general public that the road from Manville station to the JohnsManville plant will be closed for two weeks to reconstruct the road and build a bridge.

ANOTHER WHEEL GONE.

John O'Malley, 695 West Fourth street, reported to the police today that some one stole his bicycle from his porch yesterday. He has no clue to offer the authorities.

"THE BIG SNEEZE."

Victims of hay fever have held their annual convention. Humorists have seen fit to designate these gatherings as "the big sneeze." To the throat - inflamed, nostril - stopped, bronchial-blocked, eye-red victim of hay fever it is not the joke that it appears to be, yet it is not easy to grasp the significance or the particular object of such a body as the Hay Fever Association of America, which meets in Bethlehem, New Hampshire. As is set forth in the Chicago Evening Post: "For nearly half a century the victims of toxic pollen have been discussing their one intimate, if convulsive bond of union, and although they are not organized to conserve this community of interest, but rather to dissolve and end it, no evidence is at hand that the half century of combined effort has made appreciable headway."

Certainly hay fever is one of the most miserable ailments and human afflictions while it lasts, the period of its duration differing as does the intensity of the ailment, the first sniffle denoting it coming earlier with some than others, though they are all "cured," until the next summer, with the first good frost. Nobody who has it looks forward to the month of July or early August with anything that the humorists have any right to regard as fondness or relish. It is just the opposite.

The annual hegira to the mountains of New Hampshire by the association is perhaps more of a fad than due to any well supported belief in the efficacy of the atmosphere of New England, since mountain air is not as conductive to relief as the many so fortunate as to have escaped the germ or whatever it is seem to think. Some of the victims make their way to water, notably the seashore and the ocean, though the scientists tell us that there is dust, which is as efficacious in starting a hay fever victim into a paroxysm of suffering as is the pollen of the ragweed, the golden rod and kindred and sundry growths of vegetation that constitute a nemesis to all hay fever victims. When it comes to placing responsibility for the failure of a cure or relief we must look to our learned scientists. For some reason or another they regard hay fever all too lightly. The malady is one that not infrequently has the most depressing effect upon the body but also upon the mind. The certain discoverw of the impish germ and the subsequent invention of its specific will be hailed as a boon by the sufferers.

The announcement by William Barnes, Jr., that he will retire from New York State politics, and not take an active part in the Republican State Committee, will be received in that State just about as seriously as was the famous "retirement" of Theodore Strong, from Middlesex county politics during the administration of Governor Stokes. As is only too well remembered, Strong promised Stokes that if he were reappointed to the State Board of Assessors, he would drop out of politics forever. He made the promise in writing and it was handed out to the newspapers in all seriousness. The retirement lasted long enough for the Governor to send his name to the Senate and have it confirmed, and then Strong was back on the job at Trenton, caring for legislation in which he was interested, and he tried hard to again secure control in Middlesex county, but the people over there had had enough of his organization, and have retired him to private life.

If it is true that Mr. Barnes is going to get out, which most people doubt, there is only one meaning to be taken from his changed attitude. He has learned that he is whipped, beaten, defeated, and to get out is the only thing left to do. If the announced retirement is only a part of a plan, it is an admission by the old-time bosses that it is no longer safe to allow Barnes and his kind to even appear as manipulators of the Republican machine. It is an acknowledgement that they realize that the voters want no more of Barnes and his machine.

"Greater Plainfield" sounds well. Next week, perhaps, we shall present plans for a Greater Berkeley Heights. —Passaic Valley News.

Sounds very much as if our hustling friend, "Bill" Jeffery, who has moved over the mountain again, has begun to make things hum.

We note that the newspapers asking for a cut in the pork barrel by Congress, always see the necessity for public improvements in their own neighborhoods, thus taking their demands out of the pork class.

They say that you can get a ride in an aeroplane as cheap as fifteen dollars a trip. Having fifteen dollars in real money these times is thriller enough for most people.

New York newspaper tells us in all seriousness that a woman was shot in "the adjoining room." Will some physician please advise us what part of the anatomy that is?

Have the unions a grudge against the newspapers. Not a band played while the Labor Day parade passed the corner of Park and North avenues.

THE FORUM

Editor of Plainfield Daily Press:

Is there any reasonable excuse why the repeatedly advertised route for the Labor Day parade should not have been carried out?

In view of the fact that the ex-Mayor as well as the present president of the Council are on the route named there seems to me no reason whatever in view of the fact that the counter marching at Crescent avenue required quite as much walking. The route as advertised, should have been carried out, thus avoiding my humiliation of inviting friends to view it from my porch—saying nothing of my display of flags.

Had the authorized head have had the military training that I passed through for some twenty years he would, have realized that strict obedience of orders was all that was necessary.

The North Plainfield public schools will open their doors for the fall term Monday morning at 8:20 o'clock. All is in readiness for a most successful year and the building has been reconstructed in parts in order to make more room for the many new pupils who are expected to enroll. Supervisor Fred D. LIVE WIRE KILLS VALUABLE EQUINE

One of the Finest Animals in Labor Day Parade Stricken.

The Labor Day celebration in this city was marred to some extent by a deplorable acicdent, which caused the death of two fine horses owned by T. E. Higgins, who entered one of the most attractive floats in the parade. Mr. Higgins, who was driving four horses, was returning home from the picnic grounds after the parade, and while passing West Third and Liberty streets, one of the overhead high tension electric wires snapped and striking the off horse killed the animal instantly. The stricken animal fell against its mate who received a sufficient shock to kill it also. So strong was the current that a large hole was burned in the collar of the off horse. The broken wire was said to have been carrying 13,000 volts of electricity.

Had the broken wire struck the pole team, the consequences might have been far worse, for the wagon was iron-bound and the electricity might have caused the death of several children who were riding on the float. Only a few minutes before the rig came along the street was filled with children and their escape was considered miraculous.

THIS IS THE FIRST DAY FOR REGISTRY

All Voters Should See That Their Names Are on the List.

Today is the first registry day in cities, towns and townships throughout the State, having a population exceeding 5,000, and owing to the numerous primary contests and the great interest being shown, the members of the county committees and other political leaders are hustling to get out a large vote.

For the purpose of this registration in the larger municipalities, the election boards will sit from 1 to 9 p. m.

The election law provides that no voter in the municipalities having a population exceeding 5,000, whose name does not appear upon the primary registry list as made up today will be able to vote at the primary election. The General act provides that in districts in these municipalities, the registry list shall be made up by the election board as follows:

The Boards shall place upon the primary registry list the names of all persons whose names appear upon the poll book of their election districts as having voted in the last general election in the districts. The Boards shall also place upon the primary registry list, and also upon the registry list for the general election, the names of al voters, who shall appear in person and register, upon this first registry day; and shall also place upon the primary registry list, but not upon the general election registry list, the names of all voters presented to the Board by affidavit.

It is expressly provided that "no voter shall be allowed to vote at said primaries unless his name appears on the poll book of the previous general election, or has been placed on said registry list prior to said primary day as hereinbefore provided; and no person shown by said primary list, verified, when requested by the voter, by reference to the preceding primary book, to have voted in the primary of one political party at the last preceding primary election, shall be allowed to vote in the primary of the other political party."

These provisions mean that the final primary voting list will be made up on Tuesday, and that no voter who registers on the primary election day can vote at the primary election; also, that no voter who participated in the selection of candidates of one party last year will be permitted to assist in the nomination of he ticket of another party his year.

ANNUAL REUNION OF HUMMER FAMILY

The tenth annual reunion of the Hummer family was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Sarah E. Smalley, near New Market. There were guests from Jersey City, Stanton, Annandale, Newark, Bound Brook, Stelton, New Durham, Easton, Pa., and this city.

At the noon hour about fifty relatives partook of a bountiful dinner, followed by speeches. In the afternoon a letter containing greetings was read from cousins living at Titusville, Pa., who were unable to be present. Mrs. Watson Anderson, who has on former occasions entertained with her excellent readings, gave two selections which were well received. A photograph of the entire group was taken, after which all retired to the lawn, where cake and ice cream was served.

Letters with greetings and the autographs of all those present were sent to some who are living at a great distance and were unable to be present. George F. Hummer, of Easton, asked that the 1915 reunion be held at his home and his invitation was accepted by the committee of arrangements. The oldest member of the family present was Mrs. Anna A. Hummer, aged eighty-four, who stood the pleasures of the day very well. At the close of which the reunion song was sung and all left for their homes.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a short honeymoon, after which they will reside on Duer street. The groom is in business with his father in the borough.

MISS NELLIE GAGE WEDS RAYMOND SCHMIDT

Miss Nellie M. Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Gage, of Washington street, this city, was quietly married to Raymond Schmidt, of the North Plainfield Fire Department, Saturday evening, Rev. Father Baldwin, of St. Joseph's R. C. church, performing the ceremony at the rectory of that church.

The wedding comes as a surprise to many of the friends of the couple, although those who were aware of the approach of the marriage did not expect it until yesterday. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt left for Philadelphia and Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon. They were attended by Miss Justina Schmidt, a sister of the groom, who acted as bridesmaid, and William D. Hogan, who was best man. Both the bride and groom are well known, and have a large circle of friends.

WOULD BE BAD MAN WILL SPEND 90 DAYS IN JAIL

William H. Holloway, colored, of Cottage place, got out his revolver yesterday and started to celebrate the holiday by threatening to shoot up the neighborhood, his especial victim being George Gilbert. George did not like the idea of being made a martyr to the day, so he called in the police. Judge DeMeza agreed with George this morning, that Holloway was too much of a cut-up, and gave the would-be gunman the option of paying a $50 fine, or spending 90 days in jail. The accused decided that the only thing to do was take the rest cure at Elizabeth, and he will be there before night.

(50 to 54 Inches Wide)

Brocaded Bengaline — Broche Velours
Figured Poplins — Figured Serges
Satin-faced Brocaded Zibeline — Wool Matelasse

$1.25, $1.50 & $1.75 Yard

Landing cost is the wholesale cost abroad of a fabric plus the duty.

To this landing price, the wholesaler adds his profit, and to the wholesale price the retailer must add his profit.

What we will offer Tuesday will be fine imported fabrics with these two profits taken away.

In many cases our present price is so much less than the landed price even, that it represents the cost of the fabric to its manufacturer abroad minus any sort of profit whatsoever.

The WHY of It All

Every year a certain importer who sells only the best, clears away his remaining stock. This year we closed a deal with him just a few days before the present war was declared, and before the importer knew that he could not obtain any more such fabrics from abroad.

It he had known, needless to say, we wouldn't have had the goods to offer for so little.

Buy for Less We Sell for Less and here are your fabrics for your fall and winter wraps, suits and gowns at no more than you would pay if you bought them wholesale from their maker on the other side. $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Eugene Walter always could discover the truth in the tale he tells. Once again this author comes to the front with a new play, "The Better Way," which will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre. This play had its premiere at the Garrick theatre in Philadelphia last May and those who witnessed it claimed it is a crowning triumph to Eugene Walter's career as a playwright of successes. Among other things Mr. Walter is said to have headed the way toward a revival of the methods of playwriting under which the English and America drama flourished, in the delivery of "The Better Way." Instead of depending upon one scene for the strength of the fitting climax, "The Better Way" is wended through a course of success via a prologue four acts and an epilogue. Elaborateness is noted throughout the piece with its six different massive setings. "The Better Way" is frankly announced as a melodrama concerning a phase of American life. Miss Walker adds to her perfectly established reputation which was widely enlarged through the popular characterization she gave of June in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Assisting Miss Walker is a large cast foremost being: L. Byron Beadsley, George Stewart Christie, David Burton, Veda McEvers, Frederick Backus, Virginia Pearson, Frank J. Woods, Arthur Brams, T. E. Jones, Virginia Allen, Alan Foster, John T. Ward and others. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday night, September 12.

When a story replete with romance and humor is set to wonderful Viennese music of the kind that puckers the lips of everyone who can whistle and this combination is equipped with stage settings that are impressively beautiful and presented by a company that has the acting and singing ability to get the best out of the music, romance and humor, the result is foregone that the musical comedy success of the season will be here when "Little Boy Blue" plays an engagement at the Plainfield theatre, Wednesday night. This greatest of Viennense compositions was performed simultaneously in Vienna, Paris and Berlin. Its success was instantaneously international. The American version ran a full season in New York city, and subsequently for long runs in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. The famous Bal Tabarin scene of the first act is the sprightliest reproduction of the gay life of Paris that has ever been put on the stage, surpassing in every way the memorable Maxim act of "The Merry Widow." The original New York production and augmented orchestra is promised for this engagement.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS
We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

SAURERS TAKE FOURTH BATTLE

After Being in the Rear for Six Innings They Tie Score and Win in Eleventh.

M'LAUGHLIN DID IT

Plainfield's Veteran Pitched a Fine Game of Ball and Also Made Two Triples, the Last One Counting For the Winning Run.

Wilson's single in the eleventh inning after McLaughlin had sent the ball into center field for a triple, was the cause of the Pets defeat by the Saurer aggregation in the fourth and deciding game of the series at Parker Field, yesterday. One of the largest crowds of the season was present to witness this fine game, but the play was marred by several arguments which occured between the official and players.

Manager Dorflinger had Harry Jennings, the Rutgers star slabman, on the mound and for four innings the Saurer men were helpless. The Pets scored their only three runs of the game in the third inning on two singles, a double and a pass. With McLaughlin on third in the fifth frame, Jennings hit Wilson with the call while he was running to first and Warry scored with the first run for the Mackmen. Their second count wac made in the sixth. In the seventh round McLaughlin, Miller and Wilson all hit the first ball Jennings served up, the first named sending one into the right field woods for three bases. Nelson's fine work held them to one run.

With the score tied in the ninth "Red" Alberts, in left field, saved the game without a doubt. Dixon dropped a throw an McLaughlin was safe on first. He went to third on Wilson's third hit of the game and then Harriman lifted a long, high fly into the left field crowd. Warry held his base until the ball was caught and started for home. Alberts made a beautiful throw to Nelson at home and the latter was waiting for McLaughlin to get to him.

Warry tripled in the eleventh and scored on Wilson's hit. The Pets could do nothing in their half, and although they hit the bal hard, the fielders were always under the ball.

TOWNLEY PLAYS ROLE OF PINCH HITTER AND HIT

George Townley proved his worth as a pinch hitter yesterday, at High Bridge, when he singled in the ninth inning while batting for a teammate. He scored with the first run for his side when Ortlieb tripled into center field. The latter scored on a single but these two runs were not enough to win, as their oponents had already made three and that proved to be the final score. Stine, who was catching the Westfield pitcher, made two hits out of three trips to the plate, but men behind him failed o connect with he ball and left him on the bases.

HOPES LOSE FIRST GAME TO MONROE

Schott Outpitched Brick in Every Respect But Monroes Score Three in First.

Hope Chapel lost the first game of the series with the Monroe nine on the Clinton avenue field last Saturday, by the score of 3 to 2. The winners made all their runs in the first inning before Schott was warmed up and he blanked them for the other eight. Hope also scored one in the initial frame and made a hard attempt to tie the score in the seventh, but could only get one tally over the plate.

The Hope men outbatted their opponents six hits to four while each team was credited with one error. Schott struck out an even dozen and Brick fanned seven.

ERRORS BY WESTFIELD MEN AID GARWOODS IN SHUTOUT

Taking advantage of many misplays made by their opponents, the Garwood A. A. team walloped the Westfield aggregation last Saturday afternoon, at the latter place by the score of 13 to 0.

The Mt. Ararat batters were only allowed three hits, while Pearsall yielded to 13. The non-appearance of one good player broke up the infield machine for the home team.

FOURTEEN SLUGGERS SWUNG THREE TIMES

The Pets were badly treated Saturday afternoon, at Parker Field when "Rube" Bond's Elizabeth aggregation shut-out Dorflinger's men by the score of 6 to 0. Townley was hit hard at times when hits meant runs, while his team-mates could not find the curves of Rickardt and the Betsytown twirler sent fourteen of his opponents back to the bench after taking three healthy swings.

The visitors started the ball rolling in the initial session with three hits and one sacrifice, which netted a brace of tallies. Townley settled down after that and pitched six blank rounds, but the opposing artillery got to him again in the eighth and ninth innings and scored two in each. The Pets could not get anywhere near home plate, except when batting and only one error was credited to the visiting team.

The locals played the best game they have this year, only one error being credited to them. Each team has now won one game, and a third will probably be arranged for Parker Field in the near future.

STINE PLAYS WELL BUT HIGH BRIDGE LOSES GAME

"Hub" Stine and George "Germany" Ortlieb were badly treated at High Bridge, last Saturday ,when the Flemington delegation walloped them by a score of 9 to 2. The Westfielder pitched fine ball, but his support was poor. Stine made one hit and had it not been for the wonderful catch of Flemington's left fielder he would have had a sure homer. He clouted the ball in the left field swamp, but the man with the glove made a beautiful catch. The batteries were as follows: Flemington, Parker and Mount; High Bridge, Ortlieb and Stine.

BICYCLES TIRES SUNDRIES

ROD AND REEL

Staten Island fishermen are very scarce along the Jersey side of Raritan Bay this year because they have all the fishing they want at their own doors. There is a big run of weakfish over there from Tottenville down to the old dock at South Beach and thousands of snapper blues are feeding there also. Quite a few kingfish were caught just below the Great Kills last week by rod and line fishermen.

Now is the time to fish for snappers, as they won't be any more plentiful than they are at present, although they might run larger. Hundreds of these small pan fish were caught from the county bridge at Morgan, Friday and Saturday of last week. The dental dock on Staten Island and the dike at the entrance to the Shrewsbury River are good places to fish for them. The piers at Atlantic Highlands, and, in fact, any of the piers along the shore ar good places to fish from. The snapper wants a swift current such as swirls around the end of a pier or bulkhead and that is the place to look for him.

The big bluefish are coming into shore again this week and the bandline men are in for another good catch. Fishing will be good close to the shore, but chumming will be necessary to keep the fish together.

Percy McVoy, Charles L. Hall and Clarence L. Thorn, of this city, are frequent visitors of the Great Kills, Staten Island, fishing grounds. Their last catch from one of the Kills power boats was thirty-two weakfish and sixteen lafayettes, using blood worms and shrimp for bait.

The bass fishing seems to be better in the city lakes than in those out in the country.

Surf fisherman at Belmar had the pleasure of catching kingfish with hand lines several days during the last week. Weakfish, fluke and croakers are very plentiful at the deep hole, where the most of the Belmar fishing is done. The surf fishing at the Highlands is also good. Fluke, croakers and weakfish have been caught there in great numbers.

Fishing parties visiting Barnegat Bay are returning with great catches of fish and snappers. All of the fishing stations report good fishing, both inside the bay and off the coast.

Rod and line fishermen are enjoying salt water fishing this fall, because there is an abundance of fish to be had at any of the fishing resorts. There has been an unusual run of weakfish in Raritan Bay and the Shrewsbury River, and thousands of fishermen are taking advantage of it. Parties of three and four return to the boathouses with catches of 100 weakfish every day, when the wind is in any quarter but the east.

DOYLE WILL MANAGE HOLY CROSS ELEVEN

Re-elected at a Meeting Last Friday and Will Start Work Immediately.

At a meeting of the Holy Cross football team held last week, J. M. "Doe" Doyle was re-elected manager of the team for the coming season and Joseph "Sparrow" Greene was chosen to assist him. Manager Doyle has had charge of the team for several seasons and they have all been very successful from a financial standpoint and the booker has always had a fine schedule for the team. He will start to book games for the present year and all contests will be played on Cricket Field, which has already been leased.

It was decided that all members of the squad should join the Y. M. C. A. for a three months' term and practice will begin this week in the gym of the association building. P. V. Martin, of this city, who was the coach of the eleven last year, has again been signed and will take charge of the team soon. Mr. Martin is a very efficient coach, having been a fullback on the U. of P. team in '95. He thoroughly understands the game as was shown by the team he put out last fall.

The voting for captain was delayed till next Friday night, when there will be another meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors.

HIGHLANDERS WIN ANOTHER AT EXPENSE OF CANUCKS

The Highlanders defeated the Interhavens at Hyde Oval last Saturday by the score of 11 to 8. The game was slow and loosely played throughout, the winners never fearing their opponents until the last part of the game when they nearly tied the score.

SOME PRIZES WON BY PLAINFIELDERS

Fritts, Runyon and Commune All Placed in Events at Great Milltown Meet.

The three local athletes who took part in the Michelin meet at Milltown yesterday afternoon, each came home with something to show for their work. Entered against one of the best gatherings of athletes that has ever been in a meet in this State, the local men made a fine showing especially John Fritts, who finished second to Homer Baker, a holder of several world's records, who started fifteen feet behind scratch.

Fritts had expected to enter the mile run, but when he arrived at Milltown he found his entry had been placed in the half-mile pack and he accordingly took his place at the start in this event. He ran a pretty race throughout the entire 880 yards and gave the wonderful Baker the run of his life. Fritts represented the Pastime A. C., of New York.

Ralph Runyon, also of the Pastime A. C., finished third in the pole vault event. He did the same distance as the man who was given second prize, but there was an inch difference in their handicaps. Curtis, of Syracuse University, won this event, clearing the bar at twelve feet, eight inches. Runyon also took second place in the running high jump event, losing out by only a few inches.

Fiore Cummune, the east end long distancer, crossed the tape sixth in the five-mile road run, doing the distance in twenty-nine minutes. At the start he took the lead and held it for over half a mile, finally giving way to Mike Granabopopus, the noted Greek runner, who finished forty-five seconds ahead of him at the finish.

J. A. WILSON PERFORMED A WONDERFUL FEAT IN GOLF

J. A. Wilson performed a phenomenal feat at the Park Club, yesterday, when he made the third hole in four, which has been considered an impossible accomplishment heretofore. From the second tee Mr. Wilson made a beautiful drive which landed the ball to Hyde's road. Two fine brassy shots and one fifteen foot putt made the hole. This will probably stand for some length of time as a record. The bogey for this is seven.

Three strokes to the seventh hole is another wonderful act that was performed on that course last week by H. E. Blazier. The bogey for this stretch is five.

FRANCIS OUIMET WINS AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 8.—The twentieth amateur golf championship of the United States was won Saturday by Francis Quimet, of Brookline, Mass., a member of the Woodland Golf Club, who thus attained national honors for the second time. He defeated Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., the 1913 titleholder, by a score of 6 up and 5 to play.

Ouimet first gained golf fame a year ago when he defeated Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the English professionals, for the open championship in a notable 90-hole medal play contest at the Country Club, where as a caddy he learned the game. Travers has won the national amateur championship four times.

The match was marked by Ouimet's poor putting in the first nine holes, his wonderful brace in the second nine and his perfect play during the afternoon. On the other hand Travers, although wild from the tee, played a strong short game which gave him the advantage up to the seventeenth hole on the morning play, where Ouimet squared the match for the first time.

PRAISES TREATMENT GIVEN BY GERMANS

Miss Hartridge and Miss Maplesden Arrive After Exciting Experience.

Miss Emelyn B. Hartridge and Miss Elizabeth Mapelsden, both of Plainfield avenue, the former being principal of the Hartridge School, arived yesterday from Europe, where they had been spending some time. They were with many other Americans at Munich when the European war broke out. They left that point on the first train sent out provided for the refugees by the German Government, and report that they were well treated by the German people, as were the rest of the refguees, both at Munich and while en route for the Hague. Miss Maplesden says that no time while waiting for the Government train, did she see any mistreatment by the Germans. The make up of the trains provided every comfort possible.

The trip across the Atlantic was one continual experience of bad weather. The Rotterdam, on which they left Holland, was crowded to the last inch of available space ,even the baggage rooms being utilized for this purpose. The passengers listed on this boat numbered 3,011, about 1,000 more than is carried under normal conditions. Miss Mapelsden, in speaking of the visit to Germany, this morning, said that at no time did she see any unpleasant attitude shown toward Americans in Germany.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR SUPPER.

SUPPER MENU.
Parker House Rolls.
Creamed Cauliflower With Ham.
Orange Charlotte.
Iced Tea.

Delicious Rolls.

Parker House Rolls.—Take three quarts of flour, one quart of milk, one tablespoonful each of butter and sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one-half yeast cake dissolved in one-half cupful of water; scald the milk, add the butter and one cupful of the flour to it while hot. Let it cool; then mix all together with a knife. Let it rise three hours, cut it down, let it rise one hour; then make rolls. Let rise half hour in pans and bake in hot oven.

Creamed Cauliflower With Ham.—Take one head cauliflower, three well beaten eggs, two cupfuls white sauce, three-fourths cupful finely chopped cooked ham. Trim the cauliflower and boil in boiling salted water until it is tender; then drain and rub it through a sieve. Add the eggs and one cupful of the white sauce to the cauliflower and pour the mixture into a buttered mold. Bake until firm. Turn out on a hot, flat dish, cover with sauce and sprinkle with ham.

A Dainty Dessert.

Orange Charlotte.—Take one third box of gelatin, one-third of a cupful of cold water, one-third of a cupful of boiling water, one cupful of sugar, juice of one lemon, one cupful of orange juice and pulp, whites of three eggs. Line a bowl with lady fingers or sections of orange, as preferred. Soak the gelatin in cold water until soft. Pour on the boiling water, add the sugar and the lemon juice. Strain the orange juice and pulp and add with a little of the grated rind. Set in a pan of extremely cold water. When it begins to harden beat it until light. Add the beaten whites and beat together until the mixture is stiff enough to drop. Pour into the mold.

Iced Tea.—One of the most refreshing beverages is iced tea. Prepare a tea as usual. When cool place in clean bottles—milk bottles are good for that purpose—cover and place on ice until very cold. Serve in tall glasses partly filled with crushed ice.

The Little Girls Make Wonderful Mats.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the Brown Children Enjoy Life

"I TOLD you the other evening about the little black children down in Africa," said daddy, "and before that I told you about the little Eskimo children and their snow houses. But I have never told you about the little brown children, have I?"

"No, daddy; tell us about them now!" cried Evelyn, while Jack asked: "Daddy, why do they call them brown? Aren't they black, just like the children in Africa?"

"Some of the African tribes are really almost brown, too, like the brown tribes. But the brown tribes live in Australia and upon the islands of the Pacific ocean, and, like the black tribes of Africa, they have a great many children to provide for. It is not nearly so much work for the brown daddies as it is for the white daddies, for much of the food they eat grows on trees and can be picked off, and the brown children wear very few clothes, just like the black children in Africa.

"Well, I must tell you about these children, but I can't give them names, as I did little Sambo and Phoebe Snow in Africa, because their names are so awfully long, and I can't pronounce them. They look as if you had taken a lot of words right out of the great big dictionary and thrown them at the paper, letting them land as they liked. But the children know their names, just as you and Evelyn do, Jack, so I suppose their parents get used to pronouncing them.

"These little brown children, or many of them, live not far from the ocean, and the Pacific is the most beautiful ocean in the world except the Indian ocean. It is always summer where the brown children live, and they enjoy themselves from morning till night.

"Living by the ocean, as so many of them do, they are great swimmers. They can swim like little fishes almost when they are babies, and you will see tiny little bits of tots swimming out into the surf just like grown people, and they enjoy it very much. The boys learn to dive from their daddies and to stay under the water for a long time, for their daddies make a living—or many of them do—by diving for pearls, which you know are found in oyster shells, and the little boys watch them, so that when they grow up they can make a living that way too.

"The little girls learn to make wonderful mats of grasses and beadwork and many other pretty things from their mammas, which later they sell to white traders for gay colored cloth and other things which the brown people love, and, like the white family and the red family and the rest, I guess that most every brown family you will see is a happy family."

mendous curse, but tonight in my last message to you I want to play three tunes upon the gospel harp of comfort: First, weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. Second, all things work together for good to them that love God. Third, and the Lamb which is in the midst of throne shall lead them to living fountains of waters, and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes. I thank God for the privilege of preaching this glorious gospel of Jesus Christ as the only hope in life and death. I have tried to preach that except a man repent of his sins and be born again, he cannot enter heaven. If there is anything about heaven or hell or judgment that I have failed to preach, let me know and I'll come back and preach it. You have supported me loyally in my effort to preach Jesus Christ as the bright and morning star, wonderful in His coming again, Jesus who stands for love, patience, kindness, self-sacrifice, accordant with all the harmonies of earth and heaven.

"I thank God for the board of deacons found in Park Avenue church. No minister was ever blessed with a better lot of deacons than I have been; I'll never forget you or your loyalty to Christ, to His church and to me, your minister. You have helped me to upsold the Crist. Keep it up, deacons.

"I have said that tonight I would give you my reason for leaving this dear old church that I love so well: it is all summed up in one word, 'Opportunity.' I am going to the city of Boston, in the tenement district, where you can see little else but children, poorest of the poor; and tired, worn-out mothers; to all of whom I hope to preach this glorious old gospel. That is why I have accepted the call to the Ruggles Street church of Boston. It is hard in some respects to be a minister, when it comes time to sever the ties of friendhsip, and to leave a beautiful city like Plainfield. I have traveled north, east, south and west, and I must say that I have never lived in a lovelier spot than Plainfield. And before leaving it I want to publicly thank the newspapers for their kindness and courtesy; also Chief of Police Kiely, who has always shown me the greatest kindness when I have sought his help for those in trouble; and to all the police officers, firemen and Chief Doane in particular, I want to express my sincerest thanks and appreciation for the many courtesies extended me. Then too, there are my trustees who have stood by so loyally, several of whom have actually done the necessary repairing to the church in order to save the expense of hiring the work done. I want to thank my superintendent, Willard Maxim, and all the officers and teachers of my school, for their loyal support; and my dear young people in the choir who have so cheerfully given their blessed ministry in song from week to week; and my dear old sexton—I shall not forget him.

"I hardly know how to thank you all for your love and loyalty, but let this be my parting message: 'The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace.'"

WAR and COFFEE

All the Coffee consumed in America comes from foreign soil, and is transported to the United States in German and English vessels. In fact foreign countries supply the world with Coffee, and their import trade at the present time is at a standstill on account of the great European war.

The Coffee held in warehouses in America is at the lowest ebb, and there seems but little chance in the near future to import Coffee in great quantities.

Up to the present time there has been no advance in the price of Coffee in our stores, altho practically throughout the country the prices of all foreign products have increased tremendously.

our location seems a little out of the way. But a few minutes' trolley ride should not stand between you and what we have to offer in goods, prices and terms.

The fact that overhead expenses are cheaper in our district makes it possible for us to give you more for your money than any firm nearer the center of the city.

That this is no theory but an actual fact you can easily prove by a trip to our store.

OPPOSE OPENING OF SPOONER AVE.

IS NOT A NECESSITY

Counsel Claims That Plans Would Damage His Client's Property—Remonstrance May Hold up Project for the Present.

So much opposition developed to the proposed opening of Spooner avenue at the September meeting of the Common Council, last night, that it is not likely that this improvement will be made this year, at least. V. W. Nash, Jr., representing the Central Holding Company, which owns more than half of the property which would be affected by the opening, made a strong plea against the opening chiefly on the grounds that it is not a necessity and the fact that there are one, two and even three mortgages on property controlled by the company he represented. In view of the facts as presented by Mr. Nash it is doubtful whether the Council would be willing at this time to vote for the improvement.

Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed informed the Council that if it is true that the Central Holding Company owns more than half of the affected property, it could block the opening simply by filing a protest. This was done by Mr. Nash, and will undoubtedly hold up further proceedings in the matter for the present, at least.

Mr. Nash, in addressing the Council at the public hearing, declared that his clients own seven lots, a majority of the property affected, and opposed the opening of the street because it is not necessary, and would be of no direct benefit. He cited the fact that according to the plans the proposed improvements would cut the lots up diagonally so that Spooner avenue would join Stillman avenue. Mr. Nash also pointed out his clients had been holding their property at $35 a front foot and if the city desired they would be willing to sell the tract at that figure. The fact that there are in some cases three mortgages on some of the lots, Mr. Nash contended would mean a heavy expense to nearby property owners. Mr. Nash took occasion to criticise previous methods of assessment in such cases, claiming that in some cases commissioners had made the benefit so heavy that affected property-owners received no compensation. He believed that the city should bear the expense for the reason that the whole city benefits from such improvements.

Following his remarks, Mr. Nash filed a written protest with City Clerk James T. MacMurray against the opening of Spooner avenue, and it is the opinion that this will stop further proceedings. It is understood that owners of some other property in the vinity of Spooner avenue are anxious that the improvement should be made as a benefit to that neighborhood.

Armstrong Mulford, Daniel J. Courain and Frank J. Hubbard, commissioners in the matter of sewer assessments in the East End, filed their report and no one making any protest, a resolution offered by Mr. Hylan and adopted, ratified the report which was filed. A public hearing was granted in the matter of opening East Fourth street, but there were no protests.

MR. AND MRS. SIMONS, JR., TO GO TO SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons and family, of East Ninth street, returned to town yesterday from their summer home in Moscow, Pa., where they have been for over two months. Mr. and Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Jr., who have been occupying the Simons home during the summer months will leave next Tuesday for SanFrancisco to make their home. Mr. Simons has taken a position as the San Francisco representative of a large incubator company on the coast, and will probably remain permanently in the Pacifis coast city. The trip will be made by way of the Panama Canal.

PLAN FOR SCHOOL IN THE EAST END

Netherwood Reformed Church to Be Used for Kindergarten and Primary Grades.

The Board of Education at its first meeting of the school year, last night, decided to make a lease with the Netherwood Reformed church for the use of its edifice for school purposes until permanent accommodations can be made in that section. It is planned to open a kindergarten and primary school in the church, and by running double sessions, about eighty children can be accommodated. The matter has been under consideration for several months. The Board will immediately advertise for bids for the proposed new Evergreen Avenue School, the plans for which have been approved by the State and local authorities.

In view of the unsettled condition of the bond market caused by the European war, the finance committee of the Board will ask for a conference with representatives of the Common Council to discuss the possible effect of this condition on the sale of bonds authorized for the new school. It is possible that the building may be held up for the present.

The contracts for which the Board will advertise for bids will be four in number, as the plumbing, heating and electrical work in the building will be bid upon separately from the general contract. All bids will be received by the Board at 8 p. m., September 28, and are to be acompanied by a certified check for 5 per cent. of the amount of each bid submitted. A deposit of $25 is to be required from each applicant for plans and specifications, which will be refunded when plans and specifications are returned.

It is known that in addition to several local contractors who are figuring on this job, a number of other concerns have applied to the Board for an opportunity to present bids, and the general opinion is that the bids this year will be unusually low. The Board will reserve the right to reject any or all bids received.

DEMOCRATS ENDORSE LOCAL CANDIDATES

Plea for a "Geographical Ticket" Fails to Reach Jeffersonian Club.

The Jefferson Democratic Club held an important session, last evening, when several matters pertaining to the primary and election campaigns were discussed at length. Routine business also occupied much of the time. Seven new members were elected. A committee to arrange for a dance Thanksgiving Eve was appointed, and the preliminary plans will be worked out immediately.

The question of endorsing a number of candidates who are seeking the party nominations caused considerable discussion, as the expected plea for a "geographical ticket" from the county committee did not materialize. The local Democrats, under this condition, thought they should take a step to provide for local men on the ticket, and the endorsement of several men followed. Those endorsed were F. Otto Linke, for the Assembly; John P. Owens, for county clerk; Theodore Martin, for Mayor, and David Coleman, for ward councilman for the Fourth ward.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR LATE RECTOR AT NEWBURG

Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Services in memory of the Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stepen's church, Plainfield, were held in the St. Agnes chapel, Balmville, on Sunday, the attendance being large, among those present being the widow of the dead rector. The service was conducted under direction of the Rev. Frederick E. Whitney, who had been a life long associate, and who was with him at the death-bed.

In his eulogy Mr. Whitney pictured the work done by Mr. Ward in Brooklyn, Pittsbugh and Plainfield, and conveyed to the people of St. Agnes the same message that was sent by the dying man to his people at St. Stephen's, "faith is victorious, there is no doubt, it is all truth." At the close of the service the holy communion was celebrated, Mrs. Ward and other members of the family being among the number participating.

COUNCIL DELAYS STREET IMPROVEMENT

Little business of importance was considered at the September meeting of the Common Council, last night. It was nearly 9 o'clock when President Clay called the meeting to order, it being necessary to wait until a quorum could be secured. Councilmen A. D. Edgar, Leighton Calkins and Francis J. Blatz being the absentees. It was the intention of Councilman Thomas F. Hylan to introduce an ordinance for the permanent pavement of West Third street, as proposed, but at the last minute it was decided to postpone the matter for the present owing to the difficulty in selling bonds at this time.

In accordance with resolutions by Mr. Hylan several additional electric lights were granted as follows: One on Sumner avenue, 700 feet south of East Front street; one light on Emerson avenue, one light at South and Woodland avenues; two lights on Belleview avenue and two lights on Richmond street. The petition for lights on East Second street was denied as that particular thoroughfare has not yet been dedicated to the public.

Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District Court, reported receipts of $156.18 for the past month and expenditures of $46.48. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of twenty permits during August and Overseer of the Poor Garret T. Dunham reported expenditures of $1,011.85.

Mr. Claybrook offered a resolution, which was adopted, appropriating $30 to Moraller & Son for the care of the town clock for the coming year, according to the usual custom. The same member offered another resolution, which was adopted, transferring $3,000 from the general fund to the fire fund and $1,000 from the general fund to the poor fund.

Upon motion of Councilman Charles C. Graves, chairman of the fire committee, the resignation of Frank Schropfer as a member of the fire department was accepted. Several other minor petitions were ordered filed.

SOME DOUBT AS TO THE OWNERSHIP OF THIS HORSE

The question of the ownership of a vicious horse that has been roaming about the streets of the West End was up in police court, this morning, and it provided amusement for the spectators for nearly a half hour. Edward H. Vail, of Plainfield avenue, bought a horse from Jules Valinski, of West Third street, some days ago, paying $50 for the animal, and he told Judge DeMeza, this morning, that there was a verbal agreement that if the horse was not gentle and young, he could be returned. Vail took the horse out a few days later, and it promptly kicked the wagon to pieces. When he tried to return the animal to Valinski, the latter would not have him, and Vail left the beast in Valinski's yard, from which it promptly took "French leave."

Some small boys in the West End tried to ride the horse and the one which finally reached his back did some Wild West stunts getting down. Then a complaint was made about the brute roaming at large, and the police brought Vail and Valinski both into court. John P. Owens represented Valinski, and he convinced the court that the horse belonged to Vail, especially as the latter produced a receipt for the money he had paid for the animal. The receipt read "Bought a horse of J. Valinski for $50 and paid in full." The court told Vail to keep the animal off the streets.

CRITICIZES HIGH SCHOOL METHODS

F. C. Lounsbury Claims Conditions Make Possible Unjust Treatment.

CITES PERSONAL CASE

In a Communication to the Board of Education Explains What He Believes to Be Wrong With the Management of the Public School.

In a communication to the Plainfield Board of Education at its monthly meeting, last night, F. C. Lounsury, a former member of the board, took occasion to criticize certain conditions in connection with the management of the High School, which he declared makes possible unfair and unjust treatment of some of the pupils.

Mr. Lounsbury's complaint was based on alleged treatment of his son, Harold Lounsbury, who failed to graduate last year, because he was behind in Algebra and German. He says that he took the matter up with Lindsey Best, the principal, and his son devoted more time to the two studies. He passed in Algebra, but failed in German, receiving a total of 78¼ points of the required 80.

Mr. Lounsbury says that he complained that his son was forced to continue German in which he always seemed to fail, and alleges that discrimination was shown in that the son was not allowed to drop German while other pupils were permitted to drop certain studies. After explaining matters to Mr. Best, Mr. Lounsbury says that the result was not satisfactory and without results. He then says he took the matter up with Dr. Maxson who declined to act and as a final move decided to lay the matter before the Board of Education. In this communication, Mr. Lounsbury at much length goes into details concerning what he considers the unfair methods employed in the management of the High School

LAWYERS GUESTS OF DOCTORS AT "BAKE"

Legal Lights Entertained Royally at Navesink Highlands.

The pill-mixers and bone-setters of this city in return for the privilege of defeating the baseball team of lawyers at Parker Field, last summer, entertained the latter at a sumptuous clambake at Thompson's Hotel, Navesink-Highlands, yesterday, and the legal lights all declared that they were willing to take another thrashing if thereby they could win such a "feed."

Lawyers Francis J. Blatz, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Judge W. G. DeMeza, John P. Owens, J. Henry Crane, Charles M. Dolliver, Martin B. Stutsman, Harry C. Runyon and V. W. Nash, Jr.; Drs. C. B. HALSEY B. GREEN DIES IN 74TH YEAR

Well Known Citizen and Veteran Succumbs to Long Illness.

Halsey Baker Green, of 416 West Sixth street, a well-known resident and veteran of the Civil War, died yesterday afternoon at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he had been under special treatment for the past week for complications. He has been for many years an employe in the Potter Printing Press Works.

Mr. Green was born March 20, 1840, in Berlin, N. Y. He enlisted in the Civil War the first year and served the full time of four years, being a member of Co. I, of the 31st Regiment, Mass. Volunteers, and was mustered out as a first lieutenant. At the time of his death he was the commander of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. On December 29, 1869, Mr. Green married Miss Sarah A. Titsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Titsworth and a sister of the late David E. Titsworth. Mrs. Green died in May, 1900. Mr. Green was a faithful and active member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of this city. He leaves two daughters, Miss Mary Titsworth Green, bookkeeper at the publishing house of the American Sabbath Tract Society, and Miss Anna Mildred Green, secretary to Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendten of the Plainfield Public Schools.

The funeral service will be held at the residence on West Sixth street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and the burial will be in the family plot at Berlin, N. Y. Members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will assemble at their headquarters at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and thence proceed to the home of their late commander to attend the service.

PEACH FESTIVAL TOMORROW.

The annual festival under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society is to be held tomorrow evening, at Warren chapel, the affair to be held inside the chapel instead of on the lawn, as previously arranged, because of the cool evenings. The Dutch Arms Band of the Trinity Reformed church is to render a program of popular music. The festival will have an afternoon session for the younger folks. Peaches, home-made candies and fresn fruit punch will be on sale.

RAN OVER BICYCLE.

Henry H. Hoffman had Jack McGauley, chauffeur for O. T. Waring, arrested because the car which McGauley was driving ran over Hoffman's bicycle. The wheel was standing against the curb and blew over, and McGauley started the car up and hit the wheel before he discovered it was there. The matter was amicably adjusted in court, as Judge DeMeza said that it undoubtedly was an accident for which the chauffeur was not responsible. The court refused to entertain a charge of reckles driving.

Paris, Sept. 9, (Central News Cable)—An official statement was given out this morning giving details of the operations of the Allied forces in the east and west of France. The statement says that on the left wing the Germans manoeuvred a retreat movement and crossed the Petit Morin River, in the French Province of Mare, but were engaged by the Allied armies and suffered considerable loss.

With a view to protecting their line of communication the Germans made a violent but unsuccessful attack upon the French forces occupying the right bank of the Ourco River. The British troops continue to act on the offensive and are driving the enemy in the direction of Marne.

The Allied forces engaged the enemy on a plateaux north of Suzanne and progressed well. Fighting in the centre of the line continues fierce, but the Germans cannot make any headway, there being alternate advances and partial retreats. The situation before Nancy and in the Vosges is very satisfactory.

A news agency has received a message from Bordeaux to the effect that two German merchant vessels have been sent to the bottom in the Atlantic by the French Cruisers Descartes and Conde, assisted by the British Cruiser Bristol.

Copenhagen, Sept. 9, (Central News Cable)—A message to the Politiken from Petrograd says: "According to a report issued by the War Ministry the Russian advance for the purpose of dividing the million Austrians who are advancing on Lubin is on the point of succeeding. A great battle is proceeding.

Rome, Sept. 9, (Central News Cable)—Upper Alsace has been evacuated by the Germans, according to a despatch to the Corriere Seras, from its correspondent in Basle, Switzerland. The despatch says that Belgian troops are now occupying territory abandoned by the Germans as far south as Brussels and that the occupation of Brussels is imminent.

From Bucharest the Corriere has a despatch to the effect that the Russian victories in Galicia are exciting frantic enthusiasm among the Roumanians. An immense crowd in Bucharest is said to have engaged in a demonstration in favor of Russia and France on receipt of the news of the fall of Lemberg.

London, Sept. 9, (Central News Cable)—A German mine layer, with 200 mines on board, was captured today by a British gunboat. The vessel was strewing the North Sea with mines of the contact type, and is the first ship engaged in this work which has been captured.

Word has been received here from Berlin that two more Major Generals have been added to the death list of German field officers, Generals Von Gotha and Nieland. Premier Von Weizsacker, of Wuertemburg, and Finance Minister Von Breunig, of Bavaria, have both lost sons. Prince Frederick William, of Hesse, was wounded in the chest in the fighting in France.

A despatch from Petrograd to the Times says the extent of the losses during the first six weeks of the war places all previous casualties far in the background. Not less than 10,000 dead Germans were found in the trenches after one engagement in Eastern Prussia. On September 1, when two Russian corps came to death grips with four German corps, north of Soldau, the losses on both sides were between 60,000 and 70,000, the majority being Germans.

The results of the fair at Nijni Novgorod provide conclusive evidence of the comparatively small effect the war has had upon internal trade. Business was suspended for only two or three days at the beginning of moblization, but afterward it was normal.

Russia's resistless advance against the Austrians continues, advices from Petrograd to the Russian Embassy here declared today. In a general battle along the whole Austrian front yesterday the Russians claimed to have thrown the Austrians back with losses.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Maubeuge, the French fortress on the Belgian frontier, has fallen with heavy losses in men and guns, according to a wireless despatch to the German Embassy today. The despatch came from general headquarters of the German army and read: "Maubeuge has fallen. We captured 400 guns and 40,000 prisoners including four generals."

The despatch adds that in the fighting at Luneville, Sept. 3, Ludwig Frank, a prominent Socialist leader in the Reichstag, was killed while storming the heights. Prince Frederick William of Hesse was also wounded, but how seriously was not indicated. The capture of Maubeuge followed a long siege by the Germans.

Petrograd, Sept. 9 (Central News Cable).—Out of the simple prohibition of the sale of vodka during mobilization has grown the greatest attempt to eliminate intemperate drinking ever undertaken. The Rus-

FAREWELL GIVEN BY BIBLE SCHOOL

The Bible school room was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening with the members of the Park Avenue Baptist church and their friends who had gathered to tender a farewel reception to their pastor, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire and his family, on the eve of their departure for Boston to take up their new work in the Ruggles Street Baptist church. A very pleasing program of music and speech-making furnished a delightful evening for every one, and included the following:

"The Lost Chord"—Carl Evans, cornet solo and orchestra, consisting of violins, Theodore Gottschalk, leader; Mrs. Charles Hellyer, Mrs. Willard Maxim, Mr. Tanham; cornets, Whitney Frazee, Carl Evans; 'cello, Mrs. Evans; pianist, Mrs. Carrie Schuyler; violin solos by Mr. Gottschalk—"Minuet," Bethoven; "Sextette from Lucia," Donzietti; "Hungarian Dance," Brahms; soprano solo, "Dreams," Strelezki, by Mrs. Grace Robinson.

Short addresses were made by Rev. Dr. R. F. Y. Pierce, of this city, who is to occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue church as temporary supply, pending the selection of the new pastor; Herbert Parker, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Willard M. Maxim, superintendent of the Bible school; George E. Place, chairman board of trustees, and Benjamin F. Hadley, for the board of deacons. Every speaker referred with marked feeling to the work of Mr. Maguire during his ministry in Plainfield—not only his preaching, but also his genial personality which made him more than welcome in every home; and his hearty response to all calls for services of any kind throughout Plainfield and elsewhere. Mr. Maguire has enjoyed the hearty co-operation of his people to a marked degree, and this was illustrated in the feelings expressed on this occasion. His remarks in response to those that had preceded him, touched every one present and voiced the close tie that during the past four years and a half has existed between pastor and people. He promised to return to Plainfield as often as his work would permit.

A feature of the program was the honor paid to Mrs. Maguire by the Volunteer Bible class, of which she has been the leader ever since coming to this church. This class numbers seventy-five women, and almost the entire membership was present. Mrs. J. B. Groendyke, their president, in well chosen remarks in the name of the class, expressed the deepest appreciation and gratitude and appreciation for the untiring efforts of their teacher and leader, for the inspiration that she had always been to them, and for the legacy which she left them in having drawn them all nearer the Master. As the president finished speaking, she presented to Mrs. Maguire in behalf of the class, a quantity of red and white carnations, the class colors, at which moment the entire class completely surrounded her, forming a circle that speoke louder than words of the friendship that will live forever between teacher and class, no matter how many miles may separate them. Mrs. Maguire endeavored to respond to this evidence of their love for her, but was almost too overcome to speak. As best she could, she thanked the class for their unfailing loyalty and hearty co-operation, and assured them that she would always remember them in love and tenderness, no matter where her life's work might take her.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way, during which refreshments were served. This part of the program was in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society, under the supervision of their president, Mrs. Ira VanArsdale.

The room presented an unusually attractive apearance by means of rugs and tastefully arranged floral decorations, the work of Mrs. VanDorn VanFleet.

So are we, for that matter. We have to be very sure that whatever you examine or try on is correct in design—or you won't be satisfied. And we have to be just as sure that the shaping is permanent, and that the models are conservative as well as correct, and that the figures on the price tags are at least as little as any others in any other store—or they won't be satisfied.

We make it a point to deliver your purchases just as quickly and accurately as a perfected system can do it.

And if you have never had the twice-a-year catalogue from Best & Co., you will be interested in the illustrated Fall edition, now ready. Somewhere in its 104 broad pages there is something that is precisely what you have in mind. Just write "Catalogue" to

Congressman Tuttle is sticking to his job at Washington. He feels pretty well satisfied that the Democratic voters of Union and Morris counties are intelligent enough to judge a man by his record, and Mr. Tuttle seeks re-election squarely on the record he has made as an able and conscientious member of the lower house. He cannot be accused of neglect of duty, and such a little thing as gaining personal advantage by being present here during the primary fight is not going to keep him from continuing to do that duty in these times when the nation needs the services of every able representative that there is in Congress. Mr. Tuttle need have little fear. The rank and file of the Democratic party will see to it that his name goes on the ticket for the general election, without his having to be at home making explanations.

Members of the Six-Point League, who are the New York representatives of 623 leading newspapers held a meeting recently and discussed the situation created by the war. They decided that there is no cause for pessimism. The fact that crops are good and the market ready for them; that the freight rate question is settled; that the new currency law is in operation; and that new export markets are to be open for our trade, was taken by the advertising men to mean large wealth for the producers of the country, and good business for those who seek it in a reasonable manner. It was decided that all of these things would encourage the business world, and the arguments presented are only more evidence that while there is a temporary depression, things will soon take a change for the better.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, who has preached his farewell sermon at the Park Avenue Baptist church will be much missed by the large number of friends whom he has made in this city. He goes to take up the work in a great church, where the opportunities for doing good are much more numerous than in this city. There was never a person to whom he would not gladly lend a helping hand, whether members of his flock or not, and hundreds of instances of his kindness are known only to this whom he has helped. We extend to him our best wishes for the continuance of his work in the successful manner which he has conducted it in this city.

The electrocution of two valuable horses by a live wire dropping on them on Labor Day, again emphasizes a condition to which the Daily Press has previously called attention. It is said that the wire was one of the feed wires from the Metuchen power house to this city, supplying much of the current used here. It would seem that if this is true, some method should be found to compel the Public Service Corporation to bury the wires, at least within the city limits. In fact, the burying of all wires should be compulsory everywhere in the city, as in addition to their being dangerous, they are far from additions to the natural beauty of Plainfield.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon stated when he consented to seek the nomination for the Assembly on the Republican ticket that were he consulting only his personal wishes he would not go before the people. His friends urged him to permit his name to be used, and he finally agreed to become a candidate. In keeping with that decision he is not making an active campaign for the nomination, and the chances are that he will thus gain hundreds of votes. He would make a valuable member of the Assembly, and it is sincerely to be hoped that he will be chosen as one of the three representatives from Union county.

Gradual establishment of an entire paid fire department in Plainfield is a good thing, and was one of the suggestions made in a somewhat sweeping report which the Fire Underwriters made a few months ago. But there will be a whole lot of people who will miss the whistle at noon and five o'clock each day, after its blasts are discontinued. Then again, the business houses in the center of the city will not be temporarily deserted, whenever there is a fire, by employes who never seem happy unless they see the engines run.

Elsewhere in today's paper is printed a short story by a local writer, George I. Sill. Mr. Sill has had a broad experience and the article in question will be of more than passing interest, as it is his first effort at short story writing. "The Turn at Ellwood" strikingly illustrates one of the dangers to which automobilists are some times liable and is published not only as the work of a local writer but also on account of the intrinsic worth of the sketch itself.

The labor men of the city, as represented by the Allied Trades Council, are deserving of the greatest congratulations upon the splendid demonstration made by them on Monday, and upon the orderly manner in which all of the festivities of the day were carried out. It was a demonstration that will make citizens determine to insert union labor clauses when making contracts for any work to be done in this city.

CRITICIZES HIGH SCHOOL

as pertaining to the pupils and their studies.

In his letter Mr. Lounsbury says:

"Through a combination of circumstances I feel compelled to bring to your attention certain conditions in connection with the management of our High School, which make possible, unfair and unjust treatment of some of the students. I can illustrate the point no better than by giving a brief statement of the case of my son Harold.

"Last March I received a letter from Mr. Best, principal of the High School, stating that Harold was behind in algebra and German, both of which he would need to pass, in order to graduate. I at once took the matter up with him and from that time on, know that he gave these studies more time at home, altho he complained of his inability to master German and of the fact that he had been forced against his will to continue same. When the final examinations came, he passed algebra and all the other subjects in his course but German, in which he failed with 66% for the year and a total of 78¼ points of the required 80.

"He then complained again of having been forced to continue this study and stated that he did not see why he should not have been treated the same as his classmate, who had been permitted to drop algebra II and substitute American History in order to obtain the necessary points for graduation. This was the first I had heard of this side of the case and I at once investigated and sent another son of mine with Harold, to see Mr. Best, who explained his side of the case quite fully. His explanation was however, far from satisfactory to me and calling Mr. Best on the telephone, I had some conversation with him but without results. I then presented the matter to the Superintendent, Dr. Maxson, who after due consideration, declined to act. Copies of the correspondence between Dr. Maxson and myself are attached hereto and a perusal of same in proper rotation will, I think, give a very fair idea of the case, the principal facts of which are clear and undisputed.

"I am fully aware that this appeal to your honorable body at this time, cannot result in placing Harold among the graduates of his class but it may, I hope, result in making it impossible for some other pupil to be discriminated against in a similar manner. For this reason and in the interest of fair play and equality of treatment in our High School, I do most vigorously protest against the action taken by the principal and must respectfully request your honorable body to impartially investigate the conditions and take such action as may seem to you best. I claim as follows:

"First—When one pupil is permitted (for the sole purpose of enabling him to secure sufficient points for graduation) to discontinue a study which he has found difficult to master, then any other pupil should be accorded the same privilege.

"Second—That when Mr. Best denied this privilege to Harold, while granting it to another, he treated him unfairly and made it practically impossible for him to graduate.

"Third—That Mr. Best was aware or should have been aware of this fact and that in relying solely upon the judgment of the teacher in charge of Harold's class in German, he used very poor judgement, because

"A—Three teachers had had the class within the year and the one referred to, had been in charge only a short time, not sufficient to enable her to form a very correct opinion regarding the pupils.

"B—It is well known that language teachers, teaching their native tongue almost invariably overestimate the ease with which the task can be accomplished—as an evidence of the severity of the lessons, it is only necessary to state that in this class of twenty-nine pupils, only nine passed for the year.

"C—Harold's record in German for more than two years, was one of failure after failure, while he was winning satisfactory marks in other studies, and this showed conclusively what he could do with it—Mr. Best should have consulted and considered the record.

"D—He was repeatedly informed by Harold and also by Harold's elder sister, that German was an impossible subject for him and that he could never hope to pass it.

"Fourth—That Mr. Best's admission that in the other case referred to, it was necessary to lighten the burden because he had been elected class president, is, to say the least most unfortunate, revealing a most deplorable condition. How is the standard of our High School to be maintained if this is to continue, many others have class duties to perform—even Harold had those which occupied considerable time.

"Fifth—That Algebra II is relatively a much more important subject than German, and that to permit the discontinuance of the latter was relatively a matter of minor importance.

"Sixth—That if it is to be the policy of the High School to allow one a privilege denied another, regarding studies once undertaken, then the decision in such matter should not rest with any one person. Consciously or unconsciously, likes and dislikes will enter and create bad feeling; a committee of the faculty, after having interviewed the applicant and made proper investigation, would be more apt to render a just and impartial decision."

HEAVY REGISTRY IS REPORTED IN THE CITY

Thirty Per Cent. of Voters Said to Have Affixed Names to List.

Voters of the city turned out in good numbers in all election districts yesterday for the first day set aside for registration purposes and in every district a number of names were added to the poll list. Usually the registration on the first day is light, but in some of the districts yesterday the boards were surprised at the number appearing to register. Fully thirty per cent. of the total normal registration of the city was made at that time.

Several of he districts report that a large number of first voters, and those having moved into the districts during the past year constituted the bulk of the registration of yesterday. But two days remain for registration purposes, for the general election, September 22, which is also primary day, and October 20. The next important event of the campaign will be the mailing of sample primary ballots, which must be accomplished by noon of next Wednesday. Samples of the primary ballots of each of the parties will be mailed to each voter who has registered for the primary election.

Reports from the various district boards of the borough appear to indicate that the registration there was below normal for the first day, apparently little interest being taken. However, as a fairly large vote was made at the last general election, a large number of votes is be expected on primary day.

ELITA PROCTOR OTIS TO APPEAR AT PROCTOR'S

The return of vaudeville to Proctor's theatre has been welcomed by the people as is shown by the patronage this week. The five acts that have composed the bill for the first three days have pleased the large audiences.

The program for the last half of the week is equally as good, with Elita Proctor Otis in a fine sketch entitled, "The Store Manager," as a headliner. Miss Otis is supported by a fine company. Phasma, an electrical surprise; Leonardo, in his instrumental act, and Kenneth and Lacey, with their funny songs and lotest dances, will also form part of the program. The Smilletta sisters, contortionists, will be the fifth act. High class photo-plays are also shown every day between the acts and the five-piece orchestra is an added feature. The bill will change tomorrow afternoon.

WILL CONFER WITH PUPILS.

The principal of the High School will be in his office at the High School buidling between 9:00 and 1:00 in the morning for the rest of this week for conference with pupils and parents concerning the work of the coming school year. It is desirable that all doubtful questions should be settled at this time rather than during the days of the beginning of school.

SHORT MEETING OF BOROUGH COUNCIL HELD IN DUNELLEN

President Richard M. Ryan presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Dunellen Council in the borough hall, last evening, in the absence of Myor E. B. Latham, who is touring the New England States. A communication was received from the Board of Health calling atention to the clogged condition of a ditch located in the rear of the properties owned by Joseph G. Walton, Edward J. Dusel and others, on Walnut street. For twenty years the Board said that this ditch has taken care of water running from Washington avenue to New Market road. Its present condition has caused the water to back up and become stagnate, menacing the health of the section. Street Commissioner Isaac V. Smalley was instructed to attend to the matter.

A number of letters exchanged between Chairman Richard M. Ryan, of the law and ordinance committee, and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, relative to having the present party wire in the borough hall changed to a direct wire were read. In replying to Mr. Ryan's letter about changing the wire the company refused to make the change upon the ground that the concessions it has already made the borough, viz: Free party line service and free calls to four foreign points was the best that they could do. In reply to Mr. Ryan's letter as to what the cost would be to have the change made, the telephone people said that it would be the difference between the cost of $42 a year for a direct line, and $30 a cost of a party line or $12 per annum. The matter was referred to the law and ordinance committee with power to act.

The opening of sealed bids in the matter of the borough entering the business of laying curbing and relaying and laying sidewalks in instances where property-holders fail to comply with ordinances of the borough in that respect or prefer to have the borough attend to same for them, resulted as follows: J. S. Hawkyard, a Plainfield contractor, was awarded the contract of laying concrete walk at 11c per square foot, and curbing at 37c per linear foot, and Goldson W. Smalley was awarded the contract of relaying blue flagging at 1½c per square foot. There was a difference of opinion among the councilmen about awarding the contract of laying the sidewalks to an out-of-town man. Two of the councilmen, Messrs. Shively and Bolard, thought that the bid of Firman H. Gis, a local man, whose bid of 12¼c per square foot was next to Hawkyard's, should be accepted, and they voted accordingly. In the matter of recent ordinances passed relative to laying sidewalks on North avenue and Front street, Councilman Bolard moved that the delinquent property-holders in this respect be notified that they will be given ten days in which to comply with the ordinances. This motion was duly seconded and carried.

Other business transacted was the confirming of Edward Herlich's election as a member of the Defender fire department, the sanctioning of monthly bills aggregating $757.15, and the empowering of the law and ordinance committee to draw up a resolution relative to accepting Culhane place, so that owners of property on that thoroughfare can successfully negotiate with the water company in the matter of having water pipes laid.

Local Anti-Suffragists are much interested in the announcement which has been made in New York that at the rooms of the Guidon Club a daily lunch will be served until September 19, at a nominal figure, the gross proceeds of which will go to the Red Cross fund. Afternoon tea will also be served. Although it is well known that the Guidon Club is an Anti-Suffrage organization, those interested declare that the work of the moment is in no way connected with its political affiliations. To quote its president, Miss Caroline M. Holmes, who was interviewed at the club rooms yesterday afternoon, "We are none of us Anti-Suffragists today—we are just Red Crossers."

Miss Addie Dietrich, of Truell Court, has returned from Kennebunkport, Maine, where she spent the summer.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

More than ordinary interest is already being manifested in the announcement of the engagement of "Little Boy Blue," the famous Viennese musical comedy, which will be at the Plainfield theatre this evening. There will not be many of the big musical productions touring the country this year. There were not so many new pieces turned out last season and few of them scored such success as to give them the impetus for continued playing. "Little Boy Blue" is one of the exceptions and justly so. It scored in its original Hungarian form immediate successes in Berlin and Vienna simultaneously in French in Paris, and then in the Americanized version in New York. After a season in the metropolitan city it ran for long periods in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. The American version is said to be the best. This is traceable to the fact that the original librettists, Rudolph Schanzer and Carl Lindau, and the composer, Henry Berany, made a distinct approach towards the American idea of the musical comedy in their Hungarian version. The complete transition was accomplished with the help of the brilliant American writers, A. E. Thomas and E. A. Paulton. The original New York production of "Little Boy Blue" will be here.

The Plainfield theatre will present the six reel emotional love drama, "Sapho," tomorrow evening. This is a play of deep and soul-stirring interest. It is probable that no good women ever lived who did not, at times, wonder how a bad woman could posibly fascinate any self-respecting man. The terms "good" and "bad" in this relation are merely comparative. No "good" women ever existed who was perfect—no "bad" woman has been ever uterly unworthy of some consideration. The book "Sapho" as Daudet wrote it, portrays a woman by no means altogether bad, and his portraiture of such a woman is artistic to the last degree. The Nethersole play dramatized from this book, lost much of Daudet's delicacy and gave the impression of a woman whose thread of life we would prefer not having touch our own. The film adaption (Elmer Harris) as acted by Florence Roberts and shown in all moving picture theatres, however, may be described as thoroughly human. One gets the underlying reasons which made the life of Fanny Legrand—or Sapho—what it was, and the supporting cast strengthen the impression.

When Eugene Walter and Charlotte Walker's names are linked the American stage always look for a success. And in the presentation of "The Better Way," Mr. Walter's latest penned effort with Miss Walker in the leading role, there is no exception. This play was tried out at Philadelphia last spring and did phenomenal business for five weeks, not in the vernacular of the press agent but in box-office statements. And in bidding farewell to the popular role of June in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Miss Walker entered a new role that is entirely different from any she has ever been seen in. "The Better Way" leads the way for a revival of conditions under which the old drama progressed so encouragingly and successfully in other years. There are six massive scenes in "The Better Way," being distributed in a prologue, four acts and a epilogue. It is realistically mounted from the little boarding house on the hill, through the Tenderloin restaurant where a cabaret show is shown, and the court-room where the divorce case is contested in novel debate to the steam laundry over which the wife presides in the epilogue. Miss Walker is seen in the title role of the wife. This play comes to the Plainfield theatre for one night, Saturday Sept. 12, and besides Miss Walker, there will be in the cast: L' Byron Beasley, George Stewart Christie, David Burton, Veda McEvers, Frederick Backus, Virginia Pearson, Frank J. Woods, Arthur Brams, T. E. Jones, Virginia Allen, Alan Foster, John T. Ward and others.

Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," unimpaired in every way and seemingly more virile and compelling than in the past, is now in its twenty-ninth season and is playing to audiences that completely fill the theatres where the company appears. The grand old play comes to the Plainfield theatre, Monday night, September 14. The audiences follow the thread of the old story with as much unflagging interest as if it were all bran new. The production in all the essential details that go to make up a play, are perfect. Such familiar scenes as the old farmyard in the New Hampshire hills, breathe the air of good, wholesome honesty. The equally familiar Grace church scene, with the choir singing the well known but always pleasing music, is said to be as good as in former seasons. One of the secrets of the longevity of this simple play of a simple people lies in the high standard always maintained in production and presenting company. Frank Thompson, Denman Tompson's son, who is manager, keeps the traditions of the old play well in hand and he consequently reaps a golden harvest every season.

TOLD TO KEEP MINORS OUT.

Jules Denato, who runs a pool room at Plainfield avenue and Third street, was in the city court, this morning, charged with permitting boys under 18 to frequent his place. Judge DeMeza told him that if he did not stop the practice he would give him the limit next time.

Now that the baseball season is slowly drawing to a close and the football goalposts appear on the horizon, we gradually turn our thoughts to the prospects of a winning team at the local High School. The prospects for a winning eleven this year are exceptionally bright, although several valuable men have been lost from last year's team whose places will be hard to fill. Probably the hardest position to fill will be the one left vacant in the backfield, following the graduation of Sminck last June. Sminck was an eceptionally fine fullback and, although not very heavy ,he hit the line with the force of a battering ram, but he also shone up with equal brilliancy on the secondary defense many times throwing him man for a loss after he had plowed through the line. The most promising man to take Sminck's place at present is Peyton Schenck. Schenck played a brilliant game in practice last fall, but was forced to retire before the season opened following an injury to his shoulder. If he plays up to his form of last season the question of the backfield will be solved.

Two excellent men for the halfback positions are available in Rosenson and Greene. The latter has played halfback on the team for the past two seasons and his work at this position has been without question. Rosenson played a fine game in the backfield last year in the positions of halfback and quarterback. With his added experience of last year he should make a splendid man for the halfback postion this fall.

Peacock was the regular quarterback last year and should be able to hold down that position in the coming season. There is an abundance of excellent material for all positions in the line except the ends. Mann and Smith, of last year, have both left school. Their positions will, without doubt, be exceptionally hard to fill, as two better ends than these could not be asked for on a High School team.

Jim Noonan stands out as a very promising candidate for one of the end positions and Robert Semer is a very likely candidate for the other position. Both of these men substituted on the team last year and stand an excellent chance to become regulars this year. Henman and Berrien are the two men for the tackle positions. They both played fine games as regulars last year and substituted the year before. With two years' experience they should be a world of strength in the line. Dick Pennock will probably play one of the guard positions. This hundred and eighty-pound freshman of last year should become one of the finest guards High School has ever had. Pennock has the stuff to make a great guard, but he lacked a little experience last year. A vacancy is left at the other guard position by the graduation of Gavett. DuBois played at guard in the early part of last season and will probably play at that position this year. Wheelan played well at center all last season and with one season's experience to his credit should be a shining light at the pivot position in the line.

Mr. Patch will do the coaching this year. He is already working out plays and getting things in readiness to start the first practice with the opening of school. Mr. Woodman, a new teacher and an all-American fullback a few years back, will also be on hand to help in the coaching line. Principal Best will also give his services in the coaching line. With these three men as coaches there is little doubt, but the red and blue wil hold its own with the most formidable oponent.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Norfolk club, Virginia League leaders, was sold to a syndicate for $60,000 the other day.

Outfielder George Burns, of the Giants, is leading the base-stealers as well as the run-getters in the National League.

Ty Cobb is of the opinion that the Athletics can beat the pick of the big leagues in a championship series.

Hal Chase has been stinging the pill in the neighborhood of .350 since he joined the Buffalo club of the Federal League.

Fritz Maisel, of the Yankees, is giving Eddie Collins, the Philadelphia star, a grand battle for the base-stealing honors in the American League.

The pennant winner in the New England League will play the Eastern Association champions a post-season series for the championship of New England.

Evidently the climate at St. Louis agrees with Hub Perdue. The "Gallatin Squash" is pitching better for the Cardinals than he ever did for the Braves.

The Federal League seems to have quite a liking for Philly players. Sherwood Magee and Ben Tincup, the Indian pitcher ,are the latest members of Dooin's band to be approached by the Feds.

The absence of Bill Sweeney and Claude Derrick, who are out of the game on account of injuries, has been a big handicap in the struggle of the Cubs to land the National League flag.

Young Leary, the Browns' first sacker, continues to show that he is one of the real finds of the year. It is predicted that another season in the big show wil make a genuine star of the youngster.

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, must be saving Larry McLean for the world's series. The only work Larry has been doing of late has consisted of relieving Chief Meyers in the ninth inning.

Dick Hoblitzel, the former Cincinnati Red, now with the Red Sox, has made a big hit with Boston fans. Dick's timely hitting has been one of the features of the fine work of the Sox of late.

PERTH AMBOY FINISHED FIFTH.

With a spurt comprised of four victories out of five games played, the Perth Amboy Pacers finished fifth in the standings of the Atlantic League. The Pacers played fine ball over the week-end and passed the Newburgh team, the latter dropping to the sixth rung. Poughkeepsie led the league with Long Branch a close second.

ROD AND REEL

High Water Today.

Sandy Hook	10:30 P. M.
Morgan's Station	10:40 P. M.
Sewaren	10:50 P. M.
Corson's Inlet	9:30 P. M.
Centre street (Newark)	11:45 P. M.

Sewaren is a good place to fish for crabs, weakfish and porgies. There is a big run of fish off Acker's boat house and every boat returns with a string. Blue-claw crabs are biting well and many a hundred are taken from Acker's boats anchored in the sound.

This is a pleasant time of the year to take that deep sea fishing trip. Every Sunday the boats are getting a great many fish and the captains are looking forward to a big run of ling any day. The sea bass and blackfish, with the fluke that hang around, are keeping the fishermen busy.

Striped bass are in the surf and three were taken at Belmar the latter part of last week. Channel bass are biting at Ocean City, Corson's Inlet, Barnegat Inlet and several of the other grounds along the southern coast. Bluefish are off Atlantic City and the fishermen of that place send word that as soon as the bunkers show up there will be some sport with the bluefish.

There seems to be no end to the snappers in the Shrewsbury River. Every pier and bulkhead is lined at high tide with men, women and children, while the more venturesome ones go out to the dike, where the fish run larger. Weakfishing is very good and some fine bluefish have been taken at the point of the Hook. Surf fishermen are catching large weakfish in the evening and a few striped bass have been caught under the Highlands bridge.

It is many a day since the fishermen of Raritan Bay saw the water as rough as it was Monday afternoon. In fact, it was very rough in the morning, but no one seemed to mind it, as the wind and waves were in the stern and helped the kicker along, but at anchor the waves jujst insisted on climbing into the boat, and on the way home, when everybody had to face the wind and tide, nothing could keep the water out. As bad as it was, the fish were biting well and everybody felt satisfied when the boats were tied to the dock.

Those fortunate enough to be fishing from the Long Branch pier Monday afternoon, struck a school of weakfish that surprised everybody. The fish, many of which weighed over four pounds, were feeding on the top of the water, and the fishermen had the pleasure of seeing them make a rush at the bait and hook themselves The fishing was the best so far this year and fully 200 men enjoyed it. They say that it was a pretty sight to see the shining sides of the fish glittering in the sunlight as they were lifted from the water onto the pier, and many a one gave a final struggle and got away before the fisherman could get it safe on the pier deck.

PENNANT RACES DECIDED IN MANY MINOR LEAGUES.

Many minor league brought their season to a close Monday. Poughkeepsie captured the pennant in the Atlantic League with Long Branch second. Harisburg secured the flag in the Tri-State League, while Allentown was second. Savannah again won the South Atlantic League gonfalon by capturing the deciding game of the post-season series from Albany. The Kitty League closed a financially disastrous season with Cairo the winner. Indications are that the Kitty League will not be in eistence next season. Ottawa captured its third straight championship in the Canadian League by beating Peterboro. Houston won the Texas League pennant by a margin of two points over Waco.

JUNIORS HAVE EASY TIME DISPOSING OF ARROW NINE

The North Plainfield Juniors walloped the Arrow ballists on Hyde Oval, yesterday morning, by the score of 16 to 6. Garthwaite had the "Indian" sign on his opponents throughout and only allowed a few scattered hits. The Arrows made their runs on errors while the Juniors hit the bal to all corners of the lot.

VanNest, who was on the mound for the Arrows, was easy for the heavy artillery of the opposing side and yielded to a large number of safeties. Four runs in the second and third innings was enough to defeat the Arrows, but the Juniors continued scoring until the last out was made in the ninth. After the fourth session the losers did not cross the plate.

The score by innings and the batteries:

Arrows	10320000 0— 6
N. J. Jrs.	14400023 2—16

Batteries—VanNest and Leach; Garthwaite and Carey.

LONG BRANCH PROTESTS POUGHKEEPSIE'S TITLE

Dr. Carlos Henriquez, president of the Long Branch Club, which finished second in the recently completed race of the Atlantic League, has prepared a detailed statement, which he is about to present to President John H. Farrell, of the National Association, setting forth his reasons for protesting against the Poughkeepsie team from being awarded the championship, which on the face of the result of the contests as played, it captured.

Dr. Henriquez declares that the Poughkeepsie team played a number of men who were not eligible under the rules of organized baseball, some of them having never signed contracts. He also declares that the Poughkeepsie team played a number of games which were not scheduled and mentions one instance of a game being played and lost by the Poughkeepsie team which was never reported to the league authorities.

VAN DEVENTERS AT LAST TAKE MEASURE OF RIVALS

The VanDeventer brothers, of this city, settled old scores with Messrs Throckmorton and Dunham, of Rahway, in the doubles tennis tournament of the El Mora Country Club Labor Day afternoon. The local pair have been defeated by this Rahway combination twice this year in tourneys but managed to get three out of four sets this time, although their opponents gave them a stiff fight all the way. The scores were 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

Before entering the final round, the Plainfield pair beat Guy and William Benedict, of Roselle, 6-4, 6-2. Dunham and Throckmorton won from A. W. and F. W. Shaw, Jr., of Bergen Point, 1-6, 6-0, 6-4.

WESTFIELD GOLF CLUB WILL HOLD SECOND NIGHT TOURNEY

An open men's doubles tennis tournament (night play) will be held by the Westfield Golf Club, beginning Monday evening, September 14, and continuing each evening until completed. The entrance fee is $3 per team. Entries will close Thursday, September 10, at 8 p. m., and should be sent by mail to Fred G. Smith, No. 675 Boulevard, Westfield. Each entrant will be notified of the time their match will be called and if not on hand will be defaulted. All matches best two out of three sets, except the finals when three out of five will be played. First and runner up prizes will be awarded. The Westfield club conducted an arc light tournament during the summer, which was highly successful.

ROYAL GIANTS WILL OPPOSE THE PETS NEXT SATURDAY

Manager Dorflinger will put his team against the Royal Giants next Saturday afternoon, at Parker Field, for the second time this year. The first game was an extra inning affair in which the colored ball players finally won out after fourteen innings had been played. Townley pitched that game, but it is doubtful whether he will again face the Giants this week. If the Pets should win this game another one wil probably be arranged to decide the series.

The Royals have not been playing much lately, but are confident that they can come back and beat the Pets again as they did before. Last time they had a padded lineup with five or six men from out of town, but whether or not they will be here this time is not known. However, the game should be an interesting one and both teams will have to go the limit to win.

HIGHLANDERS WIN LEAGUE TITLE FROM IRONSIDES

In the deciding game of the Parker Field Senior Baseball League that has been in progress all summer, the Highlanders defeated the Ironsides and now are the title-holders for the coming year. The final score was 4 to 1. The game was interesting throughout but Denny's one bad inning ,the fifth, was enough to let the Highlanders score three times. Barnes was on the firing line for the winners and only allowed one hit, this being garnered by S. Dunning.

For four innings the opposing pitchers had a regular duel and in the fifth the Highlander batters made good use of their sticking ability and pounded three runs over the plate. One more came in the sixth, while the Ironsides scored their only tally in the seventh. In the eighth and ninth rounds, and especially the last, the Ironsides made strong attempts to score but the stone-wall infield gathered up everything that was hit. Grisley and Barnes each made a double and a single, while Apgar was credited with two safeties out of three trys. The score by innings and batteries:

PLAINFIELD A. A. LOST TO FAST GARWOOD NINE

The Plainfield A. A. baseball team met defeat at Garwood, Monday afternoon, when the strong Garwood A. A. nine took them into camp by the score of 8 to 6. The game was well played throughout the locals taking the lead in the first inning, but releasing it in the fourth to their opponents. Maiden pitched for the locals and was hit hard in several innings, especially the fourth, when the home team scored five of their eight runs.

Barry held his rivals at bay after the first two innings and although the locals made an attempt to tie the score in the sixth and seventh, they could not make enough runs. The score by innings and batteries follow:

Plainfield	12000 2100—6
Garwood	00151 1100x—8

Batteries—Maiden and Moulton, Barry and Hinnister.

Billy Muray, the Australian featherweight, who was a classy boxer in his day, figures that he can "come back."

Milburn Saylor, the Indianapolis lightweight, has earned $17,000 in his six months' boxing campaign in Australia.

Jim Buckley, manager of Gunboat Smith, is sore against Jack Curley, Harry Pollock and Dan McKettrick. Buckley declares that Smith will never box Jess Willard or any other fighter under the management of Curley, Pollock or McKettrick.

HERE'S AN UNTIRING GOLFER!

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Samuel E. Thomason won the golf marathon of the Ridge County Club, Labor Day, by covering the 2,930 yards' course fifteen time sin fifteen hours' play, a distance of nearly twenty-five miles and a total of 135 holes. He stopped only twice for refreshments. Most of the rounds were completed under 50 strokes.

WILL PLAY THIRD GAME.

The Park Avenue baseball team will go to Rahway, Saturday afternoon, and meet the team of that place in the deciding game of the series. Each team has won one game and the locals are confident they can annex the third. They will have their regular team with Bowlby on the mound and Moulton on the receiving end.

NORTH PLAINFIELD WILL HAVE FOOTBALL ELEVEN

Plans are being made for the organization of a new football team in the borough to be composed of former members of the Holy Cross junior eleven and High School athletes. That team will probably not take the field this year and as the borough school will not be represented, the football stars want to play and will start an independent team.

Dan Denny has been elected manager of the team and will start immediately to book games for the coming season. Those who are running the preliminary affairs have secured the services of Arthur "Brick" Perrin, of Grandview avenue, as coach. He will undoubtedly make a good one, as he is a player himself, having had several years' experience on the borough school team while that institution supported an eleven. Some good men have signified their intention of trying for the team and as soon as a field is picked practice will start. There is some dispute over the name of this great combination, but it will be decided on in the near future. Among those who will try for places are Bob Hebert, Dan Denny, Pete VanMater, Harry Todd, Harold Woolston, Jack Hebert, Jack Brennan. Many other High School students will probably answer the first call for candidates.

SOME PLAYING.

In two games with the Athletics, yesterday, the Senators made nine double plays, three in the first and six in the second game. Morgan to McBride to Gandil was the combination responsible for four of them in the second battle.

STILL ANOTHER.

Now that the baseball senior league of the Parker Field, which was won by the Highlanders, is over, Johnny Kane, of that league, will pick an all star team and play the Highlanders tomorrow on Hyde Oval.

POLITICAL NOTES.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

It has been learned that many district election boards have established the custom of locking primary election books in ballot boxes, thereby rendering them unavailable for purposes of public inspection. This is a direct violation of the Geran act to regulate elections and should be immediately discontinued. It might be well should the civil service officials examine candidates for district election boards more on election laws and less on other subjects. Paragraph 241, section 2, of the Geran law specifically states that " * * * each of these primary books (Democratic, Progressive and Republican) shall be signed by the members of the board of registry and elections and delivered by said board to the clerk of the municipality at the time of the delivery of the ballot boxes," and again in paragraph 252, section 13, that " * * * the said primary books shall be kept by the municipal clerk subject to public inspection." Eo important is the last section considered that it is quoted in connection with the above section as well.

No "geographical" plea will be issued to the Democratic primary voters by the Union County Democratic Committee this year, as prominent forces in the latter are counting upon at least four candidates from outside Elizabeth being nominated, anyhow. Many of the committeemen are praying that there will be a fifth successful aspirant from the suburban territory, but as to this they are skeptical. Incidentally, the committee is expeced to operate in the general election campaign, under a new chairman. Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield, is sure of the nomination for State Senator, and it is said he will refuse re-election as county chairman. The organization tracks are being laid to permit the naming of Abram P. Morris, of Hillside, to succeed him. Mr. Morris is vice chairman of the committee now. The present commitee goes out of existence primary day, but most of the members are unopposed candidates for re-election. The new officers will be selected about October 1.

If a voter did not participate in the November election last year, it is necessary that he register today, if he wishes to vote in the primaries on September 22. At the same time that he is registered for the primaries he will be registered for the general election. Those who voted in November are also being urged by the party leaders to register Tuesday, although it is not absolutely necessary to entitle them to a vote in the primaries. The registration books will be open from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m., at the regular polling places in the different election districts.

So far as can be ascertained, Representative William E. Tuttle, Jr., does not seem to be any more concerned over his primary fight with Thomas J. Pierson than he was a month ago, despite the rapid approach of September 22. Mr. Tuttle, after an excursion home for the Democratic outing, has been constantly at the session of the House of Representatives. That Mr. Pierson will carry his city and has a big surprise in store for Mr. Tuttle throughout the district, his friends insist.

Unted States Senator Martine has again recommended John A. Burgan to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo for appointment as internal revenue collector for the southern district of New Jersey. Senator Martine lost out in his contest with Senator Hughes over the naming of a collector for the northern district, and he believes that he is entitled to be heard in the choosing of the official for the southern tier of counties.

Advisers of ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler, Republican candidate for the Congressional nomination, have announced that they would be willing and anxious to lead a movement for the re-election of County Register Frank H. Smith as Republican county chairman, even though the report were true that he wished to retire from the leadership of the committee. That a sense of duty to the party would force Mr. Smith to remain as chairman, if it were demonstrated that there was a demand for him, was their idea.

Sample ballots will be mailed the voters a few days before the primaries, and again before the general election. The law requires that two and one-half times the number of primary tickets voted the previous year must be printed. Judging by the questions heard asked of the city clerk, the latter is also regarded by many of the election officers as their mentor.

Alfred B. Cosey, a colored lawyer of Newark, has been recommended by Representatice Kinkead for appointment as register of deeds for the District of Columbia. Lincoln Johnson, a colored lawyer of Georgia, was President Taft's apointee to the office. Mr. Johnson was allowed to serve out his full term of four years by President Wilson, but since he retired in May a deputy has been administering the office. Mr. Johnson spoke in Turn Hall in Taft's interest during the Presidential campaign in 1912, being one of the best orators who appeared there that year. There are five candidates against Mr. Cosey, and several Southern Democrats are warmly opposing the naming of a colored man to the position. Mr. Cosey is regarded as the leading colored Democrat of New Jersey.

The registry books, together with the American flags that must be displayed at each polling place, are being distributed to the election boards. The latter may also receive the books and flags during office hours Tuesday morning.

Yesterday was a great day for the candidates for several offieers to come to this city and get acquainted. Joseph H. Neill, candidate for the nomination for sheriff on the Republican ticket, was around at the labor picnic, as was Charles E. Dooley, candidate for the Assembly nomination on the Republican ticket. The former is the State president of the Painters' Union, while the latter is a well known worker in the Electrical Workers' Union at Elizabeth.

The ensuing two weeks will be the liveliest of the entire primary campaign. Candidates for nominations must now get down to their most serious work. Considerable of their activity hitherto has been concerned with skirmishing for position in the race.

Every voter eligible to vote in the primaries, will receive sample ballots a few days before September 22. The city clerk has sent copy for all the primary ballots to the printer, and the samples will be apportioned to the different election boards for mailing. The difference between the samples and the official ballots is in the color.

Labor Day offered a fine opportunity to politicians and candidates for political preferment to further their chances at the polls, and nearly all of the candidates for county and city offices took advantage of it. Many Democratic candidates attended the annual picnic and athletic events of the Young Mens Catholic Lyceum at Tabs field, Elizabeth, where they had opportunity to meet hundreds of voters. Among these were General Collins, former Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield, who is out for the State Senatorship, and the Democratic Assembly candidates. The Republicans concentrated mostly in Plainfield. Joseph H. Neill, of Elizabeth, Republican candidate for sheriff, had a prominent part in the Labor Day celebration at the Queen City in his official capacity as president of the State Painters Association. Arthur E. Warner ,also of Elizabeth, one of the Republican Assembly candidates, also visited Plainfield during the day seeking support of his candidacy for the party nomination. John H Cose, who is another of the Republican shrievalty candidates, was on the job all day watching the effects of Neill's campaigning. Other candidates were also busy in other parts of the county.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

The Northern Advocate, a religious paper, has the following to say about a well known Plainfielder under the caption of "A New Note," written by Rev. E. W. Caswell: "Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city, says, in a recent issue of the Christian Work and Evangelist, 'We have everything in our churches except religion. True, we have some of that, but the majority of professed church members give no indication of being under the control of a sense of God, a passion for Christ, and enduement of the Holy Spirit nor a visiton of eternal realtions, which is the precious right of every redeemed child of God. The greatest blessing that could fall upon the American nation would be a deep awakening of religious experience, religious ideals, religious morals and religious action. Such a movement would furnish a climate in which every other good thing could grow.' We believe that the above plan, if adopted in all churches, woud bring about such a glorious condition as Dr. Eaton describes."

PAT DONIVAN IS OUT.

Patrick Donivan, who has been an inmate of the Industrial Home up to the time that he indulged in too much of the cup that cheers, and went to the county jail at Elizabeth for sixty days, was in police court, this morning. Upon his return from the sheriff's hotel at Elizabeth he went back to the Industrial Home, but was told that his presence was not desired. He asked Judge DeMeza whether or not he could have his clothes from the Home, and the court told him he could. Donivan has had a habit of getting drunk and then making life miserable for the other inmates of the Home, and he is not wanted there any longer.

NEW TYPE OF GERMAN AIRSHIP

sians have deprived the Germans in the newly annexed Province of Insterburg of beer as a result of the interdiction. The Russians are entering Germany not only as conquerors, but as pioneers in a temperance movement. The prohibition will be extended to the end of the war.

Trains bringing large numbers of Russian and Austrian wounded in the heavy fighting in the vicinity of Lemberg, as well as a large number of prisoners, are arriving here. The German and Austrian wounded are lodged in their respective embassies, an idea much approved by the autorities here. There are rooms for hundreds of beds in each building.

Washington, Sept. 9.—While an excited and despairing staff of diplomats were seeking to decipher a cable code despatch at the French embassy today, the British embassy made public the following official communication from the French government:

"The Anglo-French forces have taken many prisoners, including a battalion of infantry, a maitrailleus company and many caissons."

The French despatch aside from declaring the victory to have been won yesterday, gave no further details and failed to fix the territory over which the action was fought.

London, Sept. 9 (Central News Cable).—A news agency despatch from Trayes says: "In the engagement of September 6 the Germans, among other setbacks, had one serious check at Montmirail and Fere Champenoise, towns a little over 20 miles southwest of Eoepnay. The battle continues on the road toward Vitry, Le Francoiss, 27 miles east of Fere Champenoise, with advantage to the allies."

A telegram from Stockholm says that there is anxiety over the non-arrival of the Finnish passenger steamer Sveaborg, coming from Raumo, Finland, with British and Americans aboard. Anxiety is also felt for the steamer Tome, which left early Wednesday from this port.

The Express says that a fundamental change has been made in the source of war news. Hitherto cables to and from Great Britain have been reviewed by censors acting independently of the Press Bureau, which division of labor caused some confusion and much irritation. There is now to be a co-ordination with the Press Bureau with Frederick Edward Smith, director of the official Press Bureau of the British War Office, in full control of both activities.

Despatches to a news agency here from Ostend state that the Belgian loss in killed, wounded and missing at Namur was 14,000.

A message to a news agency from Wellington says that there are now five German cruisers in the Pacific still not accounted for, the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Nurnberg, Stettin and Emdn.

Harbin, Sept. 9 (Central News Cable).—The mobilization of the Russian troops in Siberia has been completed and the regiments are being sent west as rapidly as possible by the Trans-Siberian Railroad. Only military trains are running.

Amsterdam, Sept. 9 (Central News Cable).—Several Dutch towns on the coast and on navigable rivers have been placed in a state of seige by the Dutch government. The object is to prevent outsetting duties in those ports on ships owned or chartered by belligerents intended for use in war.

The Belgian legation at the Hague stated that the Belgian mission coming to America does not intend seeking intervention from Washington.

Paris, Sept. 8 (Central News Cable).—Despatches to a news agency in this city is to the effect that an important movement of troops is taking place in Italy, presumably toward the Austrian border. All freight services on Italia nrailroads has been suspended.

OPERATE ON PRINCE ALBERT.

Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 9—An operation for appendicitis has been performed on Prince Albert, second son of King George. The Prince's condition was today declared to be satisfactory.

WILSON STILL FAVORS A GENERAL STAMP TAX

Washington, Sept. 9.—President Wilson is said to be opposed to the House plan to increase revenues through the extension of the income tax to include incomes of from $2,000 up. The President is said to have pointed out to leaders in Congress today that the plan would not provide for an immediate return and that there was necessity for funds immediately. It was indicated that the White House still was of the belief that a general stamp tax was the most available plan of raising money quickly.

RAILROAD MEN PLEAD CASE WITH PRESIDENT

Washington, Sept. 9.—Six railroad presidents representing all sections of the country, called upon President Wilson today to request that the administration take some measures to relieve the increasing financial tension under which they said the transportation lines were laboring.

The railroad men told the President that the recent rate decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission had not given them the relief they required and asked him for legislation which would effect the re-opening of the case. They commended his action in agreeing to a postponement of the consideration of the railroad securities bill at this time.

That a numer of railroads would be forced into bankruptcy during the coming winter unless action was taken to ease the situation was stated by the railroad men.

NOT AWAITING REPLY.

Washington, Sept. 9—Complete denial of published reports that the United States Government was now awaiting reply to conditions named by President Wilson for the withdrawal of American forces from Vera Cruz was made today by Secretary Bryan. "Paul Fuller, the President's special representative now in Mexico City, has not made any proposals of any sort to the provisional government of Mexico," Mr. Bryan declared, "and has not been instructed to do so."

Ocean City, Sept. 9—Dr. Matthew S. Borden, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Wood and Leo Gulfreund, all of New York, were killed at Palmero, near here, early today, when the automobile in which they were going to Atlantic City to attend a convention, crashed into an engine of a freight train. The Turn At Ellwood

By GEORGE I. SILL.

"I'll find out how fast," and Margaret Walton leaned over the front seat of the car. "Forty miles an hour the indicator says, while a billiard ball couldn't run more smoothly—isn't it just lovely!"

"It certainly is. But, oh Madge! do go on with what you were saying about Doctor Gordon. Be a darling now, and impart to Bessie Brinton, from childhood's happy hour your most 'bosomest' friend, why you believe ———"

"In Larson's opinion, however," went on Margaret, "this 'Moschwein' car is easily the most complicated machine ever invented by man. For two or three weeks, after Papa got it, he had it out almost daily trying to master its mechanical mysteries; he'd return from these exercises, quietly but earnestly saying bad words in Scandinavian, slapping his forehead and with a yearning, far off expression in his eyes; but now the 'Moschwein' is tame enough to feed out of his hand and he's going to teach me to run it myself."

"Your story interests me strangely—but wont you be a good girl now, and tell me if he's never said a word, why you're sure the Doctor loves you?"

"Bessie Brinton, is the sun shining—is the day perfect—are we in an automobile and on the road to Ellwood—doesn't a woman always know? If ever there was a tease, you're one! Men are the funniest things though! Whew, look at that rabbit!—take care bunnie, or you'll get run over. Well, I'll go on—as I was going to say ——— I, I, I had a lot of rabbits once, but they got loose and ate the garden up so, I had to give them away. Now I'll tell you why, and if you love me don't breathe this conversation to a living soul."

"Poor, poor child!—try to remember, dearie, that you just told me why you gave the rabbits away—make an effort and try to turn your mind back for a moment. Its unutterably sad to see the mental wrecks caused by love, especially where ———"

"Imbecile!—will you be serious for one minute? I've always been so particular, I don't suppose Doctor Gordon has the slightest idea that I, I, I, I love him. Oh! why couldn't he ask a little question and find out? Don't you suppose he's ever thought of that?"

"Perhaps my dear young friend, he hasn't sufficient nerve."

"Nerve!—well I should say he had! Doctor Crossman told papa that he'd never seen such nerve in one so young; at that disgusting old clinic where they do all sorts of horrid things, he said his work was simply wonderful and promised a brilliant future. No, it isn't that—probably like all young doctors, he's poor and too proud and cautious besides, to venture on the uncertain seas of matrimony before having an established practice."

"But why doesn't Larson begin to 'slow down,' we'll soon be at the 'turn?'"

The chauffeur was evidently not himself, but rocked to and fro in an unaccountable manner on the seat; suddenly he put both hands to his head and groaned. Margaret sprang to her feet and with a scream clambered to the front—Larson had collapsed; his body fell, inert and senseless to the bottom of the car!

They were rapidly approaching the "The Turn at Ellwood." Here the road turning sharply to the left, runs along the edge of a sharp declivity; when they reached this, unless the speed was diminished they would be hurled from the cliff!

Alas! Margaret, could only keep the car in the track—she knew not how to diminish its speed—she could not "slow down." Death lay in wait at the "turn!"

Paul Gordon, the young physician of whom they had just been speaking, was seated in his automobile at a farmhouse down the road prepared to start when the girls rushed by. Frantic and speechless with terror they stretched their arms toward him.

"The 'turn!' the 'turn!'" he thought—"in two minutes they'll be there and she can't 'slow down!'"

He pulled everything wide open. Could he save them? Would he be too late? Never before had his car gone so fast—now he cursed the slowness of its pace! But he was nearing—he could make them hear.

"Sheer off to the right!" he shouted, "sheer off to the right!"

The automobiles with hellish rapidity now raced side by side. The time had come! His eye hastily measuring the distance between them, he prepared himself and sprang! Alighting on the rear end of the running-board, he swayed precariously—the girls' hearts stopped! Would he fall? Was it the end? In desperation Margaret leaned dangerously from the car—Paul grasped her hand, recovered himself and with a mighty effort the seat by her was gained! He pressed the proper button, snatched a lever, the speed was lessened and they rounded the "turn" in safety! His own automobile left without guidance, dashed ahead and crashing through the wooden barrier flung itself from the precipice—they could hear the dreadful clatter of its fall on the rocks below. This appalling sound added to the strain just undergone, was too much for Margaret Walton and for awhile daylight departed.

As Doctor Gordon bent over her in the summer hotel at Ellwood, eagerly noting the signs of returning consciousness, a strange thing happened. To his great astonishment no less than delight, the girl suddenly started up, threw her arms around him, pressed him to her bosom and kissed him passionately.

"Oh, Paul!" she sobbed brokenly, "you are safe!—thank God, you are safe!" Love triumphed imperiously, gloriously, over the disordered forces of her mind!

What, what had she done? On the instant, her very soul revolted at the half unconscious revelation she had made of the dearest, inmost secret of her heart. Burning with shame and mortification, she buried a face of scarlet in the welcome shelter of the pillows.

For Margaret's sake, Paul knew he must tear himself away and after incoherently telling Miss Brinton he would see how Larson was, get the car and return in an hour, left the room.

At the doctor's office Gordon found Larson nearly recovered; promising to call for him when they were ready to go, he went to the garage, got the Walton car and took it out for a spin. The speed limit was soon greatly exceeded—Margaret Walton loved him! A vigilant constable not at first recognizing the Doctor in a strange machine brought him to a halt, but seeing who it was and learning that his extraordinary haste was due to a serious case of heart trouble, shook his head sadly and allowed him to go on.

But Paul was calmed by the quiet, pleasant scene on either side, and the cool, fresh air in his face brought reflection; he now began to review the situation more judicially. After all had Margaret Walton given the slightest proof of any fixed or settled affection for him? At the time of her unconventional words and action, her mind was slowly coming back from its wandering—her thoughts were out of order. Indebtedness to the man who, at the risk of his own, had saved her life, assumed unreal and gigantic proportions and when in person he appeared before her, was overwhelming—a warm impulsive nature did the rest. His meditations each moment grew more dark and gloomy and when the young man finally returned to the hotel, he was as much dejected in spirit as before he had been elated—a natural mental reaction had set in. His reception by Margaret was scarcely calculated to dispel his despondency, nor was it such as he might have had reason in all modesty and under the circumstances, to expect. Therefore they started in a very awkward and uncomfortable frame of mind and having stopped for Larson, were soon on the way home. The atmosphere surrounding Miss Walton during the trip, grew more and more Arctic—she was absorbed in thought, answering two or three innocent questions of Bessie Brinton, pettishly and as if she wished to be left in silence. If Paul had been better versed in the psychology of women, he wouldn't have been greatly discouraged by this frigidity, nor resolved so hastily to accept the proffered professorship in that western medical college.

An enormous black cigar with three cups of particularly strong after dinner coffee, much benefitted the Doctor and he firmly made up his mind what to do. A little later as he was about to ring the bell at the Walton mansion, Mr. Walton himself opened the door.

"Why, Doctor Gordon," said he, "I was just going to see you. When you telephoned last, you said you were about to call, but I thought I'd go around and we'd walk over together. Come in my dear boy, come in. I can't trust myself to say much about what happened this afternoon, but the girls are inside, waiting, and I'm going to insist that they both hug and kiss you."

While the young ladies were not as demonstrative as Mr. Walton had promised, they were most cordial and the Doctor often blushed, as near as he could, at the many compliments paid him. Though still painfully embarrassed, Margaret endeavored valiantly to make some atonement for the coldness she had shown on the journey home from Ellwood. Her conscience and sense of justice demanded this; perhaps also, a softer and more tender feeling impelled her.

At last when Bessie, remarking on the lateness of the hour, said she must go, Mr. Walton suddenly acquired hat and cane with the evident intention of acting as her escort; an entirely unnecessary and almost unprecedented display of gallantry, as the Brintons were old friends of the family and lived next door. However, Bessie's action in leaving her at such a time as this was strangest, and appeared to Margaret little less than base desertion. "Heavens!" thought she, "what will I do when alone with Paul Gordon? The idea! —tomorrow I'll have a plain talk with Miss Elizabeth D. Brinton!"

"Now, Doctor," said Mr. Walton calmly, "while I'm gone, please decide on the kind of automobile you'd prefer—better than the one that went over the cliff. I don't know, perhaps Madge might assist in making a choice; it's surprising nowadays, the knowledge women have in such matters; suppose you ask her advice, and I'll confirm anything she says when I return."

This was not only generous, but the words seemed pleasantly sly and to contain a hint; but before Paul, somewhat puzzled, could make a reply, Mr. Walton and Bessie had departed.

Gordon had come that evening with the intention, if opportunity offered, of putting to Margaret a certain question, particularly private and interesting in character, and doubtless had a firm conviction that his future weal or woe entirely depended upon her answer. The opportunity had now arrived and none more fit or suitable could be imagined. In seeking to embrace it, with a lover's perverse inclination, Paul was several times on the point of making some delicate allusion to the happening in the summer hotel at Ellwood, but luckily his guardian angel always prevented. He also attempted a light and chatty conversation, trusting that at any moment it might become serious and sentimental, but as his heart was not in this, it soon languished and died. A silent gloom settled on them both, and to Paul's dismay the opportunity for which he had so much hoped, and which the Fates, with the possible assistance of Mr. Walton, had so kindly provided, was rapidly slipping away. As the situation grew more and more tense, Margaret's nerves approached the snapping point and she resolved on a diversion.

"Doctor," said she, "would you like to see a rare old copy of 'Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, Papa found in a second-hand book-store last week? The cuts are the quaintest things you ever saw—shall I get it?"

"Please do," he replied, "I'd be delighted. At present I'm making a specialty of melancholia, and lately I've had much experience in 'cuts.'"

"Poor man, that's the worst of being a doctor; some cuts are so perfectly horrid."

Before Paul could determine whether any special significance might be attached to what Margaret had said about cuts, she had gotten the ancient tome and placed it on a table where they could sit and turn its pages together. The book was not well preserved and once a leaf dropped to the floor.

"A race! a race!" said he, "who gets it first?"

On Mr. Walton's return he apparently failed to notice the blushes and sparkling eyes of his daughter, and her bewitching confusion as she vainly endeavored to bring into some semblance of array her disordered locks and the crumpled roses in her corsage.

"Well, Doctor," he asked, "have you made your choice?"

"I have, sir, I have," answered Paul, "the best in the world!" and here he put his good right arm securely about Margaret's slender waist, drew her to him and kissed her pretty lips repeatedly; "I have chosen a Walton—give me a Walton, and I'll call you father!"

Mr. Walton gave him a Walton and all were happy.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Women and War.

Whatever effect the present war has upon the doctrine of militarism, it will have an immense influence upon woman's movement for political equality, since woman's "uselessness" in war has always furnished one of the arguments against her right to help rule nations.

Germany affords an extreme example of a nation prepared for war and taxed to the limit for armanent. So far, the only result of this preparation has been to embroil her in a war against almost the entire world.

Does this not seem to indicate that the more a nation arms itself, the larger will be the coalition that secretly arrays itself against that nation? Had Germany relied for greatness upon her pre-eminence in the arts of peace, could she have suffered any greater menace than the present one?

Women will reap the grain fields of Europe this year. Women will nurse the wounded in a hundred field hospitals. But woman's greatest service in relation to war will be eventually to stop it. When woman comes into her own, the type of Statecraft that is based on force will go out. Gun toting has little relation to safety and justice, either in a nation or an individual.

After the War What Next?

"When the death and devastation of war have done their work, then comes disillusion," says and old war correspondent. Already thoughtful people are beginning to speculate on the future of the races of Europe. The New York Sun points to the significance of a low birth rate and high infant mortality rate in France. "If few babies are born and many die, how can a nation recover its strength and population?" it is asked. Next to France, Norway has the smallest birthrate. The figures per thousand in France are: Birth rate 20, infant death rate 143; in Norway: Birth rate 26, infant death rate 76.

This difference in the survival of infants cannot be ascribed to climate for sunny France does not present more difficulties for the care of infants than the chilly weather of Norway. Yet Norwegian mothers can save twice as many babies as French mothers. Why? Norway is too civilized to go to war and is sufficiently dealers who make the European war an excuse for advancing prices of civilized to enfranchise its women.

Food and War.

The Municipal Market Commission of Chicago, invites the housewives, clubwomen and the officials of the Federal Government, to join in a meeting to consider legislation providing for the punishment of all foodstuffs. In New York city, where the organization is less complete, the district attorney invites all the housewives to write letters to him, telling him all about how and when and where food prices are high.

Query—What makes the difference between the New York method and the Chicago method?

Answer—In Illinois the women vote, and in New York they do not. BUT—the men of the Empire State are going to right this wrong when they go to the polls in November, 1915, by voting for the amendment to the constitution.

Women Do Not Bear Arms, But—

At the end of the first week of war, sixty babies were taken for their weekly visit to the balance scales of a West London Clinic. The scales showed that in each case the baby had lost weight.

"The first blows of the campaign," says a London paper, "are not, as a fact, struck on the frontier of the enemy's country, but in the cots of the workers' homes. Where the family budget is a miracle in times of peace and regular employment any dislocation of credit, trade or work reacts swiftly and inevitably on the weakest non-combatant."

Arthur Dyke Acland, chief assistant to Eir Edward Grey, has been calling the attention of the nation to the dire effect of the war on the welfare of the rising generation. Mr. Acland is a very strong Suffragist and he recently entertained Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and the Board of the International Alliance for Woman Suffrage at the House of Commons.

"The women of France, who paid the 5,000,000,000 francs of indemnity to Germany with their economies, have announced their intention to harvest the fields and care for the country's herds and flocks while their husbands, sons and brothers fight the battles of the republic on Alsatian and Belgian battle grounds, says Joseph Chamberlain in the New York Mail.

"There is no picture of human or public devotion in all history which surpasses in pathos and beauty the record of the women of France. It is they who have chiefly suffered by the wars of conquest or defense that their kings, emperors and presidents have waged; and it is always by their industry, their thrift, their quiet wisdom, that the ravages of war are repaired.

"For the French the wife is the 'business man' of the household. It is generally she who carries on the little shop, which keeps the family alive or makes it prosperous. It is she who makes the family's plans and advances its fortunes. Her economies make it possible for the French people to pay the heaviest taxes in Europe, and to pay them without a murmur.

"And it is she who will stand in the gap and save the home industries and the production of France in the present crisis."

Some two months ago the French Suffragists held their parade in Paris. No police protection was given them, but the usually excitable Paris crowd watched in silence and respect. No police were needed.

When the full accounts of the world's wars are balanced, the biggest contribution of lives will probably be found to have been exacted from the babies and the little children. It is an old and well authenticated saying in Europe that no baby under six months ever survives a prolonged siege, and the hunger and overwork that the absence of fathers and brothers brings upon the families of the poor have created siege conditions in many a town far from the scene of combat.—Mrs. Annie G. Porritt.

The Boston Globe says: "A man came across Europe from the Russo Austrian frontier through Bohemia Germany, Belgium and France, immediately after the present war had been declared, said that the one impression in his mind which stood out in clearest relief from the confusion and excitement he witnessed everywhere was the fifteen hundred-mile line of tear-stained women—mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of soldiers—he saw in every country that he passed through."

* * * * *

"The awakened women of the world will ask: Is there any justification in patriotism, in fancied insult to a nation, or in commercial enterprise, which demands such a price as this?

"Perhaps the women of the world—for women are as a rule very practical—may for the first time ask if it would not be possible for them to settle their differences without demanding such enormous sacrifices from women.

"The tear-stained women may not find an adequate answer to their questions, but they will certainly be a tremendous force for the abolition of war when the world becomes sane again and women are allowed to have more power in the government."

MUSICIANS' ULTIMATUM.

Trenton, Sept. 8—The Trenton Musicians' Union adopted resolutions Sunday demanding that orchestras in vaudeville houses be increased from four to six pieces. Two weeks were given to the theatres within which to comply with the terms of the demands. Otherwise a strike may be ordered.

Some Cookery Suggestions

VEGETABLE OMELETS.

FANCY omelets are no more difficult to make than plain ones. Almost any fruits or vegetables may be used in varying them. Some excellent recipes for the omelets are the following:

Served With Tomatoes.

Omelet With Tomato Sauce.—Take four eggs and beat until light and foamy. Then add two-thirds of a cupful of milk into which has been mixed a teaspoonful of flour, a third of a teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Beat all together well and cook in a buttered frying pan in a hot oven.

Tomato Omelet.—Take six eggs, two ripe tomatoes, three ounces of butter, a piece of shallot and seasoning of salt and pepper. Skin the tomatoes and cut into small pieces. Add the shallot, chopped fine. Separate the eggs and beat both yolks and whites up light. Mix the tomato, shallot, salt and pepper with the yolks. Put the butter into the frying pan and make quite hot; then stir the whipped whites carefully into the yolks and turn the mixture into the pan and cook, stirring all the time.

Use For Cold Vegetables.

Potato Omelet.—Take a cupful of mashed potatoes, three eggs, with yolks and whites beaten separately, a scant teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper, half a cupful of sweet milk and a heaping teaspoonful of flour. Heat and grease a large saucepan or frying pan and pour the mixture into it. Keep on top of stove at moderate heat till set and browned on the under side. Then set on the rack in the oven to brown on top.

Asparagus Omelet.—Break the yolks and whites of four eggs into separate dishes, beat the yolks till thick, add four tablespoonfuls of milk and salt and pepper. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Melt a little butter in an omelet pan, and when it is hot turn in the eggs. Brown well and then set in the oven one minute. Have asparagus tips cooked and seasoned. Spread on the omelet, fold the latter and turn on a hot platter and garnish with parsley.

The Old Gentleman Felt Sorry For Her.

"THERE are many wonderful sights which you children can see if you only learn where to look for them," said daddy after the children had been telling of their happy and busy day.

"Tell us where, daddy," said Evelyn.

"Well, for instance, you might look in the sand," said daddy.

"Why, daddy, what is there about sand that could be interesting?" asked Jack, for he couldn't for the life of him make out what daddy meant.

"Some of the greatest and wisest men in the world," said daddy, "have devoted all their lives to studying some of the tiniest insects that live, and the things they have learned are among the most wonderful things on earth. A man named Maeterlinck, who lives over in France, has written a great book that is all about bees, which you must read some time, and other great men who are as wise as he have lain days at a time right on their 'tummies' in the sand with magnifying glasses studying little black ants.

"And I'll tell you what one of them found. He saw a little black ant come out of her nest in the sand one morning and go searching for food for her many, many children for them to feed on as soon as they should be hatched from the eggs she had laid. She found the food in the shape of a great, fat, juicy caterpillar. She killed the caterpillar after a fashion which ants have. She did it by squeezing him—he was many times her size, of course—at different parts of his length where certain nerves are placed, and she knows the position of each nerve as well as your doctor knows where yours are.

"After awhile the caterpillar was paralyzed and couldn't help himself, so the ant finished her work by crushing his head, and then she dragged him to her nest. But she wasn't ready to put him inside the hole yet, and she went away on an errand somewhere, and when she got back some beetles had come and stolen half her caterpillar.

"So very patiently she started off to look for another caterpillar, but there didn't seem to be any around. The old gentleman who was watching her felt sorry for her because she was working so hard to find her caterpillar, and he helped her hunt for it, but he didn't seem to have any luck, either. But he found her some fat bugs that he knew ants liked, but they didn't do at all, for she wanted that caterpillar, and she turned up her anty nose at the bugs.

"Well, after awhile the old gentleman who was watching her found her caterpillar for her, and I suppose she was much obliged to him, and she killed it—or paralyzed it—the same as she had done with the other, and this time she didn't take any chances, but dragged it into her nest right away, and the bugs had no chance to get it."

TAKE TITLE TO DARLING FARM

PURCHASE FOR $36,000

Form of Contract is Approved and Bids For Work Will be Received and Opened On October 7, Enabling Work to Start.

The title for the Darling farm in Piscataway township upon which it is proposed to build the joint sewage disposal works, was finally passed at a meeting of the Joint Sanitary Sewage Commission, last night. This marks an important step in the progress of the plans looking to an enlarged and improved sewage system for Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. The price paid for the Darling farm was $36,000, a part of which was given to Mr. Darling when he gave the Commission an option on the land.

The Commission also, last night, authorized the advertising for bids to complete the contracts. These bids will be received and opened on Wednesday night, October 7. The committee on right of way reported satisfactory progress and the form of contract was finally adopted. This contract had to be read, according to law, and for that reason last night's meeting was a lengthy one.

George W. Fuller, the engineer in charge of the work, has already accomplished much in a preliminary way so that when the contracts are finally awarded everything will be in readiness to proceed. Bids will be received for building the trunk sewer; also for building the disposal works on the Darling farm.

If the hope of the Commission is realized the actual work will be started in the near future and it should afford an opportunity for many local men to secure employment, this being the idea of the Commission to engage as many people living in this vicinity as possible.

There is still the possibility of the Borough of Middlesex temporarily holding up the work, but it is the opinion of those conversant with the matter that the project will be put through successfully, that the recent decision in the contention of the borough which was in favor of the proposition, and the fact that the State Board of Health has approved of the plans and has frequently urged haste in the matter will have great weight in preventing any obstacles being put in the way of building the sewers.

REGISTER FOR SPE'L ELECTION

The various district boards of registry and elections of North Plainfield will sit next Thursday, September 17, to register voters for the special consolidation election to be held in the borough the following Thursday, September 24. All citizens who voted at the general election of last November are automatically registered for the special election, but first voters, those who failed to vote at the last general election together with those who have changed their residences, and for that reason vote in another district, should register.

FOWLER MEETING TONIGHT.

A meeting in the interests of the candidacy of Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, who is again a candidate for the Republican Congressional nomination, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Republican headquarters in the Frost building. Like the meeting held at that place last week in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Capstick, the session will be open to all those who may desire to listen to the remarks of the aspirant for office.

FUNERAL OF MARIE DRITCHEL.

The funeral services of Miss Marie A. Dritschel, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Dritschel, of 417 East Third street, were held from the home of the parents yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and from Calvary chapel, New York city, at 2 o'clock. Many floral tributes were sent by relatives and friends, among which were set pieces in the forms of a cross and a wreath, both of which bore the inscription, "Marie." The interment was made at Calvary cemetery, New York.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

George B. Naylor, of West Front street, this city, was arraigned yesterday before Commissioner Job H. Lippincott at Trenton on the charge of driving an automobile without a license in his possession. Sentence was suspended. Nine other cases where drivers or owners of cars were arraigned on various charges were heard yesterday before the Commissioner.

LOCAL BOY TAKEN FOR GERMAN SPY

Irving Schenck has Exciting Experience and Spends Night in Canadian Jail.

Taken as a German spy while on a canoe trip in the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes, Irving Schenck, a graduate of the Plainfield High School in 1911, was held by the British officials at Montreal last Tuesday and spent a night in jail.

The local boy had some very exciting experiences especially as they came as a total surprise. He expects to enter Cornell University this year and went to Ithaca to take the entrance examination. After he had successfully passed the tests Schenck decided to take a little vacation and started on a canoe trip with a friend. They planned to take in the Great Lakes and go up the St. Lawrence River a little way.

For several days they had a fine time and finally made the river that separates the two countries. Here they were held up and taken into custody by British officials at Montreal. They were suspected of spying and at first the situation looked serious. They were taken to an island in the Gulf and there spent the night in prison. The next day the local boy sent postcards to friends in this city, telling of his adventure. After sufficiently identifying themselves as Americans, the pair of "Dutch spys" were released and returned home. Neither of the young men were any the worse for their little trip and are much wiser for their experience. Schenck is now with his parents who live in Flemington.

While in the local school he was a good athlete and played for two years on the football eleven. He will probably enter Cornell soon.

CLAIMS NEWARK THUGS ROBBED HIM OF $50

Upon the complaint of Henry C. Leonard, who is employed by former Sheriff Edward E. Cooper, of Warrenville, Justice Thomas Snape, yesterday issued 'John Doe" warrants for the arrest of a trio of Newarkers, who Leonard claims held him up and robbed him of $50. According to Leonard's story he visited a saloon in Newark, Monday, and fell among the highwaymen. He spent all his money, but assured his newly-made friends that he had more at home.

Leonard says he was induced to take an automobile ride home and "show them" where he had more money. This he did, after which he was persuaded to take another ride and it was then that he claims he was robbed. A man of the name of Mayberry, who drove the car, gave the Newark police information of the hold-up and Leonard was found unconscious in the road. The police, it is said, know the names of the trio and arrests are likely to follow soon.

"NIBS" HAND GETS TRYOUT WITH NEW YORK GIANTS

"Nibs" Hand, the Scotch Plains catcher who did the backstop work for the Perth Amboy team of the Atlantic League this season, will report to Manager McGraw today, for a tryout with the Giants. The New York leader has had Hand in consideration for some time and "Nibs" has played some fine ball this year, earning the reputation of being the best catcher in the Atlantic League.

He is twenty years old and has played ball for a number of years back. In the league this season he batted .313 and has a fine throwing arm which is capable of cutting off runners at the keystone base. He is also a fine base runner. He weighs one hundred and seventy pounds. The local boy will undoubtedly make a good showing with this team as he has a fine head and is very steady.

PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK.

William de La R. Anderson, who has been spending the past two weeks campaigning in Mercer county in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican Congressional nomination, returned home today, to attend the monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee, of which he is chairman. Mr. Anderson expresses himself as being pleased with the outlook for the nomination.

Miss Katherine Ursula Colvin, daughter of Michael Colvin, of West Front street, and John Mann., Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mann, of Dunellen, were married at St. Mary's church, this city, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends from nearby and distant points. Father McDonald, assistant pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in a traveling suit of dark blue, and carried a bouquet of orchids. She was attended by Miss Katherine Kellagher, of North Plainfield, as bridesmaid, who also wore a gown of dark blue and carried a bouquet of pink crysanthemums. William Colvin, brother of the bride, was the best man. The wedding marches were played by Miss Mary Smith, organist of St. Mary's church.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, where supper was served. There were guests present from Brooklyn, High Bridge, Hampton Junction and this city. The couple left on the 6:45 o'clock train for Washington, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's father. The couple received a large collection of handsome gifts, including cutglass, silverware, linen, etc. Mr Mann is an iron constructor, being employed at the Levgar Structural Iron Works in Dunellen.

HONEYMAN TOURISTS REACH HOME SAFELY

The A. V. D. Honeyman party of tourists, accompanied by Mr. Honeyman himself, arrived in New York, last night, from Europe, by the way of Boston. They made the journey across on the Cunarder Laconia from Liverpool to Boston. Included among those in the party were Mrs. Frederick Sandford, Mrs. William M. Sandford, Sr., Miss Margaret Cranswick, Mrs. S. V. Edgar and Mrs. John T. Baker, all of Plainfield. They report having had a pleasant ocean voyage and are glad to reach home again. Their trunks are still abroad and there is some doubt as to whether they will ever be recovered.

The Laconia, which left Liverpool on September 1, was accosted on the high seas by foreign battleships and cruisers, but was allowed to continue without any difficulty, when it was learned that the Cunarder carried American refugees. The party had a great experience while abroad. The day that war was declared the fourteen tourists comprising the party arrived at Warsaw, right in the midst of trouble. They intended spending a couple of days there and then going on to Vienna. Further progress was delayed more or less and it was with considerable difficulty that they were able to reach Liverpool, where they sailed for home.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Former Councilman and Mrs. W. L. Smalley Guests at Dinner Party.

Former Councilman and Mrs. William L. The couple has lived in the borough since their marriage. Mr. Smalley has been engaged in the butcher business here for many years, being very successful. The couple have one son, Ralph Smalley.

DISCUSS EXTENSION OF AMERICAN COMMERCE

Washington, Sept. 10.—Extension of American commerce in South and Central America, with widened opportunities because of the war, was the object of a conference here today, attended by members of the Latin-American diplomatic corps, busines men, American exporters and importers and government officials.

Secretary Bryan indorsed the conference, which was suggested by John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union. Secretary Bryan addressed the gathering and declared the friendship that had existed in years past should be strengthened by reason of the war in Europe.

The ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Peru followed the Secretary of State and expressed their hope that closer commercial relations might grow out of the European trouble.

LASSEN PEAK ERUPTS.

Redding, Cal., Sept. 10.—There were two violent eruptions of Lassen Peak, yesterday, which were pronounced the greatest of the series so far. Clouds of ashes descended at Mineral, 10 miles away, and a plume-like pillar of smoke was visible for twice that distance.

Elizabeth, Sept. 10.—Only one of the several pieces of property to be disposed of at a sheriff's sale went under the hammer yesterday. COURT OPENS TUESDAY.

The September term of the Somerset County Courts will open next Tuesday at Somerville, with Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker presiding. Arch Duke Frederick Lost 125,000 Men In Galician Battles--Efforts to Break Through Allies Left Wing Unsuccessful, and Kaiser's Troops Are Reported to Be Having Difficulty Getting Provisions --Servian Offensive Continues--Japs Will Not Make Peace Without Consent of Allied Nations.

PROPOSED TREATY BETWEEN U. S. AND CHINA READY

Shanghai, Sept. 10 (Central News Cable)—The text of the proposed treaty between the United States and China is completed. It makes provision that all disputes of an international character, should diplomacy be unable to settle same, be referred to an international commission of five to be chosen by the powers involved. Until this commission reports, each country agrees not to increase its military or naval strength nor to declare war.

MORE TROUBLE FOR AUTOMOBILISTS AND GOLFERS

Washington, Sept. 10.—The status of the proposed war tax bill now is completely unsettled and Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee of the House said today that all previous calculations on the subject of what will be taxed have been upset.

The President's disapproval of the income tax feature had been predicted by Mr. Underwood. When the committee met today it indicated its intention of drawing a bill taxing as many luxuries as possible.

A proposal to tax golf balls and pleasure automobiles has been made to the ways and means committee by Representative Oglesby, of New York. It was claimed that by taxing automobiles 50 cents per horsepower about $25,000,000 could be raised.

It was also said that the internal revenue tax bill to offset the loss of customs revenues due to the war being framed by the House ways and means commitee will place taxes only on beer, light wines and freight in transit. It is planned to raise $33,000,000 by a tax of 50 cents a barrel additional on beer; $9,000,000 on light wines at 20 cents a gallon and $65,000 on freight in transit at 3 per cent. This will give a total of $107,000,000 additional revenues which is $7,000,000 more than is desired.

SUGGEST A MEMORIAL FOR MRS. WOODROW WILSON

Washington, Sept. 10—The inauguration of a memorial fund for the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, to be used for the furtherance of education among the mountain people of the South has been proposed to President Wilson by the Rev. Homer McMillan of Atlanta, Ga., secretary of the executive committee of Home Missions of the Southern Presbyterian church The President gave his tentative approval to the plan. Mrs. Wilson in the final hours of her life was deeply interested in the uplift of the Southern Mountaineers, and her leadership gave great stimulus to the work.

PRESIDENT GOING TO CORNISH.

Washington, Sept. 10—Unless something unexpected arises to prevent, President Wilson will leave the capital tomorrow afternoon for a week-end visit to his summer home in Cornish, N. H. The trip will be a flying one and the President will be back Monday morning.

TWO STILL ALARMS.

The fire department was called out on two still alarms this morning, both being put out with slight damage. The first call was to Alex. Milne's carpenter shop on West Second street, where some shavings were smouldering, and the second was to the New Jersey Vending Machine Company on North avene to extinguish a few bales of burning hay.

Rome, Sept. 10, (Central News Cable)—An official despatch received here from Petrograd reports that a battle of extreme violence along the entire Austrian front has resulted in the complete victory of the Russian army. The determination of the Czar's troops to crush the army of the dual monarchy was evidenced all along the line and after continuous assualts, in which the Austrian losses were enormous, the Russians broke through the centre of the opposing forces, causing fearful disorder among the now well beaten and exhausted Austrians.

Enormous quantities of booty were captured by the Russians, including an immense number of trains, hundreds of provision wagons, batteries of artillery and no less than 20,000 prisoners.

Petrograd, Sept. 10, (Central News Cable)—A message from Tokio says that Japan has joined the agreement of the Allies not to conclude peace without consent of the Allied Nations.

London, Sept. 10, (Central News Cable)—A news agency despatch from Rome says:

"A message from Vienna states that it is officially admitted that Arch Duke Frederick lost 125,000 men in the recent Galician battles, or one-fourth of his entire command. The Germans are marching south toward Poland to assist the Austrians, but before this aid can be given they must cross the Vistula River, where the Russians are preparing to check them."

Latest advices from France indicate that all attempts on the part of the Germans to break through the Aliies' left wing on the river Ourco have failed. The British army has crossed the River Marne and his driven the Kaiser's forces back about 25 miles. The situation in the centre and right wing shows no notable change.

The Germans in the main appear to be beginning a movement of retreat. The Kaiser's troops seem to have difficulty in getting provisions.

The Germans did not enter Ghent yesterday ,according to a despatch from Antwerp, but resumed their march into France on condition that Ghent furnish the German army with necessities.

A belated telegram from Nish says: "On September 5 our army pushed the attack on Vishegrad, Bosnia, and on the following day the Servian troops crossed the frontier. Our offensive is being continued successfully at all other points. In the west the enemy has been thrown back on the left bank of the Drina."

Despatches from Petrograd indicate that the Russian armies continue to advance, driving the Germans before them. On the western bank of the Vistula River the retreating Germans have Cracow behind them on which to rally.

The Times' correspondent at Petrograd says: "I understand that a German army division proceeding along the banks of the Vistula formed a vanguard of German forces hurrying to relieve the hard pressed Austrians and that these reinforcements are advancing by way of Czenstochaka and Kielce. Experienced observers here believe that they will not arrive in time. I hear on excellent authority that Gen. Samsonoffs' staff officers are all safe with the exception of one killed."

The correspondent of the Morning Post at Petrograd says that the key to the whole tactical situation is at Rawa, where the Austrians are making a desperate struggle to prevent the Russian advance. "It is the last stand," the correspondent says, "of an out manoeuvred army."

When the new timetable of the Central Railroad goes into effect on September 16, it is said that fifty trains will be removed. Eighteen of that number will be summer trains and the balance of thirty-two regulars. It is not believed that Dunellen train service will be much affected by the drastic action. Most of the trains taken off will probably be Philadelphia fliers and trains from the Newark and branch lines. How many of the local employes of the road will be affected by the action is not known. It is also rumored that local commuters will be obliged to pay $9.00 for their commutation tickets next month instead of $8.35 as heretofore.

Mr Tinsman has a license as an operator and the government permits him to do this. He must, however, keep all government news to himself. INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Two New Market lads, Edward Dix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Dix, of Prospect avenue, and Fred Von Minden, son of Judge and Mrs. Rene P. F. Von Minden, are suffering the consequences of having disobeyed their parents. Edward is lying in the Muhlenberg Hospital with a fractured jaw as the result of being knocked off his sister's bicycle by an automobile and Fred is suffering the pangs of remorse because he was at the wheel of the car that struck young Dix. The car that Fred was driving was his father's and he had been forbidden to use it. Young Dix, who is only nine years old, had been told time and again not to ride his sister's wheel because it is too big for him. The accident happened about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Young Von Minden was driving the car back and forth along Edwards avenue, the thoroughfare upon which he lives. Young Dix had been down to C. E. Kelly's for five pounds of chicken feed and was returning with the feed on the wheel. Edwards avenue runs at right angles to Prospect avenue, along which young Dix was coming. Just as he arrived opposite Edwards avenue young Von Minden, in attempting to turn around, backed the machine into the bicycle with the aforesaid result. It was apparent that the Dix lad was quite badly hurt and Dr. Longbotham was immediately summoned. Upon the doctor's arrival he ordered the law removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, which was done in Herbert E. Nelson's taxi.

Past Wars Between Nations Now United In Battle.

SPAIN ALONE UNFETTERED.

England, France and Russia, Now Linked Together Against Germany, Have All Fought Each Other—Instability of Alliance Shown by Events That Have Gone Before.

In the light of past history the present lineup of the European nations in the big war is astonishing. It goes to show, says a London dispatch to the Washington Post, how changing are the alliances of the world powers.

England, France and Russia, bound together by the triple entente and now fighting Germany and Austria of the triple alliance have not always been allies. All have fought with each other. In fact, every nation in Europe has at one time or another been at war with and the ally of every other nation.

One hundred years ago England and France were at war. In the Napoleonic wars England, fighting against France, had Prussia for an ally. In the Crimean war England and France were in combination against Russia, who is with them in the present war. At that time England and France joined issues with the Turks. Germany stayed out of the fight through friendship for Russia. But in 1878 Germany joined with France and England against Russia, forcing that nation to sign the treaty of Berlin.

Italy's Position.

The triple alliance is now in danger of disintegration. Italy is a member of that alliance with Austria and Germany, but Italy is the natural enemy of Austria. They have fought many times over their border possessions. Italy, despite the entreaties of her two allies, has refused to aid them in this war, and it is very probable that if Italy is drawn into this fight it will be on the side of England, France and Russia against Italy's allies, Germany and Austria.

The Slav states in southeastern Europe, Bulgaria, Roumania, Montenegro and Servia, together with Greece, formed the Balkan alliance. When the Balkan league declared war on Turkey two years ago Roumania remained neutral. The alliance held until Turkey had been whipped, when the allies fell out among themselves over territorial matters. Roumania demanded a slice of Bulgaria. The Greeks and Bulgarians fought. Montenegro and Servia joined against Bulgaria. The Balkan alliance was disintegrated.

Spain the Only Exception.

Spain is the only power of Europe not in an alliance of any kind. She has no allies and no active enemies

Probably when the great struggle is ended, concludes the Washington Post, it will mark the passing of both the triple alliance and the triple entente. Some nation will become all powerful as the result of this conflict, and the rest will combine against her.

HARD TO GET NEUTRAL FOOD.

"Do you know," said a well fed looking man at a leading New York restaurant, "this war has made me careful in picking out the dishes I want to eat. Not that I have had to begin to economize, but I am unwilling to offend the susceptibilities of waiters. Let me illustrate:

"I went to luncheon at a restaurant where the waiters are of several nationalities. I had decided upon a steak a la minute and some French fried potatoes. I gave the first part of my order without noticing the waiter. A snort interrupted me.

"'You vant a Un steak cooked quick, yes?' greeted me.

"I admitted that that was what I meant.

"'Und de potatoes?'

"'Fr'— was all I got out. I could not fling the word French at him. It would have been like a sortie from a Belgian fortress. So I made a change.

"'German fried,' I told the waiter.

"'Ah, zo,' he approved, and a smile chased the frown away as he wrote down the item.

"'Und?' he pursued, with pencil poised.

"'A German pancake,' I concluded.

"He chuckled, and I could almost hear him chant 'Deutschland ueber Alles' as he walked away. As a matter of fact, I abominate German fried potatoes and pancakes. But what is one to do? It is difficult to preserve neutrality when one orders a meal, and to be forced to take sides is demoralizing."

Hidden Ability.

Old Washington White and young Calhoun Clay entered a dancing competition. But age was against Wash, and his boots, a pair of cowhides six or seven sizes too large, were against him too. The prize was awarded to the younger man.

"Go long, man!" said Uncle Wash. "I done a lot o' steps in dese yere big boots what yo' never see!"—New York Tribune.

Kind Editors.

Needless to say, the night was cold. Brrr!

"We have used up the last stick of wood in the house," said the young artist to the brooding poet as they sat beside the embers of a fire. "What shall we do? Must I sacrifice my latest canvas?"

"Hold!" said the poet. "I shall bring my rejected slips."

And they kept the fire going all night. —New York Post.

Muscles of the Head.

The head has seventy-seven muscles —eight for the eyes and eyelids, one for the nose, eight for the lips, eight for the jaw, eleven for the tongue, eleven for the larynx, eleven for the ears, seventeen for motions of the head and neck, one to move the hairy scalp and one for the eyebrows.

Won Her.

"Do you know," he said, "that every time I look at you I have thoughts of revenge?"

"Why?" she gasped.

"Because," he answered, "revenge is sweet." Then she told him she thought tomorrow would be a good time to see papa.

All Greek to Father.

"Pa, does money talk?"

"Yes, my boy."

"What language does it speak?"

"Some foreign tongue that I'm not familiar with."—Baltimore Sun.

Divided.

"Do you have any differences of opinion in your family?"

"Terrible! Why, it couldn't be any worse if we were all members of the supreme court."—Life.

THE FIRST LADY OF FRANCE.

Mme. Poincare, Beautiful and Talented, Not Recognized by Royalties.

The present political troubles in France have been augmented by attacks upon the wife of the president, Mme. Raymond Poincare. She has already been made to suffer in a social way. The French nobility, who still form the predominant element in French fashionable society, have helped to injure Mme. Poincare's position at home and abroad by sneering at her origin. Her name was Henrietta Benucci, and she was formerly an Italian actress. Her enemies also criticise her because she was divorced from her first husband. Her divorce was entirely free from discredit to her, which cannot be said of all the divorces obtained by fashionable women. She was unhappily married to a man who was entirely unworthy of her. Raymond Poincare, then a middle aged leader of the bar, fell in love with her, and they were married as soon as she was able to obtain a divorce.

Since Poincare was elected he has been the guest of two kings, and in each case his wife was not invited.

Mme. Poincare is a very beautiful woman, much younger than her husband, with a very refined, sympathetic and intellectual face. In charm and distinction of appearance she would overshadow many of the queens of Europe, which may be one reason why she is not welcomed at court.

The Latest In Lenses.

A camera that will take seven pictures at once, all taken from different directions, and then blend them into one photograph is being used for taking pictures from balloons in Germany. The seven lenses are arranged in a circle, each pointing down at an angle of forty-five degrees, so that the face of the combination camera seen from below as it swings under a balloon looks like the inside of a dish. Pictures taken by this camera give a panoramic view of the ground, and by the new science of mapping from photographs they furnish the necessary data for a very reliable map of the section, with the distances all represented properly.—Exchange.

WAR AND PUBLIC OPINION.

If the same heed of public opinion had been given by the nations of Europe at war before the war as is now manifested by Belgium, France Britain and Germany there would have been no devastating war. Now that they are in it the nations begin to feel the folly of their acts, but they can not stem the tide. It is plain to see that they have learned at least one lesson, and that is the need of attracting favorable public opinion. They want the respect of the world.

Belgium is sending a commission out to the United States and other countries to emphasize its charges of cruelty against the Germans and make out a case that will disprove counter allegations by its foe. British statesmen are to send a commission to the United States to express that nation's undying friendship and good will. France makes known that its enemy, and not it, perpetrated barbarous acts, acts that shock even the bloody-eyed combatants at grips. The German emperor has taken notice of what is being said about his troops and about his empire as a whole. To offset them he makes it known that he favors the creation of an impartial commission to investigate the charges against Germany and those of Germany against Belgium and France.

No emperor or king wants to forfeit the respect of the world from the humanitarian standpoint. Public opinion, they find alike, is worth having on your side. It augurs well for the future conduct of the war, providing it is all sincere, as it probably is. The world at peace will not be blinded by passion. It will be impossible to fool it. It willl want to know what neutralities have been violated, what right and accepted customs have been thrown into the discard, what wanton acts were committed; it will want to know the uncensored and unvarnished facts; it will ask to be shown that the sword was drawn and the cannon unmasked in a righteous cause. Woe be to the nation, in the judgment and the history of the future that can not show a clean slate. Public opinion is indeed a living force.

CHANCE FOR MILLIONAIRES.

Newspaper men give their brains, time and energy to boosting everybody else's interests, but are conspicuously neglectful of their own, says the Camden Post Telegram. While they are soldiers of the common good and perform invaluable service to the nation, no pension awaits them as old age creeps on or when the strenuous life they are compelled to lead results in an early breakdown.

There are no homes maintained by the benefactors of the press where aged and ill reporters and editors may find refuge. Announcements have been made from time to time that such a home is to be provided, but it always fizzles out, for one reason or another. The latest fizzle is the home that was to be established at Kenilworth, its ostensible founders being an organization of New York newspaper writers. The only beneficiaries of the scheme apparently are the promoters of a real estate company that obtained through co-operation of the newspaper men a lot of free advertising.

One of these days a multi-millionaire may conceive the idea that there are better uses to which a swollen fortune can be put than building libraries or buying hero medals, that there is a debt owing to the newspaper man as well as to the college professor, whereupon a home may be provided in which a few of the battle-scarred veterans of the press can find shelter.

The inability of some of the floats in the Labor Day parade to pass under the railroad bridges in this city has led to a suggestion that the city authorities see to it that the clearance under each bridge be painted on it, in white letters, so that drivers can easily tell whether or not they can travel that way with big loads. This would be a small matter, and could be done by the city, or no doubt would be done by the railroad company if the matter were properly put to them, when next they paint the bridges.

F. C. Lounsbury makes charges of discrimination in the assignment of studies in the local High School that call for a full explanation by the Board of Education. He certainly presents facts which need contradiction or correction by the school authorities, and it is time for them to see that the public is told whether or not such a situation can exist.

On Saturday a hardworking, faithful public official will conduct the editorial columns of the Daily Press. He is one of the kind who creats the city's business the same way that he would his own private business, and as a result the service given could not be improved upon.

If you are looking for something dull and stupid to read, as a sort of a contrast to the war news, get your representative in Congress to send you a copy of the Congressional Record. That is one document that needs the services of a specialist to cut out unnecessary parts.

The average man nowadays does not care if they do reduce the amount to $2,000 upon which income tax assessments will be made. Most people would be glad to have a salary as big as that to pay on in these days.

MONARCHS OF DUNELLEN WILL HOLD FIRST WORKOUT

George Martin, the veteran little captain of the Monarchs, Dunellen's crack football aggregation, has issued a call for the first practice of the season on Maurer Oval, Dunellen, Saturday afternoon. Just who will come out for the team is not known at this time, but it is believed that "Pud" Maurer, the star plunging left halfback; Art Barto, the fleet ex-Erasmus back; "Red" Maurer, the sterling pivot, and "Babe" Fisher, the giant guard will be among last year's players who will again don their togs in an endeavor to uphold the maroon and white's past reputation on the gridiron. Peter Benson, the giant fullback, who consistently penetrated the opponents' defense last year for yards at a time, will it is feared, be unable to play. Among the new candidates who will come out for the eleven this year is "Al" Day, the P. H. S. athlete. An unusually strong schedule will be arranged this year. Among the elevens that the Monarchs are said to be very desirous of meeting are the Holy Cross aggregation, of Plainfield, the Franklin A. A., of Newark, and the Dexters, of Perth Amboy.

FORMER ROOSEVELT PASTOR TO GET LOWER VALLEY CALL

Califon, Sept. 10—A call to the pastorate of the Lower Valley Presbyterian church will be extended to Rev. Edwin H. Bronson, formerly pastor of the Roosevelt Presbyterian church. Mr. Bronson is willing to accept the call. The vacancy in the pulpit of the Lower Valley church is due to the resignation of Rev. James B. Dare.

The extension of a formal call to Mr. Bronson would have been made by this time had not the presbytery discovered when it proposed to call a meeting for the purpose last week that it was without a moderator. Rev. Dr. Scott, of Lamington, having moved to Pennsylvania.

A meeting for the election of a moderator and the drafting of a formal call will be held this week. Mr. Bronson last week moved his household from Roosevelt to Lower Valley.

Mr. Bronson was born April 20, 1873, in Baltimore. He was graduated in 1896 from Princeton University. At Princeton Theological Seminary he was awarded several prizes and on graduation was given the degree of bachelor of divinity.

Mr. Bronson has occupied pastorates in Bellport, L. I.; Port Carbon, Pa., and Roosevelt. He married Miss Elizabeth W. Bayles, of Princeton, and has three daughters and a son.

UNDER A FLAG OF TRUCE.

A Reunion and a Compact Between the Blue and the Gray.

My father was a private in the Twenty-sixth Michigan and often told the following story, although I was never wise enough to make a note of the date or the name of the engagement. There can be no doubt, however, of the substantial accuracy of the tale.

There had been fighting, but a flag of truce had passed from the Confederate to the Union lines, and firing was suspended. The lines were close together and both behind cover. As the white flag passed out of sight toward headquarters the lines simply flowed together, meeting in the vacant space between. Officers on both sides tried to prevent it, but their efforts were fruitless. Little groups formed here and here and began to barter. The grays had tobacco, and the blues had coffee and a little sugar, and trade was lively for a time. Then they fell to discussing other things, and to understand their conversation it ought to be explained that the practice of firing on a picket line was regarded by these soldiers, hardened though they were by the awful sights of a dozen bloody fields, as little better than murder. Said a gray:

"Why do you fellows fire on picket?"

Blue—Why do you fire on picket?

Gray—Well, we don't, only when that old Colonel B. from North Carolina is officer of the day; then we have to. He makes us do it. But I tell you, Yank, we'll shoot high! Yes, Yank, we'll shoot high!

The flag of truce came back; the negotiations had failed. The lines reformed, and firing began again. Once more poor humanity referred to the rifle and bayonet the questions it could settle in no other way. But who can doubt that in the hearts of all who witnessed the dramatic scene there was less bitterness than before the truce? Theirs was no vulgar, sordid quarrel; no bitter, personal vendetta. Each side was pledged to the support of antagonistic principles, to maintain which they had staked their lives, but they had no quarrel with their opponents as men.—Youth's Companion.

Stage Bells.

"Parsifal" is interesting, quite apart from its artistic merit, as having had a musical instrument invented for it and named after it. The reproduction of the sound of church bells in opera was long a difficulty. Real bells simply drowned the orchestra, and all substitutes were tried in vain until Dr. Moti designed the Parsifal bell instrument, somewhat on the principle of the grand piano. Each of its five notes has six strings, which are struck by large hammers covered with cotton wool. And the result is as near to the solemn sound of church bells as the theater has been able to get.—Boston Herald.

Pie Seasons.

Really there are two pie seasons—one when the blackberries, raspberries and blueberries are ripe and when apples are green and the other when the frost is on the pumpkin. The pies of the in between times are as lead to gold to the pies of other times. No pie except the pumpkin pie is a pie at all unless the juice runs from between the covers, the juice of ripened fruit charged with sun and dew. Custom makes us eat pie last. It is a hard rule, deemed only by the anticipation which helps us to go through the preliminary staples, glad in the thought of the delectable to come.—Chicago Post.

First to "Put His Foot In It."

It was a bishop of olden times who first "put his foot in it," and ever since then the most ordinary layman who makes a blunder is said to "put his foot in it."

It wasn't the bishop's fault after all, but the housewives who ran to doors and windows every time the good bishop passed and asked for his blessing and while getting it they let the porridge burn. Then they blamed the bishop for the trouble and said "the bishop put his foot in it."—Milwaukee Journal.

Tom Corwin's Mouth.

Tom Corwin had an enormous mouth. He once said he had been insulted by Deacon Smith. The good brother asked for further explanation about the insult.

"Well," said Corwin, "when I stood up in the lecture room to relate my experience and I opened my mouth Deacon Smith rose up in front and said, 'Will some brother please close that window and keep it closed?'"

Seymour's Long Hit.

There have been many sensational four baggers knocked out by the heavy sluggers of the big leagues, but a hit once made by Cy Seymour in Boston is the daddy of them all. The ball sailed over the fence and fell into a coal car attached to a fast freight and was found by a brakeman when the train reached New York.

The Element of Difficulty.

"Is it hard to learn the use of a telescope?" asked the student.

"Not very," replied the candid professor. "The hardest thing about astronomy is guessing what something is after you manage to see it."—Washington Star.

Lost Secret of Greeks.

No greater gift could be made to our modern world than the rediscovery of the Greek physical supremacy. The secret of the method by which for one brief period they realized perfection was long since lost, no one knows how.

At present so little do we understand the principles of training which guided the Greek in his games, in his battles and his dances and made the proportions of his figures different from ours of today that Greek sculpture is in reality a puzzle to us. Certain postures fixed by the Greek sculptor seem to us contortions, bordering on physical impossibilities. There is always a terrific controversy over the restoration of Greek sculpture, and even then the arms and heads and legs we supply never look right.

All this because we do not understand the principles by which the Greek ordered the movements of his body. It was a great secret of bodily co-ordination, and the secret has been lost and with it the ability thoroughly to understand Greek art.—New York Times.

School in the Sixteenth Century.

School life at Shrewsbury in the sixteenth century was a strenuous affair. Mr. Percy Addleshaw in his "Life of Sir Philip Sidney" has an interesting account of the school at that time. "The school year," he writes, "was divided into halves. From Lady day to All Saints' day the hours of attendance were from 6 o'clock in the morning till 11, the dinner hour. In the afternoon the boys studied from 12:45 till 5 o'clock. Prayers were recited at the beginning and close of the day. If a holy day occurred in the week it was a play day, but usually the weekly day for games was Thursday. One custom then begun is still observed. * * * At the earnest request and great entreaty of some man of honor, of great worship, credit or authority an extra holiday was granted to the boys. The judges of assize, when visiting Shrewsbury, are still accustomed to ask for and obtain this boon."—Westminster Gazette.

LEADERS PLAN FOR LIVELY CAMPAIGN

State Committees Are Now Awaiting the Results of the Primary.

Trenton, Sept. 10—Immediately following the primary election on September 22, the Republican and Democratic State Committees will meet to plan the campaigns of the respective parties leading up to the general election on November 3. Democratic State Chairman Grosscup said to day that the Democratic State Committee would meet in Trenton on Tuesday, September 29, in connection with the State convention to be held on that day. No date has been announced for the Republican State Committee meeting, but it will be held about the same time.

Neither State committee is taking any active part in the primary campaigns, leaving the candidates for nominations to fight their own primary battles, but as soon as the candidates have been selected, the State committees will take hold of the main campaign and each one will outline and proceed to put into operation aggressive combats for party success.

With the Congressional campaign as the chief objective of the political battle, the leaders on both sides are planning to bring into this State speakers of national reputation in the big endeavor to influence the voters. The recent declaration by President Wilson that he would take no part in the Congressional campaigns, but would deem it his patriotic duty to remain in Washington owing to the serious war complications, is taken to mean that he will not even make any speeches in behalf of the Democratic Congressional candidates in his home State.

The Democratic State Committee, however, will get the strongest speakers they can muster for election appeals to this State.

The members of the county committees of the political parties will be elected at the primary election on September 22, the Geran Act having abolished the old method of selecting the committeemen. The Geran Act provides that the members of these committees shall take office on the first Tuesday following their election, or September 29, and that the terms of all members of such committees theretofore elected shall terminate on a date which this year brings it September 29.

On September 29, also, all the county committees are required by the Geran Act to hold their annual meetings for the election of chairmen, etc. Thus, the new county committees will be organized just in time to take hold of their respective local campaigns as maped out by the State committees.

BELIEVES HE WILL GET LARGE VOTE

Former Senator Hutchinson Feels Sure of Congressional Nomination.

E. C. Hutchinson, who is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the district comprising Somerset, Hunterdon and Mercer counties, it is said, is well fitted to represent the district at Washington because of his business and legislative training. He has had a wide experience in the needs of this manufacturing section of the State and stands for protection for home industries it is declared. Friends of Senator Hutchinson feel assured at this time that he will be the overwhelming choice of the Republican party at the primary election on September 22.

Petitions in Mercer county alone contained close to 10,000 signatures of voters, demonstrating his strength among the rank and file in that county, it is said, and according to well informed people his candidacy in Somerset county [illegible] equally as favorable. The Senator would not permit petitions to be circulated in either Hunterdon or Somerset counties because both sections had candidates in the field. Parker of Hunterdon, has withdrawn from the race which, it is said, practically insures Hutchinson the bulk of the vote in that section.

Senator Hutchinson is a product of the farm, starting as a plow-boy and working his way to the top after a long hard struggle. He secured his education in the little red schoolhouse, which was supplemented by a practical knowledge in the world of business. He is president of the Hutchinson Roller Mills Company, vice president of the Cochran-Drugan Pottery Company, president of the China Pottery Company, director of the Broad Street National Bank and Mercer Trust Company, president of the Trenton Flour Mills Company and the Trenton Bone and Fertilizer Company and interested in other enterprises which give employment to hundreds of Trenton people. He served two terms as an assemblyman, was elected to the State Senate, was re-elected and chosen president of the Senate and at the end of his term Governor Stokes appointed him State Road Commissioner.

NEW POPE'S AGE ONLY FIFTY-NINE

Pius X. Made Him Archbishop of Bologna In 1907.

CONFIDANT OF RAMPOLLA.

Was Late Cardinal's Secretary at Papal Nuncio In Madrid—Created a Cardinal Last May—A Man of Great Learning and Gifted as a Diplomat. Ordained a Priest In 1878.

Giacoma della Chiesa, the new pope who succeeds the late Pius X. as head of the Roman Catholic church and who has taken the name of Benedict XV., while not so well known in this country as many other prelates, has long been a strong figure in the church in Italy.

Like Pius X. he is on good terms with the quirinal, and when his name first was mentioned as a possible candidate for the holy office it was pointed out that his election might mean the establishment of a modus vivendi by which the controversy of forty-four years' standing between the Vatican and the national government of Italy might be placed upon more amicable terms.

Youngest Pope In Many Years.

It is a great many years that a man so comparatively young as Benedict XV. has been called to the pontificate. While the average ages of the popes at the time of their election is seventy years, Benedict XV. is only fifty-nine. He will be sixty Nov. 21 next.

Scion of an old patrician house of Genoa, Giacoma della Chiesa was born at Pegli, Italy. After studying at Capranican college and the Academy of Nobles at Rome, he was ordained a priest Dec. 21, 1878.

Father della Chiesa was appointed monsignor May 28, 1883. That year he accompanied the late Cardinal Rampolla to Madrid as his secretary at the papal nuncio and remained in Madrid as secretary of the nunciature until 1887. He then returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla and entered the secretariate of state as one of the "minutanti," or minor officials.

Was Close to Rampolla.

Mgr. della Chiesa and Cardinal Rampolla became warm personal friends in the course of their close association, and it was said that the prelate had no closer confidant than the priest who was destined to become pope.

In 1901 Mgr. della Chiesa was appointed substitute of the secretariate and secretary of the cipher. This office, be it explained, is by no means a "cardinalitial post," as is sometimes assumed, and Mgr. della Chiesa received a notable promotion when on Dec. 16, 1907, Pope Pius X. appointed him to be archbishop of the important see of Bologna. Less than seven years of administration then won for him a place in the sacred college.

The archbishop of Bologna was one of the five new Italian cardinals created by the late Pope Pius X. May 25 last. Of these he was the only one who was not a so called curia prelate.

Woman Describes Execution of Henry de Mumm—Victim Fought Soldiers.

The first intimate picture of Paris threatened by siege was brought back to this country by Miss Helen Vincent, an American singer, who was one of the 952 passengers aboard the American line steamship New York. Miss Vincent saw Henry de Mumm, the multimillionaire wine grower and bon vivant of Paris, shot as a spy against a wall in the gray light of dawn, and was caught in a riot before the police headquarters in the Rue Blanche when cavalry charged the crowd. She said:

"Perhaps the most terrible experience of many was witnessing the execution of Henry de Mumm as a spy. It was on the morning of Aug. 12, at about 4 o'clock, when I was staying at the house of a friend in Versailles, that I was awakened by the clatter of horses' hoofs on the street outside my window. I went to the window and saw a troop of cavalry passing in the half light. It surrounded a closed carriage.

"Opposite the house of my friend was a little park and a deserted house. The carriage stopped almost beneath my window, and the cavalrymen dragged a man out of it. He fought desperately and silently. They bound his arms and led him across the little space of grass to the deserted house. There they stood him against a wall and a man stepped up to bandage his eyes.

"I heard him cry out that he needed no bandage over his eyes. Then I hid my face, for I could not look longer. I heard the crash of a volley, then the sound of horses' hoofs repassing my window on the way to Paris. Later in the day I learned that the victim was Henry de Mumm and that secret police had found documents in his house proving him to be a German spy."

BORDEAUX CAPITAL IN 1871.

After Sedan First Parliament of Third Republic Met There.

Bordeaux, now the temporary capital of France, is 350 miles southwest of Paris on the Orleans railway. It is a city of 240,000 inhabitants on the west bank of the Gironde, sixty miles from the sea, in the center of the wine growing district of Medoc. It is the fourth commercial port of France.

The city was the head of the Girondists in the revolution and in the reign of terror suffered severely.

In 1871 the French government was transferred from Paris to Tours, 145 miles southwest of Paris, and when the Prussians approached the latter city was moved on to Bordeaux. The provisional government made Bordeaux its seat three months, then the city became the headquarters of the national assembly, which accepted the preliminaries of peace there.

The removal of the seat of the government of France to Bordeaux as a measure of precaution was adopted by the third republic soon after it was founded in September, 1870, on the ruins of the third empire. After the surrender at Sedan the people of Paris rose against Napoleon III. A government of national defense was formed to carry on the campaign against the Prussians and to look after governmental affairs.

The meeting at which the dethronement of Napoleon III. was proclaimed was the last held by the assembly at Bordeaux.

NEW AERIAL WEAPONS.

French Said to Be Arming Aeros With Arrows to Drop on Enemy.

The London Express prints a dispatch from Boulogne saying that the French have introduced the use of a new invention for aerial warfare.

They are equipping their aeroplanes the correspondent says, with boxes containing thousands of steel bolts or arrows about four inches long. These the aviator drops by opening a door in the bottom of the box. The shafts, it is figured, when dropped from the height of, say, 2,000 feet, will go through a man's body.

Sample of Censor's Slashing.

How war dispatches are censored is illustrated by this from an Antwerp correspondent quoting an artist who was arrested and marched with the German army near Namur: "After sleeping in a barn with a zouave guarding us with fixed bayonet we were aroused at 6 o'clock in the morning and told to peel potatoes. At 8 o'clock the soldiers began to form. Orders came like pistol shots"—and here the censor stopped the story.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

Watchung.

The members of the Watchung Volunteer Fire Department held a special meeting last evening, in the fire hall, when the members were incorporated as a company.

The younger set was entertained at "Lakeside," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Vail, last evening. The time was pleasantly spent in playing progressive games, after which a collation was served.

Ephraim S. Ackor, of Hillcrest road, has sold his residence to the Misses Sophia and Emma Koch.

Judge Hiram O. Hance, of Mountain boulevard, who has been spending the greater part of the summer in Hayti, made a flying trip to his home and returned by the next steamer to Hayti.

Miss Leontine Texier, who has been spending a week at Niagara Falls, has returned to her home on Mountain boulevard.

Miss Agnes Davis and Mrs. Margaret Griffiths, of Mountain boulevard, received the sad tidings of the death of their father, which occurred at Guelph, Ontario. Miss Davis left for Ontario immediately Tuesday evening.

Miss Charlotte Holt, who has been visiting at Niagara Falls, has returned to her home.

Westfield.

Westfield schools will open this year with an enrolment of more than 1,600. Work is to be begun on a new High school building for the lower grades.

The annual lawn party and games of St. Paul's Sunday-school will be held Saturday on the parish house lawn.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

The fishing all along the shore is a trifle short because of the heavy north winds. Just as soon as there is a shift in the wind the fish will bite again, as there seems to be plenty of them about.

The fishing in Barnegat Bay is still fine for big fish with chanel bass, sharks and bluefish nibbling the bait. Some big catches have been made during the past week.

Many anglers visit the Highlanders as well as Corson's Inlet for the finny tribe and are rewarded with sea bass, fluke, bluefish and other varieties.

Striped bass have been picked up right along at the Highlands by a regular who fished from the bridge. He recently got one that weighed eleven pounds.

Fishermen are getting plenty of perch at Estling Lake. One man got twenty-five of them Sunday in a very short time. The perch are full of fight and will average from three-quarters of a pound to a pound apiece.

The high winds and cool weather of the last few days have sent the bay fishing 'way off. Boats out for weakfish Sunday did fairly well, but there was very little doing Monday. With a pitching boat and spray coming aboard with every wave, there is very little comfort in fishing. Then, again, the high wind made it difficult to cast properly. The adverse weather conditions, too, have evidently sent the fiseh out of the bay, as those who try faithfully met with very little success. The regulars are waiting for normal conditions to resume, as they are counting on good fishing until next month.

One regular from the Long Branch pier says the fishermen hit into a school of very large weaks Monday that ran from four to six pounds apiece, but after the school passed there wasn't a bit for the rest of the day. There are plenty of fluke being taken from the pier, however.

OYSTER YIELD WILL BE LARGE THIS YEAR

Reports received by the State Bureau of Shell Fisheries are to the effect that oysters are in as fine shape as ever were found in the State and that the yield for the coming year will be as large if not larger than ever before. The great advances of the cost of living because of high prices of other food products will increase the demand for oysters in all parts of the country, but there is no prospect whatever of advance in the price of New Jersey's oysters and consumers are informed officially that this delicious food from the sea is absolutely healthy and nutritious.

The State Bureau of Shell Fisheries still has a few remaining copies of the booklet showing one hundred ways in which to prepare oysters for the table which will be sent free to any address on the dropping of a postal card to the Bureau at Trenton.

JACK MARTIN HITS IN FIRST BATTLE

Made Two Singles and a Triple Against Boston and Fielded Perfectly.

Jack Martin helped to win the first game of the double header against Boston yesterday, by pounding out three hits out of five trips to the plate. One of these bingles went for three bases. It was the first hit off Crutcher, after he had relieved Cochecham, who was yanked out of the box in the first round. Jack pulled up on third base and took a big lead, as there were two down. Crutchers made a quick move and threw to third, catching the local boy napping. He also scored one run in the first game and had one putout and two assists to his credit.

In the second engagement, which was a no-hit game for Davis, Jack made three putouts and as many assists, and also played errorless ball. Davis contributed towards winning his own game with three singles out of four trips to the platter, all of which counted for at least one tally. In the fifth inning he passed the first three men to face him and then tightened up and the Phils were held scoreless.

"Shortstops on all the teams visiting Boston have played phenomenal ball lately, and Martin today was no exception. His absolutely perfect work cut off more than one apparent base hit, and in the first game he collected three timely base hits."

PETS WILL PLAY THE COPS ON PARKER FIELD SATURDAY

The Pets will lineup against the Plainfield policemen's baseball team Saturday afternoon, on Parker Field instead of the Royal Giants as was first announced. Manager Kline, of the Giants, stated that the game would not be profitable for him as both his men and the Saurers have defeated the Pets. Manager Bader, of the bluecoats, will have a good team on the field and it will not consist of pickups this time.

In order to make the game as interesting as possible, Bader is trying to sign up Art Roemer, the star pitcher for the New York police force, to come here and pitch this game. If he succeeds the Pets will have to go some as the New Yorker is considered one of the best in these parts. Both managers will put out a good combination and the game will undoubtedly prove an interesting one.

LAWRENCE CLUB WINS FLAG OF NEW ENGLAND CIRCUIT

The Lawrence baseball club, of which Frank Bruggy and William "Flick" Luyster are members, has cinched the pennant of the New England League. This team dropped two games early in the week, but even if they lose every game played from now on the Worcester club, which is second, could not catch the leaders.

The former local players have aided this team to win the flag in more than one way. Both have been consistent hitters and have topped the club in the hitting department. Bruggy is a fine catcher, while Luyster has pitched some games this year and is an excellent fielder.

WHAT WILL BECOME OF LEAGUE BALL?

Some Say the Public Has Lost Interest in the Game But Others Differ.

Just a few words on the timely subject, "What Is to Become of Baseball?" Fans the country over are asking the question. Opinions differ on what is to be the future of the national pastime. Pessimists say thousands of fans have lost interest and that their enthusiasm can never again be restored to its fullness. Others think the crack of the bat will soon again thril the multitude.

The latter opinion is the more probable to be true. But never as long as warring factions battle for players and permit or encourage the violation of contracts, will the sport reach that high plane it occupied before the present conflict. Mr. Tired Business Man must have some means of relaxation. Baseball furnished this. Mr. Business Man goes to a baseball game to quit trouble, not to find it. There are not enough golf clubs, tennis courts, etc., to take care of the thousands who daily attended baseball games in the past. For this reason baseball is a necessity and will regain its hold.

The coming winter will see a reorganization of the national game. The Federal League has won the first round of its battle against "organized baseball." The new league has won this preliminary battle at tremendous cost.

It is the cost of the struggle which will force a reorganization of baseball. Not only has the Federal League lost a lot of money, but also the receipts of all clubs in the American, National and minor leagues have fallen far below those of previous years. Many club owners will lose large sums.

Right here it would be proper to mention the fact that the time has passed when the rival organizations wil bid for players to such an extent that exorbitant salaries will result. From now on both factions have about decided that players shall not be encouraged to play one league against another in order to get the highest maximum salary. When the warring factions get together some players who are dickering with both sides may find themselves out in the cold.

The financial loss is only one of many. The loss in discipline of players has been felt. The loss of interest among the fans has been noticeable. As long as the Federals and organized baseball continue the war, al these losses will continue. Can either faction stand these conditions?

Leaders of organized baseball predicted at the beginning of the season the Federal League would blow up before August 1. The prediction now sounds funny. The Federals have invested considerably more than $1,000,000. They are not ready to quit. The financial backing of the league is sound. These backers say they will go the limit. That means that they are ready to force recognition or carry down with them the whole fabric of baseball.

Rather than see the game damaged to any greater extent than it has been at present, it is more than probable that the National and American Leagues will compromise with the newcomers. President Johnson, of the American League, at the instigation of President Barrows, of the International League, recently suggested that a third major league be organized, taking in four teams from the American Association and four from the International. This was frowned upon. It would leave some of the other little fellows out in the cold and would serve only to complicate an already complicated situation.

President James A. Gilmore, of the Federal League, remarked before the season opened: "The Federal League will be in organized baseball and it will not apply for admission. It wil be invited."

Whatever the solution to the present tangle, the game will of necessity be reorganized after the present playing season.

HOPE AND MONROE WILL PLAY SECOND OF SERIES

The Hope chapel and Monroe baseball teams will meet in the second game of the post-season series on the Clinton avenue field Saturday afternoon. The first battle went to the Monroe boys by one run, but the Fourth street aggregation expect to tie the standing up in the next game. Both teams are playing fine ball and another good game can be expected this week-end.

Schott and Brick will oppose each other and both are confident of victory. Both clubs will have their regulars in the game and the "ump" will start matters going at 3:30.

STALLINGS SURE KNOWS REAL BALL PLAYERS.

When he was in New York a few weeks ago, winning three straight games from the Giants, George Stallings was discussing his pitching problem with several New York newspapermen who knew him intimately when he was guardian of the Hilltop pennant hopes.

"I have a young pitcher, whom I intend to use down the final stretch, who will open your eyes. He is just about ripe now to take his regular turn. You may remember him: he was with Wolverton on the hill two years ago. His name is George Davis."

Miracle Man Stallings again has made good. Starting his first major league game since leaving the Yanks, Davis yesterday held the Phillies, one of the hardest hitting clubs in baseball, without a hit or run.

Davis was dug up by Arthur Irwin at Williams College in 1912, where he was one of the star colegiate pitchers of the year. He got a lot of advertising, but his work under Wolverton was only fair, as he was not yet ripe for the big league.

He was one of Chance's ill-fated Bermuda squad last year, and the Peerless Leader sent him to Jersey City. From Skeeterville he drifted to Rochester, where Stallings grabbed him late last season, and has been nursing him ever since.

P. C. C. GOLFERS TO PLAY CRANFORD TEAM

First Match on Local Course, Sept. 19 and Return Match One Week Later.

The Plainfield Country Club and the Cranford Country Club will meet on the local course on Saturday, September 19, in a team match for eighteen holes. This is one of the regular events on the schedule and will undoubtedly be close and exciting. A return match wil be played on the Cranford course the following week.

On October 6, the one day Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tourney wil be held at the local club and several local golfers will enter. The association offers a prize for the best gross score made in the play and the local club offers two trophys. One will be for the best net score turned in and the other for an approaching and putting contest.

A senior club tourney for men over fifty years of age will be staged on Election Day as a final climax to the season's schedule. The play will be for the Glenney Cup, offered by W. Lester Glenney and W. T. Glenney.

PLAINFIELD H. S. WILL MEET RAHWAY ON GRIDIRON OCT. 24

The Rahway High School football eleven, which has just started its preliminary workout for this season, faces one of the hardest schedules that a team from that institution has ever looked upon. It contains an even dozen games, which include some of the hardest teams in this part of the State. The Plainfield High School team will meet the State champions on Parker Field on October 24, and as yet there has been no return game arranged. Last year the locals were swamped as were all other teams in this vicinity, as the Rahway players cleaned up everything. The schedule is as folows:

September 23, Summit at Rahway, pending; September 26, Central High of Newark, at Rahway; October 2, Barringer High, at Newark; October 8, Battin High, of Elizabeth, at Rahway; October 12, pending; Octobeh 17, East Orange, at East Orange; October 24, Plainfield at Plainfield; October 28, Westfield at Rahway; October 31, Dickinson High, of Jersey City, at Rahway;; November 3, Rutgers Freshmen at Rahway; November 14, Trenton High at Rahway; November 21, arrangements pending with Roselle; November 26, E-High, at Rahway.

DAVIS CUP ON LONG JOURNEY.

Boston, Sept. 10.—The Davis cup, emblematic of the lawn tennis championship won by Australasia from the United States, may claim truthfully to have covered much territory in its career. Starting in Boston is travelled to Brooklyn and then back to Boston. From there is journeyed to Wimbledon, England, and then to Melbourne, Australia, and later to Sydney. It took a trip to Christchurch, New Zealand, and then by way of Melbourne and Wimbledon came back to this country again and now will make another trip to the land of the Southern Cross. Altogether the trophy has travelled fully 20,000 miles.

BOY SCOUTS IN ATHLETIC MEET

FIRST ANNUAL EVENT

Scout Council Conference Monday Evening to Arrange for Meeting of Plainfield Court of Honor on September 12.

The Boy Scout Troops of Plainfield have been invited by Walter L. Clarkson, scout commissioner of Bound Brook, to attend the first annual Boy Scout athletic meet to be held in Bound Brook on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The invitation has been sent to scout masters and scout leaders through the Plainfield commissioner to attend.

Owing to the fact that the invitation came too late to be personally extended to all scout masters, the representation from this city will go individually or by patrols, leaving Plainfield on Saturday on the trolley car, departing from the Watchung avenue trolley station at 1:30. Scouts will take their musical instruments, including drums, bugles and fifes and will appear in full marching order. It is understood that scout troops from New Brunswick, Elizabeth, Dunellen and Somerville and other nearby towns will be present and it is the desire of the commissioner to have as large a representation from Plainfield as possible.

Plainfield Scout Council will meet on Monday evening, September 14. Arrangements are being made for a meeting of the Plainfield Court of Honor on Saturday evening, September 12, at the Y. M. C. A. parlors. The Court of Honor consists of William D. Murray, chairman; Scout Commissioner Allen E. Beals, Frederick Martin, L. M. Leek and A. B. Beers. At that time there will be an examination for first class scout and one for a merit badge. At the Monday night meeting scouts desiring to take first class and merit badge examinations will make personal application before the council appearing in full uniform.

The scout master of Troop 5 urges all the members of his troop to be present next Tuesday evening at 7:30 sharp at the scout headquarters, First Presbyterian church, when patrol apportionments will be made in preparation for the Plainfield annual field day in October. An important announcement will be made at that time when all the members of Troop 5 will be present. Only members of Troop 5 will report on that evening.

DARING AVIATOR FLIES WITH HIS HEAD DOWN

Niles "Does Things Birds Can't Do"—Turns Wing Over Wing. To Be Seen at Trenton Fair.

Patrons of Trenton Interstate Fair, which will be held from Sept. 28 to Oct. 2, have greater sensations in store for them than ever before in the open air program. This free exhibition will be presented daily in front of the grand stand and will be featured by Niles, the world famous daring aviator. This intrepid representative of the Moisant school flies upside down high in the air, loops the loop, flies wing over wing, drops a thousand feet through space and suddenly checks himself and does other thrilling acts.

It is truly said of Niles that "he does things birds can't do." He has gained renown by his skill in handling the air craft, although his thrilling experiences have been innumerable. In a recent trial in flying head down his eyes were covered with oil from his engine, and he was temporarily blinded. He finally righted his machine and made a safe landing.

But Niles is only one of the performers who will perform dangerous feats for the entertainment of the hundreds of thousands who attend Trenton Fair.

FIRST BOWLING MATCHES WILL BE PLAYED TONIGHT

The first match play of the season at the Olympia Bowling Alleys on East Second street will take place tonight, when the local Eagles will meet their Somerville brothers in a three game match. A large crowd is expected to attend as this will probably be a hot contest.

There will also be a meeting of the delegates from the lodges in this State, who are going to enter the State league and final arrangements will be completed tonight. Tomorrow night there will be a match between two local teams at these alleys.

MONROE GOOD WILL TRY FOR FULLBACK

Monroe Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Good, of Cameron avenue, left yesterday afternoon for Colgate, where he will take up his studies of the second year at the opening of that institution on the twenty-second of this month. Good left early so he could be there in time for the first practice of the football squad which takes place this week. The local boy has a fine chance of making the fullback position on the varsity this fall and wants to be there for all the preliminaries. Last season, when he was a freshman, he was one of the first string "subs" on the varsity and was used in some of the big games. After sitting on the sidelines for a year he will try hard for a chance at a regular position.

Good has a perfect build for a fullback and has all the speed necessary for a football player. With three years' experience on the Plainfield High School team, which he captained for two, and one season's experience on a college eleven, he should be thoroughly acquainted with the game and get a place. The Colgate team will face a hard schedule this season, playing the majority of the universities in the east.

While in the local High School, Good was always a fine basketball player and in fact one of the greatest all around athletes that the Ninth street institution has ever produced. He also stands some show of making the centre position on the basketball five and will undoubtedly earn a place among the baseball players' nine next spring. Last year Good was a star on the freshmen eleven and was given the honor of captain. He also accomplished something that few first year men in college do, to play on the varsity. He was the first one at Colgate to do this, which in itself is quite an honor.

ROYALS AND SAURERS WILL PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Although the Saurers have put the Pets out of the running for the city baseball title by winning three games out of the series, they still have to take "Midge" Kline's Royal Giants into camp once more before they can get a permanent hold on the coveted honor. Manager Kline is confident that his team can take the third game of the series between these two clubs and he is trying to arrange with Manager Martin to stage the game on Parker Field some time toward the end of this month.

As each team has won a game the deciding one should be interesting and close. Both managers will have their regular men on the mound and the Mack leader will probably pitch McLaughlin again as this is the important game of the season. Both teams want the title and will fight to a finish for the final game.

LIDGATE HIT BALL OUT OF SIGHT IN BRINY DEEP

Playing with an independent team in Clarion, Pa., Eugene Lidgate, of Fanwood, who played in the Tri-State League at the beginning of the season, hit the ball so far in a game last week that it has not yet been found. The field is surrounded on two sides by a river, but it is so far away that it is not considered a nuisance. In this game the man before the local player hit the ball into left field for a home run and then "Liddy" placed the ball in the water and it floated gently out of sight, never to be regained. This hit won the game for his team.

When not playing ball he spends most of his time hunting for ground hogs. This is one of the main sports at that place and with a pick and shovel in hand, they spend many hours at a time digging for these animals.

SAURERS ARE SURE GOING TO TAKE ONE FROM WESTFIELD

The Saurer ball players are going on the war path Saturday afternoon, when they go to Westfield the third time and meet the team of that place at Recreation Park. The local team has some old scores to settle with the Mt. Ararat bunch, that team being the only one that has taken the measure of the Mackmen twice this year. Both games have been close but the Saurer team has been short each time.

Saturday they are going to pound the ball all over the lot and bring home the bacon. Manager Martin is confident that he can do that as his players all want to get even with their worst rivals in the county. No announcements have been made as to the twirlers for this game but they will probably be the regulars as the local leader will not pad a bit. Pearsall will probably be Manager McDonald's choice for the firing duty with Crittenden on the bench.

CLIFF RANDOLPH WON THE MAJORITY OF HIS GAMES

By pitching a fine article of ball for the past two weeks, Jack Clifford, of the Perth Amboy team passed Cliff Randolph in the pitchers' standings of the club. He has worked in fourteen games and won ten, giving him an average of .714, while the local slabman has taken part in twenty-two contests and came out victorious in twelve. Randolph has been idle for some time, which has handicapped him somewhat, while Clifford has done the bulk of the pitching work.

Charlotte Walker, Virginia Pearsonand Byron Beasley in "The Better W ay" at Plainfield Theatre Sat. Sept. 12

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

No scene or situation in any play has demanded the discussion as does the denouncement of the fourth act of Eugene Walter's new play, "Th Better Way," which will bring Miss Charlotte Walker back amid her local admirers. This new play will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday night. The scene is a courtroom in Allegheny county and there is on trial a suit for divorce, with a husband deep in the toils of an adventuress, endeavoring to free himself from the wife who has been his inspiration in his rise from wage-earning to influence. He is not really a responsible person, for he has lost his sense of perspective through the assiduities of the parasites surrounding him, and he has not hesitated to place himself completely under the domination of the vampire woman urging him to a divorce. The so-called Eugene Walter's "punches" are registered, it is asserted, throughout the six scenes, which are offered in an elaborate and massive manner. Miss Walker, in her new role, unravels emotional talents that surpass any of her previous endeavors, and while the passing of June in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," wil undoubtedly bring regrets it wil show this charming actress in a character that makes better Americans of us all. Miss Walker is surrounded by an exceptional array of talent, foremost being L. Byron Beadsley, George Stewart Christie, David Burton, Veda McEvers, Frederick Backus, Virginia Pearson, Frank J. Woods, Arthur Brams, T. E. Jones, Virginia Allen, Alan Foster, John T. Ward and others.

Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead" is now in its twenty-ninth annual tour and the management reports business as still being at high water mark. Dramatic critics discuss problem plays in the columns of the newspapers and scorcely consider "The Old Homestead" as coming under that category. Its success cannot lie in a unique plot, for the story of the wayward son and the prodigal's return is as ancient as Holy Writ. It cannot li in the eminence of the members of the company, for while it has always been the aim of the management to secure actors who have a particular talent for portraying New England farm folks upon the stage, it cannot be said that the presence of any or all of them is accountable for the success of the play. It cannot be on account of the splendid voices of the quartet of farm hands in the first act or the superb singing of the choir in the Grace church scene. Is not the success of the play attributable to the fact that it appeals to the heart. No play was ever produced with such success from coast to coast, thousands visit it annually. This greatest of all American successes comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Monday night, September 14, with the original company under the personal direction of Frank Thompson.

William A. Brady will start the season at his Playhouse in New York with "The Elder Son," an English play to be interpreted by a London company.

William A. Brady is hard at work on preparations for the production of "Life," a big melodrama of American locale, which he hopes to have ready next month.

Nazimova is on her way to America to begin rehearsals in a new play which has been written for her by Basil MacDonald Hastings, the author of "The New Sin."

Unless Robert Hilliard succeeds soon in obtaining a play of promise for the coming season he probably will decide to continue with "The Argyle Case," in which he appeared last year.

"Lady Betty Martingale," the John Luther Long-Frank Stayton comedy in which Mrs. Fiske is to appear, has its scenes laid in London in 1750, and the story is one of high comedy intrigue characteristic of the Garrick and Woffington period. Mrs. Fiske and her company are now engaged in rehearsals of the play.

A peach and ice cream festival will be held in the Netherwood Reformed church this evening. Ice cream, peaches, cake and candy will be on sale for the benefit of the church.

A Woman's Civic Club at Holly, Colorado, is co-operating with the schools in promoting the teaching of household art. Under the supervision of the teacher, groups of girls are given practical work in the homes of members of the club. The mistress of the home also lends her assistance and enters heartily into the plan. Visits are made to stores for instruction in buying groceries, kitchen utensils and household furnishings. The advantage claimed for the co-operative plan is that it obviates the necessit for expensive and elaborate school apparatus, and that home conditions favor the progress of development in domestic arts.

The Child a Habit-Forming Animal.

By Prof. A. P. Hollis, State Normal School, Valley City, N. D.

After eighteen, says the late Prof. William James, of Harvard, the eminent psychogologist, the brain begins to set like a plaster. No absolutely new and uncolored ideas are received by the brain after this. All ideas are modified by the body of ideas which receives them. The personal habits are nearly all formed at eighteen. Personal cleanliness, bathing, manner of dress, table manners, habits of speech, the walk, gestures and postures are nearly always fastened on for "good and all" by eighteen. Not that there is any magic about the age eighteen; for some it is seventeen, for others nineteen or twenty; but quite close to these years for most people, the tissues of the body and brain begin to harden; the paths of nervous discharge along the muscles have nearly all been fixed. As Kipling would say—"The Ship has found herself" and the habits of a lifetime have settled down to mark their permanent grooves in the nervous structure.

Youth is the Golden Age for implanting life's best habits. Habits are both good and bad—useful and harmful. It is the business of society—of parents—of schools, to see to it that the profitable habits are started during this Golden Age, and that the unprofitable ones are not allowed to form. Brain cells are plastic and yield persistent impressions from ten to twenty. They are of course plastic much earlier than this, but less liable to persist in error. Before ten in most children the personality submits more to the control of superior personalities as parents and teachers. Between ten and twenty—the dangerous, swiftly changing adolescent period—the youth assumes new dignities and new emotions. Youth and manhood emerges from the storm and stress, wrecked or triumphant.

If there are any good habits that should be fixed for life, pleads Professor James, let all the forces of human society concentrate on their formation during early youth. It is not sufficient to drive out bad habits, good ones must be implanted in their place.

Habits favorable to the grawing organism are, regular bathing, a reasonable degree of personal neatness, such as combing the hair, wearing clean linen; pleasant home surroundings, instead of pleasant street evenings; erect carriage, clear enunciation and good English, memorizing short selections of literature, attendance at religious services appropriate to the age of the child, outdoor tramps and exercises, handiwork with tools and machines, singing, the practice of kindness, generosity to others, saving.

Habits unfavorable to the growing organism are smoking, drinking and all forms of nerve deadening, slouchy carriage and dress, avoidance of healthy play and sports, the weekly going to cheap shows and of excitable literature; buying things instead of making things. In the boy's habits lies his destiny, for they will rise up and think for him in the emergencies of life.

Professor Bain lays down two rules for habit forming that have become classic among the pschologists and should be household words in every home; they are:

1. In acquisition of a new habit or the leaving off an old one, launch yourself with as strong and decided a start as possible.

2. Never suffer an exception to occure until the new habit is established.

There are 100,000 students enrolled in professional schools in the United States this year, according to figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Education. Of these, 85,102 are in endowed institutions, the remainder in institutions supported from public fupnds. The various professions are represented a follow: Theology, 10,956; law, 20,878; medicine, 17,238; dentistry, 8,015; pharmacy, 6,165; veterinary science, 2,324; nurse training, 34,417. New York State has the greatest number of students in professional schools, 13,945. Illinoi comes next, with 11,333, and Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Missouri have 9,937, 6,858 and 4,495 respectively. (Teaching not included.)—From the Ohio Teacher.

WRIGHT ENDORSED BY JUDGE B. A. VAIL

Says General Conduct of His Office is Worthy of All Praise.

"Justification for my action in basing my candidacy for the Republican county clerkship nomination on my record as sheriff," says William H. Wright, "is found in the voluntary endorsement of my administration by former Judge Benjamin A. Vail and his recommendation of my present endeavor as being worthy of and meriting your support and in asking it, I do so sincerely in the interest of efficiency, economy and integrity in public office, to which principles, I am unalterably pledged." Judge Vail's letter to Sheriff Wright is as follows:

"Sept. 3, 1914.

"My Dear Sheriff:

"For over two years during your term as sheriff I had every opportunity to observe the manner of the conduct of your office, and it gives m great pleasure to say, that during that time the character and high standing of the grand and petit jurors you impaneled and the general conduct of your office was worthy of all praise and gives full assurance that if you should be elected county clerk, your office would be conducted solely in the interest of the public, without special favors to anyone.

"Sincerely yours,

"(signed) B. A. VAIL."

County Registrar Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Republican County Committee, was the guest of State Chairman Newton A. K. Bugbee at a luncheon at Trenton, yesterday. State Chairman Bugbee had invited all of the county committee chairmen in the State as his guests, to discuss the status of the Republican party in the various districts in New Jersey. The leaders of the party throughout the State are exerting themselves in defatigably towards the election of the proper candidates the latter part of this month, when the primaries will be conducted, while the greatest feeling of optimism prevails over the presumed success of the ticket at the general election November 3.

Republican Congressional Candidate W. T. Stuchell, of Rahway, wound up a tour of Morris county last night. He will campaign in Union county for the remaining three nights this week and is arranging another Morris county itinerary for next week.

Former Congressman Charles N. Fowler, who is playing oposite Mr. Stuchell for the G. O. P. nomination, will visit this city tonight. He will be at the Republican headquarters early in the evening to meet old friends and is scheduled to speak later.

George J. Stewart's campaign for the Republican shrievalty nomination gains impetus as the days pass at the other end of the county. He has been working quietly, but incessantly during the past three weeks. Local Republicans are scratching their heads in trying to figure the winner. The Elizabeth G. O. P. vote ought to be split very nearly evenly between them, according to some of the party prophets.

The WORLD SET FREE!

Copyright, 1914, by H. G. Wells.

Europe's Armageddon. The last war. London, Paris and Berlin mere flaming ruins. Holland drowned by the cutting of her dikes. Clouds full of battling aeroplanes. Europe a vast shambles. And then the wiping out of all frontiers and dynasties, the end of all crowns and thrones, and a world-one nation forever. You will shudder and be thrilled and marvel at the accuracy of the author's vision.

PRELUDE

In opening "The World Set Free, a Story of Mankind," the author, H. G. Wells, the novelist of the brilliant scientific imaginings, after describing the progress of man from savagery to the pseudo-civilization of the nineteenth century and early twentieth century, tells how the discovery of the release of atomic energy by Holsten in 1933 revolutionized the world's life. It led to the invention of machines for the utilization of the energy of atoms, that force inherent in the indivisible particles of matter which keeps them in constant motion at inconceivable speed.

Radio-activity played its expected important role. "It was in 1953 that the first Holsten-Roberts engine brought induced radio-activity into the sphere of industrial production." The pioneer step was taken when Holsten, the famous chemist of the twentieth century, "set up atomic disintegration in a minute particle of bismuth and it exploded with great violence into a heavy gas of extreme radio-activity."

The discovery sent to the scrap heap all of the world's pre-existent methods of generating power. It entered into all of the social and economic relationships of life, bringing uncountable wealth to some and reducing others through the destruction of certain forms of investment and property, such as coal mines and oil wells, to poverty. Especially was the new method of using energy applicable to the aeroplane. The epoch of "The Leap Into the Air" came with the discovery of the possibility of combining enormous power with relatively light weight in the atomic engine.

"But," says the author, "the world was so little governed that with the very coming of plenty, in the full tide of an incalculable abundance," when everything necessary to satisfy human needs and everything necessary to realize such will and purpose as existed then in human hearts was already at hand, one has still to tell of hardship, famine, anger, confusion, conflict and incoherent suffering."

But there were thoughts of "bolder rearrangements of social interaction."

CHAPTER I.

The New Source of Energy.

FREDERICK BARNET'S "Wander Jahre" is one of those autobiographical novels that were popular throughout the third and fourth decades of the twentieth century. It was published in 1970, and one must understand "Wander Jahre" rather in a spiritual and intellectual than in a literal sense. It is, indeed, an allusive title, carrying the world back to the "Wilhelm Meister" of Goethe, a century and a half earlier.

Its author, Frederick Barnet, gives a minute and curious history of his life and ideas between his nineteenth and his twenty-third birthdays. He was neither a very original nor a very brilliant man, but he had a trick of circumstantial writing, and though no authentic portrait was to survive for the information of posterity he betrays by a score of casual phrases that he was short, sturdy, inclined to be plump, with a "rather blobby" face, and full, rather projecting blue eyes. He belonged until the financial debacle of 1956 to the class of fairly prosperous people, he was a student in London, he aeroplaned to Italy and then had a pedestrian tour from Genoa to Rome, crossed in the air to Greece and Egypt and came back over the Balkans and Germany. His family fortunes, which were largely invested in bank shares, coal mines and house property, were destroyed. Reduced to penury he sought to earn a living. He suffered great hardship, and was then caught up by the war and had a year of soldiering, first as an officer in the English infantry and then in the army of pacification. His book tells all these things so simply and at the same time so explicitly that it remains, as it were, an eye by which future generations may have at least one man's vision of the years of the great change.

And he was, he tells us, a "modern state" man, "by instinct," from the beginning. He breathed in these ideas in the classrooms and laboratories of the Carnegie Foundation school that rose, a long and delicately beautiful facade along the south bank of the Thames opposite the ancient dignity of Somerset house. Such thought was interwoven with the very fabric of that pioneer school in the educational renascence in England. After the customary exchange years in Heidelberg and Paris, he went into the classical school of London university. The older so called "classical" education of the British pedagogues, probably the most paralyzing, ineffective and foolish routine that ever wasted human life, had already been swept out of this great institution in favor of modern methods, and he learned Greek and Latin as well as he had learned German, Spanish and French, so that he wrote and spoke them freely and used them with an unconscious ease in his study of the foundation civilizations of the European system to which they were the key. (This change was still so recent that he mentions an encounter in Rome with an "Oxford don" who "spoke Latin with a Wiltshire accent and manifest discomfort, wrote Greek letters with his tongue out, and seemed to think a Greek sentence a charm when it was a quotation and an impropriety when it wasn't.")

Barnet saw the last days of the coal-steam engines upon the English railways and the gradual cleansing of the London atmosphere as the smoke creating sea coal fires gave place to electric heating. The building of laboratories at Kensington was still in progress, and he took part in the students' riots that delayed the removal of the Albert memorial. He carried a banner with "We Like Funny Statuary" on one side and on the other "Seats and Canopies For Statues. Why Should Our Great Departed Stand In the Rain?". He learned the rather athletic aviation of those days at the university grounds at Sydenham, and he was fined for flying over the new prison for political libelers at Wormwood Scrubs "in a manner calculated to exhilarate the prisoners while at exercise." That was the time of the attempted suppression of any criticism of the public judicature, and the place was crowded with journalists who had ventured to call attention to the dementia of Chief Justice Abrahams. Barnet was not a very good aviator. He confesses he was always a little afraid of his machine—there was excellent reason for every one to be afraid of those clumsy early types—and he never attempted steep descents or very high flying. He also, he records, owned one of those oil driven motor bicycles whose clumsy complexity and extravagant filthiness still astonish the visitors to the museum of machinery at South Kensington. He mentions running over a dog and complains of the ruinous price of "spatchcocks" in Surrey. "Spatchcocks," it seems, was a slang term for crushed hens.

He passed the examinations necessary to reduce his military service to a minimum, and his want of any special scientific or technical qualification and a certain precocious corpulence that handicapped his aviation indicated the infantry of the line as his sphere of training. That was the most generalized form of soldiering. The development of the theory of war had been for some decades but little assisted by any practical experience. What fighting had occurred in recent years had been fighting in minor or uncivilized states with peasant or barbaric soldiers and with but a small equipment of modern contrivances, and the great powers of the world were content for the most part to maintain armies that sustained in their broader organization the traditions of the European wars of thirty or forty years before. There was the infantry arm to which Barnet belonged and which was supposed to fight on foot with the rifle and be the main portion of the army. There were cavalry forces (horse soldiers), having a ratio to the infantry that had been determined by the experiences of the Franco-German war in 1871. There was also artillery, and for some unexplained reason much of this was still drawn by horses, though there were also in all the European armies a small number of motor guns with wheels so constructed that they could go over broken ground. In addition there were large developments of the engineering arm, concerned with motor transport, motor bicycles scouting, aviation and the like.

No first class intelligence had been sought to specialize in and work out the problems of warfare with the new appliances and under modern conditions, but a succession of able jurists—Lord Haldane, Chief Justice Briggs and that very able King's Counsel Philbrick—had reconstructed the army frequently and thoroughly and placed it at last, with the adoption of national service, upon a footing that would have seemed very imposing to the public of 1900. At any moment the British empire could now put 1,250,000 arguable soldiers upon the board of welt-politik. The traditions of Japan and the central European armies were more princely and less forensic, the Chinese still refused resolutely to become a military power and maintained a small standing army upon the American model that was said so far as it went to be highly efficient, and Russia, secured by a stringent administration against internal criticism, had scarcely altered the design of a uniform or the organization of a battery since the opening decades of the century. Barnet's opinion of his military training was manifestly a poor one. His modern state ideas disposed him to regard it as a bore, and his common sense condemned it as useless. Moreover, his habit of body made him peculiarly sensitive to the fatigues and hardships of service.

"For three days in succession we turned out before dawn—and for no earthly reason—without breakfast," he relates. "I suppose that is to show us that when the day comes the first thing will be to get us thoroughly uncomfortable and rotten. We then proceeded to Kriegspiel according to the mysterious ideas of those in authority over us. On the last day we spent three hours under a hot, if early, sun getting over eight miles of country to a point we could have reached in a motor omnibus in nine minutes and a half—I did it the next day in that—and then we made a massed attack upon entrenchments that could have shot us all about three times over if only the umpires had let them. Then came a little bayonet exercise, but I doubt if I am sufficiently a barbarian to stick this long knife into anything living. Anyhow, in this battle I shouldn't have a chance. Assuming that by some miracle I hadn't been shot three times over I was far too hot and blown when I got up to the entrenchments even to lift my beastly rifle. It was those others would have begun the sticking.

"For a time we were watched by two hostile aeroplanes; then our own came up and asked them not to and—the practice of aerial warfare still being unknown—they very politely desisted and went away and did dives and circles of the most charming description over the Fox hills."

All Barnet's accounts of his military training were written in the same half contemptuous, half protesting tone. He was of opinion that his chances of participating in any real warfare were very slight and that, if after all he should participate, it was bound to be so entirely different from these peace maneuvers that his only course as a rational man would be to keep as observantly out of danger as he could until he had learned the tricks and possibilities of the new conditions. He states this quite frankly. Never was a man more free from sham heroics.

Barnet welcomed the appearance of the atomic engine with the zest of masculine youth in all fresh machinery, and it is evident that for some time he failed to connect the rush of wonderful new possibilities with the financial troubles of his family. "I knew my father was worried," he admits. That cast the smallest of shadows upon his delighted departure for Italy and Greece and Egypt with three congenial companions in one of the new atomic models. They flew over the Channel isles and Touraine, he mentions, and circled about Mont Blanc—"These new helicopters, we found," he notes, "had abolished all the danger and strain of sudden drops to which the old time aeroplanes were liable,"—and then he went on by way of Pisa, Paestum, Ghirgenti and Athens to visit the pyramids by moonlight, flying thither from Cairo, and to follow the Nile up to Khartum. Even by later standards it must have been a very gleeful holiday for a young man, and it made the tragedy of his next experiences all the darker. A week after his return, his father, who was a widower, announced himself ruined, and committed suicide by means of an unscheduled opiate.

At one blow Barnet found himself flung out of the possessing, spending, enjoying class to which he belonged, penniless and with no calling by which he could earn a living. He tried teaching and some journalism, but in a little while he found himself on the underside of a world in which he had always reckoned to live in the sunshine. For innumerable men such an experience has meant mental and spiritual destruction, but Barnet in spite of his bodily gravitation toward comfort showed himself when put to the test of the more valiant modern quality. He was saturated with the creative stoicism of the heroic times that were already dawning, and he took his difficulties and discomforts stoutly as his appointed material and turned them to expression.

Indeed, in his book he thanks fortune for them. "I might have lived and died," he says, "in that neat fool's paradise of secure lavishness above there. I might never have realized the gathering wrath and sorrow of the ousted and exasperated masses. In the days of my own prosperity things had seemed to me to be very well arranged." Now from his new point of view he was to find they were not arranged at all, that government was a compromise of aggressions and powers and lassitudes and law a convention between interests and that the poor and the weak, though they had many negligent masters, had few friends.

"I had thought things were looked after," he wrote. "It was with a kind of amazement that I tramped the roads and starved—and found that no one in particular cared."

He was turned out of his lodging in a backward part of London.

"It was with difficulty I persuaded my landlady—she was a needy widow, poor soul, and I was already in her debt—to keep an old box for me in which I had locked a few letters, keepsakes and the like. She lived in great fear of the public health and morality inspectors because she was sometimes too poor to pay the customary tip to them, but at last she consented to put it in a dark, tiled place under the stairs, and then I went forth into the world—to seek first the luck of a meal and then shelter."

By JUDIC CHOLLET

In the illustration of the blouse the material is crepe de chine. Unquestionably blouses of washable silk will be extremely fashionable, but there are also cotton and linen fabrics perfectly adapted to the design.

If preferred the collar can be of white and the blouse of color, and for the coat suit a pretty effect is obtained by using crepe de chine, washable satin or some such material in color to match the cloth.

RAGLAN BLOUSE.

For the medium size the blouse will require four yards of material twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8367, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

A LUNCHEON HINT.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Rolls.
Creamed Celery.
Beef Rechauffe With Tomatoes.
Peach Whip.
Cocoa.

A SIMPLE little luncheon for the home folks may be prepared as suggested here.

Reliable Way of Making Cocoa.

Cocoa.—Take two quarts of good, rich milk, put in a double boiler and let it come to a boil. Take two tablespoonful of cocoa, dissolve in a little hot water and add to the boiling milk. Sweeten to taste, simmer for a few minutes after adding the cocoa and serve. While simmering the egg beater may be stirred in the cream beating it to a froth. Put a little of the froth into each cup before filling.

Creamed Celery.—The entire stalk of the celery can be utilized in making cream of celery. Separate the sticks, free them from tough strings, cut into dice and parboil until tender. Drain, add sweet milk and thicken with a paste of flour and butter. Season to taste and serve.

With Leftover Meat.

Beef Rechauffe with Tomatoes.—Mince cold meat and reheat it in a brown sauce prepared with stewed tomatoes instead of water. After mixing the flour and butter in the usual way and letting them turn a delicate brown add enough of the tomato pulp to make a thick gravy, flavor with Worcestershire sauce and a pinch each of curry powder, pepper and salt. Have a platter spread with small slices of toast and pour the rechauffe over them. Decorate with parsley and serve immediately. Broiled or fried tomatoes may be used in place of the toast.

Peach Whip.—Take four mashed peaches, half cup sugar, whites of two eggs; beat light and stiff. Make a soft custard of the yolks of two eggs, half cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of milk and one tablespoonful of cornstarch; flavor with vanilla. Slice two peaches in each individual dish with a tablespoonful of whipped cream and surround with soft custard.

Ah Sneeze Has to Look Up to Her Brother In Everything.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Yellow Children And How They Pass Their Time.

"I HAVE told you about the black and the brown Eskimo children," said daddy as the children came running to him for the evening story, "but I haven't told you of the yellow children."

"Who are the yellow ones, daddy?" asked Evelyn, but Jack, looking very superior and wise, said: "I know who daddy means. He means the Chinese children."

"Jack is quite right," answered daddy. "The yellow or Chinese children are interesting, and the names their parents give to them are so funny that I will give them some funny names of my own. We'll call the boy little Ah Choke and his sister little Ah Sneeze, and those names are no funnier than some of the names they have.

"Little Ah Choke looks like a funny little old man with his loose blouse and his flowing panties, knee high, that look like the suit worn by the runners in the college that Jack likes to watch so well, and little Ah Sneeze is dressed like her mamma in a loose thin waist and a sort of bloomer skirt.

"Little Ah Choke's coarse black hair has started to queue at the back of his head, just like his daddy's, though it's much shorter yet, of course, and he imitates his daddy when he thinks of it and tries to do as he does, just like black boys or brown boys or any other boys.

"Ah Choke's papa is what they call a coolie, a laborer. He trots all day, carrying by handles one end of a big chair in which sits some man or woman visitor to China seeing the sights of Canton, the big city where the Ah Chokes live. For all this work the papa gets only what would amount to 2 or 3 cents in American money, and he has many children, but he can support them, for living is cheap there. They live mostly on rice and fish and eat with chopsticks.

"Little Ah Sneeze has to look up to her brother in everything, for in China girl babies don't count for much, and when they grow to be women they have to work very hard. Aren't you glad you do not live over in China, Evelyn?"

Evelyn laughed as daddy continued his story. "There are ever so many children in China, whole troops of them, and with the daddies and mammas there are millions of people in that country, so that there isn't enough room for them all on the land. So many of them have to live on houseboats, which are anchored out in the great rivers. Children are born there, grow up, work, marry and bring up their own children right on those boats, just as their parents did before them. Now run to bed, kiddies."

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER — SCOOP IS CERTAINLY A BEAR FOR HARD WORK — BY "HOP"

LOCAL TEACHER WRITES OF EXPERIENCE ABROAD

Friends in this city of Miss Elizabeth White, a teacher in the local public schools, have received word from her at Brattleboro, Vermont, that she has returned safely from England, where she was when the war broke out and will arive in this city the first of the week to resume her teaching.

Miss White says that while she did not suffer any unusual hardships she was in England long enough after the declaration of war to get a good idea of the feeling of the English people. She talked with soldiers about to march to the front and says they realize that the future of the country hinges on the outcome. They leave without the slightest idea of where they are going. This is so as to give lurking spies no knowledge as was the case in the Boer war in several instances. The newspapers, she states, are also careful in printing news that would be of any help to the enemy.

She further says that the people as a whole give in to the hardships occasioned by the war without a word. Horses, cattle and other things of use to the government are taken, even from off the screets, without any resistance.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.

The vaudeville bill at Proctor's theatre for today, tomorrow and Saturday consists of the following acts: Elita Proctor Otis & Company in a sketch, "The Store Manager;" Leonarddi, musical virtuoso; Kenneth & Lacey, in a satire with music. They are clever singers and dancers and make a number of character changes. Phasma, in an electric surprise, and the Smiletta Sisters have a clever contortionist act, and are equilibrists of exceptional skill. The Million Dollar Hystery will also be shown today in addition to the five special photo-plays.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray. Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

TWO SUITS FOR $25,000 DAMAGES

AUTO HIT BY A TRAIN

As a Result of Injuries Received at Alton, November 26, 1913, Action is Started in Supreme Court.

Trenton, Sept. 11—Two suits for damages aggregating $25,000 have just been started in the Supreme Court here against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company as the result of a grade crossing accident November 26, 1913, at Alton, on Terrill road, in Fanwood township. One of the plaintiffs is Miss Anastasia Taylor, of Elmwood place, Plainfield, who sues for $20,000 damages, and the other suit is brought by Alexander Stamler, who asks damages of $5,000.

Both plaintiffs were riding in Stamler's automobile and the car was struck by a Lehigh Valley passenger train as it attempted to cross the tracks at the place named. Stamler was at the wheel. Both passengers were hurled from the automobile, and Miss Taylor was the most seriously injured.

In both suits it is charged that no warning was given of the approach of the train, and that it was operated at excessive speed over the crossing.

Miss Taylor, who is a trained nurse, it is said, has not fully recovered from injuries received in the accident. She was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, after the collision and remained there under treatment for many weeks. At first it was thought that she might be a cripple for life, but she finally recovered to go out. Mr. Stamler's injuries were less serious. The couple, it was understood, was engaged to be married, but the event had to be postponed as a result of the accident. Mr. Stamler is a resident of Rahway.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The Christian Endeavor Society, of Warren chapel, held a successful ice cream festival in the chapel parlors, yesterday afternoon and evening. Ice cream, home made cake and candy and punch were sold and before the festival closed its doors everything was disposed of and the society realized about sixty dollars that will go to the fund for a new piano for the Sunday-school.

All of the members of the society had some part in making the sale a success. The Dutch Arms Band was an added attraction and it played many selections throughout the evening to the pleasure of those who attended. It was under the direction of E. D. Young and consisted of thirty-one pieces.

The booths were decorated with the Stars and Stripes and red and white crepe paper. George H. Hoagland, president of the society, was the chairman of the entire affair. Those who had charge of the sale were as follows: Cashier, Miss Edith Wheeler; cake table, Mrs. Gibson Smith, chairman; Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. George Hoagland, Mrs. John Schenck, Mrs. J. P. Green, Miss T. Snyder and Miss Viola Higgins; candy, Miss Ida Wheeler, chairman; Miss Adelaide Stiglitz, Miss A. H. Kirby, Miss Bertha Martin, Miss Bertha Hoagland; punch, Charles Holstein, chairman; Miss Ruth Miller, Miss Mildred Smith; ice cream, L. J. Stites, chairman; Mr. Clarke.

THANK ALL WHO HELPED IN LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

The Labor Day committee of the Allied Trades met last evening, and brought much of its business in connection with their parade and picnic of last Monday to a close. The majority of the bills which had been contracted were audited and ordered paid.

Resolutions were adopted expressing the appreciation of the many ways in which the officials, merchants and citizens of the city aided in carrying out the details of the celebration, thanking those who contributed and entered floats in the parade, and the local newspapers for the publicity given to the occasion. Another meeting of the committee is to be held next Thursday evening, at which time all business will be finally disposed of, and the committee will then disband.

Hudson "Big Six" Arrived.

Now on exhibition in Thompson Auto Co.'s show-room. This is without a doubt the utmost in automobile luxury. Come and see it.—Adv. ***

TOURISTS SUSPECTED OF BEING SPIES

Honeyman Party Had Thrilling Experiences During Trip Abroad.

After a trip of nearly two and a half months in foreign lands, the A. V. D. Honeyman party of tourists arrived home safely yesterday, with many thrilling experiences to relate in regard to the war in Europe. The party comprised eighteen, including Mrs. Frederick Sandford, Mrs. William M. Sandford, Sr., Miss Margaret Cranswick, Mrs. S. V. Edgar and Mrs. John T. Baker, of this city.

The tourists were in Russia when the war broke out and tried to get out as quickly as possible, but with little success. One of the most exciting experiences of the party occurred when they stopped at a little hotel at a place which is not on the map. They spent the night there and had just gotten safely out of the place when they learned that the village was destroyed by invaders. It was the lack of transportation facilities that held up so many Americans abroad, the different governments taking charge of the railroads for the transportation of troops.

Another thing that caused the party much inconvenience was, the lack of communication with the outside world. For sixteen days the party was in Berlin and not once were any members of the party able to either receive or send word. It was not until they reached Denmark that they learned anything of the war.

Mr. Honeyman in speaking of his experience said that a stranger in Berlin would scarcely know that there was a war. One thing that impressed him greatly was the demonstration of patriotism on the part of the natives of different countries.

While in England, Mr. Honeyman said that he was a sight that would make any man feel proud of his country, that of two thousand volunteers enlisting within fifty minutes. The passports carried by the party were of great value, especially in getting out of Germany. Those without passports had much trouble in identifying themselves.

The arrest as Russian spies of two women of his party and a tourist whom they had fallen in with, was another thrilling experience. The tourists arrested were Judge Horace Roberson, of Bayonne. The suspects were held for about an hour before they were released. The incident occurred in Breslau. Mr. Honeyman said that anyone who spoke an alien language was suspected.

The only thing that was lost to the tourists was trunks and other baggage that could not be carried. No baggage is transported now and it is piled up as high as possible in all stations in Austria. Mr. Honeyman stated that there was no chance of getting the baggage until after the war was over and then there was a big chance of its never reaching this country.

REFUSES TO PROSECUTE SON WHO TOOK $35

Harry Lewis, son of Nathan Lewis, of 306 Liberty street, was before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, on complaint of his father, who charged that he took $35 from the house last Saturday morning. The father swore out a complaint against the boy, who, it is alleged, has been frequently taking money from his parents, but when the son was brought into court this morning, the father refused to press the charge. Judge DeMeza asked young Lewis what he did with the money and he said that he lost it in a crap game. After he took the money he left town and went to Lehighton, Pa., returning to this city last night, when he was picked up by Patrolman Welsh.

HENRY MEYERS MEETS HIS DEATH

Struck by a Train on Newark Bay Bridge This Morning.

BODY IS FOUND LATER

Victim Was Employed As Carpenter By New Jersey Central—Resided In North Plainfield For Many Years.

Henry Meyers, of 31 Linden avenue, the borough who for several years had been in the employ of the New Jersey Central as a bridge carpenter, was fatally injued this morning, while at his work on the Newark Bay bridge of the road by a train, running between Elizabethport and Bayonne. Just what time the accident occurred could not be learned as the body of the dead man was not discovered until picked up by one of the track walkers. The remains were placed on the next west-bound train which conveyed them to Elizabethport, where the body was taken to Martin's morgue, of that place.

The man evidently had been hit with great force, judging from the condition of the body, which was almost beyond recognition. How and when the accident happened can only be surmised, until the train crews who went over the bridge during the course of the morning offer a possible explanation. That he was hit by a train is the conclusion reached by those who viewed the remains at the morgue shortly after it reached that place, although it appeared peculiar to several that the body was not hurled into the water, but remained on the bridge.

Mr. Meyers was in the employ of the New Jersey Central for many years, and had resided in the borough for some time. He is survived by a wife and four children, all of whom are living at the home on Linden avenue. The body will be sent to this city this afternoon, while the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

WOULD FORM ONE CIVIC BODY IN PLAINFIELD

New York Concern Wants to Merge All Organizations in the City.

An effort is again to be made to merge the local Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and other civic bodies into one big organization. The movement this time has not originated with Plainfielders, but with an organization which makes a business of forming such bodies. The organization, which has its headquarters in New York, but the name of which those whom they have approached in Plainfield cannot recall, has had a representative in Plainfield for over a week, and as a result of his efforts a meeting of a number of well known business men was called for the Queen City Hotel last night. The response was not very strong, however, only five putting in an appearance.

It is planned to unite the present civic bodies into one organization with a paid secretary, who shall devote his time to booming Plainfield. Those present last night were Newton B. Smalley, president of the Chamber of Commerce; John J. Varley, the secretary; Secretary Lamar VanSyckel, of the Board of Trade; President A. E. Force, of the Business Men's Association, and President T. C. Vail, of the West End Civic Association. There were four representatives of the New York organization here, Mr. Wakefield doing the talking for them.

After discussing the possibilities of forming a strong Board of Trade, with a membership of 500 or more, it was decided to have the promoters secure a list of the members of the present Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce, sending a notice to all in that list of a meeting to be held on Friday, September 25, at the Y. M. C. A. or some other central point. At that time further plans will be made for the carrying out of the plans suggested last night.

TARIFF REVISION URGED BY FOWLER

Former Congressman Declares That American Industries Need Protection.

CRITICIZES PRESIDENT

Says That the Adminsitration is Incompetent to Rule the Nation—Democratic Federal Reserve Bank Scheme Unsound, He Asserts.

Attacking the Democratic administration, declaring it to be incompetent and inefficient to rule the nation, Charles N. Fowler, who is seeking the Republican Congressional nomination in this district, addressed a gathering of about one hundred voters at Republican headquarters, last night. Mr. Fowler directed his criticism at President Wilson, Secretary of State Bryan, the members of Congress and the Senate. He held the close attention of all present as he reviewed what he considered as some of the most important short-comings of the present administration. Mr. Fowler, who was introduced by Councilman A. D. Edgar, was the only speaker of the evening.

Mr. Fowler said that the present tariff should be revised and that American industries should be protected. He said that the machine parts heretofore manufactured at the Singer plant at Elizabethport are now made in Scotland and imported to his country because of the low tariff and that the men once employed here in the making of these parts have been thrown out of employment.

The former Congressman also said that the tariff had been taken off burlaps and this commodity is now being imported from Europe, while American workingmen heretofore employed in this industry are now in idleness. The reduction of the tariff on these two commodities has resulted in disaster to American workingmen and the price to the American purchaser is the same as it was when the industries manufacturing these things were protected by a proper tariff.

Mr. Fowler said that when he went to Congress in 1895 there were only two other Republicans beside himself who favored the single gold standard and at that time the Republicans had a majority in the National Legislature.

The speaker told of his efforts to have the single gold standard adopted and then attacked the Democratic Federal Reserve Bank scheme. He declared that the Democratic act is unsound because the President has the absolute power to remove any member of the Federal Reserve Board without explaining the reason for such removal, and the Federal Reserve Board may remove the directors of a Federal Reserve Bank in like manner.

"This is dangerous," Mr. Fowler said, "because any banking system which may be adopted here should be secure from molestation due to the changing political conditions that are bound to take place from time to time."

Mr. Fowler said that the Democratic banking system with its twelve regional reserve banks has many weaknesses. There is no more reason for twelve banks, he said, than there is for twelve hearts in a human body and continuing he asked why should Plainfield, Elizabeth, Jersey City, Hoboken and other cities in close proximity to New York, be placed in the Philadelphia regional reserve zone; also why should Norwich, Danbury and several other Connecticut towns, all of whom have commercial relations with New York, be compelled to do their banking business through the reserve bank of Boston.

"I believe in the establishment of an American merchant marine," he said, "but favor the construction of merchant ships in American shipyards, where American mechanics will reap the benefits, rather than purchase them from any foreign government."

"We are going to win in this next campaign," Mr. Fowler said, "and in 1916 the Republicans shall again come in control of the nations affairs. I believe that the tariff should be revised at once and that the banking system should also be made sound in an economic sense. It is the duty of all Republicans to vote at the primaries. If you think either of the gentlemen opposing me for this nomination are better qualified to represent you than I am, it is your duty to vote for them, but should you conscientiously believe that I would be represent your interests it is your duty to vote for me. This gentlemen is not a plea for votes, it is a patriotic duty."

GERMAN RETREAT CONTINUES AT A RAPID PACE BEFORE ALLIES WHO TAKE MANY PRISONERS AND ARMS

Entire Division of Servians Annihilated by Austrians, According to German Report--Norway Will Remain Neutral--Pope Is Endeavoring to Keep Italy Out of the Strife--Belgians Said to Be Driving Germans Away From Before Antwerp--Even Berlin Admits Forced Retreat.

London, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—An official statement given out this afternoon says: "The general retreat of the enemy continued yesterday. In prisoners and wounded the British forces captured 1,500 besides several guns, maxims and a large quantity of transports. The enemy is retiring very rapidly east of Soissons in some disorder.

From late telegrams received today it is learned that the number of Germans captured yesterday was higher than reported. Considerable bodies of infantry are being found hiding in the woods having been left behind owing to the rapid retirement of their forces. They surrendered at sight. Pursuit is being vigorously pressed.

Berlin via Rome, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—The German troops in France are extremely fatigued, whereas the enemy is constantly receiving fresh troops. The evacuation of Upper Alsace continues with the Germans withdrawing to Strassburg and Metz. An official statement issued by the war office admits the complete destruction of Dinant and all the towns and villages on the River Meuse because inhabitants fired on the Germans. The statement adds that Brussels has been spared the torch.

Paris, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—A statement issued this afternoon by the war office timed 3 o'clock, said that the Kaiser's troops were retreating and that the great battle continued all along the line. The situation is declared to be favorable to the Allies.

Petrograd, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—Wednesday's successful operations against the Austrians on the Rava Ruska Dniester front continued Thursday. The Austrians are trying to screen their armies beaten in the campaign around Lubin and in the battle at Temacheff, Tomaszov in the well provisioned triangle of which Cracow, Yardslav and Przemsyl are the corners. There is undoubtedly a growing mutual sympathy between the Russian soldiers and the Slavs among the Austian troops, greatly contributing toward the wholesale surrender of the latter part of the fighting.

Russian Sergt. Maj. Simon has been decorated with the cross of St. George. He was captured by the Austrian forces, but persuaded a Slav officer in the Austrian force and 100 of his men to desert.

Posters have been displayed in the streets here calling out all of this year's recruits comprising men born in 1893.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—Arrivals from Puers, 10 miles southwest of Antwerp state that the Belgian army protected by the fortresses at Puers and Wom Melghem, made a raid yesterday against the German positions around Antwerp and drope the Germans back to Contiche, a village about 12 miles south of Antwerp.

A telegram from Ghent says that the population of that city have not delivered the goods which were demanded by the German commander as the price of not bombarding the city.

Heavy cannonading was audible last night at Terneuzen, on the coast of Holland, 25 miles northwest of Antwerp, coming from a southeasterly direction. It is thought that a big naval battle may have been in progress.

Petrograd, Sept. 11, (Central News Agency)—German troops that have been transported to the west have concentrated at the banks of the River Alle, and are now marching in long columns in an easterly direction and crossing the Masurie Lakes. The Russian advance guard is retreating to the east.

It is reported that the Crown Prince of Germany has been appointed commander-in-chief of the forces against Russia. The Austrian army has been completely routed by the Czars' troops in the Lubin district.

It is announced here that Russian troops hold the towns of Suscuza and Hatna, situated 50 miles from Czernowitz, the capital of the Austrian province of Bukowina.

Paris, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—A despatch to a news agency from Rome says a telegram from Athens to the newspaper Vita, says that a violent discussion arose between the Crown Prince of Turkey and Enver Pasha, the Turkish Minister of War, on the subject of the political policy of Turkey. Enver Pasha becoming greatly excited fired two shots from a revolver at the Prince, who was slightly wounded. The Prince replied and shot Enver Pasha in the leg. According to another story Enver Pasha has since died of the wounds received in the duel with the Crown Prince.

French wounded who fought with the British near Paris have arrived at Delle and Belfort.

As has been the case for several years past a constable is to be elected in the township this fall. No one filed a petition to become a candidate for the office and all that have been approached by township officials in an effort to find a candidate have refused to try for the office. Officer Ashton, the only policeman Scotch Plains boasts of, is on duty at night and during the day no one is on duty to keep the peace. Residents feel that some one is needed.

It is said that besides the two liquor licenses held by two dealers in the borough, there will be two more who will apply for licenses this fall. Baseball fans in this place are elated over the prospects of Frank "Nibs" Hand entering into big league ball. Three years ago when "Nibs" first took up semi-professional ball, Joe Alberts, manager of Scotch Plains ball teams for the past dozen years, predicted big things for him. Henry Alberts, another of the four brothers who played on the Scotch Plains team, was catching at the time and took "Nibs" under his wing. It was not long before his arm was a terror to opposing base-runners. He played with the New Yorks, of the ill-fated United States League, one summer without getting a cent and disgusted with his treatment played on independent teams in this vicinity until last June when he joined the Perth Amboy team of the Atlantic League. His work was so good that McGraw is to give him a tryout with the Giants.

New Fall Arrivals Have Registered In Our Dress Goods Department

Fall Fashions call for a greater use of dress materials than before, and our stocks are correspondingly large. Almost daily we are receiving fresh lines of dress goods, supplementing our assortments and taking the place of those already sold.

In order to show a representative collection of the immense diversity of weaves and patterns which are popular this fall, we bought sparingly of each style but purchased hundreds of different styles. This is wise for two reasons: It gives you a greater diversity of patterns to choose from, and assures a certain degree of exclusiveness with any dress goods you select here.

The wisdom of early selection is pointed out by our low prices, any of which may soon be advanced by mills and importers.

Just Received! New Fall Millinery of Surpassing Beauty

These lovely hats are not the fanciful creations of the advanced Paris stylists. They are the more conservative models; fashioned for smartly dressed American women, yet possessing all the chic and style you would expect to find in a Paris model and as such they should possess a magnetic attraction for you.

The sailor style, in one form or another is most popular this Fall. Its simple lines have not been marred by grotesque twists or elaborate trimmings. The shapes are of medium size, and the trimmings are plain with the artistic simplicity that always means smartness.

Our prices for these beautiful hats are based on actual values. They are well affordable. Come and see the hats tomorrow.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

SMALL BOYS AND FRUIT TREES.

One of the problems that Judge DeMeza has to contend with is that of the small boys and the fruit trees. The court no doubt realizes that they would not be regular boys if they did not steal fruit, and is reminded of similar escapades in his childhood, but at the same time the necessity for correction is there. If the boys are not reproved when the owners of trees make complaint, other boys will go further in their depredations, and the first thing the citizens know they will have a lot of young thieves for the police to watch. The lectures which the Judge has given the culprits, accompanied by a small fine in some cases, have usually had a remedial effect.

It must be admitted, however, that in almost every case brought to the attention of the court the parents are to blame. Had they warned their children about the wrong in stealing other peoples fruit, the chances are that in cases out of ten the boys would have kept from temptation. The practice has to be stopped, however, or there would be nothing gained by the raising of fruit on the part of property-owners.

There does seem an element of amusement in the raid of the neighborhood youngsters on some one's fruit. The slyness of it, the helplessness of a mature man in the presence of the fleeing legs of a bunch of husky urchins, all this seems quite humorous. But somehow the owner of the garden is unable to take the joke. In many instances people have given up keeping home gardens, because they see no chance of getting the fruit. Even vegetables are dug up by organized prowlers, who come with bags at night and replenish their empty storerooms.

All of which makes the charming and domestic pursuit of gardening undesirable. Is it not too bad? Is not home fruit and vegetable culture a thing to be encouraged? Does it not help many people save some high living cost and promote health and contentment? If so, why not tell the boys that stealing fruit is much like stealing baseballs or money?

AN ECHO OF THE FOURTH.

Here in Plainfield we have a safe and sane Fourth of July, and since it was established there have been no accidents such as were formerly the case on each national holiday. For that reason the statistics which are published in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association do not teach as bitter a lesson here as they do in some cities, but they are, nevertheless, of more than passing interest. Here is what the medical journal says:

Three little boys died from lockjaw as a result of Fourth of July injuries; sixteen persons, mostly little girls and small children, were burned to death by fire from fireworks; five persons were killed by firearms, six by explosions of gun powder, guns or torpedoes, four by cannon and five died from blood poison resulting from injuries caused by fireworks. The total number of deaths resulting from Fourth of July injuries is forty, and the number injured is 1,468, making a total of 1,506 accidents resulting from the Fourth of July celebrations. Among those injured but not killed, thirty-six were totally blinded, thirteen lost one eye each sixteen lost legs, arms or hands, and sixty-seven lost one or more fingers. This record, which reads like a report of a European battlefield, is unfortunately not as good as that of last year or the year before. In 1913 only thirty-two persons were killed and 1,131 injured, and in 1912, while forty-one persons were killed, only 947 were injured—the smallest number reported in the past twelve years. Pennsylvania still leads all the other States, having had 487 Fourth of July injuries to her credit this year or over 25 per cent. of those in the entire country of which 241, or about one-half, occurred in Philadelphia, New York had 25 accidents, almost double the number reported last year. Illinois reported ninety-five or more than twice as many as last year, while Massachusetts and Connecticut had respectively eighty-seven and seventy-seven cases—the largest number since 1910. In Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio and Washington, the number has decreased to a marked extent. During the twelve years in which these statistics have been collected, 42,786 persons—nearly forty three regiments—have been injured through Fourth of July accidents.

Such statistics as these, coupled with the asence of damage by fire, undoubtedly impress a majority of the people of this city with the wisdom of giving up the old method of celebrating. The reform was a long time coming, but it is safe to say that it is here to stay.

City Collector William R. Townsend will have something to say in the contributed editorial tomorrow night about a matter which is of vital interest to every citizen of the United Stataes—Taxes. Of course, what he will say will bear especially upon the situation in Plainfield, with which he is intimately in touch, but there will be enough to make it worth reading by all who pay taxes everywhere.

Lack of interest in the primary campaign this year is astonishing. Aside from a few politicians discussing the merits of the candidates, their names are seldom heard. There has been little or no attendance at he few meetings which have been held.

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

Thanks to the initiative of F. C. Lounsbury affirming the management of the Plainfield High School, an old fire of resentment has been rekindled within me. One cannot help but admire the straightforward way in which Mr. Lounsbury has presented his facts. He is not alone in realizing the inefficiency of the high school management. There are others who have suffered from the whims of narrow-mindedness, but who have not had the moral courage to present their cases to the press.

Mr. Lounsbury states that the president of his son's class received permission to drop a course since his duties as president conflicted with his work, while his son was not allowed to drop a course which imperiled his graduation. If the presidency was the cause for this irregularity, I wish to call attention to the fact of how in 1912 the president of his class was not on the stage to receive his diploma because one hour before assembling he learned that he had flunked in an examination in chemistry which decided his graduation. It certainly looked like a case of spleen to have only notified him at that late hour. That president passed off the course during the summer and has since made an enviable record at college honors.

That same class seemed to be the object of Mr. Best's extreme hatred. He deprived it of the cherished Yale cup after the cup had been bought ready for presentation and after a half dozen or so boys had worked with but one idea in view throughout their high school course.

To work for an honorable end which is almost reached when it is snatched away is indeed disheartening to those who have worked in athletics and scholarship for it. And the unwarranted action on the part of the principal was a blow of extreme defiance to the class which in many ways was a remarkable one.

That same year a girl received valedictory honors who was popular but who could not have entered any college in the United States on the training she received at P. H. S. Probably her marks were higher but high marks were easily possible when the eight points for graduation were gotten by studying histories, drawing, sewing and declamation.

I can name other instances of unfairness as to how only one of twins was graduated when the other lacked a scant point or so.

I do heartily agree with Mr. Lounsbury that this state of affairs has existed for too long a time. What a humbug it is for us to have that beautiful high school with its splendid exterior when we consider the poor management of its interior.

Thanking you for the space I hope to receive,

A. B. CONLIN.

ASK CHURCHES TO OBSERVE THE DAY

Clergy Requested to Present Advantages of Educational Institutions on Sunday.

Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, has recommended and Governor James F. Fielder has approved of the observance of Sunday as an "Educational Sunday," and it is expected that many of the local churches will recognize the day, and that the pastors will make appropriate reference to the subject. Commissioner Kendall's announcement follows:

"Upon the opening of our schools and colleges, public and private, during the month of September, hundreds of thousands of young people in the State will return to their studies. Though these educational institutions afford numerous and various means of securing an education, many of those enjoying the privileges cannot fully appreciate the provision that is being made for their training.

"In order that pupils, teachers, parents and citizens may more fully realize the aims and advantages of our educational institutions the clergy of the State are invited to join with their respective congregations in observing an Educational Sunday on the thirteenth of September.

"In such a service the opportunities provided for securing an education might be explained and the value resulting therefrom set forth. The need of co-operation on the part of parents and teachers might be emphasized to the end that both may endeavor to search out and respect the individuality of pupils in the effort to develop these habits of mind and traits of character which distinguish the efficient citizen.

"The home, the church and the school are three great factors in human uplift and development. Such a service would tend to unify the aim and effort of home, church and school, and would impress upon the young the desirability of taking advantage of their educational opportunities and be helpful in increasing the efficiency of our educational institutions."

RECREATION NOTES

Last night at the Italian Social and Educational Club, plans were discussed for the organization of a dramatic and musical club. These two activities will soon be in full swing and very fine work is expected. Mr. Di Lenardo, who has had a great deal of experience along the line of dramatics, will have charge of that club. Mr. Angello will direct the music of the club.

The Dunbar Club will meet tonight in the Washington School. There will be a demonstration of social dancing which will be of interest to many of the members. A short program of singing has been arranged by some of the members, after which dancing will be enjoyed.

The weekly municipal dance will be held tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Washington School. A large number of people enjoyed the dancing last week and as large a crowd is expected this week.

THE DEVILS OF WAR.

The Devils of War, on a wild rampage,
Have possessed the hearts of King and Sage.
With carnage and strife, with shot and shell,
Are proving the truth that "War is Hell."

The Devils of War men's hearts did mar
With the folly: "In peace prepare for war;"
Anw now they dance in merry glee
As they view the strife on land and sea.

The Devils of War men's hearts possess
With vainglory and pride—their souls obsess,
And lead them captive in the way of sin
To struggle thru war and it's awful din.

The Devils of War bring sorrow and woe
As forth to battle their victims go.
Oh, the hearts that are torn, and homes made sad
Because of this slaughter of men made mad!

The Devils of War no pity feel
As they see men battle with powder and steel.
A land made barren and desolate
Bring a feeling of glee to these demons of hate.

From the Devils of War is there no relief?
From strife and carnage with its awful grief?
From the terrible burdens that bear men down?
Fronf a cruel sceptre, 'neath a tyrant's crown?

From the Devils of War men may be free
And escape their power on land and sea,
For the "Prince of Peace" with His spirit of love
Rues with power and might from His throne above.

And the Devils of War must flee away
From the hearts of men where Christ holds sway.
And "peace on earth" will come and abide
With all that love Him whatever betide.

The Devils of War and all agents of sin,
Must flee, when Christ's kingdom is ushered in.
And God's will, on earth, as in heaven is done,
And all knees shall bow to His dear Son.

ENDEAVORERS WILL OBSERVE PRAYER DAY

On Sunday, October 4, They Will Unite in Petition for Restoration of Peace.

Sunday, October 4, which has been set aside by President Wilson as a nation-wide day of prayer for peace in Europe, will be recognized in this city by the Christian Endeavor Societies of the various churches if present plans are carried out. The Endeavor Union, at its congress session, last evening, adopted resolutions recommending to the various societies that the day of prayer be observed, and to pray for the restoration of the much desired peace.

Plans for a Christian Endeavor social under the auspices of the union to be held October 13 were considered, as were also plans for the regular fall rally to be held October 27. Announcements concerning the State union gathering to be held at Jersey City, October 7, at which time Dr. Francis E. Clark, father of the movement, will be present, were made. It is expected that 200 seats will be reserved for Union County End avorers at the service which is to be addressed by Dr. Clark. It is probable that special transportation arrangements will be made for those attending the gathering from this county.

The following committees were appointed: Music, Gideon Fountain, Miss Beatrice Karner, Miss Grace Gidney, Howard Parry and Theodore Martin; prayer meeting, Robert Butler, Miss Curna Bach, Miss Martha Klien, Nathan Wardner and Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr.; lookout, Theodore Martin, Miss Eva Schneider, Miss Leah Hammond, Howard Parry, Miss Marie Hahn; good citizenship, Clarence LaRue, Robert Butler, Louis Dodwell, Arthur Mundy, Clarence Eder, Nathan Wardner; missionary, Miss Mary Mortimer, Miss Edna Burdick, William LaTourette, C. ELITA PROCTOR OTIS STARS IN PROCTOR'S FINE PROGRAM

The five high class vaudeville acts and The Million Dollar Mystery, which were billed at Proctor's last night, drew a large audience, the house being filled to its capacity at all shows. Elita Proctor Otis in her sketch entitled, "The Store Manager," was the hit of the show and she was supported by a company of good actors. The playlet is funny throughout and kept the audience laughing all the time. Kenneth and Lacy, the changing comedians, appear in a fine act of dancing, singing and also have a suffragette argument.

GOVERNOR'S DEDUCTIONS ARE SAID TO BE WRONG

Governor James F. Fielder, in a communication to the North Plainfield Township Committee, yesterday, inquired whether his deductions were right regarding the briefs submitted in connection with the impeachment proceedings of the Somerset County Tax Board in the matter of assessing Mt. St. Mary College property. After reading the Governor's communication, the committee decided that the latter's deductions were not right and W. de La R. Anderson, the chairman, was appointed a committee of one to confer with the Governor in the matter.

The committee corrected two assessments in error on the township list. One assessment of $2 levied on the Stony Hill Catholic church was erased and in the case of John M. Wood, who was assessed for nine lots instead of four, the proper correction was made. There was no other business of importance considered by the committee.

RUNAWAY HORSE CAUSES EXCITEMENT AT DUNELLEN

John Daniels, of Front street, Dunellen, proved himself a hero, yesterday, when he stopped a runaway horse belonging to Frank Cashin, a grocer at that place. Mr. Cashin's brother, John Cashin, was driving the animal, delivering groceries, when in someway it became frightened. He held on to the reins as long as possible when he was obliged to let go. The horse was gaining speed all the time.

Mr. Daniels saw the runaway horse and rushing into the street succeeded in bringing the animal to a halt by waving a broom in the air. Outside of the loss of some sugar and a few baskets of tomatoes there was little damage. Cashin escaped with a few slight bruises.

HARTFORD PRAISES THE RECREATION WORK HERE

In last Saturday's issue of the Hartford Daily Times appears an extended account of the work being accomplished in this city under the direction of the Public Recreation Committe. The article gives many of the details of the work as carried on by Plainfield people. It pointed out, that while Hartford might well be proud of their recreational work, many things could be learned from the system used here.

The article was the outcome of an interview with Miss Delia Melvin, for some time acting supervisor of work under the direction of the local Recreation Committee, who is at present visiting her mother, Mrs. Nannie Melvin, of Hartford. Mrs. Melvin is acting as Protective Agent for the city in which she resides, and is actively engaged in recreation work in the Connecticut city.

PEACH FESTIVAL HELD BY NETHERWOOD LADIES' AID

A peach festival held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Netherwood Reformed church, last night, was very successful and a large sum of money was realized, which will go for the support of the church. Peaches, ice cream, cake and candy were on sale and the affair was largely attended.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by Albin's orchestra. Mrs. Amos Andrews, president of the society, was the chairman of the festival.

BENEDICT XV. IS A BORN DIPLOMAT

Selection Due Largely to That Fact and His Age.

ASTUTE, CALM, CAUTIOUS.

"Chosen Because He Was Recognized as Safe Leader For Church When All Europe Was In Arms"—Is of an Engaging Personality—Combines Characteristics of Last Two Pontiffs.

Pope Benedict XV. is the two hundred and sixtieth occupant of the chair of St. Peter. Like most of his predecessors he is an Italian. Of fifty-seven popes since 1378 only four have been foreigners. There were one Greek, two Spaniards and one Dutchman.

As Benedict XV., if fate deals as kindly with him as his predecessors, the new pope is apt to occupy the throne for many years. He was fifty-nine years of age Nov. 21 last. Pius X. was sixty-eight at his election, and his pontificate lasted eleven years. Leo XIII was the same age, and he reigned twenty-five years. Gregory XIV., who preceded Pius IX., was sixty-five years of age when elected, and he reigned sixteen years. The youngest man to be chosen pontiff in the last three quarters of a century was Pius IX. He was only fifty-four, and his pontificate covered thirty-two years.

It is believed that the age of the new pope had considerable to do with his choice at the present time. It was deemed wise to have a pontiff not weighted down with years or infirmity. Also it was realized that Cardinal della Chiesa was well versed in all the diplomacy of the Vatican, an especially important consideration now, with half the world at war.

Choice of Name Indicates Policy.

"If we can judge," says the Rev. John J. Wynne, S. J., editor of the Catholic Encyclopedia, "of the intention of the new pope by the choice of his name, Benedict XV., he will combine very happily in his administration the characteristics of the last two pontiffs, Leo and Pius, the former distinguished for his temporal policies, the latter for his spiritual.

"Benedict XIV. was famous as a canonist, and a canonist is needed now to bring to completion the great work begun by Pius X. of codifying and adapting the laws of the church to its modern conditions. The last Benedict was also a great liturgist and perhaps the most successful of all the popes in conciliating the eastern churches. It is very likely, therefore, that Benedict XV. will insist on the liturgical reforms, particularly in church music, established by Pius X., and there is no doubt that he will imitate the late pontiff in attempting to bring about the unity of churches of the east and of the west."

A man of diplomacy, a cool, level headed leader, a man of even temper who can face a tremendous emergency dispassionately, a man of the school of Cardinal Rampolla, with a keen reverence for all the traditions of the Vatican—that is the impression Pope Benedict XV. made upon an American who had a chance several years ago to meet and to know the man who is now head of the Roman Catholic church.

It was in 1907, when he was then Mgr. della Chiesa, holding a minor post in the Vatican, that the present pontiff was in a position to meet men from foreign lands. One of these men was Amasa Thornton, a New York lawyer.

Regarded as Safe Leader.

"The present pope," says Mr. Thornton, "never lost his head and was never angry. He was one of the kindest hearted men I ever met.

"I think that he was chosen not because he was a builder or a constructive genius, but because he was recognized as a safe leader for the church when all Europe was in arms. At another time I believe he would not have been considered.

"The new pontiff has a most engaging personality. He convinces one at once of his earnestness. He is familiar with important issues. He is quick to grasp and quick to act. He is courteous and at the same time guarded in his response.

MELTING POT FOR GERMANY.

Wedding Rings and Keepsakes to Relieve Distress In the Fatherland.

Hundreds of wedding rings, bracelets, baby pins, earrings and keepsakes of all sorts of gold or silver have poured into the "melting pot" of the German Historical Society of the State of New York from patriotic Germans. The metal will be converted into money and sent to the Futherland for the relief of soldiers' families.

One woman, who said she was a widow, entered, accompanied by her five small children. She took off her wedding ring and placed it on the table with the other contributions, saying that it was the only remembrance of her late husband.

Charles Stolberg, a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war, gave a heavy gold watch to the fund. He said that it had been presented to him by his superior officers after the battle of Sedan, when he captured a French standard.

Mrs. Charles E. Herring, of Central avenue, has returned home after spending her vacation at Spring Lake.

HUMAN INTEREST SIDE LIGHTS ON GREAT EUROPEAN WAR

Best Stories From Scene of Action Run Gamut of the Emotions.

Stirring Deeds of Valor and Remarkable Incidents, Odd and Tragic.

THE stories collected from wounded arriving in London are endless. While these probably are of little value from a military point of view, many of them are picturesque and illuminative.

Practically all of the wounded seem to agree that the Germans face fire with splendid courage, but that they cannot stand up under bayonet or cavalry charges.

"The Germans are not lacking in pluck except when they have to face cavalry or bayonets," said an infantryman. "They don't seem in the least bit to mind being shot. The awful gaps caused by our carefully directed fire are immediately filled. They rush straight ahead and face a regular hail of lead, but the sight of cold steel seems to unnerve them."

A Strange War Picture.

Another man got mixed with a French regiment on the right. In returning to his own regiment, he says, he crossed a field and passed up a big avenue of trees. Halfway up the avenue was a German officer of lancers lying dead at the side of the road.

"How he got there was a mystery," the soldier continues. "We had seen no cavalry, but there he lay. Some one had crossed his hands over his breast and had put a little celluloid crucifix in them. Over his face lay a beautiful little handkerchief—a lady's handkerchief with lace edging. The handkerchief, too, was a bit of a mystery, for there wasn't a woman within miles of the place."

Seven Charge Twenty-five.

Details of the feat which brought the first cross of the Legion of Honor—the decoration which every French wife or sweetheart hopes her soldier will earn—have been received. The hero was Lieutenant Bruyant, a young dragoon officer.

The lieutenant and six men were scouting near the frontier. Suddenly a good way off they saw a patrol of twenty-seven uhlans, the German light cavalry.

The Frenchmen were impatient to be after them in spite of the disparity in numbers, but Bruyant was too capable a leader to rush in blindly. With good shooting the Frenchmen managed to bring down two Germans, and then the uhlans cantered away. They were almost four to one, but for some reason did not wish to fight. Probably they were simply seeking information.

The French followed up resolutely. The Germans kept their distance. When the dragoons trotted the uhlans trotted too. Now the former would gallop across a bit of open country. The Germans would gallop away just as quickly. Evidently they were making for shelter.

Soon Bruyant saw that they were trying to reach a wood, where they could take cover. Now was the moment to unchain his men. He gave orders to draw swords and charge. The seven spurred their horses and fell upon the twenty-five with shouts of defiance.

One German was killed by a lance thrust. The officer in command was drawing his revolver when Bruyant cut him down with his saber. Six more were wounded and knocked off their horses. The rest fled in disorder.

"A Uhlan Killer."

As an evidence of the indomitable spirit which is actuating the Belgians in their war against the Germans, here is a letter from a daring young man with a young wife and child who formerly was notorious as a poacher on game preserves. It was written in the siege of Namur while he was resting a moment.

"A few weeks ago," the letter says, "I was in France working in the beet fields. But because the proud Prussians attacked our country I had to leave and could not bring home a few gold coins for my family. I am feeling as well as possible, am whole and sound and hope, with God's help, to see my home once more.

"The Prussians are poor shots. They don't know by a yard where they shoot, and when they see a bayonet they are so scared they just run. I have lost but very few bullets. When I aim for their noses you can bet that they don't hear the bullets whiz by their ears. They get it right in the mouth. I never missed a bird on the wing, so how could I miss the uhlans? I settled more than fifty of them, and if God lets me live I'll cool off a few more. When they come we kill 'em like rats, meanwhile singing 'The Lion of Flanders.'

"Now I finish my letter to grab my gun and shoot uhlans."

Private, Shot, Killed Prince.

A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam says the shot which ultimately resulted in the death of General von Buelow, one of the German leaders, was fired by a Belgian private named Rosseau, who has since been decorated by King Albert for his conduct in the battle of Haelen.

Rosseau was lying badly wounded among a group of dead comrades when he saw a German officer standing beside his horse studying a map. Picking up a rifle from the side of a dead German, Rosseau fired at this officer and wounded him. He subsequently proved to be General von Buelow.

Exchanging his hat for the German general's helmet and taking the general's horse, Rosseau made his way to the Belgian lines and was placed in a hospital at Ghent.

Saved; Thrown Into Sea.

This little grim comedy is told by a correspondent of the London News:

"I heard of an incident which is said to have occurred when the British boats were busy picking up German survivors of the fight in the bight of Helgoland. A German officer was seen swimming; a line was thrown to him, and he was helped on board, but his first action was to spit in the face of the British officer in charge.

"A British sailor immediately flung the German overboard, and another drowning German among the many within the boat's reach was helped into the vacant place."

Aero Flashes Guided Army.

A London Telegraph correspondent returning from Brussels says:

"The German entry into Brussels was a wonderful and impressive sight.

"First of all came six cyclists, then a detachment of cavalry, then a great mass of infantry, then guns and field guns and more infantry, then huge howitzers, then a pontoon train and then more infantry from 1:30 o'clock Thursday until Sunday morning without a break.

"The men also were very fresh and keen. Each company was accompanied by a traveling stove, the fire of which was never out. There was always some hot drink ready for the troops, and the German soldiers told me that it is only this hot coffee and soup which keep them going on long forced marches.

"An aeroplane kept its station ahead of this advancing hords, and it signaled both day and night by dropping various colored stars. What these signals meant I do not know, but all movements of the troops were regulated by them.

"In all about 250,000 men passed through Brussels, and thousands more never entered the city, but marched south direct from Louvain. The men are slaves of discipline and routine."

Berlin's "Vale of Tears."

Arrivals from Berlin at The Hague report that the German capital is much depressed by the huge German losses. Half the population, one man said, was in mourning. The official casualty lists contain many more killed and wounded than missing.

One of the arrivals said the German war office has opened up a bureau of inquiry in the Dorteenstrasse. This is thronged daily with pale and anxious women. Because of the distressing scenes witnessed there the street has been called the "Vale of Tears."

Adventure In the Air.

M. Kuminsky, the Russian aviator, had a thrilling adventure on his first military flight. In company with a Russian officer he flew at a height of 1,350 meters. Kuminsky narrates:

"We suddenly heard an explosion, and the whole apparatus quivered and leaped in the air. We found that a suction valve of the motor had burst. We were saved from destruction by the self possession of the officer. He kept his head and did not move a muscle, so I was able to shut off the benzine and open the contact.

"We began to descend in a volplane, and to avoid capture by the enemy we did our utmost to prolong our flight in the direction of the Russian lines. Although we had a very good map, we could not tell precisely where we were. At last we touched ground and saw in the fields not far away a crowd of peasants.

"The officer at once shouted, 'Soak the apparatus with benzine and get matches ready, so in case they are Austrians we can set the whole thing on fire.'

"But we had no need to do this, for they were Russians. We had come down about three miles within the Russian frontier, and soon a party of our own troops arrived and carried us back to their quarters."

Loops Loop Amid Bullets.

The aviator circled the city twice, according to the Antwerp correspondent of an Amsterdam paper, dropping the messages, while German soldiers below fired repeatedly at him without effect. Finally the Frenchman looped the loop with the bullets flying around him and drove off.

King Honors Boy Scout.

Georges Terpen, an eighteen-year-old boy scout of Liege, has been decorated by the king of the Belgians and has received a commission in the army for the brilliant work which he has accomplished since the beginning of hostilities. Young Terpen captured eleven spies, all of whom have been shot. Near Malines he killed one uhlan and captured another, although he was suffering from a broken arm.

Terpen declares that the only weapon he used against the German soldiers was a long knife.

King Near Death.

The London Mail's Abbeyville correspondent says: "King Albert came within an ace of death during a sortie on Malines. He was directing operations from his motorcar when shrapnel burst ten yards away, blowing off the rear wheels of the car."

Oddities In the News.

A street hawker in London is offering for sale "any flag on earth bar one." He displays a stand of national colors from which the German has been removed.

German music is barred at the fashionable "prom" concerts in London. Strauss was replaced by Tschaikowsky for a recent program, and Franco-Russian selections are to be substituted for Wagner at the next performance.

The seventeen-year-old daughter of a Russian senator has gone to the front to fight for her country.

Only two men are now serving as tramway conductors in Berlin. Advices here say old men and women are doing service as drivers.

Shoot at Germans' Buttons.

"The blue-gray uniforms of the Germans are hard to see at a distance," said a Yorkshire light infantryman, "and for concealing movements are more effective than our khaki, but it is surprising how quickly you learn to pick out such things as buttons, badges, armlets and even peaks of caps or spikes of helmets in the sun and tell by them of the moving men you cannot see otherwise.

"Aim at a button a mile off and you hit a German in the stomach, is what we say, and it's near enough to the truth. The Germans are such sticklers for rules that I have seen their artillery keep firing away at a position of ours after it had been occupied by their own men, and at the hospitals they find quite a number of Germans hit by their own rifle fire."

Fight In the Air.

A fight in the air over Paris is thus described:

Three German aeroplanes hovered over the capital, and immediately two French machines were sent up to engage them. Meanwhile machine guns mounted on public buildings and rifles kept up a constant fire. By this means one of the German machines became separated from the others, and the French aviators flew swiftly in its direction. The German opened fire, to which the Frenchmen replied vigorously.

The engagement seemed to turn to the disadvantage of the German, who mounted speedily to a higher level and, holding this position, was saved from further attack. He finally disappeared in a northwest direction over Fort Romainville after a vain pursuit.

The other German aeroplanes also escaped the fire of the guns and after circling about for a considerable time disappeared from view.

Sentimental Side of War.

War has brought with it a revival of the craze for tattooing in London. Soldiers going to the front, especially territorials, want to have their skins marked before leaving, and the professional tattooers are doing a rushing business.

"They come with their pals, like a man going to have a tooth pulled," said a Tottenham Court road tattooer in telling of the rush. "Many bring their own designs, such as a heart with the name of a girl underneath or two hearts with hands clasped across and the name of the girl. Other designs are of forgetmenots, with the name of the girl, the year, etc.

A report to London says that the animals in the Berlin zoos are being killed so that the food they would eat may be saved for the people. Hagenbeck's famous zoo in Hamburg will be preserved, if possible, by killing the less valuable animals and serving their flesh to the others.

Battle Rivaled Waterloo.

The London Chronicle's correspondent from an unnamed point in France gives a description obtained from officers of the great battle near Mons Aug. 26. It says:

"An officer told me it was a terrible day. The German forces assailed the British position not only with determination, but with what I can only justly call ferocity.

"No doubt the German general staff were of the opinion that the British force could not stand before an attack by an enemy twice as strong in numbers and more so in artillery. It was really the first occasion in history on which a battle had taken place between a German and a British army, and I think when we can read its story as we can that of Waterloo it will be found that the battle, in which twice as many men were engaged as at Waterloo, deserves a far higher place, purely as a military achievement.

"It was something really awe inspiring, another officer said in speaking of the same day, to see those terrific German rushes. The attacking forces were well served, too, by artillery, and that has not always been the case.

"When you saw the rush start you thought nothing on earth could stop it. That those tremendous charges were stopped and the attackers driven back in disorder is due in the first place, I am certain, to the magnificent marksmanship of the British soldiers."

GERMANS CONTINUE TO RETREAT

Messagero from its correspondent at Nish says that 150,000 Servians have crossed the frontier and occupied Semlin. The Austrians dispersed in all directions. Semlin is an Austrian town across the River Save from Belgrade.

Pope Benedict is endeavoring to withhold Italy from entering the war. The Osservatore publishes a papel encyclical suggesting to the government a policy of moderation and asking prayers for the cessation of war. It states that the Pope desires to commence his pontificate with the act which Pope X had been mediating.

A despatch to the Tribuna says that an Austrian torpedo boat struck a mine and was blown up near (struck out by censor).

A number of wounded who arrived at Trieste state that during the battle of Lemberg all the Austrian officers of three battalions fled, leaving the battalions in the forest. The battalions were annihilated, only 50 of the men escaping.

Antwerp, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—There is joy today at the success of the Belgian army in driving back the Germans. The Zeppelins are no longer feared and the possibility of bombardment by German siege guns has been dissipated. Large batches of German prisoners have been brought in from Aerschot and sent to England on captured German steamships.

Copenhagen, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—The Lokal Anzeiger says that a Belgian in Germany has received a note from a neutral source advising that the Belgian government will prevent any future civilian uprising and will leave the war to the regular troops. The Berlin message says that there is evidently a strong pro-British feeling in Spanish Liberal circles, but that Germans have a clear understanding that if Spain is dragged into the war the Spanish army will be among Germany's forces.

The Vossiche Zeitung of Berlin says that previous to the outbreak of the war Germany and Austria agreed not to make peace separately, as the Triple Entente has now done.

London, Sept. 11, (Central News Cable)—A despatch from Nish says that the Servians occupied Semlin, across the river from Belgrade today, after a fierce battle.

Despatches from Copenhagen state that the Russians continue to bombard Koenigesberg, the German fortress in East Prussia.

A news despatch from Basel says that the French have recaptured Muelhausen.

A despatch from Rome from the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that he has learned from diplomatic sources that Roumania, Greece and Bulgaria have signed an agreement that may be regarded as a real alliance under the terms of which the three nations agree to interfere whenever necessary so as to prevent Turkey aiding Germany and Austria in the war. If Turkey remains neutral, however, the three nations will do likewise.

It is reported in Rome, the correspondent says, that Berlin has become resigned to the idea of Italian neutrality.

A despatch to the Telegraph from Stockholm dated Wednesday says that the German Baltic fleet began its movement Monday, which is presumably directed at the Russian fleet in the north of the Gulf of Bothnia. The German squadron of 29 vessels was seen on that day between Gotika, Sandocn and Kopparstenara.

A squadron of 31 large German warships was seen Tuesday steaming eastward from Huvudskaer and a German squadron of four battleships and three cruisers was seen Monday southeast of Stockholm, steaming northeast. Small flotillas have been seen off Quarken, in Sweden.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Norway is neutral in the European war, according to the Norwegian Minister here, who today issued the following: "With reference to certain allegations in the American press concerning the sympathies of the Norwegians in the present world crisis the Norwegian Minister at Washington, Mr. Bryn, desires to point out to the American public that the general feelings among the Norwegian people are neutral. Nobody in Norway has other wishes than the conservation of neutrality. The Norwegian press is also entirely neutral.

London, Sept. 11 (Central News Cable—The score or so of war correspondents who received licenses, bought horses and engaged servants, in accordance with the requirements of the war office a fortnight ago, have not been given the slightest indication when they will be allowed to join the army of the allies. It is said that if the French generals have their way in the matter will be never. Alfred J. Rorke, representing the Central News, Ltd., of London, and the Central News of America, has been given a roving commission on the continent. . . . . .

A despatch to a news agency from Athens says that Foreign Minister Panas has presented his resignation. It has not been decided whether it will be accepted.

A despatch from Meiningen, via Amsterdam, states that Emperor William has personally wired the Duke of Saxe Meiningen of the death of Prince Ernest of Saxe Meiningen. The Prince was seriously wounded in the fight aroung Maubeuge, France. He was a son of Prince Frederick of Saxe Meiningen, who was killed at Namur on August 23.

A message from Amsterdam quotes the Nieuws Van Der Dag as saying that it learns that the German general staff and Emperor William are now at Luxemburg, where the Uhlans are camping.

New York, Sept. 11—The British cruiser Glory appeared off the New Jersey coast this morning, steaming past Long Branch parallel with the shore in the direction of New York.

Chicago, Sept. 11—A two and a half million dollar corporation, to own an export and import house and a line of steamships for foreign trade, is in progress of organization here. This is a commercial resultant of the war and the opening of the Panama Canal. A meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which is fostering the organization, is to be held today for perfection of preliminary plans.

With Harvey D. Hinman of Binghamton entering the field for the Republican nomination for governor against District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, and then receiving the indorsement of Theodore Roosevelt, Progressive party leader, there is some dissension in the Republican ranks that almost amounts to a split.

Straw For Hats.

The greater part of the straw employed for making summer hats comes from Italy. To obtain suitable straw for this purpose the wheat is sown as thickly as possible in order that the growth of the plant may be impoverished as well as to produce a thin stalk.

The Italian wheat blooms at the beginning of June and is pulled up by the roots when the grain is half developed. Should it be allowed to remain in the ground a longer time the straw would become too brittle for its purpose.

Uprooted straws to the number of about five dozen, the size of the compass of the two hands, are firmly tied together in little sheaves and stowed away in barns. After that the straw is again spread out to catch the heavy summer dews and to bleach in the sun. When the product has been sufficiently bleached it is put into small bundles and classified.

The last step is to cut it close above the first joint from the top, when it is again tied up in small bundles containing sixty stalks each and is then ready for the market.—Chicago Herald.

Too Much of a Breakfast.

Even Peacock's generous ideas of suitable provisions for a breakfast were surpassed by a London host who entertained J. L. Motley. Aug. 3, 1867, Motley writes to his daughter: "I went to the last breakfast of the season of the Philobiblon society, given by Mr. Turner, a collector of rare books. Beginning with coffee and tea, we ended with sherry, champagne and maraschino; fish, cutlets, rotis, salads, game, puddings and ice going on meanwhile in regular order. If you asked me what I did I can only say I opened my ears to the animated and intellectual conversation and my mouth, not to eat, but to gape and gasp and wonder at the prodigious consumption of victuals at that hour of the day. When I reflected that all those people would lunch at 2 and dine at 8 I bowed my head in humiliation, and the fork dropped from my nerveless grasp."—London Chronicle.

Looking Down From High Places.

Why do you feel giddy when you look down from the top of the house or even from the upstairs porch? Just because it's so high, eh? That's true, but it's only half the answer. You know, of course, that your power to keep your balance on your feet depends largely on your vision or sight. When you walk in the dark you stumble and bump against things because you are not used to walking without seeing. It's the same when you are away up above the ground and cannot see familiar things in their familiar places. Your eyes play you tricks, you seem to lose your balance, and your head feels giddy and your steps are uncertain. If you practice long enough you can learn to walk without seeing, but until you have learned that lesson be careful when you climb to high places.—Wisconsin State Journal.

Scott Liked Work Pressure.

Scott, who was poet, novelist, lawyer, too, would have been greatest of all as journalist. Listen to this from his journal for Feb. 15, 1826: "Yesterday I did not write a line of 'Woodstock.' Partly, I was a little out of spirits. * * * Partly, I wanted to wait for some new ideas. * * * Partly, I was a little too far beyond the press. I cannot pull well in long traces, when the draft is too far behind me. I love to have the press thumping, clattering and banging in my rear. It creates the necessity which almost makes me work best. Needs must when the devil drives." * * * There is the very spirit of journalism, and that devil surely is the printer's devil!—London Standard.

Do You Know?

Most people are fond of good puzzles, and many are not entirely happy until they have solved them, but the man who resolves not to go to bed until he has found a divisor without a remainder (other than 1 and itself) for 1,111,111,111,111,111 will be able to earn a good living afterwards as a sleepless wonder, for nobody in the world yet knows whether that number has a divisor or not.

Songs of a Nation.

Andrew Fletcher, a Scotch writer, who died in 1716, wrote to the Marquis of Montrose, the Earl of Bothes and others, "I once knew a very wise man that believed that if a man were permitted to make all the ballads of a nation he need not care who should make the laws of a nation."

Impossible.

Insurance Agent—It was you who set the house on fire with your alcohol lamp. Tenant—Me? Not on your life! In the first place, I haven't got a lamp, and in the second place I'm a lifelong member of the Temperance league.—Journal Amusant.

A Nice, Polite Man.

"There's some good things in town this week," said the girl who was hinting for an invitation to the theater.

"Well," responded Mr. Grouch, "I ain't one of 'em."

The Sky Battleground

How will history tell the story of the battles grim and gory
That are fought a mile toward heaven where the silent air men die?
How will battlefields, bespotted, in the trackless air be plotted?
Who will keep the fearful death roll of the soldiers of the sky?

There will be no fifes and drumming; in their place the savage humming
Of a thousand motors spitting clouds of international hate.
There will be no shield or cover where the fearless madly hover,
Hurling bombs through misty spaces with the accuracy of fate.

Falling limply through abysses of five thousand feet or more?
Yet the war gods never falter. Super-heroes! On the altar
Of the skies their lives they offer as a sacrifice to war.

PITIFUL SIGHTS OF THE FLIGHT FROM PARIS.

"Children weep or gaze wide eyed," he says, "wondering what is the matter. Old folk sit in gloomy silence; the women, with haggard cheeks and disheveled hair, seemed to belong to another age. What I see is a drama of the middle ages or even farther back, in the times of the Huns—days when a whole population fled before wild horsemen clad in the skins of beasts."

One of the fugitives explained to him why, after the first hour of their flight, they had had to carry the elder as well as the younger children. She showed him a pair of boots. "I felt the inside with my fingers. The nails had come through the soles. I looked at the child's feet. They were dirty with red brown clots. It was blood."

Lines of cabs, many of them filled with household goods, raced through the boulevards to the southern and western railway stations.

A woman who had arranged some time ago to leave Paris for Biarritz had to be content at the last moment with a seat on a rough bench in a cattle truck, into which thirty passengers or more were crowded, without a glimmer of light.

The odd thing is that there was an inflow as well as an outflow, though not on so large a scale. First there was an uninterrupted stream of refugees from the immediate scene of the fighting. More than 20,000 of these poor people were landed at the Nord station, many of them carrying oddments of property, and some of the children had been allowed to bring a favorite dog or canary.

Mortality Decrease In G. A. R.

As reported at the annual G. A. R. encampment in Detroit, the present membership, in good standing, is 171,335. During the year the roll was curtailed by the death of 11,187 old soldiers, which was 151 less than died during the preceding year.

FORWARD, MARCH!

That the first effect of a sudden great war should be to shock and stun even neutrals is natural.

But it is high time for American business men to brace and build for the future.

It's awful, war is, and it knocks old plans galley west. But we're out of it, and we're not going to be drawn into it, and it's therefore plumb foolish to go around with jaws down instead of working in a brave, bold way toward the sunlight ahead.

We're reminded of this by a statement from one of the biggest authorities in the country on advertising.

"It is inconceivable," he says, "that any merchant or manufacturer should cease or even curtail his advertising just when the country is on the threshold of a tremendous double harvest—the natural harvest of our own unprecedented crops and the logical harvest consequent on the war in Europe. It is under such conditions as these that advertising reaches the zenith of its power.

"To all my clients I have sent this message:

"'Keep the columns of the daily newspapers bristling with your announcements and thus open wide your doors for the flood of prosperity that is bound to rush in. Make hay while the sun shines.'"

A wave of prosperity the like of which nobody now living has ever seen is getting ready to sweep over the United States. It cannot be otherwise when ours is the only big nation left free to do the business of the world. It's coming, as sure as Thanksgiving and Christmas—it's just bound to come.

Therefore, away with doubts, crawfishing and funk, and forward march!

Arms out for opportunity!—Cincinnati Post.

FATE OF WOUNDED AND SLAIN IN WAR

HOW DEAD ARE REMOVED.

When Left Behind Noncombatants Bury Them—Modern Army Surgeon Bases His Equipment on Estimate That 10 Per Cent of the Soldiers Engaged Will Stop Bullets.

What becomes of the grievously wounded that are falling in the European war? And what becomes of the great heaps of the slain, piled five deep in long windrows? Are they all buried, or are many left to lie where they fell?

These questions are answered fully in "The War Manual" edition of the World's Work. And the following extracts are made in large part from it:

Every soldier of every army carries in a sealed tin box a first aid packet, consisting of a bandage, antiseptic gauze and adhesive plaster. A part of the training of the soldier is how to use these, and if the wound is slight and in an accessible place he may apply the dressing himself; if more severe, a comrade may apply it for him.

The wounded soldier, with or without first aid dressing, if he is able to walk, passes back to the rear to the field hospital, which is always more or less sheltered from the fire of the armies. If he is unable to walk he is carried back on a litter by the hospital corps. As soon as he can stand transportation he is passed on to the general hospital and thence in due time to the convalescent camp to recuperate.

The Zones of Losses.

The medical staff of an army is equipped upon the theory, based upon past experience, that 10 per cent will be killed or wounded in each battle. If the number of casualties is 18,000 the estimate is that fully 20 per cent, or 3,600, will be dead on the field; 8 per cent, or 1,440, will be so severely wounded that it will be inadvisable to move them; 40 per cent, or 7,200, will be able to walk, one-half of them to the station for the slightly wounded in the rear, the rest to the field hospital, and 32 per cent will require to be carried off the field.

In deciding upon his arrangements for a battle the chief surgeon bears in mind that the wounded will be distributed in "zones of losses." The usual proportion of wounded is 20 per cent up to 1,000 yards range; from 1,000 to 400 yards range, 60 per cent; in the final rush, 10 per cent; in pursuit, 10 per cent.

The field hospital is not pitched till the tactical situation develops and the point where the main attack is to be is made known. Then a site is chosen beyond the range of the enemy's fire, accessible to front and rear by road, yet off the route of march of advancing troops, convenient to wood and water if possible, near buildings which may be used for the overflow of wounded.

The chief surgeon has under him a corps of surgeons for amputating the limbs of the wounded and dressing wounds and a corps of litter bearers and ambulance men. Many acts of heroism that are not recorded in the annals of the battles are performed by the men of the hospital corps and of the Red Cross, who go out often in the face of terrific firing and gather up the wounded.

Where an army is intrenched or fighting in the cover of a wood or in any other protected place which it holds for a long period of continuous fighting the gravely wounded are gathered up as they fall by the litter bearers, assisted by the soldiers, and are passed back to the rear.

Burying the Dead.

When a fighting army is driven out of its position and the advancing enemy rushes over the field and on in pursuit the medical corps then has an opportunity to gather in the wounded left in the wake of the two armies, and often the medical corps of the two opposing armies work together upon the field, each carrying off its wounded. Often an armistice is taken so that the wounded may be picked up and the dead buried.

The last service rendered to the soldier by the medical staff is to see that those killed are promptly buried after the battle. There is no ceremony about it. It is all a matter of the cold, horrible business of war. One squad collects the dead in piles, another digs long, shallow trenches, and the bodies are packed in the trenches and covered with earth.

Often an army is driven from its position and must leave the dead behind. Then they are sometimes buried by the enemy which occupies the position, but more often, in the present war, the dead of both armies are left to be buried by the noncombatants.

Fifty Zeppelins Ready.

The London Times prints extracts from a letter of two American engineers who reached London from Roumania via Berlin. They visited the aviation stations in Germany and estimated that fifty Zeppelins and hundreds of aeroplanes were ready for action. There was immense activity in the construction of new air craft and the training of men.

CALL FOR IRRIGATION MEET.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 11.—The official call has been issued for the twenty-first International Irrigation Congress, which is to meet in this city early next month for a session of four days. It will be the first time that the organization has ever met outside the United States. The indications are that the attendance will be large and representative, though the war will prevent the attendance of several European irrigation experts who had been invited to address the gathering. One day of the congress will be devoted to a 160-mile trip of inspection through the irrigation block to the east of Calgary, and a visit to the Horseshoe Bend dam near Bassano, which stores water for the largest individual irrigation project on the American continent.

POLITICAL NOTES.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

November 3—Election Day.

Members of the district Election Boards are likely to have complaints lodged against them this year if the law is not observed relative to counting the vote immediately after the polls close instead of declaring an adjournment for supper before starting the task, as has been the practice in some sections in the past. The law specifies that the Boards of Election shall count the vote immediately after the polls close and continue the work until it is completed. Owing to the deep interest being taken in all the contests on the Republican and Democratic tickets, the result will be desired as soon as possible, and where there is a delay through non-observance of the act, the election officers are liable to come in for censure.

Since Labor Day, which is generally accepted as marking the close of the summer and vacation season, and therefore the return to town of many people, business in the sheriff's office has become brisk. Although kept very busy, Sheriff Wright still finds time after office hours to make trips to some section of the county nearly every day in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican county clerkship nomination.

Ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler's platform cards, bearing his likeness on the reverse side, have been given wide distribution throughout the district.

With the Congressional campaign as the chief objective of the political battle, the leaders on both sides are planning to bring into this State speakers of national reputation in the big endeavor to influence the voters. The recent declaration by President Wilson that he would take no part in the Congressional campaign but would deem it his patriotic duty to remain in Washington, owing to the serious war complications, is taken to mean that he wil not even make any speeches in behalf of the Democratic Congressional candidates in his home State.

Every eligible voter to vote in the primaries will receive sample ballots a few days before September 22. The city clerk has sent copy for all the primary ballots to the printer, and the samples will be apportioned to the different Election Boards for mailing. The difference between the samples and the official ballots is in the color.

Immediately following the primary election on September 22 the Republican and Democratic State Committees will meet to plan the campaigns of the respective parties leading up to the general election on November 3. Democratic State Chairman Grosscup said yesterday that the Democratic State Committee would meet in Trenton, Tuesday, September 29, in connection with the State convention to be held on that day. No date has been announced for the Republican State Committee meeting, but it will be held about the same time.

Neither State committee is taking an active part in the primary campaigns, leaving the candidates for nominations to fight their own primary battles, but as soon as the candidates have been selected, the State committees will take hold of the main campaign and each one will outline and proceed to put into operation aggressive combats for party success.

The members of the county committees of the political parties will be elected at the primary election on September 22, the Geran Act having abolished the old method of selecting the committeemen. The Geran Act provides that the members of these committees shall take office on the first Tuesday following their election, or September 29, and that the terms of al members of such committees theretofore elected shall terminate on that date.

On September 29 also, all the county committees are required by the Geran Act to hold their annual meetings for the election of chairmen. Thus, the new county committees will be organized just in time to take hold of their respective local campaigns as mapped out by the State committee.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

BEST GAME WILL BE AT WESTFIELD PARK

Saurers and Westfield A. A. Will Clash for the Third Time This Season.

Plainfield will not be favored with the best game of baseball in this vicinity tomorrow, but the Westfield fans will boast of that honor when the Westfield A. A. and Saurer teams meet at Recreation Park in the third game of the season. There will be nothing in this city that will be able to touch the brand of game that will take place five miles down the road, as both of the contesting teams have a definite object in view, the locals to get sweet revenge and the Mt. Ararat delegation to get the third game of the series and make a clean sweep.

Saurers are not saying much about the two defeats they have suffered at Recreation Park, although there may be reasons for them somewhere, probably in Westfield. They are determined to get this battle just to show the Westfielders that they can play. Manager McDonald, of the Mt. Ararat club, has chosen McIntosh to do the mound duty and he will find himself in one of the hardest games he has ever started if MacLaughlin pitches for Saurer. The local veteran has not pitched against this club this season.

The Mackmen will have their regular team on the field and are going to give their opponents the hardest game they have ever put up.

The teams will lineup as follows:

BATTIN H. S. ELEVEN WILL PLAY NINE GAMES

A long schedule has been arranged by Earl Parsons, the manager of the Battin High football team. The schedule contains nine games and three open dates. Among the combinations to be met are the Rahway High School, the South Side High School of New York and the Dickinson High School.

Starting with Mount Vernon High, Battin will appear at Rahway two weeks later. There is great rivalry between the Champs and the Hilltoppers. During the past four years the three-time champions have overwhelmed the Battinites.

September 26—Mount Vernon High School, at Mount Vernon.
October 3—Open.
October 5—Rahway High School, at Rahway.
October 12—South Side High School, at Newark.
October 17—Dickinson High School, at Jersey City.
October 24—Roselle High School, at Elizabeth.
October 31—Westfield High School, at Elizabeth.
November 3—Alumni Association.
November 7—Open.
November 14—Open.
November 20—East Side High School of Newark, at Elizabeth.
November 26—Open.

FIRST PRACTICE FOT NEW BRUNSWICK H. S. ELEVEN

A meeting of the New Brunswick High School football candidates was held yesterday afternoon, and was addressed by Coach Campbell. He outlined what he expected the candidates to do, and said that training would start this afternoon. He said that all that was needed to turn out a winning team was real school spirit among the students. There is a dearth of material, because of graduation of many of last year's eleven only five players remain, and new men must be developed.

After the meeting, jersey and stockings were distributed to the candidates. Coach Campbell is looking forward to a victory over the Trenton High School, the first game of the season, on September 26.

DISTRIBUTE TROUT IN NORTH JERSEY STREAMS

Harry B. Cudney, the Warren fish and game warden, has distributed 65,000 young trout in the last few weeks, and this week began the distribution of 40,000 more. They are all from the State hatchery at Hackettstown, and are distributed in autotrucks.

Mr. Cudney has been assisted by Wardens William Young, of Chester, and William Hoblitzel, of Rahway. The young trout have been placed in streams in Warren, Sussex, Morris, Passaic and Bergen counties. The lot now being distributed will be placed in Hunterdon streams.

BARRENKAMP HURLS TWO RECORD GAMES.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 10.—Two records were set in the double-header between Pittsfield and New Britain in the Eastern Association here yesterday. In the first place, Barrenkamp, of Pittsfield, pitched both games and scored a shut-out in each, the tallies being 4 to 0 and 5 to 0. In the second place, both games were over in 1 hour and 58 minues, the first game taking 53 minutes and the second 1 hour and 5 minutes.

Barrenkamp, who was tried out by the St. Louis American League club last season, pitched two remarkable games. In the first contest he allowed only two hits, and in the second New Britain located him for only four four bingles, making a total of six hits for eighteen innings.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT FOR P. C. C. TITLE

Annual Event Will Start Tomorrow Afternoon With a Fine Set of Entries.

The annual singles lawn tennis championship of the Plainfield Country Club will start on the club courts tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Play will be continued all afternoon and the finals will be held one week from tomorrow. The event has always proven exceedingly popular as well as interesting as the club boasts of many fine racquet wielders who compete.

Several of the former champions will again be on hand but the winner of the tournament last year has found it impossible to enter. That person is Carr B. Neal, one time a member of the championship doubles team of the United States. He easily won the finals last year. Two old rivals, who always make it hot for each other on the court will start and are the favorites for the title. They are Albert D. Beers and Henry J. Cochran, both of whom have won the championship more than once.

The preliminary matches will be the best two sets out of three and the finals will be three out of five. Entries are limited to members of the Country Club and may be sent to any member of the tennis committee. The drawings will not take place until tomorrow morning at the club.

NO MORE SUNDAY GAMES FOR SAURER AGGREGATION

The Saurer baseball team will not play any more games on Sunday this year, but will be on the job in weekend games for a short time. Manager Martin has several contests that he may schedule before the season is over, but nothing definite has been decided. The Saurer team won all the Sunday games they have played since taking the park from the Plainfield team and there have been some fine attractions here for baseball followers.

The team is only guilty of four defeats during the entire season which is a record worth having and there are a large string of victories which completely bury the losses. Manager Martin will only work his men one day a week from now on till the end of the season.

ATHLETES IN GREAT MEET.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—A stream of athletes from all parts of the United States poured into Baltimore last night and during the early hours of this morning. Before noon today 500 men, the cream of America's amateur athletic talent, had assembled at the field of Johns Hopkins University to participate in the preliminary events making up the program for the annual outdoor track and field championships of the National A. A. U. The finals, including all the important events, will be contested tomorrow and will form one of the concluding features in the week's celebration of the Star-Spangled Banner Centennial. Of the hundreds of entrants in the A. A. U. meet a large proportion are title holders. East West, North and South have all sent the stars of the competitive firmament, and if their past performances count for anything, the present meet is likely to be a wonderful exhibition, with the probability that more than one record will go by the board before the contests are concluded. The events included in the two days' program comprise running races from 100 yards to five miles, both high and low hardles, running high and broad jumps, running hop, step and jump, pole vault, hammer throw, shot-put and javelin.

HARRY JENNINGS BACK.

Harry Jennings, Rutgers' star pitcher who pitched for the Pets last Saturday, is back in New Brunswick for another year. No big league club got him during his absence from town, though several were after him. Harry is carrying a sore arm as a result of a collision with a teammate in Vermont a short time ago. Jennings was playing the outfield at the time, and he and another outfielder ran after the same ball and collided.

RANDOLPH'S TRYOUT HAS BEEN PUT OFF

Because of a Sore Arm the Local Pitcher Will Not Report to Mack Till Spring.

Cliff Randolph the local pitcher who has been playing with the Perth Amboy team this season, did not report to Manager Connie Mack on September 9, as he was ordered, but was excused until spring because of trouble with his salary wing. For some time the local twirler has been unable to work with the Amboy team because he could not lift his right arm. There was something wrong and finally he went to the famous specialist, "Bonesetter" Reese in Youngstown, Ohio, and after a five minutes' examination, the displaced ligament was set and Cliff was declared cured.

Reese said that Cliff could now pitch if he desired but warned him to take things easy for a couple of weeks to avoid any further trouble. He will probably pitch the game for Perth Amboy a week from Sunday, when the Giants play an exhibition game at that place.

When he goes for his tryout at Philadelphia in the spring the local man will be fully recovered and will be at his best. He will probably make good with this team and it will not be a big surprise if Mack should retain him.

UNION COUNTY WOMEN WILL START IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Among the eighty-three players who will start in the women's national golf championship next Monday over the links of the Nassau County Club at Glen Cove, Long Island, are Miss Bertha A. Stratton, Mrs. F. B. Ryan and Mrs. L. L. Lake, all of Cranford. They are the only Union county golfers to compete.

This year the title is certain to remain in America, as there are no foreign entries. Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, the English girl, who won the title last year at Wilmington, Del., has found it impossible to defend the championship. With these women entered, there are hopes that the honor will go to Union county aspirants.

SOMERVILLE EAGLES TAKE FIRST MATCH OF SEASON

The Somerville Eagles defeated the local Eagles on the Olympia alleys, last night, by taking two games out of three. Many high scores were rolled, McCarthy, of Somerville, and Miller, of the local team, being tied for first honors with 217. Fallon, of the visitors, pinned very consistently, making over two hundred in every game.

The Somerville pinners took a big lead at the start and won the first with forty points to spare. They also won the second, but this time the Queen City team gave their opponents the run of the evening, finishing only seven points short. Miller's pinning greatly helped the locals to take the third game, as he was the only one to soar above the two century mark. It was also in this game that McCarthy made his highest score. Another match will be arranged for next week. Tonight two local teams, the Horses and the Colts, will meet on the Second street alleys.

The scores:

SOMERVILLE.
McCarthy	199	201	21

SUNDAY GAME.

The Highlanders, of Netherwood, and the Arions, of this city, will clash on the Netherwood grounds Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Both teams have been playing an excelent brand of baseball this season and a close game is expected. Denny and Kyle wil form the battery for the Highlanders.

COPS MAY SPRING SOMETHING ON PETS

They Will Have Richardt, Who Struck Out Fourteen Pets, on the Mound.

Parker Field will be the scene of a good game tomorrow afternoon when the Pets, with Jennings on the mound, will meet the local cops, who with have Richardt, of Elizabeth, on the firing line. These two pitchers will make the game interesting and the Pets will not have an easy time with their oponents.

The best cops that have played this season will be picked and with McIntyre, Berger, McGinley and Fritts in the field, the Pets will have to hit them high and then the balls are liable to get in the way of Martin, Nelson or McCarthy, who will probably play the outfield positions. Manager Bader thinks he has an even chance with the Plainfield team and expects his bunch to make their opponents hustle.

Manager Dorflinger wants this game and has again secured the services of Jennings who pitched last Saturday. Harney will play in the outfield and Brown wil cover second base. The teams will lineup as follows:

PLAINFIELD	COPPERS
Seiftes, 3b	McGinley, ss

SIX TEAMS WILL COMPOSE EAGLES BOWLING LEAGUE

Six lodges will be represented in the State Eagles' Bowling League that wil start the middle of next month. At a meeting held last night in this city, this course was decided upon and the cities to be represented are Elizabeth, Rahway, New Brunswick, Somerville, Newark and Plainfield. One week from Sunday there will be a meeting held in Rahway for the purpose of drawing up a schedule and get everything ready for the opening of the league.

The Rahway men have offered thirty-five dollars to be used for a prize and the Elizabeth birds have offered a three-year silver trophy. This must be won by the same lodge three years in succession before it become the permanent property of any one.

K. OF C. INDIVIDUAL BOWLING TOURNEY STARTS MONDAY

The annual individual bowling tournament of the Knights of Columbus will start Monday, September 14, at the club on West Front street. Some fine pinners have entered this tournament and it is expected to be close. The alleys are in fine condition and high scores are looked for in the first night's play.

The tourney will continue all winter and several prizes will be offered to keep up the interest and give the participants something to work for.

PLAINFIELD vs. RAHWAY.

The Plainfield Eagles will bowl the Rahway birds on the local alleys next Monday night.

HOLY CROSS ELEVEN WILL MEET TONIGHT

All Members Are Urged to Be Present as Important Matters Will Be Discussed.

Manager John Doyle, of the Holy Cross football club, has called a meeting for the members of last year's team at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present as this meeting will be an important one. Plans for the year will be discussed and announced and a captain will be elected for the team.

Doyle has already started on his schedule and will undoubtedly have one of the finest the club has ever known. He will sign some of the fastest teams in this section of the State and will also strive for the coveted State football title again. Two years ago the team won this honor and was rewarded with medals and they will work to do the same this season. Practice will begin next week in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, but if this weather keeps up baseball will be forced to retire soon and the gridirons will be in early use. The Cricket Field is in fine shape and will again be the scene of many fierce combats between the local eleven and visiting teams.

Tonight Manager Doyle will submit his plans for the year and see what the members of the team think of them. Later a meeting will be called for all candidates who are going to try for places on the team.

HOPE AND MONROE WILL PLAY SECOND GAME OF SERIES

Hope and Monroe will play the second game of their post-season series tomorrow afternoon on the Clinton avenue field. Both teams are confident of victory and the Hope men want to even matters up for their defeat in the first game when their opponents made three runs in the first inning and won the game. Schott and Brick will again be on the mound for their respective teams and the same men will be used as in the first encounter.

The teams will lineup as follows:

MONROE	HOPE

BASKETBALL MEETING.

Acting Captain Myrton Glover, of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, has called a meeting for the members of last year's team to be held next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the association parlors. All members are urged to be present as there will be considerable discussion about the coming season and the elections of captain and manager will take place.

HIGHLANDERS vs. LARELS.

The Laurel A. C. and the Highlanders, of Netherwood, will clash on the Netherwood grounds, Sunday afternoon at 3:30. These two teams have met before and as the other games resulted in close scores, Sunday's battle is expected to be a good one. Denny and Kyle wil form the battery for the Highlanders.

RURAL TELEPHONE DEVELOPMENT.

There is no doubt that of all modern conveniences none has done more for the American farmer than the telephone. F. H. Bethell, Vice-President of the New York Telephone Company, in an address on government ownership of the telephone before the North Board of Tade, Newark, N. J., lays particular stress upon our rural telephone development. In his address, which appears in the Telephone Review, he says:

"Our urban development is far and away ahead of anything found abroad, and our rates in the cities are about on a level with rates there. It is the rural development in this country that brings down our average rates, but the Government policy of withholding this service from rural communities (there is none of it abroad) is much to be condemned. The American farmer uses his telephone extensively. He calls the merchant in his country town. The merchant in the country town calls the wholesaler or jobber in the nearest city. In turn, the metropolis or the manufacturing city is called."

MUST APPEAR TOMORROW.

George L. Martin, colored, and William R. Way, of Watchung avenue, were in court this morning, charged by Officer Neylon with fighting. Way said that he wanted to engage a lawyer, so Judge DeMeza put the case over until tomorrow.

Running, trotting and pacing races are to be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Trenton Interstate Fair this year, and they will provide the best card ever seen at New Jersey's leading Exposition, which will be conducted from Sept. 28 to Oct. 2. Horace P. Murphy, the racing secretary, has arranged attractive programs, and the largest fields of trotters and pacers in the Big Fair Circuit are to be seen at Trenton. There are fourteen trotting and pacing races, all for purses of $500 each, except the class for three-year-old trotters, where a purse of $400 is offered.

For the running races, which lend variety to the day's attractions, Herman P. Conkling, one of the best known men in the turf sport, has been engaged as clerk of the scales. His appointment will meet with the approval of horsemen generally and will result in better contests for the patrons.

Entries in the running races are to be announced later.

GREATER MACHINE DISPLAY AND AUTOS AT TRENTON FAIR.

With the display of machinery better arranged and made larger at Trenton Interstate Fair, which is to be held from Sept. 28 to Oct. 2, farmers and others interested in the latest inventions in the mechanical world will have more to attract them than ever. Easier ways of doing things are often learned by an examination of the newest contrivances, and manufacturers find it to their interest to display goods at the Exposition.

Harry S. Jamieson has been selected as the new superintendent of the City of Machinery, and he has his spaces plotted for an easy classification of articles. Mr. Jamieson will also direct the automobile show for commercial and pleasure cars, and reservations have been made for the different models.

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN FOR UTILITY VALUE POULTRY.

General farmers and small poultry raisers are to have special classes arranged for them for prize competitions at Trenton Interstate Fair, which will be held from Sept. 28 to Oct. 2. In the poultry department money will be offered for birds that will give the greatest amount of meat for the table and for the best egg producers. Harvey E. Rogers, the superintendent of the poultry department, has a special premium book which he will send to all who write to him at the Trenton Fair, Trenton, N. J.

FORMER PET HITS .255.

According to the official averages of the International League, Albin Carlstrom, a former Pet, has a batting percentage of .255. It is likely that his average will remain the same, as he failed to get into the game for Buffalo in the past eight days. Carlstrom has clouted out seventy hits and scored thirty-five counters.

GIMBEL Blouses at $2 to $12.75

Which Introduce Paris Styles

The newest blouse at $2 is most remarkable from the viewpoint of style, for its keynote is

The Collar from Bernard's New Russian Dress.

It is a kerchief affair of organdie edged with pleatings of the same dainty material, and it has cuffs to match. As the blouse itself, is of embroidered voile, its simple trimmings are very effective.

A New Kind of Basque in Panne Velvet, $12.75

While this basque gives a long line, it does not give that round pipe-like contour which is so unbecoming to many women—for it has a gilet-effect girdle. However, this basque is in one piece and it fastens all the way down the front with velvet buttons.

Blouses of the Scarcest Materials—Chiffon and Lace—$3.95

Pompadour chiffon at that! Of course the blouses are lined with white chiffon and the sleeves are of lace. Only yesterday we attempted to purchase more materials, and the prices have increased so much that to duplicate these blouses we would have to sell them for at least $6.95.

Gilet-Effect Basques of Messaline, $6.95

Velveteen Dresses—blue, green, brown and black—$25

Broadcloth Suits—in a Bernard Model—fur trimmed, $35

Serge Redingote Suits, beautifully Braided, $25

Suits of Gabardine Illustrated $35

Although Paris has sent many models in young women's suits, and we have reproduced about a hundred of them, we consider this $25 suit with the Moyenage coat one of the best, for its long, straight lines are becoming to practically every young girl of 14 to 18 years. The wide girdle on the coat is effectively braided. In navy, brown, green and black.

At least, forty new styles in coats and wraps at $10 to $110.

TO CONSIDER PROHIBITION.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—One of the principal matters which will come before the convention of the International Union of Brewery Workmen, which is to meet in this city next Monday, is the question of State and national prohibition. It is known that the union and its affiliated organizations have opposed any such movement on the grounds that it would throw a large number of workmen out of employment. The International Union of Brewery Workmen has a membership of about 70,000 in the United States and Canada. It is the only international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor which has no president, its executive direction being in the complete control of an executive board which is subject to call at any time. The headquarters of the international organization are in Cincinnati.

CELEBRATE ARCHBISHOP IRELAND'S BIRTHDAY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—Archbishop Ireland reached his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary today and was the recipient of congratulations expressed in messages from friends throughout the country. The eminent prelate is in good health.

Archbishop Ireland was born in County Kilkenny, Ireland, September 11, 1838. When he was but a babe in arms his parents came to St. Paul, and his education was received here in its early stages. At the age of 15 he went to France and for six years pursued the study of theology.

In 1861 he returned to St. Paul and was ordained to the priesthood. Upon the formation of the Fifth Minnesota Regiment at the beginning of the Civil War young Ireland was made its chaplain, and served two years in the war. Returning from the field he was appointed rector of Cathedral parish and continued in that position until he was named coadjutor bishop.

In 1870 he went to Rome as the accredited representative of Bishop Grace at the Vatican council. Five years later he was chosen to succeed Bishop O'Gorman in the vicariate of Nebraska, but through the efforts of Bishop Grace the appointment was canceled, and he was then nominated coadjutor bishop of St. Paul and was consecrated December 21, 1875. His appointment as archbishop dates from 1888.

CHAPTER II.

"Work, Not Charity."

BARNET wandered down into the thronging gayer parts of London in which a year or so ago he had been numbered among the spenders.

London, under the visible smoke law, by which any production of a visible smoke with or without excuse was punishable by a fine, had already ceased to be the somber, smoke darkened city of the Victorian time; it had been, and indeed was, constantly being rebuilt, and its main streets were already beginning to take on those characteristics that distinguished them throughout the latter half of the twentieth century. The insanitary horse and the plebeian bicycle had been banished from the roadway, which was now of a resilient, glasslike surface, spotlessly clean; and the foot passenger was restricted to a narrow vestige of the ancient footpath on either side of the track and forbidden, at the risk of a fine, if he survived, to cross the roadway. People descended from their automobiles upon this pavement and went through the lower shops to the lifts and stairs to the new ways for pedestrians, the rows, that ran along the front of the houses at the level of the first story and, being joined by frequent bridges, gave the newer parts of London a curiously Venetian appearance. In some streets there were upper and even third story rows. For most of the day and all night the shop windows were lit by electric light, and many establishments had made, as it were, canals of public footpaths through their premises in order to increase their window space. Barnet made his way along this night scene rather apprehensively, since the police had power to challenge and demand the labor card of any indigent looking person; and if the record failed to show he was in employment dismiss him to the traffic pavement below.

But there was still enough of his former gentility about Barnet's appearance and bearing to protect him from this; the police, too, had other things to think of that night and he was permitted to reach the galleries about Leicester square—that great focus of London life and pleasure.

He gives a vivid descripton of the scene that evening. In the center was a garden raised on arches lit by festoons of lights and connected with the rows by eight graceful bridges, beneath which hummed the interlacing streams of motor traffic, pulsating as the current alternated between east and west and north and south. Above rose great frontages of intricate rather than beautiful re-enforced porcelain, studded with lights, barred by bold, illuminated advertisements and glowing with reflections. There were the two historical music halls of this place, the Shakespeare Memorial theater, in which the municipal players revolved perpetually through the cycle of Shakespeare's plays, and four other great houses of refreshment and entertainment, whose pinnacles streamed up into the blue obscurity of the night. The south side of the square was in dark contrast to the others; it was still being rebuilt, and a lattice of steel bars surmounted by the frozen gestures of monstrous cranes rose over the excavated sites of vanished Victorian buildings.

This framework attracted Barnet's attention for a time to the exclusion of other interests. It was absolutely still; it had a dead rigidity, a stricken inaction; no one was at work upon it and all its machinery was quiet, but the contractors' globes of vacuum light filled its every interstice with a quivering green moonshine and showed alert but motionless soldier sentinels.

He asked a passing stroller and was told that the men had struck that day against the use of an automatic riveter that would have doubled the individual efficiency and halved the number of steel workers.

"Shouldn't wonder if they didn't get chucking bombs," said Barnet's informant, who hovered for a moment and then went on his way to the Alhambra Music hall.

Barnet became aware of an excitement in the newspaper kiosks at the corners of the square. Something very sensational had been flashed upon the transparencies. Forgetting for a moment his penniless condition, he made his way over a bridge to buy a paper, for in those days the papers, which were printed upon thin sheets of metallic foil, were sold at determinate points by specially licensed purveyors. Half over he stopped short at a change in the traffic below and was astonished to see that the police signals were restricting vehicles to the half roadway. When presently he got within sight of the transparencies that had replaced the placards of Victorian times he read of the great march of the unemployed that was already in progress through the west end, and so without expenditure he was able to understand what was coming.

He watched, and his book describes this procession which the police had considered it unwise to prevent and which had been spontaneously organized in imitation of the unemployed processions of earlier times. He had expected a mob, but there was a kind of sullen discipline about the procession when at last it arrived. What seemed for a time an unending column of men marched wearily, marched with a kind of implacable futility, along the roadway underneath him. He was, he says, moved to join them, but instead he remained watching. They were a dingy, shabby, ineffective looking multitude, for the most part incapable of any but obsolete and superseded types of labor. They bore a few banners with the time honored inscription "Work, Not Charity," but otherwise their ranks were unadorned.

They were not singing, they were not even talking, there was nothing truculent nor aggressive in their bearing, they had no definite objective, they were just marching and showing themselves in the more prosperous parts of London. They were a sample of that great mass of unskilled, cheap labor which the new, still cheaper mechanical powers had superseded forevermore. They were being "scrapped"—as horses had been "scrapped."

Barnet leaned over the parapet watching them, his mind quickened by his own precarious condition. For a time, he says, he felt nothing but despair at the sight: what should be done, what could be done for this gathering surplus of humanity? They were so manifestly useless—and incapable—and pitiful.

What were they asking for?

They had been overtaken by unexpected things. Nobody had foreseen—

It flashed suddenly into his mind just what the multitudinous shambling enigma below meant. It was an appeal against the unexpected—an appeal to those others who, more fortunate, seemed wiser and more powerful, for something—for intelligence. This mute mass, weary footed, rank following rank, protested its persuasion that some of these others must have foreseen these dislocations—that anyhow they ought to have foreseen—and arranged.

That was what this crowd of wreckage was feeling and seeking so dumbly to assert.

"Things came to me like the turning on of a light in a darkened room," he says. "These men were praying to their fellow creatures as once they prayed to God. The last thing that men will realize about anything is that it is inanimate. They had transferred their animation to mankind. They still believed there was intelligence somewhere, even if it was careless or malignant. It had only to be aroused to be conscience stricken, to be moved to exertion. And I saw, too, that as yet there was no such intelligence. The world waits for intelligence. That intelligence has still to be made, that will for good and order has still to be gathered together, out of scraps of impulse and wandering seeds of benevolence and whatever is fine and creative in our souls into a common purpose. It's something still to come."

It is characteristic of the widening thought of the time that this not very heroical young man who in any previous age might well have been altogether occupied with the problem of his own individual necessities should be able to stand there and generalize about the needs of the race.

But upon all the stresses and conflicts of that chaotic time there was already dawning the light of a new era. The spirit of humanity was escaping, even then it was escaping, from its extreme imprisonment in individuals. Salvation from the bitter intensities of self, which had been a conscious religious end for thousands of years, which men had sought in mortification, in the wilderness, in meditation and by innumerable strange paths, was coming at last with the effect of naturalness into the talk of men, into the books they read, into their unconscious gestures, into their newspapers and daily purposes and everyday acts. The broad horizons, the magic possibilities, that the spirit of the seeker had revealed to them were charming them out of those ancient and instinctive preoccupations from which the very threat of hell and torment had failed to drive them. And this young man, homeless and without provision even for the immediate hours, in the presence of social disorganization, distress and perplexity, in a blazing wilderness of thoughtless pleasures that blotted out the stars, could think as he tells us he thought.

"I saw life plain," he wrote. "I saw the gigantic task before us, and the very splendor of its intricate and immeasurable difficulty filled me with exultation. I saw that we have still to discover government, that we have still to discover education, which is the necessary reciprocal of government and that all this in which my own little speck of a life was so manifestly overwhelmed—this and its yesterday in Greece and Rome and Egypt were nothing, the mere first dust swirls of the beginning, the movements and dim murmurings of a sleeper who will presently be awake."

And then the story tells, with an engaging simplicity, of his descent from this ecstatic vision of reality.

"Presently I found myself again and I was beginning to feel cold and a little hungry."

He bethought himself of the John Burns relief offices which stood upon the Thames embankment. He made his way through the galleries of the booksellers and the National gallery, which had been open continuously day and night to all decently dressed people now for more than twelve years, and across the rose gardens of Trafalgar square, and so by the hotel colonnade to the embankment. He had long known of these admirable offices, which had swept the last beggars and matchsellers and all the casual indigent from the London streets, and he believed that he would as a matter of course be able to procure a ticket for food and a night's lodging and some indication of possible employment.

But he had not reckoned upon the new labor troubles, and when he got to the embankment he found the offices hopelessly congested and besieged by a large and rather unruly crowd. He hovered for a time on the outskirts of the waiting multitude, perplexed and dismayed, and then he became aware of a movement, a purposive trickling away of people, up through the arches of the great buildings that had arisen when all the railway stations were removed to the south side of the river, and so to the covered ways of the Strand. And here in the open glare of midnight he found unemployed men begging, and not only begging, but begging with astonishing assurance, from the people who were emerging from the small theaters and other such places of entertainment which abounded in that thoroughfare.

This was an altogther unexampled thing. There had been no begging in London streets for a quarter of a century. But that night the police were evidently unwilling or unable to cope with the destitute who were invading those well kept quarters of the town. They had become stonily blind to anything but manifest disorder.

Barnet walked through the crowd unable to bring himself to ask; indeed, his bearing must have been more valiant than his circumstances, for twice he says that he was begged from. Near the Trafalgar square gardens, a girl with reddened cheeks and blackened eyebrows, who was walking alone, spoke to him with a peculiar friendliness.

"I'm starving," he said to her abruptly.

"Oh, poor dear!" she said, and with the impulsive generosity of her kind glanced round and slipped a silver piece into his hand.

It was a gift that, in spite of the precedent of De Quincey, might under the repressive social legislation of those times have brought Barnet within reach of the prison lash. But he took it, he confesses, and thanked her as well as he was able, and went off gladly to get food.

A day or so later—and again his freedom to go as he pleased upon the roads may be taken as a mark of increasing social disorganization and police embarrassment—he wandered out into the country.

He speaks of the roads of that plutocratic age as being "fenced with barbed wire against unproprietied people," of the high walled gardens and trespass warnings that kept him to the dusty narrowness of the public ways. In the air happy rich people were flying, heedless of the misfortunes about them, as he himself had been flying two years ago, and along the road swept the new traffic, light and swift and wonderful. One was rarely out of earshot of its whistles and gongs and siren cries even in the field paths or over the open downs. The officials of the labor exchanges were everywhere overworked and infuriated, the casual wards were so crowded that the surplus wanderers slept in ranks under sheds or in the open air, and since giving to wayfarers had been made a punishable offense there was no longer friendship or help for a man from the rare foot passenger or the wayside cottage.

"I wasn't angry," said Barnet. "I saw an immense selfishness, a monstrous disregard for anything but pleasure and possession, in all those people above us, but I saw how inevitable that was, how certainly if the richest had changed places with the poorest that things would have been the same. What else can happen when men use science and every new thing that science gives and all their available intelligence and energy to manufacture wealth and appliances and leave government and education to the rusting traditions of hundreds of years ago? Those traditions come from the dark ages, when there was really not enough for every one, when life was a fierce struggle that might be masked, but could not be escaped. Of course this famine grabbing, this fierce dispossession of others, must follow from such a disharmony between material and training. Of course the rich were vulgar and the poor grew savage and every added power that came to men made the rich richer and the poor less necessary and less free. The men I met in the casual wards and the relief offices were all smoldering for revolt, talking of justice and injustice and revenge. I saw no hope in that talk nor in anything but patience."

But he did not mean a passive patience. He meant that the method of social reconstruction was still a riddle; that no effectual rearrangement was possible until this riddle in all its tangled aspects was solved. "I tried to talk to those discontented men," he wrote, "but it was hard for them to see things as I saw them. When I talked of patience and the larger scheme they answered, 'But then we shall all be dead,' and I could not make them see what is so simple to my own mind, that that did not affect the question. Men who think in lifetimes are of no use to statesmanship."

He does not seem to have seen a newspaper during those wanderings, and the chance sight of the transparency of a kiosk in the market place at Bishop Stortford announcing a "Grave International Situation" did not excite him very much. There had been so many grave international situations in recent years.

This time it was talk of the central European powers suddenly attacking the Slav confederacy, with France and England going to the help of the Slavs.

But the next night he found a tolerable meal awaiting the vagrants in the casual ward and learned from the workhouse master that all serviceable trained men were to be sent back on the morrow to their mobilization centers. The country was on the eve of war. He was to go back through London to Surrey. His first feeling, he records, was one of extreme relief that his days of "hopeless battering at the underside of civilization" were at an end. Here was something definite to do, something definitely provided for. But his relief was greatly modified when he found that the mobilization arrangements had been made so hastily and carelessly that for nearly thirty-six hours at the improvised depot at Epsom he got nothing either to eat or to drink but a cup of cold water. The depot was absolutely unprovisioned, and no one was free to leave it.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Any play with the name of Eugene Walter attached as the author excites immediate interest when it is announced. And there is no exception to the announcement of the coming of Charlotte Walker in "The Better Way," which is Eugene Walter's latest work. For five weeks this piece remained at the Garrick theatre in Philadelphia in May, following the premiers. This new vehicle brings out Miss Walker in an entirely different role than she ever before filled, and according to reports she is seen to the best advantage. Miss Walker is assisted by an exceptionally strong array of talent which includes L. Byron Beasley, George Stewart Christie, David Burton, Veda McEvers, Frederick Backus, Virginia Pearson, Frank J. Woods, Arthur Brams, T. E. Jones, Virginia Allen, Alan Foster, John T. Ward and others. "The Better Way" will be seen at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. Aurthor Walter has made a stupendous production of "The Better Way," perhaps making it the biggest production of the season, according to those who have already seen it and know what it contains. There is a prologue, four acts, and an epilogue with more than 30 speaking parts and more than 60 people on the stage. Two startling scenes are the cabaret scene in one of New York's famous Tenderlin hotels and the court-room scene in which the trial for divorce is contested before a full jury.

The most important offering of the current theatrical season will be the engagement of J. Hartley Manners' much talked of play "Peg O' My Heart," which Oliver Morosoco will present for its second presentation at the Plainfield theatre, Wednesday afternoon and night, September 16. Mr. Morosco is a producer who believes in maintaining the standard of his productions, and this excellent idea will be exemplified by the company to be seen here. The emphatic hit scored by the organization during its tour in this comedy last season, is assurance that local playgoers will again have the opportunity of seeing one of the greatest of all romantic comedies, played by the same fine cast which left a fine impression on its previous engagement. The title role played by Blanche Hall, is a young woman of great beauty, and personal magnetism and rare histronic ability, which are just the charming qualities that Peg requires. F. L. Bruce-Tiden is also a member, his genuine manliness and interpretation of the role of "Jerry," has earned him many admirers. Miss Evelyn Vardon will be the Ethel; Roland Hogue, who was very convincing in the part of "Alaric," the English "Fop;" Alma Chester again plays Mrs. Chichester, and Pelham Lynton, A. T. Hendon, and J. Irving White finish out a perfectly well balanced cast.

The attorney-general of the State of Washing has rendered an opinion that the eight-hour law of that State is constitutional. This law provides that no laborers on public work shall work more than eight hours a day, except in cases of emergency.

Parsnip Fritters
Boiled Green Corn.
Sirloin Steak in Gravy.
Lettuce and Deviled Cheese Salad
Frozen Custard
Coffee

WITH steak one may serve almost any vegetables. A nice dinner may be made up with the vegetables suggested here.

Seasonable Vegetables.

Parsnip Fritters.—To make the fritters cook parsnips forty-five minutes in boiling salted water and then drain, plunge into cold water, when skins will be found to slip off easily. Mash, season with butter, salt and pepper, shape into small flat cakes, roll in flour and saute in butter.

Boiled Green Corn. — Remove the outer husk which incloses the corn and put the cobs into a large saucepan of boiling unsalted water. Cover and boil. When tender drain, sprinkle with salt and serve with melted butter. If desired when removed from the pan the corn may be sliced from the cob with a sharp knife and reheated with a little butter, milk, pepper and salt.

Quickly Fried.

Sirloin Steak With Gravy.—Take sirloin steaks one-fourth of an inch thick, season with salt and pepper and fry in butter over a quick fire on each side just for a minute. Make a pan gravy with beef extract and chopped parsley. Serve with diced French fried potatoes.

Lettuce and Deviled Cheese Salad.—Beat a cream cheese to a cream, adding cream if necessary to accomplish this. Season with one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, a few drops of onion juice, a little salt and a teaspoonful of paprika. Mix well and let stand where it will get cold and hard. Make into little balls and serve on lettuce leaves with or without a garnishing of sliced cucumbers or radishes. Serve with French dressing.

A Cooling Dessert.

Frozen Custard.—One quart of milk, three eggs, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and flavoring to taste. Put the milk in top of double boiler. Beat the eggs, sugar and salt together, add to the boiling milk slowly, stirring all the time (do not let it boil). Remove from the fire. When cold add the flavoring, put into freezer, pack with ice and salt. Freeze same as ice cream.

Up Came That Dear Old Dog.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— How the Dog Saved the Baby Bird.

"DID I ever tell you how the dog saved the little baby robin?" asked daddy.

"No, no!" shouted the children.

"Mr. and Mrs. Robin Bird lived in a nest up on a branch of an elm in the dooryard, and in the late spring or early summer they had three cunning little Robin children birds, all hungry and yawping for food from the minute they were hatched from the eggs in the nest, and as Mrs. Mamma Robin Bird was kept busy at first keeping them warm and from falling out of the nest Mr. Papa Robin Bird was just as busy picking the big fat worms out of the grass for them.

"Well, there was a sly old cat that had had her eye on the Robin family for some time, and, now that the little robins had come, she was very hopeful that they would supply a dinner for her one of these fine days.

"But there was a spaniel dog in the family that owned the elm tree and the yard and house where it was, and he didn't like this cat that lived next door at all, and a little girl owned this little dog, and she didn't like the naughty cat any better than the dog did because she knew the cat was after those robins, and between them they kept her shooed away from that tree.

"The time came when the little robins got almost too large for the nest, and their mamma said to them: 'Now, your father and I should not have to feed you great, big children much longer. You must learn to feed yourselves. But first you must learn to fly.' And she and the father gave them flying lessons, and they did pretty well, and now soon they would be ready to fly away and take care of themselves.

"But one day the smallest of them that had been flying very finely was quite proud of himself, and he lighted down on the grass to rest for a minute, and his mother was away somewhere, but his brother and sister were up in the nest.

"All of a sudden, creeping up on him ever so still, came that cat. He saw her and was so scared that he just couldn't fly. He waited there, trembling and cheeping, and just as the cat was about to spring up came that dear dog with a rush, and the cat was scared and ran away, and the little bird flew up in the tree, and the dog barked around his little mistress, who had just come out of the house."

"Oh, daddy," cried Evelyn, "did the dog see the robin and run out to rescue it?"

"I'm afraid not," replied daddy, a little regretful. "I guess that dog saw just that cat."

Buy Your Fall Shoes Now

PRICES WILL BE ADVANCED LATER IN THE SEASON

Owing to war conditions prices on shoes are certain to advance from 25 cents to $1.00 a pair.

The advance will not affect the shoes which are on hand, but as soon as these are sold the prices will go up.

This declaration is not made to stimulate trade, (as it would be more profitable for us to hold the shoes we have until prices do go up and then sell at the advance) but rather to let the people know what they may expect and give them an opportunity to buy their fall shoes at the same prices as last year.

Here is what the Shoe Retailer, a Trade Journal published in Boston, the heart of the leather market, has to say: "Tentative advances ranging from 25 cents to 75 cents per pair, according to the grade, have been figured on men's shoes, and proportionate advances will be made on women's shoes."

Henry B. Endicott, one of the largest tanners and manufacturers in the country, has this to say: "No man can tell what the advance may be. It is a sure possibility, and I think a probability, that shoes may be a dollar a pair higher, in fact, as far as I can see, I don't know why we should limit the price to one dollar. It may be more."

In 1913 this country imported $50,288,228 worth of leather from the war affected countries, and exported raw material and finished shoes, $25,504,184. Besides, this country imports all the chemicals and dyes used in the chrome tanning of hides. These supplies are cut off. In addition to this Africa, Australia, South America and the Far East are looking to the United States for their shoes on account of the European factories being closed, and the countries at war will also have to depend on the United States for their footwear supplies, so that it can readily be seen why shoes will advance.

Our fall shoes are here, and will be sold at the old prices as long as they last. After the supply is gone there is no telling what the price will be. Wise buyers will buy their Fall shoes now.

Total Assessed Is $4,567,000 As Against $4,844,950 in 1913—Rate Will Probably Be $2.36—Figures Are Unofficial.

Unofficial announcement was made today that the tax rate would take a jump of at least ten points in the borough of North Plainfield, making the rate $2.36 on the $100 instead of $2.26 as it appeared last year. This jump has been made necessary for two reasons—an increase in the running expenditures of one or two of the borough departments to the extent of $4,310, while the State school and special school tax increases overbalance a drop in the county tax to the extent of $5,714.88.

The unoffiial figures as given below are practically the same as will appear on the tax bills this fall, with one or two slight alterations possible, showing the comparison with the figures of last year:

Totals borough purposes, 1914, $42[illegible]020.00; 1913, $37,710.00

Estimated receipts from licenses, etc., 1914, $6,000.00; 1914, $6,000.00.

Total raised, 1914, $36,030.00; 1913, $3[illegible]1,7[illegible]3.00.

County tax, 1914, $25,202.39; 1014, $2[illegible]5,2[illegible]70.

Special school tax, 1914, $37,310.00; 1913, $31,450.00

	1914.	1913.
Total	$110,494.39	$100.469.51

The percentages which go to make up the bills of the two years are as noted below:

	1914	1913
County tax	.56	.60
State school tax	.26	.26
Borough fund	.72	.66
Special school tax	.82	.74
Totals	$2.36	$2.26

The figures as given appear to indicate that the assessed value of real and personal property in different sections of the borough have increased to some extent. Last year the assessed value was placed at $4,344,950, of which $359,800 was for personal property, while the total of this year's assessed values amount to $4,567,000 plus.

"THE BETTER WAY" IS A GREAT PRODUCTION

"The Better Way" which will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre tonight, is one of the most elaborate productions of the season. Three sixty foot cars are required to carry the massive scenery and thirty stage hands will be employed to handle it at the local theatre. The play itself is said to be one of the best ever written by Eugene Walter, even excelling his other successes.

"The Better Way" which has been running in Chicago, will go direct from Plainfield to New York, where another long run is predicted for it.

RETURN HOME FROM THE MISSION FIELDS

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Kennedy Leave Troubled Albania for a Time.

Rev. and Mrs. P. B. Kennedy, widely-known as missionaries, returned to Plainfield, today, after spending the past seven years in Albania, where they have experienced the most exciting times owing to war conditions. They arrived in New York today on the steamer Ancona of the Italian Navigation Association Line, sailing from Naples.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy have more recently been in Durazzo, Albania, which was the capital and residence of the Prince of Wied, who was appointed by the powers as ruler since the autonomy of Albania was established.

Durazzo has been the centre of disturbances due to complications arising out of the Balkan situation. The missionaries were active in conducting extensive relief work among the many refugees and destitute caused by the Balkan wars and recent uprisings. While here they will stop at the home of Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Mrs. Grove P. Hinman, 718 Kensington avenue. Their enforced furlough will be made the opportunity for extending by means of interesting friends in America the relief work which they conducted in Albania.

Mrs. Kennedy is the daughter of Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city. Mr. Kennedy is a graduate of Princeton University and before becoming a missionary held pastorates at Asbury, Easton Pa., and Philadelphia.
